"MAC" SAYS

GRIDIRON DOPE.

A doz n football experts
Had met one autumn day,
An each one told in accents bold
His version of the fray.

They knew the game of football,
They knew it through and through,
And loudly then, these expert men
Proclaimed the dope they knew.

My faith in football experts
Is gone beyond all hope,
For all those wise old expert guys
Had different brands of dope.

Doesn't it seem strange how many different versions can be unearthed in cases where but two teams are concerned? Pick a winner and ten chances to one a fluke will make it a loser.

Jack Payne has threatened to come back almost as many times as some puglists we have heard of. He has long since been enrolled in the Publicity Club with such notables as Johnny Kling, who annually retires from baseball, and Ad Wolgast who tries to re-enter the championship class of prizefighters every month.

Didn't we tell you that the Holy Cross team couldn't get along without Billy Coyle. Announcement has been made that the littl quarter will direct the ship against the Vikings Saturday.

Speaking of Vikings we are compelled to admit that the Holy Cross eleven will have to travel the limit once more. The Bayonne team is just about due for a victory.

"Bill" Ruttledge, the happy possessor of one of the practically extinct "Charley Horses," has sent the animal to pasture and will be back in the line Saturday, gold teeth et al.

One more addition to our Publicity Club—"Shakey" Clarke will make his annual appearance in moleskins tomorrow night, according to rumor. "Shakey" wants to let the Queen City bugs know that he is home from the lumber jack district.

A special from the Dexters: "Will Holy Cross claim the State championship if they beat the Vikings again?" Doyle please answer.

North Plainfield High School athletes are getting the jump on the other scholastic rivals in the way of basketball practice. Coach Collier was on deck for the first time yesterday and the N. P. H. S. quintet is rapidly rounding into form for the opening clash with the Ajax.

"Peanut" Stewart is piloting the destinies of the Leal School court stars this year and is entertaining a suspicion that the private school athletes are due to win a silver cup.

Haven't seen any of those cross country runners training on the road in the early morning hours. Scoop wants to know how anybody could see them if he didn't get up before br akfast.

Nevertheless Jack Fritts and his stars who are due to take the field against the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. runners will have to pass before our eyes before we will believe that the feature is genuine.

N. P. H. S. students are sent to the Somerville jail It's only for a day, however, and all-around training is a good thing.

NOVELTY IN RUGBY.

The merits of Rugby and American football will be displayed side by side at Canton, N. Y., on Thanksgiving Day, when St. Lawrence University plays Ottawa College of Canada in their first game. The innovation to be introduced will be the playing of the American rules one half of the game and the Canadian rules the second half. Fifteen men constitute a team in Rugby football and the game is mostly bucking punting and running without interference, rather foreign to the eleven man teams of America. St. Lawrence agreed to the proposition, but did not guarantee to keep peace throughout.

FAVORS PRO-AMATEUR RACES.

Philadelphia, Oct. 23.—Gustavus T. Kirby, president of the Amateur Athletic Union, put himself on record last night as being in favor of matches between amateur and professional athletes. In an address to the Philadelphia Alumni Club he said that under certain circumstances events of this nature would help athletics in this country wonderfully. He declared that the line drawn between professional and amateur athletes was too fine. Mr. Kirby also went on record in favor of a strong central body to control athletics.

"LANKY BOB" FIGHTS BOUT OVER AGAIN

Dunellen Ex-pugilist Appears as Witness in a Libel Suit.

Puglistic history was recited by one of its makers before Supreme Court Justice Weeks and a jury, in New York, yesterday, when Bob Fitzsimmons was called as a witness in the libel suit of Kid Egan against a magazine for damages because of statements that he tried to walk away with more than his share of the receipts from the Jefferies-Fitzsimmons fight at San Francisco in 1902.

Fitzsimmons, who was knocked out in the eighth round, was testifying as to Egan's good reputation when he was asked by Lawyer C. B. Mitchell for his recollections of the battle.

"If you saw Jefferies after that engagement please state what was his condition."

"I saw him in the dressing room after I was ready to go to the street," said Bob. "Jeff was a fright. He had eight stitches in his phiz, five over his right eye and three over his left. His nose was broken in two places and he had a cauliflower ear."

"How were you decorated "

"Not at all. Jeff didn't touch me all through the fight until that one blow in the plexus—the kind I handed Corbett at Reno. I was so tired chopping up the big fellow that I got careless."

"But Jeff did hit you once?"

"That's right, but once was enough. I wasn't knocked out. I was simply paralyzed. Couldn't move a muscle."

"What did you do when you met Jefferies in the dressing room and noticed that he had the appearance of a man who had been through a threshing machine?"

"I said: 'Hello, Jeff.' He says: 'Hello, Fitz; how're you feeling?' 'Fine,' says I. 'How're you feeling?' 'Great,' says Jeff. 'Never felt better in my life.' This made me laugh right out."

"HOME RUN" BAKER MAY QUIT THE BALL DIAMOND

Philadelphia, Oct. 23.—"Home Run" Baker, the hard-hitting third baseman of the World Champion Athletics, may retire from baseball before the beginning of next season. Baker announced yesterday that he would probably not play professional ball again. He has ambitions to become a gentleman farmer, with his country place at Trappe as the nucleus of a much larger estate.

When asked about Baker's reported retirement yesterday, Connie Mack said, "I have heard nothing of it. I would be very sorry to see Frank leave, but if he does we will have to find some one to fill his place."

MANAGER M'GRAW DENIES DEAL FOR ST. LOUIS PLAYER

Ottumwa, Iowa, Oct. 23.—Manager John J. McGraw, of the Giants, who arrived here yesterday for a game with the White Sox on their tour of the world, emphatically denied that there is any truth in the report that First Baseman Konetchy, of the St. Louis club, would become the property of the New York club in exchange for any of its players.

McGraw produced a letter from the St. Louis management to show that neither club was ready to make a deal of any kind at this time. The story of the rumored trade by which Herzog and two others were to go to St. Louis in exchange for the big first sacker seems to have emanated from the Mound City.

FOREIGN INTEREST IN AMERICAN SPORT

Austrian Representative and Others Expected to Investigate Conditions.

That the position America occupies in the athletic world is interesting those in charge of Olympic games and athletics in the different continental countries, was further evidenced yesterday by a letter received by James E. Sullivan, announcing the visit to this country of officials representing the Austrian Government, as well as Olympic Committee, to investigate our athletic conditions.

No doubt, the visit of the Imperial German Committee has caused widespread interest on the continent, and as a result we can expect many visits from those interested in developing athletics in their own country. Following is a copy of a letter from the Austrian representative to Mr. Sullivan, secretary of the American Olympic Committee:

Austrian Central Union Sporting Interests, Olympic Committee for Austria, Vienna 1 Graben 12—Oct. 8, 1913.

Hon. Presdt. His Highness Furst Otto zin Windisch Gratz.

Mr. James E. Sullivan,

Honored Sir:—Please pardon me for not communicating with you earlier, and trust you will not be offended on that account. Our interest in Olympic sport has not been lessened, but has taken an entire year to reach a decision about the engagement of an American trainer. The Austrian sporting fraternity wishing this, have decided to try to engage such a trainer, and one who possibly can also give instruction in swimming. It is more than likely that about the early part of Nov. I shall arrive in New Yerk and I hope with your assistance, to bring the undertaking to a successful conclusion. I would ask you to extend to me the well known hospitality of Americans and so learn a great deal in a short time as well as securing a competent man for Austria. In my Fatherland your great attainments in sports are a source of wonder. Probably Prof. Sloane has told you about the reception we gave him and the honor paid to Americans. When I come to you, it will be as president of the Austrian Olympic Committee and with the sanction of the Austrian government. I shall be very thankful (as I shall learn at the end of October) if you will, on receipt of this letter, telegraph your approval and willingness to assist me.

In the meantime, please accept my thanks.

With great respect,

OLYMPIC COMMITTEE,
Austria.

After a consultation with the Olympic Committee, Secretary Sullivan yesterday cabled the following reply:

Hershman, Austrian Olympic Committee Wien 1—Graben 12—Austria.

American athletic officials will welcome you and explain fully our methods.

P. H. S. AT LONG BRANCH.

Manager Eynon White, of the Plainfield High School basketball team, has scheduled a game with the Chattle High School eleven to be played in Long Branch next Saturday afternoon. Athletic relations were opened with the Long Branch school last year on the football gridiron and the Chattle institution is noted for the calibre of athletic teams it turns out. A number of rooters are contemplating making the trip to Long Branch with the team.

Named as State Labor Commissioner by Governor Glynn.

James M. Lynch of Syracuse, president of the International Typographical union, was named as state labor commissioner by Governor Glynn last night. The appointment was unanimously confirmed by the senate. The name of Mr. Lynch was sent to the senate by Governor Sulzer after it had refused to confirm the nomination of John Mitchell. Mr. Lynch's name has rested in the senate finance committee ever since.

MUNICIPAL SCANDAL STIRS EAST ST. LOUIS

Twenty-four Former City Officials Are Indicted.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 23.—Wholesale indictments against most of the members of the city administration of East St. Louis, which went out of office last spring, were returned by the grand jury that has been investigating charges of municipal irregularities.

Twenty-eight persons were indicted, including twenty-four one time city officials.

Among those indicted were Charles S. Lambert, formerly mayor; E. Fred Gerold, formerly city treasurer, and fourteen of the sixteen members of the city council of 1912.

Most of the indictments charge conspiracy to defraud the city of various sums of money. The frauds aggregate, it is charged, $100,000. Some of the men in the list are members of the present administration.

The indictments were returned in the court of Judge William M. Vandeventer, East St. Louis, and were the result of a long investigation by the grand jury, which followed charges of graft published in a St. Louis newspaper.

About the same time a one time member of the city council signed a sworn confession.

Lambert, who was mayor in 1911 and 1912, is charged in four indictments with entering into a conspiracy to defraud the city of $100,000 and in one indictment with having conspired with other officials to defraud the city of $25,000

E. Fred Gerold, city treasurer in 1911 and 1912, is charged in four indictments with having entered into a conspiracy with Lambert to defraud the city of $100,000.

DEDICATE KEOKUK'S STATUE.

Bronze Figure of Indian Chief In Tribal Costume Unveiled.

Keokuk, Ia., Oct. 23.—Members of the Daughters of the American Revolution from Illinois, Missouri and Iowa attended the dedication here of the statue in memory of Chief Keokuk of Black Hawk fame, for whom this city was named. Mrs. William C. Story of New York, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and other prominent people were present, including Lorado Taft, the sculptor; Dr. Frank Wyman of the department of Indian affairs, and Mrs. H. R. Howell, state regent D. A. R. John Keokuk of Oklahoma, great-great-grandson of the Indian chief, brought a message from the Sac and Fox tribes, over which Chief Keokuk ruled while in his prime.

In connection with the unveiling of the statue a tablet in memory of the early Iowa trails will be dedicated.

MRS. EATON TOLD OF PLOT TO KILL

Hurried Home After Hearing of Admiral's Threat.

HE BECAME ILL THAT NIGHT

Prosecution Rests and Defense Is Scheduled to Open This Afternoon. State Police Fail to Trace Poison That Killed Admiral.

Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 23.—The defense in the trial of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton, who is charged with killing her husband, is to open this afternoon. One of the last witnesses for the prosecution was Ralph Keyes, son-in-law of Mrs. Eaton, who testified that he overheard a conversation between his wife and Mrs. Eaton in which his wife said the admiral had proposed to her that they put Keyes and Mrs. Eaton out of the way and take a trip to Europe together.

According to Keyes, the conversation occurred while Mrs. Eaton was visiting her daughter. On hearing this confession from her daughter, Keyes said Mrs. Eaton immediately took a train for Assinippi at daybreak and that evening the admiral became ill. He died a short time afterward.

The prosecution rested shortly before 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and court adjourned until 2 o'clock this afternoon, when the defense will open its case.

Failed to Trace Poison.

John H. Scott, a state officer of Braintree, who figured prominently in the original inquiry into the case, admitted the failure of the state police to trace the purchase of the poison which killed the admiral. He said he had searched under the names of Ainsworth, Keyes, Wallingford and Eaton, his search leading him to Washington and into Virginia without resultss. Officers Condon and Sherlock aided in this search.

The witness said he and Condon searched the Eaton premises for eleven hours for poison.

"In our search through the house," Scott said, "Mrs. Eaton acted strangely. She frequently picked up some object and exclaimed, 'Here it is now.' We had to warn her to be careful, for twice she nearly tipped the corpse from the stretcher by brushing against it."

On cross examination by Attorney Morse the witness said the defendant apparently made no attempt to conceal anything.

Policeman John T. Condon of Rockland corroborated Officer Scott's testimony, and the next witness was Dr Charles H. Colgate, Jr., of Rockland.

Citric Acid For Tea.

"I first met Mrs. Eaton in my office in September of 1908," he said. "She complained of the admiral's actions and wanted something to put in his tea to quiet him. I prescribed a small dose of citric acid.

"On Oct. 9 she came again and said the medicine I gave was showing results. I gave her more, and at her request gave her instructions how to get it without coming to my office.

"During the following February she called again and, as on preceding visits, told me of the admiral's 'insanity.' She also brought preserves to the office, which I could not analyze, as I told her. On April 17, 1908, at her request, I called on the admiral. The admiral said, 'My wife has the idea that poison has crept into our little household, but it is all a mistake.' I left convinced that his mind was all right."

Dr. Colgate said further that Mrs. Eaton visited his office once with her adopted child and endeavored to make him believe the child was her own.

GARRISON OFF TO PANAMA.

Just Annual Inspection Tour, Says Secretary of War.

New York, Oct. 23.—Lindley M. Garrison, secretary of war, accompanied by Mrs. Garrison and General E. M. Weaver, chief of the coast artillery, sailed for Panama on the steamship Colon of the Panama line.

"I am making no special trip," said the secretary of war, "simply making my annual inspection tour. I am much pleased with the work done on the Panama canal and am somewhat surprised at the thorough manner in which the work was accomplished, taking into consideration the magnitude of the work and the time it required.

"I do not expect to go through the canal via water, and it is my intention to return by Nov. 10."

The secretary of war would not discuss the Mexican situation.

MOVE TO SUPPRESS PANKHURST ORGAN

Militants' Paper Stirs Comstock and Whitman.

New York, Oct. 23.—Steps to stop the sale here of the Suffragette, the English militants' official organ, may be taken by Anthony Comstock, and he will decide whether or not criminal action will be taken against those responsible for its circulation.

Mr. Comstock, as head of the New York Society For the Suppression of Vice, held a long conference on the matter with District Attorney Whitman in the latter's office.

Neither would discuss their plans afterward, but it was learned that Mr Comstock had decided to go into the matter thoroughly so that no trouble can come in case it takes an international turn and, if satisfied with the criminality of the paper's sale, to procure search warrants and raid every place and home he knows the copies to be in. His plan then will be to prosecute both the distributors and the purchasers.

Thousands of copies of the paper have been distributed since they were first put on sale at the lecture by Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst in Madison Square Garden Tuesday night. Bundles of them were sent out from the rooms of the Political Equality association at 15 East Forty-first street, of which Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont is president.

At the Madison Square Garden meeting pink cheeked girls, sent by their mothers to aid in the suffrage cause, sold the papers.

VOLTURNO SURVIVORS ARRIVE

Forty Saved by Liner Minneapolis Are Brought Here on Olympic.

New York, Oct. 23.—Forty survivors of the Volturno who were saved by the Atlantic transport liner Minneapolis and taken to London, were landed here by the White Star liner Olympic. Among them was Welwel Weisberg, a Pole, who became separated from his wife and two children, Blume and Itsky, in the excitement of the rescue and did not know until his arrival here that they were safe at the Hebrew Sheltering home in this city. His wife and children were brought in by the Kroonland.

ARREST IN LEEGSON MURDER

Negro Held on Suspicion of Slaying Girl Art Student.

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 23.—William Seward Cox, a copper colored negro, who has been sought by the Chicago police for two weeks as a suspect in the murder of Miss Ida Leegson, the art institute student, was arrested by Police Captain McCraney in the railroad yards on the outskirts of Joliet.

McCraney questioned Cox for an hour and said that the negro admitted leaving Chicago three weeks ago, about the time the girl's body was found on a lonely prairie.

DEAD MEN NEVER ADVERTISE—WHAT CLASS ARE YOU IN?

DEFICIENCY BILL IS SIGNED BY PRESIDENT

Many Offices Are Exempted From Civil Service.

Washington, Oct. 23.—The urgent deficiency bill, carrying provisions abolishing the commerce court, removing over 1,000 deputy revenue collectors and United States marshals from civil service requirements and providing funds for the Panama canal and various other federal enterprises, was signed by President Wilson.

In signing the bill, President Wilson filed the following memorandum:

"I am convinced, after a careful examination of the facts, that the offices of deputy collector and deputy marshal were never intended to be included under the ordinary provision of the civil service law. The control of the whole method and spirit of the administration of the proviso in this bill which concerns the appointment of these officers is no less entirely in my hands now than it was before the bill became law. My warm advocacy and support both of the principle and of the bona fide practice of civil service reform is known to the whole country and there is no danger that the spoils principle will creep in with my approval or connivance."

FUNERAL OF P. J. McANDREWS.

The funeral of Philip J. McAndrews will be held at the late home, 130 North avenue, tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock and at St. Mary's R. C. church at 9 o'clock, where a high mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. The burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

THAW INDICTED.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

Captain Roy Force, of the freshman basketball team, issued the first call for candidates yesterday afternoon and ten fellows reported at Saengerbund Hall. Those who reported to practise were Roy Force, William Siedell, James Goodwin, Clifford Causbrook, William Fass, Grant Boos, William Carson, Andrew McDonough, Almon Doughty and James Willett.

Paul Collier appeared at Saengerbund Hall yesterday and took up his position as coach. He ran the first team through several drills on swift and accurate passing and shooting and then placed a strong second team against the regular five. This second squad is the fastest and most helpful that the school has ever had and the first team gets excellent practise in their short games. Those who play on this team are Edson Day and Ronald Conroy, forwards; Charles Beckman, centre; Warren Townley and Addison Newkirk, guards.

Principal Earley has arranged a schedule for the use of Saengerbund Hall so that all the class teams as well as the varsity squads can have the use of the floor. Each class team will have about two hours a week and the boys' and girls' first teams will divide up the remaining time. A class league will be arranged as soon as the schedule is in working order.

Donald Moran, of Rockview terrace, has enrolled as a freshman in the High School.

Until the basketball schedule for the class teams can be put into good working order the girls will practise on the court in the rear of the school building.

The members of last year's freshman basketball team, who won the class championship, have received their monograms from the class. Those who received them are Captain Warren Townley, Martin McDonough, Raymond Pasch, Harry Kirch, John Dawe and Addison Newkirk.

In order that the members of the junior class who are to take part in the mock trial may get a better idea of legal proceedings in a courtroom, the class sent four members to Somerville to witness a trial and report on it. Those who went were Elmer French, Russell Lee, Hoyt Tomkinson and Lester Chandler.

SUIT ON CONTRACT.

In a suit tried this morning in the District Court in which Freeman Strait was the plaintiff and John E. Forgerson, a contractor, the defendant, Judge Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., reserved decision. The action involved the proper construction of a garbage wagon. Martin Stuttsman represented Strait, and Swackhamer & Bird, were counsel for the defendant.

GREAT SUFFRAGE PARADE PLANS

Plainfield League to Participants in Big Parade in Newark Tomorrow.

SOME NOTED SPEAKERS.

Dr. Anna H. Shaw, Senators Poindexter and Borah and Former State Senator Everett Colby to Address the Mass Meeting.

Mrs. Champlain L. Riley, president of the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield, will have charge of the Plainfield division of the annual State Suffrage parade to be held in Newark tomorrow. In her division will ride Mrs. Lamar Van Syckle, Mrs. Henry C. White and Mrs. F. E. DuBois on saddle horses.

Following in automobiles or on foot will be Mrs. Arthur B. Jones, Mrs. H. L. DeForest, Mrs. H. H. Lowrie, Mrs. George M. Holstein, Mrs. Ernest R. Ackerman, Mrs. Millard Fillmore Elderton, Mrs. Herman Schwed, Miss Rodman, Miss Beckwith and others.

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, the Methodist minister, will also appear in line. Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blacth, daughter of the first woman in the United States to declare for equal suffrage, and Elizabeth Cady Stanton will head the delegation from the Women's Political Union of New York.

Among the speakers will be Everett Colby, United States Senators Borah and Poindexter. The principal speaker will be Dr. Anna Howard Shaw. It is possible that other candidates for Governor of the State will speak, including John M. Reilly, candidate on the Socialist ticket.

A brass band will lead the parade. Mrs. Everett Colby, chairman of the Legislature committee of the four suffrage organizations of the State, will be there, as will also the many leagues of the New Jersey Woman Suffrage Association, led by their president, Mrs. Edward F. Feickert, of Plainfield. Mrs. Abram VanWinkle will lead the Political Union, and Mrs. Harry Campton the Equal Franchise Society.

The Men's League of the State will send a large delegation, and there will be many automobiles in line, and also a mounted division. Newark streets will be gay in the autumn weather with sunny suffrage yellow and the bright colors of the Political Union. Few suffragists in New Jersey who can march will be missing on the day of the marching. After the parade, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw will speak in Proctor's theatre. The Governor of the State has promised to attend. Mrs. Pankhurst and Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont will come down from New York and occupy a stage box.

The lines will move promptly at 3 o'clock. The official route is the Clinton avenue gate of Lincoln Park, down Broad street to Prospect Park, thence to Washington Park and break ranks at the Proctor theatre.

There are a few tickets on sale at Mrs. Riley's house, Myrtle avenue, for those women desiring to sit in the Plainfield League section for the addresses.

ORDER IMPROVEMENTS AT FANWOOD SCHOOL BLDG.

The Fanwood Township Board of Education has received a communication from the State Board, to the effect that steps must be taken in the near future to erect a fireproof stairway in the main wing of Public School No. 1. The order also stated that a ventilating system must be installed in the structure. The alterations will cost in the neighborhood of $8,000.

Plans for the erection of a six-room addition, as proposed some time ago, have been deferred because of the prospects of making a contract with the Westfield authorities to send the pupils from the "Graceland" section to an institution in that city. This is not improbable, according to County Superintendent of Schools Savitz.

A MUSICAL SERVICE.

The quartet and chorus choir of the First Baptist church will give a "request" service Sunday night at 7:45. The following selections, which are favorites with the congregation, will be given: Cantata, "Penitence, Pardon and Peace," by Maunder; The Sanctus from Gounod's Messe Solennelle and Neidlinger's beautiful setting of Whittier's poem, "The Silent Sea."

JUDGE RUNYON COACH.

Former City Judge William N. Runyon, who has coached a number of amateur minstrel troupes in this city and vicinity, will act as supervisor for the black face sketch to be presented by the Washington School Social Club now in preparation. Rehearsals have already been started.

1ST BAPTIST BIBLE SCHOOL AT DINNER

Arthur M. Harris Toastmaster and Speeches by Prominent Workers.

The officers, teachers, representatives of the Home Department and a few friends were guests of Arthur M. Harris, superintendent of the First Baptist Bible School, at a dinner given in the church, last night, the affair being intended as a "get-together" for the fall and winter season, and incidentally to decide the question of what is the best time for holding the Sunday-school session, morning or afternoon.

During the summer the school met in the morning and at the suggestion of several, it has been continued at that time. However, considerable opposition has developed and after an extended debate last night during which everyone had an opportunity to express an opinion, it was finally decided to hold the session in the afternoon, beginning November 1. It was shown that there are many members of the school who find it impossible to attend a morning session, and this fact was brought out strongly by Dr. Norman H. Probasco, who has a class of 125 young men.

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, the pastor, expressed himself in favor of members of the school having more time to themselves on Sunday, declaring that the Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath. The same opinion was expressed by Mr. Harries and other members of the school. The remarks brought out the fact that the morning session was not a success as being continued, and that the afternoon would be more desirable. The suggestion to hold the session immediately following the morning service was not so well received, although there was a feeling that the two services should not be divorced in any way. It was pointed out that one of the largest, if not the largest school in the city, Trinity Reformed, holds its session in the afternoon, and it was finally thought best to return to that hour.

Mr. Harris acted as toastmaster of the evening and interesting remarks were made by Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, J. Henry Crane, Charles W. McCutchen, James E. Church, Dr. Norman H. Probasco, Frank W. Jones and Mrs. Lucie E. Rising.

The dinner was prepared and served by Mr. Lewis H. Matlack and her large class of young women. The Sunday-school room was attractively decorated with palms, ferns, flowers and flags, adding to the pleasure of the occasion.

GESANG AND TURNVEREIN WANTS A SINGING TEACHER

The Plainfield Gesang and Turn Verein at its meeting last night considered applications for the position of leader of its singing section. It was decided that the applicants be given a trial. They are Carl Deichman, August F. H. Lehmann, Julius Faget and Joseph Mengler, all of Brooklyn, and Hugo Speck, of New York. The usual weekly singing practise was held last night, following the business meeting.

At the next meeting a delegate will be appointed to represent the local organization at the annual convention of the New Jersey Saengerbund, to be held November 10, in Trenton. One of the principal subjects to be discussed at the session will be the arrangements for the next prize singing festival to be held next Labor Day. Henry Haurand said today that it was not improbable that the event will be held in Saengerbund Hall.

TO GIVE ILLUSTRATED TALK ON HER TRAVELS

"The World's Sunday-school Convention at Zurich, Switzerland, With Glimpses of Europe, Egypt, the Holy Land and Asia Minor en route," will be the subject of an illustrated lecture by Mrs. Lucie E. Rising, Monday evening, November 3, at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium. This interesting address will be given under the auspices of the Sunday-school Superintendents' Association of Plainfield and the superintendents, officers, teachers and adult Bible class members of all the Sunday-schools of the city and borough are invited. There will be no admission fee.

ARRANGE TWO DAYS MISSIONARY RALLY

List of Speakers for Meetings to Be Held Here on Oct. 30 and 31.

The program for the two-days' missionary meeting to be held in this city, Thursday and Friday, October 30-31, in connection with the United Missionary Campaign, has been completed and was announced today by the local committee comprising Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, A. M. Harris and W. D. Murray.

The first meeting will be held at the First Baptist church, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, to which the public is invited. The speakers on that occasion will be Rev. Henry J. Scudder, of the Dutch Reformed church, who has been a missionary in India, and Rev. Dr. F. A. Agar, secretary of the Baptist Home Missionary Society.

There will be a missionary conference Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the First Baptist church, to which all workers and others interested are invited. The speakers will be R. E. Diffendorfer, secretary of the Missionary Education Movement of the Methodist Episcopal church, and David McConaughy, secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions.

On Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock there will be a men's missionary dinner at the Park Club, to be followed with addresses by Rev. Stephen O. Benton, recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal church, and Mornay Williams, of New York. Tickets for the banquet can be secured from ministers or members of the committee.

METHODIST BRUOTHERHOOD BANQUET, NEWARK, OCT. 30

The annual meeting and banquet of the Methodist Brotherhood, Newark Conference, will be held in the Halsey Street M. E. church, Newark, Thursday evening, October 30. There will be a business session at 6:30 o'clock and the banquet will follow at 7:30. Reports of the work for the past year and election of officers will comprise the business session. The menu will be served by the Epworth League of the Halsey street church.

The program will include an address by Rev. Fred Claire Baldwin, pastor of Calvary church, East Orange, on "The Making of a Man." Representatives from all Methodist churches in the conference will be admitted to the business session. Tickets for the banquet will be offered at a nominal sum. Women will be admitted.

FRITZ HOLM, EXPLORER, TO GIVE A LECTURE HERE

Fritz Holm, the man who achieved world-wide fame a few years ago by penetrating into regions of China that civilization knew nothing about, is coming to this city to lecture. His visit will be under the auspices of the Boy Scouts of Plainfield and he will appear at the Scout headquarters in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening.

This lecture will be illustrated by lantern slides showing views taken of China and its strange population and customs by Dr. Holm himself. In his travels throughout the world, Dr. Holm has had occasion to note the good work of the Boy Scouts in many foreign lands and he has consented to come to Plainfield to help the work of the scout movement here. Admission will be free, but a silver offering will be accepted.

HUERTA JAILS DIAZ; WARNS UNITED STATES

(By Telegraph to the Daily Press.)

New York, Oct. 24.—Latest advices from Mexico City indicate that Provisional President Huerta has caused the arrest of his entire personal staff and also the arrest of General Diaz at Vera Cruz, and that he has issued a statement which is tantamount to a warning to the powers, particularly the United States, to keep hands off.

NO DOG-CATCHER.

Although the authorities have found difficulty in engaging a dog-catcher, a report has reached the police that two colored men have been making a tour of the city with a wagon, making prisoners of any dogs they can catch. Chief Kiely said at the present time no one has been authorized to act in this capacity.

WANT RECEIVER FOR THE CONCERN

Minority Stockholders Also Get Temporary Injunction Against Int. Motor Co.

STOP BOND ISSUE

Saurer Company, of This City, Affected by the Proceedings to Be Heard in Brooklyn Supreme Court Monday.

An injunction to prevent the voting trustees of the International Motor Company from taking any action relative to the proposed $1,200,000 loan has been obtained in the Supreme Court in Brooklyn by a committee representing minority holders of voting trust certificates for preferred stock. The committee has also made application for a receiver for the company. This matter and the question as to whether the present injunction shall be made permanent will be threshed out in the court Monday.

One of the firms that will be affected by any action the court may decide to take next Monday relative to appointing a receiver is the Saurer Motor Company, on Clinton avenue, one of the companies recently consolidated into the International Motor Company. Trouble among the stockholders of the company was started Tuesday when the controlling interests met in the company's offices in New York city, refusing to allow twenty-five minority shareholders admittance to the closed session. "Steam-Roller" methods were resorted to at that time and it was stated that the controlling interests would immediately take action to raise $1,200,000 additional working capital.

The company claims to have $2,800,000 assets, but one of the minority stockholders in discussing the fact, said that it was far from plausible. One of the stockholders declared that he thought the new loan would be dissipated by the management, and had no definite idea of what was going to be done and considered the best course the proposition advocated by some of cutting out the Mack and Saurer plants.

MATTIS IS LET OFF WITH A $500 FINE

Railroad Detective Who Shot Caslick Escapes a Jail Sentence.

Jacob Mattis, the Lehigh Valley Railroad detective who shot Joseph Caslick several months ago, while the latter was trespassing on the company's property at South Plainfield, and who was subsequently convicted on a charge of atrocious assault and battery in the Middlesex county court, when arraigned in court this morning, was sentenced by Judge Daly to pay a fine of $500 and costs.

Judge Daly in pronouncing sentence said that he was satisfied of the guilt of the detective and that he had been careless and intemperate in his conduct, and furthermore declared that such practise must stop in the future or offenders would have to take the consequence of the law.

Caslick was stealing a ride on the Lehigh Valley Railroad and while trying to escape from the detective was shot in the leg. He was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital, where he was under treatment for some time.

KING'S DAUGHTERS' UNION.

The semi-annual meeting of the City Union of The King's Daughters will be held in the parish house of Grace church, Thursday morning, November 6, at 10:30 o'clock instead of in the afternoon as formerly announced, as many of the members desire to attend Miss Janet Richards' first lecture at the Hartridge Auditorium in the afternoon. The trustees of the union will meet at 9:30 o'clock. All members are requested to note the change in the hour of the meeting.

P. J. McANDREWS BURIED.

Funeral services for Philip J. McAndrews, of 130 North avenue, a retired Jersey Central railroad employe, who died Tuesday after a long illness, were held last night at his late home. A high mass of requiem was celebrated this morning at 9 o'clock by Rev. B. M. Bogan, at St. Mary's church. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery. The pall bearers were Peter McDonough, Patrick McDonough, Henry Wierenga, John F. MacIntyre, John Flynn and Andrew Saffron.

STATE'S JR. O. U. A. M. HONORS VON MINDEN

New Market Man Made Vice-Councilor of the Order in New Jersey.

The election of officers at Atlantic City yesterday, at the annual meeting of the State Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., of New Jersey resulted as follows: State councilor, Frank K. Muta; vice councilor, Rene P. F. von Minden; conductor, O. L. Fleetwood; warden, Wilson J. Smith; inside sentinel, C. D. Collins; auditing committee, five years, Harry Hawkins, Jr.; four years, J. Preston Potter; two years, Henry C. Ball.

State Council Secretary Miers and State Council Treasurer Read will continue in office.

Mr. von Minden is a member of Friendship Council, New Market, and his elected has been boosted by councils all through this section of New Jersey. He received 210 votes, as against 141 for Theodore Buttenbaum, his opponent.

About 174 local people attended the opening session Wednesday of the State Council, and made a good showing in the parade which was given in the afternoon, a procession which reached six miles. Goodwill Guards, of New Brunswick, received special mention for their fine appearance in uniform and also for the best drilling work.

The guards from this vicinity included New Market Guards in charge of Rene P. F. von Minden; Franklin Guards, of Plainfield.

Middlesex county received the third place for financial gain, the gain being $10,094.77 for the year, which is a splendid exhibition for the county.

Mr. von Minden was nominated by William B. La Rue, of Bound Brook, past State councilor, and seconded by Past State Councilor Frank Sharp, of Irvington; Rev. Leslie L. Hand, of Milltown; past State councilor, and other prominent men of the organization.

Testimony was given of Mr. von Minden's splendid work in the Assembly, especially with reference to his Railroad Taxation Bill, for the benefit of the Public School System, and other work in the interest of the State.

ROYAL ARCANUMITES HOLD GROUP MEETING

A group meeting of the Royal Arcanum lodges of Somerville, Bound Brook, Roselle and Plainfield, was held in the lodge rooms of the Plainfield Council, No. 711, last night, over 300 delegates being present from these three divisions of the order. The group session was authorized by the Grand Council and a special program of appropriate fraternal talks and vaudeville entertainment was supplied to the visitors and members of the local lodge.

Harry Weber, of this city, provided humorous selections for those present and occupied a conspicuous place in the evening's social hour. Charles Silbert and Milton Herzog also assisted in the entertaining.

The address of the evening was made by Supreme representative, Martin Kester, after which the delegates enjoyed a banquet in the Ritz store.

SPECIAL MUSICAL SERVICE.

The quartet choir of the Crescent Avenue church, comprising Miss Lillian Vernon Watt, soprano; Miss Grace J. Carroll, contralto; Paul Haskell, tenor, and Graham Reid, baritone, under the direction of the organist, Dr. E. Metler Davis, will give its first musical service at the church Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock, when selections from the "Stabat Mater" will be given preceded at 4:45 by a fifteen-minute organ recital.

MASS MEETING TONIGHT.

There will be a meeting of colored Republican voters at the Nonpareil Club rooms, on St. Mary's avenue, at 8 o'clock tonight, to be addressed by City Judge W. F. DeMeza, Juan A. Babcock, John H. Cose, Martin B. Stutsman, A. A. Prudhon, candidates for Common Council, and John J. Carroll. Mr. Carroll will preside. The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Plainfield Colored Republican Club.

PROGRESSIVES RALLY IN BOROUGH TONIGHT

Rev. Dr. Eaton, Philip Roosevelt and George T. Hughes to Speak.

The Progressives of Somerset county will hold a mass meeting at Debele's Hall at 8 o'clock tonight. Among the speakers will be Dr. Charles A. Eaton, Philip J. Roosevelt, of New York, a cousin of Theodore Roosevelt, and George T. Hughes, city Editor of the New York Globe, who is a candidate for the Assembly. Champlin L. Riley, of North Plainfield, will preside.

The Somerset County Committee has been waging an aggressive campaign for the past three or four weeks. All the principal places in the county have been visited, and outdoor meetings held. The committee is very much gratified by the reception that the discussion of the platform has received, and a largely increased Progressive vote is confidently counted upon.

At tonight's meeting, seats will be reserved for women, and an interesting evening is promised to all who attend.

JUAN BABCOCK PRESIDENT OF A CHURCH MEN'S CLUB

The election of officers and a discussion of plans for the coming year comprised the chief business at the annual meeting of the Men's Association of the Church of the Heavenly Rest held in the parish house, last night. Russell Vail, Charles Dickenshied and Henry Walters were elected to membership. The next meeting of the association will be held on November 13 and it is expected that there will be a speaker of prominence from New York.

These officers were chosen for the year: President, Juan A. Babcock; vice president, Gansvoort VanAlstyne; recording secretary, John Ludgate; financial secretary, Ernest Dorflinger; treasurer, Robert Larmour.

Mr. Babcock urged the support of the association in making it a success and promised to do all in his power to increase the membership and interest and to make the organization one of the best in the city. He said that he would endeavor to have an attractive program for the November meeting. A social hour followed the business meeting.

DONATION PARTY.

The officers of the City Union of The King's Daughters have invited the public to attend the annual reception and donation to be held at the Day Nursery, 502 West Front street, Tuesday afternoon, October 28, from 3 to 6 and 8 to 10 o'clock, and friends are requested not to forget the urgent need of vegetables, fruits and dry groceries. Two of the circles of the City Union will serve tea afternoon and evening.

THE ONLY WAY.

We have been suggesting that the voter hear all sides before casting his ballot. The only intelligent way of voting is to be had through an education on the principle and policies and the men who are advocating them. The day of the blind party vote, the bossed vote and the ignorant vote is gone—people are doing their own thinking and their own acting. They won't allow somebody else to tell them how to vote—they're doing that for themselves.

We suggested that you listen to the Republican speakers and the Democratic speakers. Now, may we suggested that you go to Debele Hall tonight and listen to the Progressive doctrines being expounded. It will be an evening of entertainment and education for instructive talks will be given by the distinguished Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton, Philip J. Roosevelt, a cousin of Theodore Roosevelt, and George T. Hughes, city editor of the New York Globe. Eight o'clock is the hour. Yes, women are invited.

MALONE SPEAKS AT PARTY RALLY

Ass't Sec'y of State Says Elect Fielder and Uphold Wilson Policies.

GEBHARDT HIT STOKES

Raps Republican Nominee for Taking Unto Himself Credit He Declares Belongs to Wilson—Ackerman Honest Not So Stokes.

Dudley Field Malone, assistant secretary of State; Assembly candidates Leonard, Grimm and Dobbins, and Supreme Court Clerk William C. Gebhardt, were the speakers last night at the Democratic mass meeting held in Columbus Hall. It was expected that Congressman Swager Sherley, of Kentucky, would speak, but he was detained, and Mr. Malone was sent her to take his place. His appearance was quite a surprise. Mr. Malone, as indicated by his remarks, has been engaged in a strenuous campaign in New York in behalf of John Purroy Mitchel, the Fusion candidate for Mayor, and he made a flying trip to this city.

The voters were a little slow in gathering, but when the Jefferson Democratic Club, of the West End, about seventy-five strong, arrived, led by St. Mary's Fife and Drum Corps, the hall filled up and there was plenty of enthusiasm. Robert Scott led the club in three cheers for the Democratic party, the club and Mayor Stewart, which was followed by much applause.

Mayor Percy H. Stewart presided and a number of Democrats, including the local candidates for office, occupied seats on the platform. In introducing the first speaker, Mr. Malone, Mr. Stewart said that his presence afforded a great surprise and it was an unusual pleasure to be able to have him address the audience.

Speaking in the interest of the candidacy of Fielder for Governor, Mr. Malone said that there were essential reasons why he should be elected. New Jersey never appeared on the political map while Stokes was Governor and the man who put it on the political map was President Wilson. He declared that no man had ever done what President Wilson did for the people of New Jersey, and he was campaigning for Fielder because he upheld Wilson when he was Governor.

"Colby is unquestionably a Progressive," said Mr. Malone, "and Stokes calls himself a Progressive, but it is for you to decide. Did Stokes put the 'gang' out when he was Governor? No! Whoever thought of driving Smith and Nugent out of the party until Wilson took a hand and New Jersey has endorsed our President.

"The Democrats passed a tariff bill and I saw it signed. Senator Galliger said about this that there had never before been a bill passed with such a minimum of friction and maximum of harmony. Secretary of State Bryan preserved our treaty rights with Japan, and has prevented bloodshed in the settlement of the Mexican trouble, and there will never be a useless sacrifice of life and property in war, if he can prevent it, despite the clamorings of a certain few who have their wealth invested in Mexico and who want to see a fight.

"A currency bill is to be passed and instead of a few Wall street men controlling the money of the country that right will be invested with the Secretary of the Treasury. Fielder stood by Wilson and his reforms and assuming that you favor that which is for the greatest good to all you will elect the best man for Governor.

"I did not hesitate to leave my party when it was rotten. I voted for Hughes for Governor of New York because he made good, and tonight I am standing with representatives of various parties in a fight to elect John P. Mitchell mayor of New York city. New Jersey stands with Wisconsin as a beacon light in progressive legislation, parties may die, but principles will live forever, and they are as true today as in 1812. The Democratic party is today the representative of the young men of the nation.

"There is Joseph Tumulty, 34 years old, holding the responsible position as secretary and adviser to the President. Frank Roosevelt is only 33 years of age, Henry Breckinridge is 29 years of age and so I might go down the line showing you how young men are coming to the front. I ask you to stand for the best interest of your commonwealth by electing James C. Fielder and your whole ticket."

After the Assembly candidates had spoken briefly, urging that the united support of the party be given to the ticket so that Fielder could be upheld in his plan of reform, Mr. Gebhardt was introduced. He spoke for more than an hour, during which he devoted his attention chiefly to

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

"The Five Frankforters," the story of the rise of the House of Rothschild, which comes to the Plainfield theatre, October 31, after notable

Mbe. Mathilde Cottrelly.

Scene from "The Five Frankfurters," the charming comedy drama of the House of Rothschild, at Plainfield theatre, next Friday Night.

runs in London, Berlin, Vienna and New York, is the most charming comedy drama of the age and its superb cast is headed by Mme. Mathilde Cottrelly, who has been prominent on the American and German stage for over thirty years and has proven her versatility in scores of productions—musical, dramatic and farcical, but it has remained for her to win her real laurels in the quaint and absorbing comedy, "The Five Frankforters." Mme. Cottrelly is worthily assisted and the play is presented with rare fidelity to the idea and the period—that of 1822. The five money kings of Europe are made quaint portraits of picturesque and dominant personality, each influenced perceptibly by the city whose finances he governs—they are in short not alone the aristocrats and autocrats of financial history but men who influenced political history as well. The original New York cast will be seen here and includes Mme. Mathilde Cottrelly, Edward Emery, Edward Mackay, Frank Losee, Alma Belwin, Lynn Pratt, Frank L. Davis, C. Norman Hammond, Georgia Waldron, Lawrence Grant, Pedro de Cordoba, Marie Dudley Davis, Henry Fearing, Ninita Bristow and Janes Ross. The scenic investiture is superb and the New York presentation was pronounced far superior to that given this exquisite comedy during its long runs in Berlin, Vienna and London, both as to cast and to high quality of production.

FIELDER SHOULD CARRY UNION BY 5,000 MAJORITY

Elizabeth, Oct. 24.—The City Democratic Committee last night heard encouraging reports from all parts of the county. It was announced that from present indications Governor Fielder will carry the county by at least 5,000.

Plans for getting out the full vote on election day were made. It was decided that this matter should be left in the hands of the district leaders.

HOPE REGISTRATION WILL BE INCREASED IN UNION

Elizabeth, Oct. 24.—Although the registration in the county was lower than expected by the leaders, it is believed that increases will be shown in the rural districts.

Voters in municipalities of less than 5,000 inhabitants will have their last chance to register for the general election on next Tuesday.

It is not possible, however, that the registration in these districts will bring the total up to that of last year.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR JOHN J. KLINE HELD

The funeral service for John J. Kline, sexton of Grace M. E. church, who dropped dead Tuesday morning while working at the home of Tax Collector and Mrs. George F. Brown, was held yesterday afternoon at his late home, 186 Somerset street. Rev. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, officiated. Interment was made in the North Plainfield cemetery. Members of Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M., to which Mr. Kline belonged for many years, attended the services in a body. The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

The pall bearers were Junior Order men, as follows: Elmer Ganun, Adam Seader, George B. Allen, James Hone, John Frazee and George H. Rockefeller.

INTERNATIONALLY FAMOUS SOPRANO WILL SING HERE

Unusual interest has been aroused among music-loving people here in the announcement of the appearance of Walter Damrosch and the New York Symphony Orchestra of fifty and Mme. Johanna Gadski, the prima donna soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, at the Plainfield theatre, on Thursday night, November 20. Edwin Schneider will be at the piano.

Mme. Gadski in her dual capacity of operatic prima donna and concert singer has won a lasting place in the hearts of the American people. She was born in Stettin, Germany, and there when ten years old, began the study of music under Mme. Schroeder-Chapulka. Her professional debut was made in the title role of Lortzing's opera "Undine." So pronounced was her success that she was promptly re-engaged for three seasons. In 1894, following a concert tour through Germany and Holland, she was heard by Walter Damrosch, who immediately made her an offer to appear in opera in the United States.

FORMER LOCAL MINISTER CRITICIZED IN SUMMIT

Rev. Dr. A. H. Tuttle, formerly pastor of the First M. E. church, this city, and now pastor of the Methodist church, Summit, and Rev. Dr. Robert Chipman Hull, of the First Baptist church, Summit, have received letters criticising their action in taking part in the dedication Tuesday night of All Souls' Unitarian-Universalist church, Summit.

Dr. Tuttle says that he has received twenty-five letters, while Dr. Hull received one. The two pastors say that they have not given the matter much attention believing they come from persons not broad-minded.

RICHARD BUTLER.

Former Assemblyman Indicted In Alleged Thaw Conspiracy.

The supreme court grand jury in New York found a blanket indictment charging Harry K. Thaw, Richard Butler, Michael O'Keefe, Roger Thompson and Eugene Duffy with conspiracy. The indictment is based on the escape of Harry Thaw from Matteawan insane asylum and the plot preceding the escape. Butler, who was formerly in the assembly, is said by William Travers Jerome, who presented the case to the grand jury as a special deputy attorney general, to have been the chief mover of the plot.

WILL BITTERLY FIGHT THAW EXTRADITION

Indictments Will Prolong Case, Say His Counsel.

Concord, N. H., Oct. 24.—The Thaw counsel are unanimous in their opinion that the finding of an indictment against Thaw in New York county will prolong the case indefinitely and that it has opened up an entirely new field. Both Merrill Shurtleff and Dewitt C. Howe state that their next step will depend largely upon the attitude of Jerome. If the New York special deputy asks Governor Glynn for new extradition papers he will eliminate from the case the affidavits which accompanied the first extradition papers and which were attacked by the Thaw lawyers. The new indictment would take the place of the affidavits.

Governor Felker was informed that an indictment had been found in New York county, and he stated immediately that he would be willing to grant the lawyers for Thaw additional time for fixing new briefs, or if they desired he would consent to an oral hearing in view of the indictment. The governor, it is said, expects that new extradition papers will be filed.

The Thaw lawyers have not been in direct touch with one another for some days, but they will probably get together today for a conference.

The general opinion is that Governor Felker will now accede to New York's demand for Thaw's extradition because of the New York indictment. The governor said when asked what possible effect the finding of the indictment might have on his decision that his mind was still open and that it would remain so until the last bit of evidence had been submitted to him.

THE PASTOR'S SALARY.

When it is considered that there are some 3,000 Methodist Episcopal ministers in this country who receive $500, which is $18 less than the average wage scale, and that the Presbyterian minister's average salary is but $750 a year, it will be agreed that the various denominations should fix a minimum wage for their dominies and that the amount to be agreed upon in any case should be at least $1,000—unless they want to starve their pastors out.

Rev. William J. Johnson, a Winsconsin minister of the Presbyterian denomination, is agitating a more liberal salary for preachers attached to that church. Among the Methodists the agitation is general, but so far without specific form to remedy the situation.

The point to think about is this: Except in the high class, fashionable churches the preachers of all denominations are under-paid. The man who receives $500 a year, or even $730 a year, for preaching the gospel, is virtually in poverty. This is so plain that it has brought a common agitation among all the churches for better salaries for the men who fill the pulpits, living wages to speak plainly.

The common explanation of the preachers has been, and for the most part still is, that poverty is the result of improvidence, laziness, drunkenness and ignorance. That is, the poverty that afflicts and depresses the common wage worker, the man who toils, and gets less than enough to live, the man who produces the wealth that provides comfort for the wives and children of other men.

The ministers who are paid less than a living wage, less than the average annual pay of the industrial worker, who are leaving the ministry because of the economic conditions that surround it will hardly admit that their pathetic economic condition is due to their improvidence, extravagance, laziness, drunkenness, or ignorance. They will not admit it because it is not true. But it is just as true in the case of the exploited wage worker.

The preacher has finally reached the exploited wage-working class without knowing it. He has failed to grasp the real importance of the message that Christ carried into the world.

OH, SLUSH!

Our neighbor in urging the election of E. C. Stokes as Governor tells us editorially that "anyone who knows anything about politics knows that Stokes was opposed for the present nomination by some of the old-timers with whom he is erroneously associated," and then attempts to explain why the former Governor is not a reactionary. It can explain until pinters' ink runs out, and still leave the general public in the dark as to who these "old-timers" are who opposed Stokes. Certainly he had the vigorous support of "Davy" Baird in Camden, "Uncle Dan" Voorhees, the doughty lead in Morris; "Dory" Strong and his pals in Middlesex, "Ace" Francis, the "let-'em-have-a-good-time" Monmouth county ex-mayor, and a list of others very well known to all. There is also more than a sneaking suspicion that the honorable jimsmith of Essex, although he insists that he is "a Democrat," is not working as hard as might be expected to elect Mr. Fielder, and is giving a sly boost to the Stokes candidacy when occasion presents itself. No, gentle reader, we cannot admit, as our friend across the street would have us "that anyone who knows anything about politics knows that Mr. Stokes was opposed for the present nomination by some of the old-timers with whom he is erroneously associated." Do a little better next time.

When the East Side turns against "The Chief" as it has by rallying to Sulzer by the thousands, Tammany's fate at the election seems sealed and McCall might as well go and hunt a job.

The contributing editor for tomorrow's issue will be Frank W. Iredell. He will discuss a subject of interest to all Plainfielders.

LAVINSKI ASSAULTED; LEIMAR SENT TO JAIL

As the result of mistaken identity, Frank Lavinski, of this city, is nursing a badly bitten ear and a broken finger, inflicted by Samuel Leimar, also of this city, received yesterday morning while the two men were en route to their respective places of business in Dunellen. Leimar has been arrested and is at present in the Middlesex county jail in default of $500 bonds, awaiting grand jury action. He was arraigned last night before Recorder Campbell, who severely lectured the prisoner.

According to eye witnesses of the scrap, Leimar, while standing on the rear platform of a Main Line trolley car passing through Dunellen at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, was hit in the side of the face with an apple. Lavinski was walking on the sidewalk along, and thinking that he was the thrower of the missile Leimar jumped from the car and attacked him. The apple, it is said, was thrown by some boys.

Banquets In Elizabeth's Time.

In Queen Elizabeth's time the first course of a banquet is given as wheaten flummery, stewed broth or spinach broth, or smallage, gruel or hotch pot. The second consisted of fish, among which are lampreys, poor John, stockfish and sturgeon, with side dishes of porpoise. The third course comprised quaker puddings, black puddings, bag puddings, white puddings and marrow puddings. Then came veal, beef, capons, humble pie, mutton, marrow pasties, Scotch collops, wild fowl and game. In the fifth course all kinds of sweets, creams in all their varieties, custards, cheese cakes, jellies, warden pies, suckets, sillibubs and so on, to be followed perhaps by white cheese and tansy cake; for drinks, ale, beer, wine, sack and numerous varieties of mead or metheglin.

Her Only Thought.

The late Duke of Sutherland, who was the largest landowner in Europe, had at Dunrobin castle a small private railway line and often amused himself by driving the engine.

There is a little story that illustrates the reverence in which his highland tenants held the duke.

He was driving his little train one afternoon when he ran down an old woman. She was not seriously hurt—the amateur engineer never went very fast—and after ten or fifteen minutes she came to.

Her first words were these:

"Is the duke very angry?"

Answered.

"Do you dance on your toes, Miss Quickwit?"

"Never, Mr. Clumsey. Other people do that for me."

And he didn't know just what she meant until he tried to get another dance with her.

Many Heroes of Latest Disaster On the High Seas

THE burning of the Volturno added another date to the long list of disasters at sea and new names to the honor roll of the heroes of these tragedies.

It was Captain Inch, blindly fighting in the flames, and Second Officer Edward Lloyd at the oar helm of a rudderless boat, who taught heroism to the rescue fleet that hovered, hesitant, for hours around the burning steamship.

Of all the stories of bravery, of strong hearts and of grit which were brought into port the tales of the deeds of Second Officer Edward Lloyd outshone all the rest.

An unassuming, quiet, naturally mild mannered Englishman, but a giant in physical strength, he rose to the awful occasion that confronted the officers of the doomed ship from the time the cry of fire was first sounded, and in the long hours of terror that followed he proved to be the one above all others, except perhaps Captain Inch, who was directly responsible for the saving of those who escaped from the ship.

He checked the flames long enough for the rescue ships to arrive by chopping holes in the deck of the Volturno and pouring water into the hold; he made it possible for the wireless calls for aid to be sent by climbing aloft and repairing the burned out wireless apparatus; with Captain Inch he averted a panic among the passengers by the exercise of an iron will, and, above all, when the succoring ships stood by not daring to put their small boats into the awful sea, he launched a mere cockleshell of a craft and jumped into it to prove that lifeboats would live in the tossing water. With two seamen, a fireman and a steward to help him the boat was put off.

It was the Grosser Kurfuerst they made for. She lay two miles away—two miles of the bitterest sea that ever men tried to put a small boat through. It was the last able boat on the Volturno. It had no rudder.

The almost superhuman feat was accomplished. The boat, half full of water, sank as Lloyd, the last to leave it, was hauled aboard the Kurfuerst.

As Lloyd sank on the deck of the steamship in a dead faint the crew of the vessel were inspired. Captain Spangenberg shouted an order for "All men to the boats!"

Third Engineer Robert Pinch and S. J. Rudder, a colored fireman and a leader who stuck to his post in a manner that revived the confidence of the other firemen, were the heroes below decks on the Volturno.

These two men were responsible for keeping the boat in position and stuck to their task till the heat became suffocating and the coal was ablaze.

Deeds of heroism were not confined to the Volturno, however, as all of the sailors who manned rescue boats were taking their lives in their hands. Most conspicuous among the rescuers was a seaman named Heighway on the Carmania, who dived from the upper deck and attached a life line to an exhausted swimmer.

The Rappahannock was the fifth ship to arrive on the scene. One of their boats saved nineteen and was in charge of Second Officer Davis. One of the rescued was an infant ten months old, and to get this child the ship's carpenter, Owason, climbed up the Volturno's rope and slid down back into the boat with the baby in his arms.

Last to leave was Captain Inch, blackened and torn, his shoes and clothing literally burned off and hair and eyebrows gone. With him to the last was a little dog, his constant companion through all the disaster, and when the fight looked hopeless the gallant captain tied a life preserver around his faithful friend and tried to make him jump. But the dog refused to leave his master, and both were rescued by the Kroonland with the ill fated Volturno blazing from stem to stern.

No doubt countless deeds of valor and self sacrifice will go down with the bulk of the Volturno, but those that are known will not be forgotten.

PROFESSOR N. M. BUTLER.

President of Columbia University Will Investigate Balkan Atrocities.

Professor Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, is reported to be organizing an international commission to inquire into the allegations of atrocities committed during the Balkan war. Dr. Butler's action is understood to have been taken in response to appeals made in Bulgarian quarters for a public inquiry into the extent of and responsibility for the atrocities committed by the belligerents during the second Balkan war.

YOUNG MEN'S BIBLE CLASS HOLDS DINNER

Members of the Young Men's Bible class of Trinity Reformed Sunday-school began their fall term of work last night in the church parlors with a banquet, followed by an impromptu social program of entertainment in which all of the members took an active part. William R. Kriney, founder of the class and the present instructor, acted as toastmaster and in response to appropriate toasts each of the young men in the class gave short after-dinner speeches. A great deal of enthusiasm was expressed over the prospects of a banner year of work in this department of Sunday-school endeavor and plans were outlined last night for a definite outline of study to be followed during the coming year.

Fifteen of those who took an active interest in the class last year returned to assist in the reorganization last night and indications point to a greatly increased enrollment before the new season of study is started. Present at last night's gathering were Rev. J. Y. Broek, pastor of the church, and Frederick E. Smith, superintendent of the Sunday-school, who responded to toasts and complimented the members on their zealous work of last year and expressed wishes that the Bible study would be carried on in an even more extensive scale this year.

The church parlors were decorated with a profuse array of cut flowers and the boys were assisted in their entertaining by a number of the women of the church who served the dinner and acted as waitresses. Following the banquet and speech-making a number of the diners entertained with vocal and instrumental music.

HUERTA WON'T ACCEPT MEXICAN PRESIDENCY

(By Telegraph to the Daily Press.)

Washington, Oct. 24.—President Huerta, of Mexico, will not accept election to the Mexican Presidency at the polls on Sunday. Secretary of State Bryan today announced that word has come to President Wilson from Charge d'Affaires O'Shaughnessy, at Mexico City, who received the pledge from Gen. Huerta at the conference with the diplomatic corps in Mexico City yesterday.

"Votes for Women" Advocates Believe That if Elected He Will Not Carry Out Democratic Platform Pledges.

Governor Fielder having stated to one of the prominent suffrage workers that he was opposed to the suffrage referendum plank in the Democratic platform, and had voted against it, and hearing rumors that he is stating that if elected he will do his best to defeat the suffrage resolution to be introduced in the next Legislature, Mrs. E. F. Feickert, of this city, State president, wrote to him on October 15, as follows:

"Acting on the advice of Judge Collins, of Jersey City, and other prominent lawyers of the State, the suffragists were on the point of asking the Grand Jury to indict the gentlemen of the present Democratic administration to whose neglect the failure to properly advertise the woman suffrage amendment bill was due, when all three of the big political parties put either a suffrage plank or a suffrage referendum plank in their New Jersey platforms. This action naturally led us to believe that the suffrage referendum bill to be introduced at the next session of the Legislature would have the support of all parties, and that its success would be assured. We have, therefore, taken no steps in regard to indictment.

"We now hear, however, that the Anti-Suffragists are boasting that you promised one of their prominent workers sometime ago, that if elected you would see to it that the suffrage referendum bill would never even 'get out of committee,' and you are also quoted as saying that you do not feel bound by the plank in your party platform which reads:

"'We believe that the voters of the State should have the right to decide whether suffrage should be extended to women, and, therefore, favor a submission of this question to popular vote.'

"The rumors that you do not stand upon this plank of your party platform and are still actively opposed to having this important question referred to the voters for decision are very disquieting, and we should very much like to be assured that your position toward us is not the unfriendly one which the 'Antis' confidently assert you occupy.

"You, of course, remember that the bill which was not advertised as it should have been was found in your office, with a lot of so-called dead bills, and your executive clerk, Mr. Farrell, told us that it had been there ever since it was passed last spring. It seemed fair to assume that the insertion of a referendum plank in the Democratic platform meant that you, in common with all fair-minded people, regretted that the bill for which we worked so hard should have been lost in such a way, even though this might only have been due to carelessness and poor management at the State House, and that you were determined to give us fair-play this year."

The Governor has now replied to the following effect:

"In reply to your letter of the 15th inst., I beg to say that I have been and still am opposed to woman suffrage, that I have no desire or intention to enforce my opinion upon others. I am not sufficiently interested in the subject to attempt to influence any who may desire to vote in favor of the resolution (not bill), and I cannot be responsible for what may be said of my attitude to the contrary."

The suffragists, naturally, do not feel reassured by this letter. Without questioning the Governor's right to hold any private opinion he chooses on the woman suffrage question, they feel that if elected he should be willing not only to not "influence anyone who may desire to vote in favor of the resolution," but that as Democratic leader he will be in honor bound to use all his influence to have the resolution referring the question of woman suffrage to the voters passed.

Unless Governor Fielder, if elected, supports the woman suffrage referendum resolution the suffragists claim he will emphatically not be fulfilling this promise to see that "every pledge which the Democratic platform contains will be carried out!"

DUAL BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION.

Mrs. E. F. Champlin, of Union street, gave a dinner party at her home, last night, the affair being in honor of Mrs. George Mantz and Mrs. Bertha Richards, whose birthday anniversaries happened to be on the same day. Covers were laid for twelve, and after the dinner cards and an informal program of instrumental and vocal music were enjoyed.

LECTURE ON FABRICS.

Miss Anita Earle, instructor in the Teachers' College of Columbia University, gave the second of a series of lectures in the Y. W. C. A. last night in connection with the Home-Makers' course taking for her subject, "Fabrics."

SULZER TRIAL EXPENSIVE.

Cost of Impeachment Proceedings Exceeded $200,000.

The impeachment trial of Governor William Sulzer, which just ended in such a disastrous manner for the New York executive, set a high water mark in expense.

The biggest single item is the money spent in compensation for senators during the trial, which amounted to $57,000. The Frawley committee spent $50,000 and stenographers' fees alone total $40,000.

EX-GOVERNOR SULZER AND THE OPPOSING COUNSEL, PARKER AND HERRICK.

The counsel employed by Mr. Sulzer cost $25,000 and the counsel for the assembly managers charged an equal amount.

The Frawley committee had a counsel who added $5,000 more to their expenses, and expenses of assembly managers, witnesses and experts made $10,000 additional.

The grand total amounts to $212,000, which is considered by many old timers in Albany to be a very conservative estimate.

WINNER OF AERIAL DERBY.

Luckey Speeds Around Manhattan Island In Record Time.

William S. Luckey won the first air race ever held around Manhattan Island. In doing so he defeated four of the best air men in America.

He flew from Staten Island up the East river, across the Harlem river and back down the Hudson, then back to the starting point. Luckey attained a speed of approximately 125 miles an hour toward the end of his flight.

SCHENCK TAKES POSITION.

Cornelius Schenck, of West Front street, who was formerly employed by F. A. Dunham as a civil engineer, has taken a position with the J. G. White Company, of New York. Schenck, who was graduated from Rutgers College last June, has gone to North Carolina to engineer some structural work for the White firm.

ASSISTANT CHEMIST.

G. Stanley Robins, of East Second street, has taken a position as an assistant instructor on the chemistry department of Rutgers College. He was graduated from the New Brunswick institution in the class of 1913 and returned this fall to take a post-graduate course.

VETERAN POLICEMAN ILL.

Patrick Lynch, of East Second street, for many years a sergeant in the local police department, and later in the employ of Harvey Fisk & Sons, New York bankers, is critically ill at his home with diabetes. He has been unable to leave his bed for some time.

COMMITTEE FAVORS PLAN.

The North Plainfield Township Committee after a conference yesterday with Dr. Theodore L. Hawkins, owner of a large farm in North Plainfield township, withdrew its opposition to the latter's plan to erect a fence in front of his property on the Washington Rock read, the owner's explanation being satisfactory to the committee.

SALE OR EXCHANGE REGISTRY.

Announcement is made in The Daily Press today of the opening of a sale or exchange registry at 145 East Sixth street. Anyone having articles for sale or exchange can, for a small fee, register at the exchange, and in that way dispose of or secure such articles as may be desired.

GRIFFIN HAS NEW PLAN FOR PAYMENT OF TAXES

Elizabeth, Oct. 24—John J. Griffin, Democratic candidate for Assembly, is making a telling fight in his campaign for re-election.

Mr. Griffin yesterday announced that if re-elected he will introduce a bill in the next Legislature providing that the date for the payment of taxes be changed from December 20 to a more convenient date; also that payments may be made semi-annually if desired.

FORESTER SECESSIONISTS TO TAKE A NEW NAME

Elizabeth, Oct. 24.—Members of the Independent Order of Foresters who have decided to secede from the parent order because of the increase in rates, have decided to become incorporated under the title of the Fraternal Defense Society.

Membership will be open to all members of the order in the county. When the new organization is launched a State-wide campaign will be begun. The new society will be incorporated under the laws of New Jersey.

ADVERTISEMENT GAME PROVED QUITE ATTRACTIVE

The second "At Home" social of the season was given by Rev. and Mrs. J. O. McKelvey, last night, at Warren Chapel, where over 60 young people took part in the various games and amusements arranged for their enjoyment. An "advertisement game" was played, Miss Edna Green and Miss Heir being the winners and Miss Kirby and Miss Day, close seconds. The contest was in charge of a committee of which Mrs. R. O. Stew-, was chairman. Refreshments were served by a committee of which Mrs. John Higgins was at the head.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 23.

EDWARD J. LOCKE, author of "The Case of Becky," says that the reason for David Belasco's great success as a producer of plays is his skill in theatrical surgery. Belasco dissects every manuscript word for word, speech for speech, until its anatomy is in perfect theatrical proportion.

Says Mr. Locke: "From ten in the morning frequently till three the next morning we went through the play with micaroscopic care. Often we spent hours on a few lines, on a single speech." And Thomas Dreier, editor of Associated Advertising, commenting on this, writes: "How many business men give a fraction of this attention to the language and the message in their advertisements—advertisement that go into space costing thousands of dollars?"

There's a thought worth whole here. I have often wondered why folks waste even the small amount a WANT AD costs by dashing off any kind of "copy," running it in a newspaper, and serenely expecting the newspaper to deposit the contents of an advertising Horn of Plenty at their feet.

Newspaper space is valuable in proportion to the efficiency of the written word that is set into type and goes into that space. Even a WANT AD. can be given "pulling power" by the kind of careful, painstaking preparation that is necessary to make any kind of advertising worthy of the name.

So don't dash off that WANT AD. pell-mell. Take a little time and trouble to convey your message just the way it should be conveyed. The newspaper can sell you white space. It is up to you to make that white space effective.

We can't all be Belascos, but we can learn something from his methods.

BASEBALL LEAGUES OF P. S. R. AWARDS

Gold watches were awarded to the members of the winning teams of the Northern and Southern Baseball Leagues of the Public Service Railway yesterday afternoon. The respective champions were the Hoboken and Camden nines and as runners up in the Northern League, the larger of the two, the Hilton team was awarded watch fobs. At the outset of the season President Thomas N. McCarter offered watches for the individual members of the northern champion team and Second Vice President John J. Burleigh agreed to provide similar trophies for the southern champions. In the northern division there were two leagues and the final contest was between the Hoboken and Hilton nines, the former taking the honors. Camden came through with flying colors in its section of the State.

All of the members of the three teams mentioned visited the president's office yesterday afternoon to get their prizes. They were met by the executive officers, General Manager R. E. Danforth, General Superintendent Newton W. Bolen and the division superintendents. Mr. McCarter addressed the athlete employes, congratulating them upon their successes and expressing the thought that friendly rivalry on the ball field had a tendency to promote good feeling and a sense of fellowship among the men. He assured them that the company stood behind them in their legitimate fun just as it did in their work and was pleased to note the interest the men took in their duties as well as in clean sport.

The first presentation was made to W. H. Shepherd, the manager of the league, to whom Mr. McCarter handed a handsome gold railroad watch, the gift of General Superintendent Bolen. It was suitably inscribed as were all the other timepieces, each one bearing the recipient's name. The Hoboken men who received prizes were: Joseph Scott, John V. Scott, Arthur Becker, Francis J. Lennon, Joseph Lennon, John Gaffney, Frank Dolan, William Hoy, Harry Robinson and John Foby.

The Camden winners were: John Ward, William Holt, Edward Mulligan, Frederick Frett, William Reid, William Selby, Harry Jarvis, Frederick Wagner, Joseph Crook and William Greenlie. The Hilton men who received watch fobs were: Charles Greef, John Martin, Edward Kenney, Albert Braune, William Wilker, Charles Ast, John Jones, Wallace Pullan, Charles Barde, William Hang, Samuel Crook and Charles Meurer.

After the presentations the teams went to the Hilton grounds, where the Hoboken and Camden teams were to settle the question of supremacy between them. The game had to be called at the end of the fourth inning on account of darkness with the score 6 to 4 in Camden's favor. All three teams were later taken to Meyer's Hotel in Hoboken, where they were dined by the company. In the party were Assistant General Manager H. C. Donecker, Mr. Bolen and a number of other company officials.

TWO LONG ISLANDERS HELD AS ALLEGED BIKE THIEVES

Louis Barnett and Robert Smith, claiming Lawrence, L. I., as their homes, are being held at headquarters as alleged bicycle thieves. The two men went to Clarence Thorn's bicycle store late yesterday afternoon and tried to sell two wheels. The police were communicated with and the strangers were locked up on suspicion. According to Chief Kiely the men bear shady reputations in their home town and an effort is being made to trace their whereabouts since leaving Long Island.

When arraigned in the City Court this morning, Judge DeMeza remanded them for further examination.

MALONE SPEAKS AT RALLY

Stokes, the Republican candidate for Governor.

"We, the people are running the State," said Mr. Gebhardt, "and we propose to retain this power. During the past three years New Jersey has become known as one of the most progressive States in the Union. The people kicked the Republican party out of power. The State was never progressive until Wilson was chosen Governor. Before that it was one of the worst corporation-ridden States in the Union. The Republicans are trying to make you think it is responsible for reforms and Stokes is trying to make you think he stands for these new things, in fact, everyone is trying to get in on the Democratic platform.

"It is now a question as to which party will carry out your wishes. I served in the Legislature with your fellow-townsman, Ernest R. Ackerman, who is an honest man, but I cannot say as much of Stokes. Wilson divided the Democratic party in two parts, one being composed of the old line bosses and the other followers of Wilson.

"Stokes in all his speeches has not one word of praise for Wilson, but takes unto himself and his party credit for everything that is good."

Throughout his talk, Mr. Gebhardt frequently took occosion to declare that Stokes is continually misrepresenting his opponents and telling what he knows to be false.

32 DIE, 100 HURT IN GREAT STORM

Property Loss In Millions. Crops Are Destroyed.

WIND SIXTY MILES AN HOUR

Telegraph Lines Down — Tornado's Greatest Sweep In Southern Part of Louisiana — Valuable Sugar Plantations In Path of Gale.

New Orleans, Oct. 24.—Thirty-two or more are dead and more than a hundred were injured in a series of storms that swept Louisiana. The damage done reaches many millions. Damage in New Orleans alone exceeds $500,000, but no one was killed in the city.

All wires to southwest Louisiana are down. Nothing at all of what had happened in a large section of the state was available. There was no communication west of Thibodeaux, in La Fourche parish, but telegraph companies hoped to have wires up in a few hours.

From Thibodeaux came a brief report that four persons had been killed there, a white woman, Mrs. Born, and her baby and two negroes. Eleven persons were said to have been hurt there. Property damage was heavy.

Five Reported Killed.

Five persons were reported to have been killed at Luling, La., a few miles directly west of New Orleans. It was said they were all negroes.

Twenty-six persons were reported injured in and about Luling. Property damage of the Luling plantation was estimated at $250,000, mostly to the sugar cane crop.

Apparently the storm did its greatest damage in a narrow strip in the southern part of the state, although wire communication with some points in the northern part of the state was uncertain. It is believed the storm is part of one which swept southern Texas and then swept westward, gaining in velocity as it proceeded. Seamen at Gulfport, where some damage was done shipping, estimate the wind's velocity there was sixty miles an hour. The gale was believed to have reached fifty miles an hour at Luling.

NEW FOREIGN TRADE RECORD

September Imports and Exports Have Banner Figures.

Washington, Oct. 24.—According to a statement of the department of commerce, September made a new record for the foreign trade of the United States, both as to imports and exports

September imports amounted to $169,562,757 gainst $144,819,493 in September, 1912, the former high record for September imports. September exports aggregated $218,185,451 against $199,678,062 in September, 1912, the former high record for September exports.

Imports in the nine months ending with September, 1913, were $1,325,868,152 against $1,332,894,727 in the corresponding months last year and for the twelve months ending with September $1,811,046,480, against $1,732,336,702 in the corresponding previous twelve months.

The exports for the nine months ending with September were $1,733,367,608 against $1,616,024,491 in the corresponding months of 1912, and for the twelve months ending with September were $2,561,110,000 against $2,253,049,903 in the corresponding previous twelvemonth.

The statement sets forth that it is proper to add that the figures of September imports include the imports during the first three days of October, which were transferred to the September totals in order that the October import statement might begin with the operations of the new tariff law, which went into effect on the morning of Oct. 4.

COMMANDER M'LEAN PICKED

Recommended to Be Judge Advocate General of Navy.

Washington, Oct. 24.—Secretary Daniels recommended to the president the appointment of Commander Ridley McLean to be judge advocate general of the navy. The appointment undoubtedly will be made.

Commander McLean succeeds Captain Robert L. Russell, who, on Nov. 4, will have held that post for four years and who will take command of the battleship South Carolina on Nov. 13.

RABIES ON THE INCREASE.

Pasteur Treatment Sometimes Causes Paralysis, United States Experts Say.

Washington, Oct. 24. — Paralysis sometimes results from the Pasteur treatment for rabies, according to a public health service bulletin just issued. Rabies is "apparently rapidly increasing among the canine population of the United States," the government experts declared.

Wilson's First Veto.

Washington, Oct. 24.—Exercising the first veto of the administration President Wilson sent a message to congress disapproving the reinstatement of Adolph Unger of Ohio to West Point.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

Owing to a brief illness Miss Robley, instructor of French and German in the High School, was unable to take her classes yesterday and today. Miss Agnes Boxold, librarian, substituted in most of her classes.

William Burtis, a graduate of the High School in 1906 and now employed as midshipman on the U. S. battleship New Jersey, is visiting his parents for a short time at their home on Fairview avenue.

Amelia Brizzie, '16, and her sister, Margaret, '17, who have been detained at home because of the illness of their sister, have been released from quarantine and will return to their studies in a few days.

Miss Marion Herr, of Flemington, visited the morning recitations of the High School this morning, with her cousin, Edith Dalley, '14.

Daniel Denny, who was a freshman at the beginning of the year, but left to go to work, has decided to return to school next Monday to complete his education. His return will be welcomed by the baseball players as Denny was one of the most prospective twirlers for next year's team before he left school.

At the chapel exercises this morning, Thomas S. Armstrong, a local druggist, spoke to the members of the High School on "Pharmacy." This is the third of a series of vocational talks that Principal Earley has arranged to take place throughout the year. The speaker next Friday will be S. S. Swackhamer and he will take as his subject, "Law."

Miss Florence Howard, a senior in the Westfield High School, visited the High School this morning with Beatrice Pope, '14.

TENNIS COMPETITION KEEN AMONG STUDENTS

Many P. H. S. Athletes Are Wielding Racquets in Scholastic Tournaments.

Tennis stock is soaring high in Plainfield High School athletic circles at the present time and seventy-five per cent. of those not actively engaged in football work are playing the racquet game on different courts every afternoon and holiday. No less than four different tourneys are now in progress among the students, a boys' doubles, boys' singles, girls' doubles and girls' singles being in progress at this time.

The summaries:

BOYS' SINGLES.

First round—Pollock defeated Smith, 6-2, 6-2; Beekman defeated Moore, 6-2, 6-3; Case defeated McKay, 6-4, 6-1; Goodrich defeated McAneney, 6-2, 6-2; Cottrell defeated Worden, 6-0, 7-5; Dall defeated McDowell, 6-2, 7-5; Lounsbury defeated Babcock, 6-2, 7-5; Cutter defeated Newell, 6-1, 6-3; Campbell defeated Best by default; Noonan defeated Ellis, 6-3, 6-3; Blanchard defeated Eggie, 6-3, 6-3.

Second round—Beekman defeated Pollock, 6-4, 6-2; Goodrich defeated Cottrell, 9-7, 6-1; Lounsbury defeated Cutter, 6-2, 2-6, 6-2; Noonan won from Campbell by default; Blanchard defeated Noonon, 6-3, 6-1.

BOYS' DOUBLES.

First round—Cottrell and Goodrich defeated Wriston and Lord, 6-3, 6-4; Ellis and Dall defeated McNamee and Crane, 6-1, 6-4. Cottrell and Goodrich and Ellis and Dall will play the finals today.

GIRLS' SINGLES.

First round—Miss Alpaugh defeated Miss Newell, 6-0, 6-2; Miss Phillips defeated Miss Moy, 6-2, 6-2. The following matches remain to be played in the first round: Miss Crane vs. Miss Loizeaux, Miss Henwood vs. Miss Fountain.

GIRLS' DOUBLES.

First round—The following matches are scheduled to be played between the four pairs of entries: The Misses Cottrell and Stelle vs. the Misses Moy and Mulford; the Misses Phillips and Alpaugh vs. the Misses Loizeaux and Newell.

VIKINGS TO APPEAR ON CRICKET FIELD

Holy Cross Boys Will Have Their Work Cut Out for Them Tomorrow.

Holy Cross will lineup against the Viking football team of Bayonne, on Cricket Field, tomorrow afternoon, with another rejuvenated lineup, if echoes coming from the direction of North Plainfield may be taken as a criterion. Coach P. V. Martin has made several radical changes in his cast of characters and the new men will materially strengthen the already water tight defense. It will be remembered that the Vikings were the players that Holy Cross defeated last season in a hard fought battle and subsequently claimed the New Jersey State club title for football elevens, a feature that has caused much notoriety for "Doc" Doyle's proteges during the past year.

Included in the remodeled battle front will be Charles Hurtt, Jack Payne, Billy Coyle, Bill Ruttledge, "Shakey" Clarke and other personages that Doyle has under his wing. The Vikings are coming here confident of reversing the minus count of last season and will have their strongest array of talent on deck to battle against the speedy borough eleven.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—When will the Plainfield High School basketball team play its first game of the season?—R. W.

Answer—The schedule has not been completed and until the manager finishes booking his games the opening date will not be known.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is there any value on a nickle dated 1867?—T. T.

Answer—Yes, half a dime.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Pleases give me the names and addresses of the managers of the following basketball teams—Hope Chapel, Y. M. C. A. Ajax, North Plainfield High School, Plainfield High School and Leals?—C. N.

Answer—All right, here goes: George E. Leighs, 714 West Fourth street, manages Hope Chapel; address the Ajax manager care of the Y. M. C. A.; Duclos Van Mater is the North Plainfield High School manager and you address him at the school; John B. Cottrell manages P. H. S and he may also be reached at the Plainfield High School, and Chauncey Stewart, is the Leal School booker.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Who is the best sprinter in Plainfield?—O. L. O.

Answer—That's hard telling. Its so long since we have seen any open competition in these parts that we have forgotten who can sprint. It would be impossible to decide a champion without competition.

Sporting Editor:

Query—In a pool, two men tie for first place with five runs each. Should they divide only first money or split up both first and second —K. N.

Answer—They are entitled to first and second and should split it up any way they please, both of the winners agreeing.

Sporting Editor:

Query—How many miles of streets are there in Plainfield?—F. D.

Answer—About seventy.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Kindly inform me if there is any change in the rabbit and game laws opening this season?—N. B.

Answer—The season opens November 10 and closes December 15.

P. H. S ELEVEN IS BIG DRAWING CARD

Long Branch Rivals Padding up to Meet Queen City Eleven.

A contest that is looked forward to by both contestants as the hardest of the season and one that is evoking no little amount of interest in both communities concerned, is the struggle carded to be decided at Long Branch tomorrow afternoon when the Plainfield High School gridiron eleven meets the Chattle High School team in the annual combat. Long Branch sporting writers herald the struggle as "the hardest of the season" and predict a victory for the home eleven to revenge the defeat administered to Chattle here last year.

Local football enthusiasts well know that the Plainfielders are not as formidable as last year's stellar aggregation and the more pessimistic of the rooters express dubious opinions as to the result. Chattle has been holding extra sessions of practice for this all important fracas and the P. H. S. boys have also been getting in a little overtime work, Coach Patch working his men until 6.30 o'clock last night in order to iron out any rough spots.

The Chattle aggregation is depending almost entirely on its backs to win from the locals and the work of the quartet of speedy performers in previous contests has been little short of sensational. In Bloisdell, the Long Branch school has one of the best halfbacks in East New Jersey. He is a good dodger, fast runner and sure tackler. M. Bailey and Perry play the fullback and other halfback positions respectively, and "Bush" Caviliere, the sterling little black-haired quarter, is expected to show great things in the way of field generalship to the Plainfielders. Manager Everett Covert will play center, while the ends will be looked after by "Skinny" Coles and Cattanach. The guards and tackles are all veterans and form a stonewall defence. The lineups:

PLAINFIELD	CHATTLE
Mann, Smith	Coles
Right End
Butler	Jones
Right Tackle
Berrien, White	Schickle
Right Guard
LaRue	Covert
Center
DuBois, Pollock	Killon
Left Guard
Gavett	Coleman
Left Tackle
Herrman, Smith	Cattanach
Left End
Snyder, Rosenson	Blaisdell
Right Half
Greene	Bailey
Left Half
Sminck	Perry
Full Back
Peacock, Blair	Cavalire
Quarterback

MIDDLESEX'S POULTRY SHOW.

New Brunswick, Oct. 24.—The executive committee of the Middlesex County Poultry Association has completed plans for the poultry show to be held from December 22 to 27. The show will be held in the large judging pavilion of the College Farm. It is expected that more than 600 coops will be filled. Competition will be limited to Middlesex county, but everybody can have the privilege of exhibition whether they are members of the Middlesex County Poultry Association or not. Ribbons will be awarded for the first five places. Entries will close December 15 and a catalogue of the show will be out about November 15. In connection with this show will be held the regular exhibition of the Rutgers College Poultry Association. Ten cups have already been given by local merchants.

BRUNSWICK HIGH STRONG.

An eleven representing the New Brunswick High School will invade the interior of the little town of Bound Brook tomorrow afternoon to do battle on the gridiron with the representatives of that burg. The visitors are coming fully armed and the strong Bound Brook team will have to stretch itself to the limit in order to come out on the plus side of the encounter.

SPRINGFIELD PENNANT.

Herbert A. Stine and George Townley, graduates of the North Plainfield High School, who are at present attending the International Y. M. C. A. Training School in Springfield, Mass., have contributed a college pennant to the collection being gathered together by North Plainfield High School students. The new flag is of red and white and has a large "S" in the centre.

C. C. N. Y. GAME OFF.

Owing to a misunderstanding on the part of the College of the City of New York basketball manager, Duclos VanMater, who pilots the destinies of the North Plainfield High School five, will probably be unable to arrange a game with the metropolitan quintet.

BASKETBALL TEAM FOR LOCAL Y M. H. A.

Plainfielders Will Open the Season on the Elizabeth Court Next Week.

Basketball will be one of the leading features of the fall and winter activities in the Young Men's Hebrew Association this year and plans are already under way to put a speedy first and second quintet on the courts to battle against rival associations in the State and with other local and nearby independent teams. According to Manager Bill Reibel, of the Elizabeth Y. M. H. A. aggregation, he has signed the Queen City representatives to play the opening contest on the Betsytown court next Thursday night and a good initial battle is anticipated. The Plainfield and Elizabeth quintets met several times last year and the contests produced were always close and interesting.

The Plainfield squad is now composed of the following members who are working out on regular practice nights: Herman Shrager, Manning Joua, Manning Block, Jacob Abrams, Hyman Abrams, David Berse, Benjamin Rosenson, Aaron Hirsh, Morris Cantor, Harry Rothstein and Nat Hollander. The Elizabeth team has the following trying out: Utterman, of the Newark Y. M. H. A.; Chayes, of the Bayonne, Y. M. H. A.; Dave Philbin, Harry Bloch, Morowzow, Monsky, Simon and Finkel.

NEWARK ELKS WIN TWO OUT OF THREE

Two games out of three went to the credit of the Newark Elks' bowlers in an Elks' League match on their own alleys last night, when they opposed the Jersey City quintet. It was the first home match for the Green street contingent, and it maintained the pace set in its initial league match of the season, played in Hoboken, when they won the odd game from the latter.

There was some good pinning last night, the Newarkers being the most consistent in their work. They started with a total of 929, to which Billy Weingarth contributed 210. The Jersey City pin-knights were far to the rear in this game, with a score of 832. There was a different story in the second affair, the visitors coming through with 890, while Newark finished 36 pins behind, with 854. There was an excellent argument in the final and deciding game, the home five, with 876, being 44 pins ahead when the tenth frame was completed. Dick Erler rolled 201 in the last game for Newark, and Howard Williams was there with 222 in the second game.

The scores:

JERSEY CITY.
Wright	195	169	170
Russell	180	146	147
Wasserman	141	188	145
Corydon	160	188	181
Coffman	156	199	189
Totals	832	890	832
NEWARK.
Williams	198	222	172
Hinton	185	149	178
Clark	181	155	151
Erler	155	157	201
Weingarth	210	171	174
Totals	929	854	876

N. P. H. S. PRACTISE GAME.

Captain Ashley Burner, of the North Plainfield High School basketball team, will pit his team against the Watchung A. C. quintet in the first practise game of the season on the Saengerbund Hall court Monday afternoon. This contest will give Burner an opportunity to single out a five to pit against the Y. M. C. A. Ajax, Saturday night.

BATTIN NOT TO PLAY BORO FEMININE TEAM

Two Rivals Are Not Scheduled to Meet According to Elizabethan Manager.

Battin High School, heretofore one of the strongest rivals of North Plainfield High School's feminine athletic faction, will not appear in the borough during the coming season, according to the schedule issued today by Miss Lucille McCulloch, manager of the girls' basketball five of the Elizabeth School. Included in the Battin program of games are two contests with the Westfield maidens, one to be played on the Mt. Ararat court and the other in Elizabeth.

Battin will have one of the strongest teams in the history of the school, according to Miss Ella Nelson, the captain, who aroused the basketball populace in that section last year by laying claim to superiority in goal shooting, when she piled up twenty-eight counters in one match. Miss Green will hold down the center positions while the forward berths are a matter of keen contention between Miss Anna Mason, Miss Margaret Ogden and Miss Josephine Green. Miss Edith Otto will play side-center and Miss Elsie Heilich and Miss Eleanor Jacobs will play the guard positions.

The schedule as compiled to date:

November 11—Milburn H. S. at Milburn.

November 21—Roselle Park H. S. at Elizabeth.

December 4—Springfield H. S. at Elizabeth.

December 10—Roselle Park H. S. at Roselle Park.

January 16—South Orange H. S. at Elizabeth.

January 23—Westfield H. S. at Elizabeth.

February 6—Vail-Deane School at Elizabeth.

February 12—Westfield H. S. at Westfield.

March 6—Milburn H. S. at Elizabeth.

March 13—South Orange H. S. at South Orange.

March 15—Springfield H. S. at Springfield.

"RUBE" MARQUARD MAY BE TRADED FOR GEORGE TYLER

New York fandom was very much disturbed yesterday over the report that Manager John J. McGraw had arranged with George Stallings, of the Boston Braves, a swap of Pitcher "Rube" Marquard for George Tyler. Both presidents, Harry N. Hempstead and James E. Gaffney, the owners of the respective clubs, denied knowing anything of such a proposition. Rumor had it that the trade had already been consummated, and that the magnates were simply holding back the announcement until the annual meeting.

Friends of McGraw know that the Giant leader has been very anxious to secure Tyler. But it is doubtful if he would sacrifice Marquard, a southpaw who has figured prominently in the past three championships, to gain his end. Marquard is an "iron man." It is doubtful if Tyler could stand up under the same rough usage.

WOMEN SOME BOWLERS.

An innovation has been inaugurated at the Presbyterian bowling alleys, Dunellen, that of exclusive ladies' night on Thursday evening of each week, and the way they can already knock down pins it looks as though some amateur champions will develop among our fair sex. They are looking for matches from neighboring towns.

WOMEN GOLFERS ON WESTFIELD LINKS

Mrs. H. R. Stockton the Only Local Entry in Big Tournament Yesterday.

Several prizes were offered for the one-day tournament of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association over the links of the Westfield Golf Club yesterday. Mrs. William Chilvers, of Dunwoodie, captured the gross award with 94, which was a stroke better than the effort of Mrs. W. J. Faith, of Wykagyl. Moreover, Mrs. Chilver's card of 94—6, 88 also led for the net prize, but as she can have only one prize the net award fell to Miss Hillier, of Cranford, who scored 98—9, 89.

A prize was also offered for the greatest number of "birdies," or holes made in strokes less than bogey. In this Mrs. Faith and Miss Hillier tied, each with 9. Like Mrs. Chilvers, Miss Hillier could not take two awards, and left the "birdie" for Mrs. Faith.

Three prizes were offered for approaching and putting, Miss Hazel Gardner, of the home club, winning the first with 8; Mrs. R. L. Johnstone of Glen Ridge, taking the second with 9. Mrs. Chilvers once more figured in a tie when her 10 was the same as that of Mrs. Sidney Weil's, of Fairview, but again the two-prize rule was in force, and Mrs. Weil won. Thus all ties were amicably settled and without a play-off.

Mrs. H. R. Stockton, the only local entry, returned a card of 99—3, 96.

MOTOR SPARKS

Taking a motor truck around the world, as a sample of the line, is the plan of the Commerce Motor Car Company of Detroit. J. D. Wilkinson, representing an export company, will sail first for Sydney, Australia, and will be gone two years. Ten men will be in the party.

At many points on the trip the truck will be loaded with merchandise represented by salesmen of the party and this will be carried overland from city to city. One trip is to be made from Singapore to the Straits Settlements. Long jaunts in India, China, Japan and Europe also will be made. One estimate is that all expenses of the trip will come to $375,000.

A Kentucky journal describes a ride over rough roads in its neighborhood thus: "The nearest to the sensation otherwise obtainable would be a ride down a spiked incline in an empty sugar barrel, with an automatic pump forcing dust through the bunghole." There are perhaps some such outside of Kentucky and pretty near New York.

Pennsylvania requires licenses of all who drive automobiles. Even if they are neither owner nor chauffeurs.

Nation-wide has been the interest in the results of the unusual method employed in Wisconsin this summer of conducting a campaign against tuberculosis. A motorcycle has been one of the leading features of this campaign, and it has proven such a faithful assistant to the ministers of the gospel of good health that many other communities will doubtless follow the example of the Badger State in carrying on the fight against the white plague.

Early in their work of educating the people against the danger of consumption, the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association discovered that the disease was even more prevalent in the rural districts than in the cities, due doubtless to the fact that the farmers did not know how to guard against it. A motorcycle was selected as the best method of reaching these people, and in the spring two lecturers started on an educational tour of the State. Their motorcycle was equipped with complete camping outfit. They also carried a stereopticon machine and illustrated their lectures with stereopticon views. The motorcycle has made it possible to get in touch with people who could not otherwise be reached, except at prohibitive cost. And the message of good health has been favorably received in so many communities that the ultimate success of the plan is practically assured.

Three hundred and sixty-three miles in 14 hours and 45 minutes is the record of August Zimmerman, of Baltimore, Md., in a recent motorcycle run from Springfield, Mass., to Baltimore.

A number of the rangers of the Missoula, Mont., national forest have been supplied with motorcycles. "Wherever good roads parallel the forests to be guarded," says Supervisor Rutledge Parker, "economy of time and strength is easily the result of the use of motorcycles."

NEW YORK AMATEURS WILL HOLD RALLY

Bumper Attendance Expected at Big Ratification Meeting.

Amateur athletes of the Borough of Manhattan will hold their own meeting and harangue citizens on the merits of their candidates for county clerk. James E. Sullivan, secretary-treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union, at Terrace Garden tonight. The newly organized James E. Sullivan Athletic League will provide the program. Frederick W. Rubien, president of the League, will act as chairman of the meeting.

All amateur athletes of New York county, including members of athletic clubs, Y. M. C. A. branches and settlement clubs are expected to attend, Mr. Rubien said last night. It will be a ratification meeting, he said, and a bumper attendance is expected.

Congressman Eugene F. Kinkead, of New Jersey, the first member of the House of Representatives to take part in a local campaign, will be the principal speaker. Congressman Kinkead, who is known for his friendly interest in American athletics is coming to Terrace Garden, by request of New Jersey athletes generally with regard to James E. Sullivan's candidacy.

Other speakers will be Fred W. Rubien, St. George's A. C. vice-president of the Metropolitan Association; Jeremiah T. Mahoney, N. Y. A. C.; Terrence Farley, Irish-American A. C.; Captain Charles Dieges, National Guard, New York; John T. Norton, chief of the New York State Agricultural Department; John G. Dyer, Irish-American A. C., member of the New York bar; J. A. Turley, Xavier, A. C.; former Alderman Alexander Drescher, and James E. Sullivan, the candidate.

TERRAVECHIO'S TROUBLES.

Tomegio Terravechio, of Cottage pltce, paid Dominick Navarre $3 in the City Court this morning for six rabbits belonging to the latter. The man burdened with the name Terravechio had two dogs and the dogs, according to Navarre, killed the rabbits. The canines were shot because the owner refused to take out licenses for them. "I think more of $1.50 than a dog," he said.

FINED FOR FIGHTING.

Freeland Comisky, 20 years old, of Stoney Brook; John McBride, 21 years old, of 937 West Third street, and Charles Lyons, 21 years old, of 674 West Third street, were fined $5 each by Recorder Gano in the borough court this morning on charges of fighting and acting disorderly. All paid the money except McBride who is still confined in the borough jail.

CRAZED WOMAN FIGHTS FOUR MEN

Immigrant, Failing to Find Brother, Goes Insane.

WOMEN FLEE IN PANIC

Battle Takes Place While Jersey City Railroad Station Was Crowded—Subdued After Struggle Which Lasted Twenty Minutes and is Strapped to Stretcher.

Jersey City, N. J., Oct. 24.—Physicians at the women's prison in this city are making a study of the case of a young immigrant woman, Mary Aponehs, who, after waiting in vain for her brother, Antoni, to appear in the Pennsylvania railroad station, suddenly began to scream and pray.

When taken into custody by a policeman she started to fight with such violence that the efforts of four men were required to subdue her. All four were scratched or bitten in the struggle.

The battle took place while the Jersey City shed was crowded with suburban residents on their way home after attending the theater in New York.

When the young woman suddenly screamed and dropped to her knees, crawling about with her hands lifted as in prayer, scores of women fled in panic. The young woman was subdued after a struggle which lasted twenty minutes and was strapped to a stretcher.

The girl was permitted by the government authorities at Ellis island to enter this country.

EDISON'S SON A SPEEDER.

Montclair Policeman Follows and Arrests Him In West Orange.

West Orange, N. J., Oct. 24.—Theodore Edison, the fourteen-year-old son of Thomas A. Edison, is a student at the Montclair Military academy and usually is driven to and from that institution in one of his father's cars. Recently Mr. Edison purchased a high powered touring car. Theodore rode home in it. On the way he explained to the chauffeur that he wanted "to see if she could go" and for that reason took the wheel and "let her out" on Bloomfield avenue in Montclair.

Motorcycle Policeman Hugh Seery followed and arrested him. He will be tried for violation of the speed laws, the maximum penalty for which is a fine of $100.

MEDAL FOR MRS. CHELVERS.

She Leads Golfers In Day Tournament on Westfield Links.

Westfield, N. J., Oct. 24.—A fair field of fair women started in the one day handicap tournament held by the Women's Metropolitan Golf association on the course of the Westfield Golf club. Mrs. William Chelvers of Dunwoodie, who has been the leader in several similar tournaments this season, turned in the lowest score of the day, a 94, and won the low gross prize.

The play was unusually good, five of the women making the round under 100.

Miss Edith Hillier of Cranford won the prize for the lowest net score. Her card was 98—9, 89. The approaching and putting competition was won by Miss Hazel Gardner of the home club.

TANGOED AT CHURCH FAIR.

Was Declared Much Too Fiery and Fire Department is Called.

Hackensack, N. J., Oct. 24.—Gaston Sturn, a popular young man of Hillsdale, N. J., was warned by Judge Seufort in this city against troubling the Hillside fire department. Strum is not an incendiary, but it is charged he danced the tango at the annual dance of the Young People's Episcopal church in too fiery a way.

Arthur Jackson appeared against the accused and says Sturn struck him when he (Jackson) protested against the dancing. Then some excited parishioner turned in a fire alarm. Strum was stopped, but not extinguished.

AROUND THE STATE.

Miss Emma Skalle of Washington, N. J., was acquitted by a jury on the charge of killing, with her auto, Alexander Chubano of New Village.

Patrolmen Julius Meisse killed a mad dog in West Hoboken. One of the bullets intended for the dog pierced the right leg of George Beyer as he stood in the yard of his home.

On a bet in Newton Hiram T. Trauger of Walpack township caught ten rattlesnakes unassisted in seven hours. This is the largest single crop of rattlers ever caged there in a single day.

The third man to be killed by a Central Railroad of New Jersey train within a week was struck by a flier at the Rahway river bridge at Cranford. He is about sixty years old. He had not been identified.

After suffering four months from blood poisoning contracted while operating on a patient, Dr. Arthur F. Niedermeier died at Trenton. He was chief medical examiner for the Pennsylvania at its New York terminal.

TROOPS READY TO MOVE TO MEXICO

General Huerta Prepares For His Own Election.

SITUATION AGAIN ACUTE

Felix Diaz Has Been Placed Under Military Arrest—Guards Accompany Him to Vera Cruz, and He Fears Assassination.

Washington, Oct. 24.—The administration completed its preparations for armed intervention in Mexico should this become necessary during the Mexican elections scheduled for Sunday. Both the army and the navy are in such form that they can be moved instantly and with the least possible loss of efficiency.

In addition to the three Dreadnoughts now anchored off Vera Cruz with their big guns trained on the city and ready for instant action, the European cruise of the Atlantic fleet, which is scheduled to begin tomorrow, has given the government an excuse to coal and fully provision nine of the largest ships of the navy. The Wyoming, Utah, Florida, Arkansas, Delaware, Connecticut, Vermont, Kansas and Ohio will steam out of Hampton Roads tomorrow morning.

Held In Readiness.

In addition to these nine vessels, the navy department holds the Virginia, New Jersey, Rhode Island and Nebraska ready at Norfolk for their Mexican cruise, which will begin Oct. 29. The Dreadnoughts are coaled and provisioned now, however, and can move instantly if necessary.

The preparations of the army for intervention are no less complete than those of the navy. On the pretext that the Second and Fifth regiments of cavalry, which have been stationed on the border for several years, are "growing stale," General Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army, has ordered the Tenth and Fifteenth cavalry to relieve them.

In addition to this the government has 5,000 troops at Texas City, Tex., within a few miles of the border, armed and ready to move. The arrival of the two additional regiments of cavalry would give the administration close to 12,000 troops of all kinds along the border, and it is planned that this force will be hurled across the Rio Grande at the first sign of trouble or of danger to foreigners.

On receipt of confirmation of the arrest by President Huerta of Daniel and Evaristo Madero, brothers of the late president of Mexico, Secretary of State Bryan cabled Charge O'Shaughnessy at the City of Mexico to use his good offices "to secure a fair and open trial for the prisoners."

Huerta In New Plot.

City of Mexico, Oct. 24.—General Huerta has accepted Great Britain's refusal to follow the policy of the United States in Mexico as an indorsement of his administration by that country. He intends to hold the reins of power and already preparations are being made for the coup d'etat by which he will be "legally" elected.

The plan is to have Frederico Gamboa, the Catholic party's candidate, withdraw his name at the last minute. Then Huerta's name will be substituted and he will be declared elected.

The constitutional provision barring a president from succeeding himself will be disregarded, the Huertist followers maintaining that the suspension of congress for sedition also suspended the constitution.

Vera Cruz, Oct. 24.—Felix Diaz was placed under military arrest. Two guards were stationed at the door of his brother-in-law's home, where he spent the night, and he was warned that any attempt to lead a demonstration against the Huerta government would result in his going to jail.

The attitude of Diaz has been a severe blow to his followers. He seems to be completely cowed by the measures taken by Huerta. He apparently is in deadly fear of assassination. Diaz is allowed to go about the city, but his guards acompany him everywhere.

GRAND JURY HEARS HENNESSY

Inquiry Into Highway Graft Is Begun In Westchester.

White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 24.—The Westchester county grand jury began an investigation into alleged graft in the construction of state roads in the county. District Attorney Winslow called John A. Hennessy, former Governor Sulzer's special investigator, as the first witness. J. R. Curran, an associate of Mr. Hennessy, was another witness.

The investigator had considerable documentary evidence to submit, but it could not be learned what his testimony related to. It is said that three men subpoenaed did not appear. Warrants may be issued for their arrest. The hearing was adjourned until Oct. 31.

Live Wire Kills Six In Spain.

Cartagena, Spain, Oct. 24.—A cable charged with electricity fell upon a wagon full of workmen. Six of the men were shocked to death instantly, and three others were injured.

ANTHONY COMSTOCK.

Vice Crusader Who May Suppress Suffragette Publication.

LAW OFFICERS CONFER ON PANKHURST PAPER

Comstock Looking Up Law on Alleged Obscenities.

New York, Oct. 24.—"This attempt to suppress the Suffragette is an anti-suffragist attack," asserted Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst when her attention was called to the investigation which is being conducted by Anthony Comstock and his conferences with Mr. Whitman, the district attorney.

"The antisuffragists have behind them the type of man who trades in the degradation of womanhood. They want to keep things as they are, but we won't allow them to do so," added Mrs. Pankhurst.

Mr. Comstock when seen was apparently dubious as to whether he had any grounds for procedure against those concerned in the sale of the Suffragette. He also denied that he was responsible for the agitation against the paper.

"I did not start it," he said. "I was called to Mr. Whitman's office, had a talk about it and spent all night reading the twelve issues in question. I found only three questionable articles. There was one paragraph that may be proscribed by our law against obscene literature. I am studying the law on this point. If arrests are made those arrested will be charged with selling not for publishing the paper."

Under the direction of Rhinelander Waldo, the police commissioner, detectives are seeking the place of distribution of the Suffragette, and buying copies to submit to Chief Magistrate McAdoo to obtain a ruling from him as to whether they are in violation of the law. If he decides they are, it was said application for warrants will be made.

GUNMEN ASK DELAY.

Request In Rosenthal Case Appeal Be Argued After Nov. 17.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 24.—Attorneys for the four "gunmen" who are under sentence of death for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the New York gambler, requested that the court of appeals postpone the hearing of their appeal until after Nov. 17.

The appeals of the gunmen and of former Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, convicted for instigating the murder, were to have been argued on Oct. 13, but the court of appeals was prevented from convening on that date because of the sessions of the high court of impeachment.

No application for a stay in the Becker appeal was made.

The gunmen's attorneys asked for postponement upon the ground that they had but recently been retained in the case. The court took the matter under advisement.

LYNCH TAKES OFFICE.

New Appointee Sworn In as State Labor Commissioner.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 24.—James M. Lynch, whose appointment as state labor commissioner was unanimously confirmed by the senate, was sworn into office by Deputy Secretary of State Pigeon. The new commissioner announced he would make no appointments in his department just yet.

More than a hundred positions, with salaries ranging from $1,200 to $5,000, are at his disposal.

Weather Forecast.

Cloudy today, probably followed by rain at night; rain tomorrow; moderate southeast and east winds.

—No one will contend that a woman who does not read the ads is as well prepared to buy wisely and economically as one who does.

Saturday Ends the Special Sale of WHITTALL RUGS

—a sale that "could not happen again in 20 years," to quote a rug merchant from another city.
—a distribution of a third of a million dollars' worth of highest grade rugs—in a "nine days' wonder sale!"

ORIENTAL RUGS and Carpets

individually acquired, with an extraordinary appreciation of color and weave, and a rare judgment of values, by

HAIGAZOUN H. TOPAKYAN
Imperial Commissioner of the Shah of Persia and Consul General at New York

Mr. Topakyan actually paid for these rugs, $57,000, as his books will show.

We shall offer them for sale for $45,000, beginning to-morrow, Saturday, with a day of inspection.

With the Topakyan rugs, we shall also offer from other importers four other lots, conservatively valued at $250,000, to be sold at prices totaling only $175,000.

Tomorrow, Saturday

the whole notable assemblage, comprising Persian carpets and rugs of every description and size, antiques whose value to the purchaser can scarcely be measured in terms or money, palace pieces, rare rugs of more modern production, and Chinese rugs, will be displayed in the East wing of the Fourth Gallery.

Plenty of Rugs at Moderate Prices

Kermanshahs, 9 x 12 feet, as little as $195 instead of $297.
Kermanshah strips, 9 ft. to 13 ft. 6 in. long and 2 ft. to 2 ft. 7 in. wide, for from $52.50 to $95 instead of $75 to $140.
Mahals, about 7 x 9 feet, for $85 instead of $115.
Khiva-Bokharas, averaging 8 x 10 feet, for as little as $65 instead of $100.
Kuerdistans and Mossouls, about 4 x 7 feet, for $15 to $29.50 instead of $22.50 to $40.
Belpochistans, about 2 ft. 6 in. x 4 ft., for $9.75 to $15 instead of $12 to $22.50.
Persian and Turkish hall runners, about 13 x 3 feet for $21.50 instead of $29.50.

There are hundreds of small rugs in the general collection suitable in size for the rooms of the suburban home.

Kindly note. Tomorrow being a half holiday, business men can arrange to meet their wives at the store and make joint selection, which is always most satisfactory.

Deliveries will be deferred, if desired, to November 15, but not later.

SAT UP FOR BURGLARS, WHO ARRIVED, THEN GOT AWAY

New Brunswick, Oct. 24.—Following an attempt to rob several houses Tuesday night, members of the family of W. R. Rowland, at Monmouth Junction, sat up the next night to watch for burglars.

While they were waiting the thieves broke a window in the kitchen of the house and got away before the watchers captured them. A child's bank containing $8 was taken from the home of John Durling, at Rocky Hill.

BERGEN GAME WARDEN, SHOT BY HUNTER, DIES OF WOUND

Hackensack, Oct. 24.—From the wound he received last Sunday at the hands of a hunter, John C. Reinbold, State game warden for Bergen county, died yesterday in the Rockland County Hospital, at New City, N. Y.

Prosecutor Wendell Wight, of Bergen county, said that as the shooting took place in New York State a mile and a half over the line, he would not take any further steps towards prosecution. He turned over all information he had to the New York State authorities.

Albino Fernanzo, who is alleged to be the hunter who shot Reinbold, and who was identified by the son of Edward Taylor, of Riverdale, companion of the warden when he was shot, is now held without bail in the Rockland County Jail.

WINS $1,500 FOR HUSBAND'S DEATH, MUST REPAY COUNTY

New Brunswick, Oct. 24.—A verdict for $1,500 damages for the death of her husband, awarded Mrs. Margaret Burden, of South Amboy, in the Circuit Court, will be used to repay Middlesex county, which compensated Mrs. Burden under the employers' liability act.

The verdict was found against J. Arthur Applegate, an insurance agent of Perth Amboy, whose automobile struck and fatally injured Burden on the new road from the Amboy bridge to South Amboy, May 21, while he was working as a county overseer. The county, under the liability law, paid a compensation of $1,800 to the widow. In accordance with the law, the county must be repaid from any other verdict won by Mrs. Burden. She sued Applegate for $20,000.

A charge of manslaughter was entered against Applegate, but the grand jury did not indict.

RESULT OF BUMP ON CHIN PUZZLES HUDSON DOCTORS

Jersey City, Oct. 24.—Described as "a surgical mystery" by a trio of Hudson physicians, Charles M. Duffy, a metal worker, of 235 Third street, was a petitioner in the Court of Common Pleas, Wednesday, for an award under the employers' liability law. Following a fall on which his chin struck a metal block over which he was working Duffy's hearing sight, taste, speech and sense of smell have been affected and he has been unable to move his neck.

Physicians who testified declared there was no doubt as to the condition, but whether it was due to direct spinal injury or to hysteria was a mystery. Duffy was allowed compensation from his employers, the Westinghouse, Church, Kerr Company, at the rate of $10 per week for 400 weeks. Judge Sullivan stated that if at the end of six months the man's condition showed no signs of improvement the court would consider letting him have the entire amount he is entitled to in a lump sum.

Duffy, on April 27, was sent by his employers to the Central Railroad roundhouse to do some work. In bending a metal lath over a steel block the lath broke, through a defect, he alleges, and he fell, striking his chin against the block. Dr. John J. Broderick, Dr. T. J. McLaughlin and Dr. William J. Arlitz all testified that Duffy was incapacitated as a result of the accident.

BAYONNE ELECTION OFFICERS GET CLEAN BILL OF HEALTH

Jersey City, Oct. 24.—A clean bill of health has been given the election officers of Bayonne. It was stated yesterday that there will not be a single member of an election board in the South Hudson city indicted by the jury. Not a single instance of fraud was discovered in the ballot-boxes when they were opened, it is reported.

As an evidence that there has been nothing wrong in any of the Bayonne ballot-boxes, every box in the city which had been impounded by the grand jury—and that means every box in the city—was ordered returned to the Bayonne city clerk late yesterday afternoon. Enemies of Mayor Cronin, of Bayonne, who had expected to find things radically wrong, were mistaken.

Having made new discoveries that would warrant indictments in the Bayonne boxes, the grand jury will meet tonight and take up the investigation of ballot-boxes in Jersey City, it is said.

After looking over some of the Jersey City boxes, the grand jury will turn its attention to the Hoboken Democratic boxes. Every Democratic box in the city will be recanvassed, it is said.

In four of the Hoboken Democratic boxes, fraud was discovered at the recent recount and members of one of the four boards were indicted by the grand jury along with Alexander Kittredge, Democratic committeeman from the district.

It came to light yesterday that in this particular district, the Third, of the First Ward, Hoboken, the members of the Board of Election have been indicted on three separate counts.

NOTES FROM LABOR FIELD

New York has 525,000 unionists.

An occupational disease law is now in effect in Missouri.

Street railway men of Regina, Sask., have secured a nine-hour day.

Girl clerks in Williamsport, Pa., receive an average of less than $7 a week.

There are nine labor papers printed in the English language published in Canada.

Structural ironworkers in New York city will ask for a wage increase to $5 a day.

Of the 74,000 workers employed in the German printing trade, 67,273 belong to the printer's union.

American and German competition have paralyzed the Welsh tin industry and caused the closing of 100 mills.

The National Women's Trade Union League advocates widows' pensions in addition to a minimum wage law for them.

Retail clerks in Cincinnati, Ohio., are planning to make a determined fight for shorter hours, especially on Saturday, and a minimum wage.

Workmen's compensation, minimum wage, initiative and referendum, and recall laws were passed during the last session of the Minnesota legislature.

The Postal Clerks' Association and the Postal Telegraph Clerks' Association, both of England, have recently become amalgamated, with a total membership of 11,500.

In Austria no industrial concern employing more than ten workers is allowed to work women or girls between the hours of 8 in the evening and 5 in the morning.

The average salaries of women grade teachers are: For Atlanta, $564.83; for Hamilton, $620.60; for New Haven, $676.48; for Cincinnati, $888.03; for Denver, 893.32.

The question of transferring the national headquarters of the Journeymen Tailors' Union from Bloomington, Ill., to Indianapolis, Ind., has been left to a referendum vote of the members.

Last year the eight-hour-day demonstration in Sydney, Australia, which, by the way, is always accompanied by a lottery, resulted in a balance of $30,000 in favor of the Trade Union organization.

It is claimed that more than 20,000 persons in New York city spend their entire working hours beneath the surface of the earth. Included in this number are the 3,800 employes of the two subway systems.

J. W. Anderson, General Chairman of the Queen & Crescent Railway System, Division No.62, has been elected Mayor of Oakdale, Tenn., and all of the other city officers are members of some labor union in good standing.

The California State Federation of Labor, in a circular letter addressed to all national and international labor organizations of Europe, urges the co-operation of all European labor bodies in the proper regulation and distribution of European immigration to the Pacific Coast, after the opening of the Panama Canal.

ONE DELEGATE SURVIVES.

When the Eastern Association of the Seventh-Day Baptist churches was held recently at Westerly, R. I., it became known through records furnished by J. D. Spicer, of this city, that only one of the officers or delegates to the association which was held at Westerly fifty years ago, was living at the time of the last association. He is E. R. Green, who, in 1863, was a delegate from the Berlin church to the meetings held with the Pawcatuck church.

—In "learning to buy" the ad-reading housewife does not seek mere price-concessions. These are sought, of course; but they must apply to goods that would be value at "regular" prices.

—The ad-reader finds what she wants in the stores with little delay, and she finds it at the price she wants to pay. For the ad-reading woman learns to know values—and she does her buying in the light of that knowledge.

CHALLENGE SALE

CAN WE BEAT OUR WONDERFUL RECORD OF 1912?

Last year, this week, we broke all selling records, not only in the volume but in the number of new purchasers who joined our hosts of satisfied customers. More than a thousand homes were brightened and beautified during that week, because of our wonderfully liberal credit terms and our unparalleled low prices. The memory of that sale still rings through the furniture world. This year we are going to beat even that high record. We SHALL do it—our aid being

DURABLE, WELL-MADE FURNITURE, AT PRICES LOWER THAN WERE EVER BEFORE OFFERED!

Everything in this sale is from our regular stock, and not a single article has escaped the price-cutting knife. CARPETS, RUGS, LINOLEUM, COMFORTABLES, BLANKETS, CURTAINS, PORTIERES, RANGES, REFRIGERATORS, PHONOGRAPHS, SEWING MACHINES etc.—whatever your needs may be, you will find prices cut to such low levels and your saving so enormous that you'll be able to furnish an entire home for what it would ordinarily cost you to furnish a room or two.

We especially desire our customers to take advantage of the wonderful savings presented by this sale; whether your account is still open or if you have closed it, select whatever you desire at the sale prices, and have it added to your account without any extra deposit.

Whether you actually need anything in our mammoth stock or not, it will pay you to buy for future needs, for we guarantee a saving of from 25% to 33⅓% on anything you may purchase.

The advertised articles are but examples of the bargains to be found throughout our store. Compare them with the prices of any other furniture or department store and convince yourself that

OUR PRICES ARE ALWAYS THE LOWEST

WE GIVE FREE INSURANCE
When you make your purchase you receive a certificate which guarantees that in case of the death of the wage-earner of your family we will at once give you a receipt for the amount of your account, without extra charge. WE PROTECT YOUR FAMILY AGAINST MISFORTUNE

Renovating Furniture.

Don't leave old and worn-out furniture in an old and worn-out condition without making some attempt to freshen and strengthen it. There are many easy ways of renovating old furniture.

Paint, of course, suggests the first way; and new upholstery suggests the second.

First, however, the furniture must be made strong. If there is a wobbly leg on a chair, investigate and find out how the leg was originally put in place. If a screw is gone, put in another. If nails were used, use more. If glue was used, use glue. By the way, when you use glue, you have doubtless often been surprised to notice that the glue loses its strength before very long and the glued parts fall apart. Next time you use any glue, put a coat of shellac over it. The moisture in the air cannot then reach the glue, which will stay dry and strong.

Old Furniture.

It is often possible to change old furniture that it is quite presentable again. Old chairs can be painted and furnished with two chintz cushions, one for the back and one for the seat. If a leg is worn or cracked at the bottom, all the legs can be shortened an inch or so so that the worn place can be sawed off. If it is too far up for this, the chair can be enameled white, the legs can be sawed off and fitted with little rubber caps, and the chair can be used for a low bathroom or bedroom chair, to sit in for a foot bath or to put the shoes on. Rockers can be sawed off from rocking chairs if they are broken and the chairs turned into straight ones. A low chair made from an old rocking chair or straight chair makes a good nursery chair, for it is always easier to hold a child in the arms if you are seated in a low chair.

If you have an old oak bed that is ugly in outline and worn in surface, saw off some of the offending ornaments, sandpaper the raw surfaces smooth and enamel the bed white. If you do this work carefully, you can do it well, and a whole bedroom set of white enameled furniture can in this way be evolved from a set of ugly, worn oak.

An ugly bureau or dresser can be made over if you remove the mirror, saw off all the back, paint the lower part of the dresser and stand it like a chest of drawers against the wall, and hang the mirror from the moulding behind it. Often the supports that hold the mirror in a cheap dresser are distinctly ugly, whereas the rest of the lines are good.

Some Cookery Suggestions

PEARS FOR WINTER.

PEARS may be put up almost the same as apples. In seasons when they are abundant advantage should be taken of this wholesome fruit. Canned pears best preserve the flavor.

Canned Pears.—Pare, halve and core the pears and cut in thin slices, place in the preserving kettle and cover with sugar in the proportion of one pound of sugar to four pounds of pears, or, if you measure them, one measure of sugar to four measures of pears. Let stand overnight and in the morning cook them in their own juice until tender enough to pierce with a straw. Lift out fruit, place in heated glass jars and fill to overflowing with the boiling sirup and seal.

An Excellent Way.

Preserved Pears.—Take small fruit and pare, leaving the stems on. To four pounds of pears allow four pounds of sugar, a pint of water and a teaspoonful of dissolved citric acid crystals. The sugar and acid crystals should be melted separately over steam. Let them boil a minute after they are melted and then set back to keep hot until needed. In the meantime the pears should have been boiled with just enough water to cover them. Then put the acid with them. When tender take the pears out of the acid juice, put in the sirup and allow to remain there for a half hour. Then place the fruit in hot jars and seal immediately. Keep in a cool, dry, dark place.

With Grape Flavor.

Pears Preserved In Grape Juice.—Heat the grape juice until it is one-third reduced then place the prepared pears in it. Have them well covered and boil until the fruit is translucent and tender. Then place in heated jars, seal and put away.

Pickled Pears.—Take seven pounds of good hard pears that have been washed and wiped, three pounds light brown sugar, a pinch of salt and one and one-half pints of vinegar, which is three cupfuls. Boil and skim till the pears are soft, but whole. To spice stick four cloves in each pear. It gives a nice flavor.

Preserved In the Oven.

Baked Preserved Pears.—Small hard pears are suitable for this. Place them in an earthenware crock, arranging them in layers with some lemon peel. Take molasses and water in equal parts and cover the pears. Leave them on the back of the stove all night and bake all the next day in a slow oven. The pears will turn dark red in color. Place the pears in heated jars, cook down the sirup and then pour over the fruit. Seal and put away.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Patch Fed His Hungry Friends.

He Taught the Kitten How to Eat.

"ANIMALS are scarcely ever stingy," daddy said. Jack and Evelyn had been wondering if Sheppie's habit of burying the bones he could not eat did not show that he was a miser.

"All dogs do that," daddy explained. "Sheppie, however, is always willing to share his dinner with Tabby or any of the kittens, so we have no right to say he is stingy."

"Cats aren't any stingier than dogs," Evelyn protested, for was not Tabby her very own pet?

"No, indeed!" daddy replied heartily. "Cats are kind and generous to one another in spite of the idea that some stupid people have that a cat is selfish.

"There was Patch, a handsome black and white cat who moved to the city from a nice home in the country.

"At first Patch wasn't very well satisfied, although he had a nice green lawn in his back yard, and his mistress at once planted some catnip for him.

"After a time Patch felt more at home and began to wander about. He got acquainted with other cats and learned the ways of town life.

"Now, Patch was a fat, well fed cat. He always had breakfast, dinner and tea; also he had plenty of good food at these meals, and the food was nicely served. The meat and vegetables were placed on a little china plate, and the milk was poured into a little bowl. These were Patch's own dishes, and he knew it. If the food was served in anything else he would stand around and meow to have it put in his own dishes.

"Now in his rambles Patch met many hungry cats. Some of the poor creatures had once had nice homes, but their owners had moved away and not taken the trouble to find new ones for them or take them along. Patch thought such people must be very mean and horrid.

"Patch must have felt sorry for these cats, for often he would come home with one of the hungry creatures following him. He never stole for himself, but at such times he has been known to slip into the pantry and, picking up any food he could in his teeth, take it to a needy friend.

"One day he brought home a thin, half grown kitten. It was black and white and looked enough like Patch to be related to him. Patch's mistress took the kitten in. She fed it, and Patch washed it carefully every day until it was almost as sleek as he was. He taught the kitten to eat its food nicely out of a dish as he did instead of scattering it about over the floor as the little waif did at first.

"Cats, as a rule, do not like to have a strange cat or dog come into their homes, but Patch made the kitten very welcome. They became great friends, and it was delightful to see them racing about and playing."

Frederick Truesdell has been engaged as leading man for Henrietta Crosman.

De Witt Jennings is playing the role of the police inspector in "Within the Law."

A new vice play is soon to be produced in Pittsburgh. It bears the title of "The Leper."

Charles Frohman has the American rights to a new Strauss opera, entitled "Love and Laughter."

Dorothy Donnelly is to make a starring tour about the new year under the management of F. C. Whitney.

The new play in which Cohan and Harris are to present Douglas Fairbanks is to be called "Dollars and Sense."

H. Cooper Cliffe, who won renown as "Nobody" in "Everywoman," has been engaged to support Bertha Kalisch.

The Shuberts are to produce a comedy of New York life, by Albert Lee, called "Miss Phoenix," with Ann Murdock in the cast.

A new musical farce under contemplation is to be given the name of "September Morn" and produced in New York at an early date.

Columbia University is to add a play writing course to its extension department, and courses in moving picture scenarios may be added.

Paul Armstrong has written a spectacular drama of the Spanish Main, called "The Pirates." He also has a comedy called "A Hunt for Happiness."

Frank Payne has interpolated in "The Rose Maid" a new waltz number called "Nights of Gladness," which he says is a sensation. It is by an Englishman.

William Harris, Jr., is getting ready to produce a new play by Paul Dickey and Charles Goddard, joint authors of "The Ghost Breaker." It is called "The Trifler."

What is supposed to be the first première of an American play outside of America was given at the Municipal theatre of Danzig, Germany, recently, when Herman Scheffauer's "The New Shylock," a play of Russian Jew life on the East Side, was performed. The play has been purchased, it is reported, by the theatres in Bonn, Strassburg and Posen.

George Marion will stage all the Savage musical pieces this season.

A singer named Mary Tucker calls herself "The Mary Garden of Ragtime."

It is reported that Lew Dockstader will appear as Othello the coming season.

"Laddies," a recent popular novel, is to be dramatized. A. G. Delamater will stage the play.

Clayton White has been engaged to play the part of Dick Gilder in "Within the Law" with Helen Ware's company.

Walter Hampton is playing the leading part in "The Yellow Jacket" in Philadelphia, succeeding George Ralph.

Felix Edwards, the well known stage director, arrived from London the other day. He will rehearse "Gen. John Regan."

Thomas W. Ross is going to restage Henry Blossom'c play, "Checkers," as a motion picture play and will act his old part in it.

Guy Standing and Chrystal Hearne will take the principal parts in "At Bay," a melodrama by George Scarborough, author of "The Lure."

Robert Hillard has begun his forty-one-week tour from coast to coast in "The Argyle Case," under the direction of Klaw and Erlanger.

A new play which will be among the productions of the season is called "Under Cover," and Florence Reed will have the leading part in it.

"The Moon Maiden," in which Mabel Wilber is featured, opened in Pittsfield, Mass., the other night and will make its way to Chicago for a long run.

"The Strange Woman," a new play by William Hurlbut, with Elsie Ferguson in the leading part, opened at Atlantic City, N. J., on Thursday of last week.

A new play by George Broadhurst and Abraham Schomer, entitled "Today," was given its first performance at one of the New York theatres the other night.

Jane Cowl, now starring in "Within the Law," will be seen after the holidays in a play based on an international marriage, by Margaret Mayo, author of "Baby Mine."

Henry Arthur Jones' new play, "Mary Goes First," was produced in London on September 18. Marie Tempest appeared as Mary. She controls the rights to it for the United States.

"The Romance of Billy Goat Hill," in which May Buckley is starring, is to be overhauled. The author, Mr. Parker, and the manager, Leo Morrison, have gone to Columbus, O., for that purpose.

The Shuberts announce four plays that they have now in rehearsal for speedy production. One is "Turandot," the play based on a Chinese legend that Percy MacKayo has rewritten from various German and English versions and that is to be clothed in gorgeous trappings, copied from those at Reinhardt's theatre in Berlin, where it was originally mounted. Two more are comedies of the life of the hour—"Miss Phoenix," by Albert Lee and "A Modern Girl," by Ruth Richardson. The fourth play, which is by Miss Crother, has not been named yet.

HERE A ONE-SIDED TUNIC MAKES FOR NOVELTY

Straight lined frocks are charmingly suited to either the decorative materials now modish or the plain fabrics. The oddly patterned crepes, silks and novelty stuffs need little trimming, none unless it be a collar and cuffs of plain material to offset the too decorative appearance or for contrast. The plain materials may be collared and cuffed most effectively with the brocades and figured silks.

Although we have draperies and overdraperies, the plain, straight skirt with its accompanying plain blouse is still popular and in good style.

A well-cut one-piece dress is shown in 7999. One of the clinging silks in a large Oriental pattern, richly colored, would be appropriate for this model, as well as the plaid trimmed ratine in which it is here developed.

An afternoon frock after this design requires for size 36, 4½ yards of 36 inch material with ¾ of a yard of contrasting silk.

A half-tunic and a clever blouse arrangement make 7656 distinctive. The smart effect of a plain duvetyn in a soft dark purple relieved by touches of vividly colored embroidery may readily be perceived. Bits of bright green, cerise and gold make the embroidery striking. A figured silk girdle showing the same coloring as the embroidery adds further chic to the frock.

This dress may be copied in size 36 with 5¼ yards of 36 inch material and ¾ of a yard of contrasting material.

Golden Rod Design for An Apron.

Dainty white aprons with a bit of hand embroidery make acceptable gifts for Christmas and are always sold readily at a fair. These little aprons are worn by the dainty housewife, while sewing or embroidering and by the college girl at her chafing dish parties.

This attractive golden-rod design is very easy to embroider and is very effective for the small amount of work required. The flowers should be developed in French knots in yellow and the leaves embroidered in solid work or outline and seeding. The scalloped edge may be carried out in yellow or white and a yellow ribbon, long enough to tie around the waist, should be run through the large eyelets at the top of the apron.

This apron is nineteen and one-half inches long and twenty-one inches wide should be made of fine lawn batiste, handkerchief linen or cross-barred muslin.

These sprays may be cut apart and used on towels, pillow cases, bureau scarfs, sideboard covers, counterpieces or sofa pillows.

Pattern No. 14645 will be supplied to Daily Press readers for 15 cents.

BRYAN SEEMS ILL IN NEW JERSEY SPEECH

Asks Camden Voters to Support Governor Fielder.

Camden, N. J., Oct. 24.—Secretary of State Bryan made it clear to an audience of 2,000 Democrats in the Temple theater in this city that he carried a message from President Wilson to the people of New Jersey to stand for the election of James F. Fielder as governor and a Democratic legislature. He laid stress upon the significance of the contest in New Jersey in its bearing upon the Wilson programme.

The secretary had been expected to speak in Salem county during the day, but his voice was in very bad condition and he could not speak outdoors. He came here direct from Washington.

Mr. Bryan spoke only about half an hour. He had much trouble in making himself heard in the theater. At times his voice was a little more than a whisper. He also looked to be physically ill.

"I have no apology to make for coming into the state of New Jersey this evening," said the speaker. "If the Republicans can go to New York for their backing, or to lunch with the representatives of 'special interests,' there is no reason why the Democrats of the state should not have outside help if they wished it.

"The battle in New Jersey this year is really of national importance. This state gave a president whose acts have proved him worthy to be placed among the immortals, and I know that each and every one of you here tonight is proud of President Wilson. You Democrats can not do less than approve of his acts as governor and president by voting for the candidate—the Democratic candidate—who stands ready to carry out the policies of President Wilson. I sincerely hope this prophet will not be without honor in his own state.

"The people of the nation, outside of New Jersey, are backing President Wilson. I know this man Wilson, and I know that he places the heart first and is for the people all the time."

APPEAL MADE TO WILSON.

Merchants' Association Wants Eastern Man In Prouty's Place.

New York, Oct. 24.—President Wilson has been asked by the Merchants association to give the eastern states representation in the interstate commerce commission when be appoints the successor of Charles A. Prouty, who is to leave the commission on Nov. 1 to take charge of the physical valuation of the railroads.

The commission at present consists of the following members: Edgar E. Clark of Iowa, chairman; Charles A. Prouty of Vermont, Judson C. Clements of Georgia, Charles C. McChord of Kentucky, Balthasar H. Meyer of Wisconsin and John H. Marble of California.

The association has no candidate to suggest.

'STOKES A LIAR' —COUSIN OF 'T. R.'

P. J. Roosevelt Puts G. O. P. Nominee in Ananias Club in Teddy's Absence.

DR. EATON'S 'THRILLER'

Distinguished Clergyman at Progressive Mass Meeting Admits His Views May Lead to Belief He's An Anarchist.

Despite the steady downpour of last night, an audience of over one hundred North Plainfield voters and four supporters of the Woman's Suffrage cause attended the Progressive mass meeting held in Debele's Hall and enthusiastically applauded the new party campaigners. Prior to the introduction of the speakers, Champlin L. Riley, who acted as chairman of the meeting, outlined the history of the Progressive party, contrasting it with the Democratic and Republican parties. He explained the position the new party has taken as to Woman's Suffrage and said that the "old guard" believed in submitting the question of women's rights to the people, while the Progressive party goes further by its sincere support of the cause.

Phillip J. Roosevelt, a cousin of Theodore Roosevelt, in beginning his talk said:

"Former Governor Edward C. Stokes, who is the Republican Gubernatorial candidate, declared that President Roosevelt left this country early in this campaign because he was afraid to remain and face the disgruntlings of his followers and in so declaring he classes himself as a deliberate liar. Such charges as this one of Stokes show the people of the country that the Republican and Democratic parties have recognized the strength of the newly born party and are employing every available means of belittling its purposes. The old machines have begun to fear the Progressives because of the hold the new party is slowly but surely taking on the politics in the twentieth century. Colonel Roosevelt went to South America at the solicitation of the minister of the Argentine Republic, who openly declared that the policies of Roosevelt's party were the best for a nation and ought to become international in adoption. Roosevelt will return from South America and will have the time of his life fighting his reactionary foes who have been piling up false charges against him in his absence.

"We are fighting on the municipal, State and National stage for character such as everyone cherishes in his own home. The Progressive party's platform supports honesty, courage and common sense. The new party pledges itself for Women's Suffrage while the other two parties say that they will 'submit the question to the people,' and do not openly declare for or against it. The Progressive platform is definite in its statements and if any candidate in the event of his election fails to fulfill every article set forth in the platform, the National Progressive Board will see to it that he is not re-elected on the Progressive ticket. The Progressive party is founded on the rock of sure principles and will fight until the platform is adopted by the nation, although the cause is bound to encounter occasional setbacks."

Dr. Charles A. Eaton took for his subject, "Political Economy," and said in part:

"Some men have too much money, more than they could accumulate in a life time, more than they could ever spend and more than they can take with them, and for this reason economic development has made its entrance into politics and the Progressive party is making an earnest attempt to equalize wealth. While I am not an anarchist, I do believe that many men are not morally entitled to the vast accumulation of wealth they possess because they couldn't have possibly earned it by honest effort in a life-time. While I do not think it a good thing to be too rich I do believe that every working man is entitled to a good home and a certain amount of comfort for his toil. Economic politics will make this possible and the Progressive party advocates this reform together with the abolition of a number of other abuses that will in the end produce social justice. It has been my custom to keep out of politics because as a minister I belong to every man, but there is a certain aspect of political life that I can enter into without getting away from my people.

"Progressive reform has produced a great change in our political life since its introduction and the old party affiliations have been broken asunder. There is nothing to be afraid of as the world is making progress in every respect and the ideas of the Progressives along political lines will go hand in hand with the developments being sought in other departments.

MME. FRANCES ALDA HERE DECEMBER 2

Gutia Caccine, the 17 Year Old Russian 'Cellist, to Assist.

Madame Frances Alda, of the Metropolitan Opera Company, who will appear at the Plainfield theatre, Tuesday evening, December 2, under the auspices of the Plainfield Musical Club, is not only beautiful herself, but is endowed with a beautiful voice, remarkably clear and with a wonderful range. Many of the best critics pronounce her work as fine as that of any of the best known grand opera stars, and her concert will be of rare merit, as it is seldom that talent with such a nation-wide reputation can be heard under such auspices.

In addition to Madame Alda there will be Gutia Caccine, the wonderful seventeen-year-old Russian 'cello expert, who is expected to achieve the highest place in the profession before he is much older. The concert would well repay those who are fortunate enough to secure reservations if there were to be no other artist than this boy celebrity.

Last, but not least, the musical club promises Frank LaFarge as piano accompanist. It should be sufficinet to say that he plays with Sembrich and other stars and his work is absolutely unsurpassed. Madame Alda not only has a voice of power and sweetness, but she sings always with rare expression and feeling. She is invariably fortunate in her choice of selections with a happy way of suiting both her audience and her own splendid voice. Accompanied by Mr. LaFarge the success of her performance is assured in advance, and music-lovers in Plainfield will look forward with great interest to the annual entertainment of the musical club. Those who apply now to Mrs. S. D. Lounsbery, 302 East Seventh street, for tickets, will have the first choice of seats.

CLAN MACKENZIE'S MASQUERADE BALL

Scottish-Americans Have Enjoyable Time at Sebring's Auditorium.

Clan Mackenzie, No. 204, O. S. C., entertained a large number of friends in Sebring's Auditorium last night, the evening being its annual masquerade dance. Allan Anderson and Arthur Campbell acted as floor managers and those who arranged the pleasant affair were William Spalding, Arthur Campbell, Alexander Doig, John Donaldson, Daniel McInnes, John Munro, Robert Murray, Thomas Hendry and Robert Baillie.

These are the officers of the clan: Chief, Allan Anderson; past chief, John Donaldson; recording secretary, James Munro; financial secretary, Robert Baillie; treasurer, Andrew Petrie; chaplain, Donald McInnes; senior henchman, John Calder; junior henchman, Alexander Doig; senechal, Robert C. Brown; warder, William Birrell; sentinel, Arthur Campbell, and piper, James McIntosh.

SUSPICIOUS CHARACTERS GO TO JAIL FOR 30 DAYS

Investigations by the local police, according to Chief Kiely, have borne out the fact that Robert Smith and Louis Barnett, of Lawrence, L. I., had shady reputations, and the two prisoners, who were arrested on suspicion of being alleged bicycle thieves were committed to the county jail by City Judge DeMeza this morning for a term of thirty days. While detained, their records will be further investigated, and other charges will probably be made against them. Kiely said that the men had been arrested before. The men were apprehended by Detective Sergeant John J. Flynn as they were attempting to sell two wheels to Clarence Thorn several days ago. They made conflicting statements as to how they came in possession of the mounts. One said he bought the bike from a man in New York, but said he could not give his name.

BOOKS FOR BOYS.

Following a movement started in the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. two years ago when Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews gave a series of lectures for parents of boys, a complete sea of the books selected by Mr. Mathiews as appropriate for reading will be published Nov. 1 by Grosset & Dunlap, of New York city, of which Alexander Grosset, of this city, is senior member.

WHIRLWIND END OF HOT CAMPAIGN

Bryan, James and Fielder Democratic Party's Spellbinders for the Windup.

TOUR OF THE COUNTY

Secretary of State and United States Senator Both to Speak in Elizabeth—Itinerary for Tip Through Union.

A big reception will be accorded Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan, when he appears in Elizabeth, Friday afternoon, October 31, to urge the election of James F. Fieder to the governorship. He will speak at Proctor's theatre in Broad street, in that city, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Mayor Stewart will be among those who will extend the formal welcome to Bryan in behalf of Union county.

United States Senator Ollie James, of Kentucky, will be the chief speaker at a Democratic mass meeting to be held tonight in the Elizabeth armory under the auspices of the Union County Committee. County candidates will also talk briefly.

Arrangements were made at last night's meeting of the Union County Committee in Elizabeth for Fielder's tour of the county on Saturday, November 1. Mayor Stewart will entertain the Acting Governor and members of the County Committee, of which he is chairman, at luncheon in the Elks' Club. The itinerary follows:

Roselle, 2:30; Cranford (Cleveland School), 3:00; Garwood (Darling Hotel) 3:30; Westfield (Elm and Broad streets), 4:00; Summit (Kenney's corner), 4:45; Springfield (Walsh's Hotel), 5:15; Elizabeth (Park place and Court street lyceum), 7:30; Union Square, 8:00, and at the Court House at 8:30; Rahway (Main and Cherry streets), 9:00; Plainfield (Front street and Madison avenue), 9:30.

Accompanying the Governor to this city on that date will be State Chairman Grosscup, who will also make an address here.

Other Democratic rallies were arranged for Summit on October 28 and at the Jefferson Democratic Club, this city, October 29. At the latter meeting John F. O'Neil, of Jersey City, and Grover Richmond, of Camden, will be the chief speakers. Local and county candidates will make addresses.

CLERGYMEN ARGUE AS TO SABBATH AND SUNDAY

On page 5 will be found two communications received by the Daily Press, with a request for publication on the Sabbath question, the writer of one being Rev. Edwin Shaw, pastor of the Seventh-day Baptist church, and of the other Rev. Wardner E. L. Ward, rector of St. Stephen's church. Their communications are prompted by a statement from Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, and an answer made by Former Corporation Counsel William M. Stillman, a trustee of the Seventh-day Baptist church. While the Daily Press columns are always open to correspondents, this paper assumes no responsibility for their statements.

GRIDIRON GAME OFF.

Manager "Doc" Doyle, of the Holy Cross football team, cancelled the Viking struggle booked for this afternoon because of weather conditions and it is understood that an attempt is being made to have the strong Bayonne eleven appear here next week. In this case the Trogan A. C. contest would have to be pushed ahead, but the local followers of the pigskin would welcome the Vikings as a substitute.

JUP PLUVIUS INTERFERES.

Coach Ralph Patch and his sixteen Plainfield High School football warriors who were scheduled to leave on the 11:20 train for Long Branch, where they were booked to lineup against the Chattle High School eleven, balked at the severe weather conditions and the contest was declared off this morning.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 65 degrees; 11 a. m., 64 degrees; 12:30 p. m., 63 degrees.

"A PUBLIC DUTY AND A WORD OF WARNING."

WOMEN FLOCKED TO BUY COATS AT $1.98

Through a proof-reading error in the Daily Press composing room much annoyance has been caused today for many readers of the Daily Press, and for the clerks employed by J. A. Fass, at The Paris. It was announced in the display advertisement of Mr. Fass in last night's issue that he woud sell women's new fall coats at $1.98. The adv. should have read "women's new fall skirts," and was written that way in the copy submitted to the advertising department of this paper by Mr. Fass yesterday morning. As a result of the error dozens of readers of the Daily Press visited the Paris store this morning seeking a bargain which it was impossible for any merchant to offer. While it proved beyond a doubt that the advertisements in this paper bring quick results, nevertheless it made trouble which is deeply regretted. "Mistakes will happen in the best regulated families."

CAN GET NO TRACE OF AUGUST SWARTZ

Last Seen in Plainfield on Sunday Night Westfielder's Whereabouts Unknown.

August Swartz, aged 53 years, of Westfield, who disappeared last Sunday night, about 9:30 o'clock, after leaving 51 Laramie road, where he had been visiting relatives, is still missing, the police being unable to find any tract of his whereabouts. He arrived at the home of his relatives about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, remaining there until about 9:30 in the evening. When he left for home he appeared to be in the customary health.

Mr. Swartz was subject to heart trouble and his realtives are much concerned. When last seen he wore a slate gray suit and slouch hat. He also wore a gray moustache. Mr. Swartz was employed as supervisor at the Westfield Country Home, where New York children are cared for in the summer. He is a native of Prussia and has lived in this country many years.

DELIGHTFUL RECITAL OF MISS KARR'S PUPILS

Eight Young Women Present a Musical Program of Quite Unusual Merit.

The opening recital in a series of monthly events for the education of self-control in public performance was given last evening by pupils of Miss Grace P. Karr in her studio at the Babcock building. Some young people possessing talent, ambition and perseverance, presented the program. With the exception of the opening number all of the ensemble music was borrowed from the Public Library and is representative of the larger forms of music, namely the opera and the symphony. The program was provided by the Misses Marian V. Avery, Marjorie Burtis, Edna F. Smith, Helen E. Crane, Katharine J. Endress, Miss Madeline V. Hughes, the Misses Karr, Sarah L. Schenck and George W. Warren and Oscar Schmidt.

ALIENATION SUIT DEFENDANT MAKES COMPLETE DENIAL

Mrs. Katherine Coman, of Fanwood, who was named as the defendant in a $20,000 suit for alleged alienation of affections, brought by Mrs. Abby K. Schneider, of Central avenue, this city, has filed her answer to the complaint in the Court of Chancery, Trenton. It is a complete denial of all the allegations made by the petitioner. John Schneider, husband of the complainant, is employed as a coachman by the defendant. He contributes $3 a week toward the support of his wife under a court order.

SEEKS ADMISSION TO BAR.

Brockholst K. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac L. Miller, of Watchung avenue, has filed a notice of his intention to apply for admission to the bar of Union county at the next term of the Supreme Court.

OLD-FASHIONED COUNTRY DANCE

Unusually Elaborate Entertainment Given at Plainfield Country Club.

FAITHFUL PRODUCTION

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Charles and Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Lawrence, Jr., Responsible for An Expensive Society Event.

The "husking bee and dance" given at the Plainfield Country Club, last night, by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Charles and Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Lawrence, Jr., of this city, was one of the most unique affairs ever given in Plainfield. It was a genuine, old-fashioned country dance and every detail was carried out to the most minute detail. There were about three hundred guests and the festivities were enjoyed until an early hour this morning.

It was in the decorations by Stanley, the florist, that the whole scheme so faithfully represented the old-time husking bee and country dance, while Superintendent John Eke, of the club, did his part in the serving of an old-fashioned menu consisting of pies, crullers, cookies, sandwiches, cider and coffee.

Leading up to the clubhouse were hundreds of lighted pumpkins, while the approach was made to represent the entrance to a farmhouse with its section of fence, gate, grass and trees. Inside there was the typical haymow, with the ladders leading to it, farming implements, lanterns, harness, with live and stuffed chicks and quantities of vegetables hung about the ceiling, and the sides thatched with cornstalks. The large porches were inclosed for dacning and here the same scheme was carried out, as it was also in the dining room, where long stables were set and the guests sat on soap boxes to eat the refreshments. Hundreds of Japanese lanterns were used with pleasing effect.

Another feature that added greatly to the enjoyment of the affair was the fact that all of the guests appeared in old-fashioned costumes and many a valuable heirloom was displayed among the fineries. There was an absence of formality and this, too, was a feature. The music was furnished by a troupe of colored musicians from New York, and they gave a popular program which began with the Virginia Reel. Then followed some of the early and more recent dances.

In the large dancing hall the fireplace was made typical of colonial days with guns, swords, etc., giving a touch of Revolutionary days. The guests were loud in their praise of the elaborate entertainment provided by the hostesses and all agreed that the affair surpassed all others for real enjoyment.

LEON R. TAYLOR, AGED 31, TO BE ACTING GOVERNOR

Acting Governor James F. Fielder will resign his office on Tuesday and will be succeeded by Assemblyman Leon R. Taylor, aged thirty-one years, Speaker of the House.

Although Attorney General Wilson has given his opinion that there is no constitutional objection to Fielder holding the office at the time of the election, he has decided to resign.

TWO JUDGES TO TALK ON JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

The miscellaneous department of the Monday Afternoon Club will hold its first meeting Monday afternoon, at 3:45 o'clock, in the lecture room of the Plainfield Public Library, when Judge H. V. Osborne, of Essex county, will speak on the subject, "Causes of Juvenile Delinquency." This will be followed by an informal discussion to be opened by City Judge William G. DeMeza, of this city. As the subject is of such wide interest it has been decided to open the meeting to the public upon the payment of the usual fee.

A SURPRISE PARTY.

Mrs. L. Weigmann, of 710 Central street, tendered her guest, Miss Florence Petersen, of New York city, a pleasant surprise last night. Games and dancing were enjoyed until a late hour when an elaborate supper was served. The table was profusely decorated with autumn leaves and a large brilliantly lighted pumpkin containing novel favors and witty futures originated by Mrs. Weigmann, caused considerable merriment.

BORO HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS AS HOSTS

Fourth Year Students Entertained Friends With Dance Last Night.

Thirty couples braved the rain last night to attend the annual reception and dance of the Senior class of the North Plainfield High School held in Saengerbund Hall and the affair was conducted in a manner that exceeded the greatest anticipations of the student body. Each of the High School classes was represented by a delegation of students and the affair was highly successful from every point of view. Senior committees worked all day yesterday decorating the large hall for the annual festival and the auditorium was converted into a bower of autumnal beauty. Bright colored foliage and crepe paper of various colors transformed the gymnasium into a blaze of glory and the dancers enjoyed a continuous program from early in the evening until 2 o'clock this morning.

Members of the faculty assisted the fourth year class in making the affair the success it was and the instructors took an active part in the program of entertainment. Refreshments were served between the dances by a group of the girl member of the class and various other novelties were introduced by individuals which served to hold the interest of the students and their friends throughout the six hours of terpsichore entertainment.

Brown and gold, the class colors, prevailed in the decorations and across the platform the numerals of the outgoing classes were draped in gold. The committees in charge of the affair were composed of the following: Invitation, Ashley Burner; hall, Ashley Burner and Frank O. Dunning, Jr.; refreshments, Miss Mary Bennett, chairman; Helen Woodruff, Jennie Sears, Edna Green, Aline Giddes and Estes Small; decoration, Miss Helen Woodruff, chairman, and the Misses Mary Bennett, Lucille Ewart and Edith Dalley, and Charles Beckman and Franklin Lowe.

YOUNGEST MEMBER OF WORLD W. C. T. U.

One new member, six months old, was pledged to the Women's Christian Temperance Union at its ninth triennial convention held in the Brooklyn Academy of Music, yesterday, when Marjorie Rose Tomlinson, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Roland Tomlinson, formerly of this city, but now of New York, was added to the White Ribbon cause.

Dr. Tomlinson is the son of Dr. and Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, of West Seventh street, the senior Mrs. Tomlinson being the county president of the W. C. T. U. Mrs. Roland Tomlinson was formerly Miss Mary Jahn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Jahn, of Scotch Plains, and is well known locally.

The little applicant for membership in the Union was carried on the stage by her mother and officers of the organization declared her a full fledged member by tying fragments of white ribbon about her wrist.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. THEODORE J. SHIRLEY

The funeral service for Mrs. Theodore J. Shirley, who died in her home in Scotch Plains, Thursday, following a lingering illness, was held in St. Mary's church this morning at 9 o'clock, relatives and friends of the family filling the edifice. The floral tributes were numerous and entirely covered the casket, set pieces being sent to the home by many Catholic organizations with which Mrs. Shirley was affiliated.

The Rev. B. M. Bogan, pastor of the church, acted as celebrant of the mass and he was assisted by Father Daniel F. Hogan as deacon, and Father Sciolla as sub-deacon. The pall-bearers were: Arthur A. Cannon, John A. Gaffney, Thomas Carty, Francis J. Blatz, A. R. Martell and John J. Varley.

KINKEAD AND HERRMANN SPEAK HERE MONDAY

Congressman Eugene Kinkead, of Hudson county, and L. Edward Herrman, secretary of Acting Governor Fielder, will be among the speakers to address an open-air Democratic mass meeting to be held Monday night at the intersection of Madison avenue and West Front street. Mayor Stewart will preside.

Local candidates and those seeking to become members of the Board of Freeholders will also speak. In case of rain, the meeting will be held in the hall at 124 Madison avenue.

BIG BENCH SHOW IS THEIR SCHEME

Purpose of Movement to Organize "Associated Kennel Clubs of N. J."

FOR A GREAT SHOW

Plainfield Club Interesting Similar Associations—Suggestions of Edmund L. Mackenzie Likely to Meet With General Approval.

The Board of Governors of the Plainfield Kennel Club is discussing the feasibility of holding a central association bench show, in which all the show-giving clubs in New Jersey could combine under such a title as "The Associated Kennel Clubs of New Jersey. It is the opinion that it would be an excellent idea if such a show could be held in Plainfield, which is a central point.

This plan was suggested by Edmund L. Mackenzie for the reason that a good many clubs in New Jersey, and elsewhere, have found it difficult in making their shows a financial success even with a goodly entry list and other favorable conditions. It was then suggested that if the half-dozen or so clubs in the State would combine forces they would thereby be enabled to give an exhibition with such inducements as would propably secure satisfactory results collectively, in a measure none of the clubs could hope to do individually, and in which all proceeds would be shared either equally or pro rata, according to any plan that might be agreed upon.

A large central city, such as Elizabeth, Newark, Plainfield or Trenton, convenient to all interests and with ample facilities for either an indoor or outdoor show would not only draw a big entry but the gate receipts would be correspondingfly large. By such a consolidation the working expenses would be considerably reduced and the income increased.

By this plan any participating club would not lose its identity, but simply combine in a way which would guarantee such a show, as would be a credit to the State as well as the clubs taking part. Edmund L. Mackenzie, president of the local club, has written to the other clubs in the State including Rumson Kennel Club, Delaware Valley Kennel Club, Newark Kennel Club and Jersey City Kennel Club with the idea of getting an expression of opinion and suggesting that if approved it would be an easy matter to have a meeting of representatives from these organizations and work out some definite scheme.

PATRICK LYNCH DIES AFTER A LONG ILLNESS

Patrick Lynch died in his home at 645 East Second street this morning after a lingering illness of nearly three years. He was a life long resident of Plainfield. He was formerly a member of the local police force and served as sergeant for several years.

Mr. Lynch was one of the oldest members of St. Mary's church and an active attendant up to the time he was taken seriously ill. He was a member of the T. A. B. Society having been connected with that organization for thirty-two years. Prior to his illness Mr. Lynch was employed as a watchman at the banking house of Harvey Fisk and Sons, in New York.

Surviving him are one daughter, Mrs. Patrick Melvin, with whom he lived, and Edward T. Lynch, formerly of this city, but now of Jersey City. The funeral services will be held at St. Mary's church Tuesday morning and interment will be made in St. Mary's cemetery.

RETURNS FROM CONVENTION.

Mrs. Andrew McDowell, delegate from Washington Camp, No. 1, P. O. of A., to the national camp at Atlantic City, returned home, last night. She will make a report of the State proceedings at the next meeting of the local camp.

FUNERAL OF CHARLES COY.

Charles Coy, who was killed on the New Jersey Central at Cranford on Thursday, will be buried from his late home in Metuchen this afternoon. The body was brought to this city where it was identified.

FUNERAL OF HANS GUERTLER.

The funeral of Hans Guertler was held yesterday at the home of Hugo Klotz, on Greenbrook road. Rev. Conrad Blunk officiated and the burial was in Hillside cemetery.

DEMOCRACY'S PLEDGES

:o:

LOYALTY TO THE POLICIES OF WOODROW WILSON, PRIDE IN THE RECORD OF FIELDER DEMANDS THAT PRESENT PROGRESSIVE LEGISLATION SHALL REMAIN INVIOLATE.

:o:

(From the Democratic Platform.)

"We reaffirm our loyalty to our distinguished fellow citizen, Woodrow Wilson, who, as President of the United States, has added fame and lustre to the State of New Jersey. We indorse his administration as President, registering our belief that the courageous, patriotic and intelligent qualities of mind and heart that he devoted to the service of this State as its Governor will add materially to the prosperity and happiness of the people of the nation. We indorse his administration as Governor of this State. Under his guidance progressive legislation, for which the people of our State had been seeking for years and which had been denied them, was enacted, and we are now enjoying the benefits flowing from these legislative acts.

"We express pride, also, in the steadfast devotion of our party representatives in Congress to the work of setting free the industries of our country from the burden of unjust tariff taxes, under which private monopolies have grown great and powerful.

FIELDER COMMENDED.

"We commend the legislative record of James F. Fielder, the president of the Senate, and his administration as Acting Governor As member of the Assembly, as Senator and as Acting Governor, he has brought to the public service a high order of ability, freedom from improper alliances and a conscientious determination to faithfully discharge his duties, and he has at all times been a consistent supporter of advancement and reform in legislation and in State government. We recommend his candidacy for the office of Governor to the voters of all parties, believing that his past record is a safe guaranty of his future conduct.

"At the last session of the Legislature of this State, which was overwhelmingly Democratic, laws were placed on the statute books for the safe-guarding of railroad travel, for the strengthening of the school laws, for instructions to school children to prevent accidents, for the pensioning of widows and their children, for the correction and curbing of corporation abuses within the State, for the abolition of grade crossings, for the regulation of motor vehicle traffic, for the establishment of a uniform system of weights and measures, for agricultural demonstrations throughout the State, for the extension of the employers' liability act to municipal and State employes, for semi-monthly pay to municipal and State employes, for the establishment of a State department of records and archives, for the use of public school buildings for public gatherings, for the abolishment of the contract system of prison labor.

"We favor the co-operation of our State government with the Federal government in the adoption of a liberal and comprehensive plan for the development and improvement of our island waterways and the construction of a ship canal across our State.

"To make sure that the primary vote will express the choice of not less than a majority of those voting upon nomination we favor an adequate system of preferential voting, to the end that the voter may not be confined to a single choice among a number of candidates.

"Our State departments, institutions and boards should be thoroughly examined and in many instances rearranged. We believe that their work can be simplified, departments can be consolidated and better administrative business methods devised, all making for economy and a higher degree of efficiency.

"Our municipalities should have more freedom from legislative control. They should have a greater measure of self government and should be free to operate their functions in local matters through their own legislative boards, and not from Trenton. School districts should have more control over the size, location and erection of their own school houses, and not be required to issue bonds for schools for a sum beyond which the taxpayers feel they should be called upon to bear.

"Our system of taxation needs revision and adjustment. We need a simple and practical method of assessing property, under uniform Statewide rules, by assessors under some responsible control, so that all property shall bear its just portion of the governmental expenses and the unequal burden be removed from the small property owner.

"We pledge our support to the agricultural interests of the State and to the enlargement and development of the State Agricultural College at New Brunswick and the experiment station connected therewith, as well as to farm demonstration work by scientifically trained men, carrying their knowledge and experience direct to the farmer.

"We believe that the voters of the State should have the right to decide whether suffrage should be extended to women, and, therefore, favor a submission of this question to popular vote.

"We favor the enactment of such legislation as will conserve the constitutional rights of labor and as well prevent the issuance of injunctions in labor disputes when no property rights are involved and when there is proper remedy at law."

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

Under the direction of William A. Brady "Today," a play of today and every day, having all the thrills and a bumper crop of smiles, is drawing capacity houses to the Forty-eighth street theatre, just east of Broadway. The excellent acting cast includes Edwin Arden, Emily Stevens and Marie Wainwright. The Tribune says it "grips the interest and holds it until the drop of the curtain." Matinees Thursday and Saturday. Enclose money order when requesting tickets sent by mail. Another big Brady show is "The Family Cupboard," by Owen Davis, at the Playhouse, Forty-eighth street, just east of Broadway. It is the best acted play in New York and has more laughs than any musical comedy now being presented.

The press comment on "The Great Adventure," the sterling comedy by Arnold Daly, now playing at the Booth Theatre, Forty-fifth street, west of Broadway, is universally flattering and equally as deserved. The New York times critic says it is "an admirable characterization," and DeFoe, of the World, declares it to be a "capital comedy." Alan Dale adds that it is "bright and whimsical," to which Acton Davies, in the Evening Sun, adds "it is witty and original with plenty of color." Says the Evening World: "A play for the discriminating theatregoer." "Delightful, refreshing, finest satire on philistinism ever produced; intensely comic and intensely human"—such is the opinion of Lewis Sherwin in the Evening Globe. Matinees Thursday and Saturday.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, OCTOBER 25, 1913.

On Saturdays the editorial columns of the Daily Press are conducted by citizens who are free to express their own views. The contributing editor for today is F .W. Iredell.

A PUBLIC DUTY AND A WORD OF WARNING.

The establishing by the counties of the State of New Jersey of sanitaria for people afflicted with tuberculosis was a momentous step in the campaign against that dread disease.

Those, however, who were in daily contact with the situation realized in advance that the work of these institutions would have to be supplemented by local endeavor. They knew the sanitaria would be crowded quickly to capacity. They knew the sanitaria would not be, and could not be, built at once on a scale to take care of all admissible cases.

This expectation has been realized.

For our own locality it can be stated that Bonnie Burn is full; and, while extensions are to be made there, the work in our city is immediate and pressing. It is immediate and pressing among other reasons, because the conditions which induce tuberculoss remain with us. Statistics compiled by the Anti-Tuberculosis League show that for every one hundred indoor workmen there are on the average at least one unmistakable case and two or three incipient or predisposed cases. Of incipient cases many can be cured and more arrested. The predisposed can nearly all be taught to save themselves.

Exact knowledge of the conditions is the first element of a successful fight. It is the duty of the community to establish this knowledge and to consistently obtain and maintain control of the conditions themselves. The peril is very real and it steadily takes its yearly toll of lives. A very considerable percentage of these lives could have been saved or much prolonged had the general campaign begun earlier. And the compaign should not be less strenuously waged now because a sanitarium has been built which cares for only a fraction of our sufferers.

The Anti-Tuberculosis League has voluntarily shouldered this campaign as a public duty.

The work of the League resolves itself into:

First—The discovery of all new cases in our midst, of whatsoever degree.

Second—The oversight and instruction of incipient and less advanced cases, and the superivision of the nursing of the serious cases, which cannot be cared for otherwise.

Third—The maintenance on Muhlenberg Place of an Open Air School for children predisposed to tuberculosis.

For the first and second divisions of the work its organization consists of a clinic at 109 Madison avenue. The clinic is open on Wednesdays and Saturdays between 4 and 5, and between 8 and 9 p. m., and patients are examined and treated without charge or for a small voluntary payment, as circumstances dictate.

A specially trained tuberculosis nurse is employed by the League and gives her whole time to its work.

The objects of the League are—and it is difficult to rate them as to importance—The saving of lives in the incipient and early stages.

Rendering immune, or as nearly as may be, the large number predisposed to the disease.

Reducing to a minimum the danger to the public.

Prolonging the lives and relieving the sufferings of those who are doomed.

Practically all this work is more important to the community from the standpoint of self-protection than it is necessary from the standpoint of charity. People in thousands have sickened and died of tuberculosis in the past, cared for by family and friends and neighbors. There was no lack, as a rule, of tenderness or charity. But that did not stamp out the disease. To eradicate it, it must pass into public control.

This is the justification for the continued activities of the Anti-Tuberculosis League and this is the League's claim upon the public for the funds necessary to accomplish its self-imposed task.

That the situation is not exaggerated is attested by the registry by the League at this date of 27 advanced cases, 46 moderately advanced and 42 incipient. All these cases are being carefully watched.

There is a chance right here to save seventy-five lives. What are you going to do about it?

There are in addition about one hundred suspected cases and the work of the clinic is still extending the field. The most gratifying opportunity of the clinic, however, has been the reassuring of some who mistakenly thought they had been infected.

Now, the League holds that, apart from every charitable or humanitarian consideration, and, apart from every consideration of self-protection, its work is an economic necessity. The cheapest way is the quickest way. Stamp out the plague! One dollar spent today saves ten dollars we will have to spend if we wait or trifle. Remember that in the United States the yearly loss of wages from tuberculosis is estimated at $570,000,000 and the money spent on tuberculosis at $145,000,000; a total of $715,000,000.

We used to consider the disease incurable. Now we know it is not. We used to consider it hereditary. Now we know that heredity predisposes, but the disease comes by infection. Let those who are predisposed strive to become immune. Let everybody be warned in time and so live as to avoid infection. Starve the plague to death!

Money is needed to carry on this work. The sum is not large. The budget of the League calls for about $3,000 to be raised by popular subscription for general expenses for the fiscal year ending July 1st, 1914. The clinic is financed a year ahead by public spirited local manufacturers.

Let us think of that awful waste of lives, entailing the stupendous loss of labor and of treasure, and give now that we be not compelled to pay later. And remember that what we may have to pay later may not be our money but our lives. Let no man think himself safe.

Checks may be sent to Mr. James P. Murray, treasurer, 737 Watchung avenue.

F. W. IREDELL.

GEN. MILES DID NOT PUT IN APPEARANCE

Canon Chase and Another Cleric, However, Addressed M. E. Brotherhood.

"General Nelson A. Miles, the chief-guardian of the order, will speak at Plainfield, N. J., in the interests of the Guardians of Liberty, October 24th. The First Methodist church, the oldest church in the city, has been obtained for the occasion. After a short trip West the General expects to find opportunity to speak at a number of places for the extension of the order."

The above announcement is taken from the September issue of "The Guardian of Liberty," the official organ of The Guardians of Liberty. The meeting, which was held in Vincent chapel of the First M. E. church, last night, was under the auspices of the Brotherhood of that church, but General Miles did not appear. Instead, Canon William Sheafe Chase, of Christ church, Brooklyn, and Rev. William Schoenfield, pastor of Calvary Lutheran church, New York, the latter an officer of The Guardians of Liberty, addressed the audience. The latter read a letter from Gen. Miles in which he said that a trip West prevented his appearance here.

There was a large attendance of men from the local churches, including a delegation of thirty men from Perth Amboy and the Dutch Arms Concert Band of Trinity Reformed church which played several selections in a commendable manner. Samuel Bingaman was in charge of the meeting. After an opening selection by the band, and the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers," Rev. J. Y. Broek, of Trinity Reformed church, offered prayer.

While the fact may have been known to some, it did not seem to be to a majority of those present that the meeting was for the purpose of advancing the interests of The Guardians of Liberty. General Miles was to have spoken on the subject of "Patriotism and Civic Righteousness," and to a large extent both Canon Chase and Mr. Schoenfeld based their remarks on that subject.

Canon Chase began his remarks by emphasizing the relation of the church to the country as symbolical of patriotism, adding that there is no true religion without patriotism. He declared that the church and the State should be kept separate and he did not think there would ever be a union of the two in this country.

One great trouble, the speaker thought, was that the churches had been fighting as companies instead of regiments. We have come to a new day with an awakened public conscience and everyone should enter into this liberty. Referring to a conference he had at one time in which Jews participated, Canon Chase said that they objected to the singing of Christmas music in the public schools on the ground that this is a free country and not a religious country, the speaker retorted by asking them whether they would permit the opening of theatres in their native land on Saturday, they replied that theirs was a religious country.

The canon then went on to prove that this is a religious country, quoting Justice Brewer, Daniel Webster and others to support his contention that the government recognizes Sunday, and that while it was held by some that Stephen Girard's will was illegal because it forbid ministers of any denomination entering Girard College, it does not forbid Christian laymen from doing that thing, and the principle was recognized.

The canon touched briefly on politics as viewed in New York, declaring that today men are going into politics the same as they go into business and consequently they must have something to sell. He spoke of the movement to close postoffices on Sunday and its success. He also referred to the laws of marriage and divorce and believed there should be uniform laws, as well as health certificates in the case of marriages In conclusion he spoke of the White Slave question giving some interesting facts.

He paid a fine compliment to the associated Catholic clubs of New York, who through their president appeared before the Legislature at Albany to enter a strong protest against the White Slave traffic. The president explained that his protest was with the full endorsement of Cardinal Farley.

Mr. Schoenfeld, the next speaker, covered some of the points presented by Canon Chase, but spoke more particularly on the fundamental principles upon which the country is founded and alleged that General Miles is working to have the people banded together to uphold these principles. In conclusion Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson proposed a vote of thanks to the speakers and the band and the meeting closed with the singing of "My Country 'Tis of Thee."

After the meeting Percy S. Brown, of East Seventh treet, who is identified with The Guardians of Liberty, distributed copies of "The Guardian of Liberty," and "American Citizen," a paper published in East Orange.

SCHOOL BOYS' BIBLE CLASS BEGINS COURSE

The opening meeting of the High School boys' Bible class was held in the Y. M. C. A. parlors last night with twenty-one upper classmen, representing the city and borough High Schools, present. The class began the year with a supper at 6 o'clock and adjourned for study at 6:50 o'clock under the direction of William D. Murray, president of the local Y. M. C. A.

The first lesson was introductory to the course which will be followed with lessons from the Life of Christ. A committee of women from the Ladies' Auxiliary served the supper and was composed of Mrs. Frank J. Hubbard, chairman; Mrs. W. H. Freeman, Mrs. William D. Murray and Mrs. Orra S. Rogers.

WANT I. O. F. QUARTERS BACK IN NEW JERSEY

Owing to the dissatisfaction among the members of the I. O. F. over the increase in rates a movement has been started to bring the central offices of the order from Canada back to New Jersey, where the order was originated. The Foresters were organized in 1881, and Court Elizabeth, No. 1, is still in existence.

Former Governor Foster M. Voorhees, Judge James C. Connolly and County Clerk James C. Calvert, all Foresters, are opposed to the new plan and favor the change in the central offices. It is reported that a large number of members have dropped out of the order since the change in rates, being unable to keep up payments.

AN OYSTER SUPPER.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Netherwood Reormed church, an oyster supper was held at the church last night. The ommittee in charge comprised Mrs. Frank A. Cooper, Mrs. Horace J. Martin and Mrs. Hamilton Johnston. The waitresses were Mrs. Charles VanArsdale, Mrs. Elston Johnston, Mrs. S. O. Rush, Mrs. John M. Hunt, Mrs. William Zimmerman and Mrs. Carl Hansen.

THE SABBATH

BY REV. EDWIN SHAW
(Pastor, Seventh-Day Baptist Church)
and
REV. WARDNER E. L. WARD
(Rector, St. Stephen's Church)

(By Rev. Edwin Shaw.)

I have set for myself today a most difficult task. For it I have sought Divine guidance in prayer again and again, for I realize that I am treading on especially sacred and holy ground when I undertake to interpret the words and the actions of Jesus in reference to his personal conduct. With all my heart I desire to understand aright, regardless of consequences, what was the attitude of Jesus towards the Sabbath, as to what it means in man's religious life, and as to when and how it should be observed in human conduct.

Jesus is our perfect pattern, and if we can know what He did, and what He taught about any institution or about human conduct, we cannot be far out of the way when we guage our conduct by His. "Back to Jesus" has been the theme, the watchword, in many lines of religious discussion during these last years. They tell us to cast aside the growth of the centuries that has gathered about the church, almost enveloped the church it sometimes seems, cast aside these traditions of men and get back to Jesus, to the simple gospel message. This endeavor, this quest, this purpose, has been of great help, and is bringing peace and harmony among men. People are finding that when they take the life and the words of Jesus as the foundation for their religious thinking and action, then scisms vanish and denominational fences fall and fade away to mere lines or shadows drawn along the ground.

And so today as a help to us, as a guide to us, let us consider this theme, "Jesus the Sabbath-keeper." And in the first place, Jesus recognized the institution of the Sabbath and nowhere so much as hints or infers that the time would ever come on earth when the Sabbath would cease to be. You may have noticed that Jesus did not lay emphasis upon institutions. He did establish one, the Lord's Supper, and he did submit to one, baptism by immersion. Jesus did not organize a church as we think of it today. He left no form of service except the brief Lord's Prayer. The Sabbath as an institution existed when He came. The cycle of the week of seven days, the last or seventh being a Sabbath, existed among many nations, and was the same among them. With God's chosen people, the Hebrews, the sacredness and holiness of the Sabbath were more clearly understood and better observed than among the other nations. But the cycle of the week was known.

Now this institution Jesus found existing when He came, and he recognized and accepted it. And His attitude towards it is found in His attitude towards the law of which the Sabbath is a part. He says he came not to destroy but to fulfill. That is, His attitude was not that of revolution, but reformation. His mission was not that of destruction, but of construction. He did not come to annul the Sabbath, but to interpret it. It was not His to uproot the Sabbath, or transplant it, but to prune it and cultivate it. He recognized the Sabbath as an institution. This He did by observing it, by keeping it, more than by any direct command. It was a part of His life. Luke says, "and as his custom was He went into the synagogue on the Sabbath day and stood up for to read." The observing the Sabbath was a part of His life.

People who were trying to find errors and mistakes in His conduct accused Him of not observing the Sabbath as they thought it should be observed, but they never brought against Him the charge that he was trying to annul or abolish the Sabbath. This is of course indirect testimony, but of the strongest kind. Here were people who were watching constantly for some cause of accusation against Jesus. They did charge that He and His disciples did not observe the Sabbath according to their laws, but they never claimed that He was trying to do away with the Sabbath. If Jesus in His teaching had even suggested that the Sabbath was merely a temporary institution, a type or symbol, the need of which was to pass away with Him, why these people would have eagerly caught it up as a charge for punishment. No, Jesus recognized and observed the Sabbath, and if we would follow in His footsteps as He has bidden us do, and prove our love to Him by doing His will, then we too will recognize the Sabbath as a divine institution and do our best to observe it.

In the second place I call your attention to the time when Jesus observed the Sabbath. It was the seventh day of the week. It is not my purpose today to notice that the Sabbath idea of rest, has no meaning when applied to the first of a series of days. My purpose is to notice that Jesus, our example, kept the seventh day of the week. And in all His teachings as recorded in the four gospels there is nothing that even in

(By Rev. Wardner E. L. Ward.)

Sir:—May I be permitted at this late date to say a word concerning the letter published in your issue of last Thursday, under the title, "Sunday Not Sabbath." I had intended writing sooner, but more important matters have delayed me.

The article referred to flies far afield from the issue raised by the Rev. J. Y. Broek and appears to be the unwarranted grasping of t barely possible opportunity in the interest of extraneous polemics.

The writer calmly sets him down in judgment seat and decrees: "The world must either get back to the true Sabbath of the Bible or become wholly Catholic.." Why, my good friend, the world, or at least so much of it as is Christian, does not tremble very greatly any more at the dogmatic "musts" emanating from human pronunciamento, but is quite content to rest in the assurance that "We shall all stand before the Judgment Seat of Christ," who Himself declared, "The Father judgeth no man, but hath committed all judgment unto the Son," and He it was who declared, "The Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath; therefore the Son of Man is Lord also of the Sabbath."

And what is the fearful alternative the writer gives the world if it would escape "the terrible punishment that is to come to the world in God's own time for this disobedience?" Why this: That it must "become wholly Catholic." Well, the world might even survive that catastrophe.

It is a trifle difficult to arrive at the learned legal gentlemen's exact meaning, because after the manner so usually adopted by Papal controversalists, he confuses the terms, "Catholic," "Roman Catholic," "The Church," "Catholic Church" and "Roman Catholic Church"; but if he means to convey that the Christian world will either return to the universal observance of the Hebrew Sabbath or become wholly Roman Catholic, his position is untenable. These things will never be.

And why does the writer quote so profusely from Roman Catholic authorities? Has he not yet discovered that the dogmatic pronouncements of Roman Prelates or Councils per se are and long have been repudiated by, and devoid of weight with all non-papal Christians? or does he hope to cajole Roman Catholic Christians around to Sabbatarianism.

May I present a few Christian authorities antedative by centuries, both the claims of the Bishop of Rome and the modern authorities your writer quotes:

"Upon the first day of the week, when the Apostles came together to break bread (i. e., celebrate the Holy Communion), Paul preached unto them."—Acts 20:7. (Preaching is one observation of the Sabbath—That $1,000 Mr. Stillman offered, please.)

"The principal and most noted among sacred and ecclesiastical festivals was always that of the Lord's Day, or Sunday, which was observed with great veneration in the ancient church from the very time of the Apostles. The Apostles themselves often met on Sunday for Divine service, being the day of the Lord's resurrection."

"On the Lord's Day early Christians used to pray 'standing' in memory of our Saviour's resurrection."—Origines Ecclesiasticae—Bing.

"We keep the Lord's Day as a day of joy because of Him who rose upon it."—Peter of Alexandria—c. xv.

"Both custom and decency require us to keep the Lord's Day a festival and to give honor to it, because on this day our Lord Jesus Christ procured for us the resurrection from the dead."—Theophilus, Bp. of Alex. A. D. 360.

Pliny tells us, "They used to meet before it was light on this solemn day and sing their morning hymns to Christ."—Lib. ix, Ep. xivii.

Nor could danger of persecution abate zeal of early Christians for public worship on Sunday.

In A. D. 304, the Emperor Diocleslian by a troop of soldiers apprehended Saturninus, Christian Presbyter of Abitina, and forty-eight other Christian worshippers of both sexes for "celebrating the Divine Mysteries on a Sunday." When arraigned, Saturninus, answering his indictment before the judge, declared: "The obligation of the Sunday is indispensible. It is not lawful for us to omit the duty of that day. We will keep the commandments of God at the expense of our lives," which they did in their martyrdom.

I submit, therefore, that testimony of this character, which can be multiplied ad infinitum, coupled with the practically universal practice of Christians of every name from the time of Christ until this day, furnishes a sufficient brief to justify any Christian man in believing that in keeping Sunday as the weekly festival of his Lord's resurrection he is not "supplanting Sunday for God's Sabbath," whatever that may mean, but is allied with the good and comforting company of myriads of God's Saints in Jesus, and furthermore that he is not in danger of "the terrible punishment that is to come to the world in God's own time for this disobedience."

In these days, when Jesus' followers are striving to approach a Christian unity, which shall somewhere approximate the Saviour's prayer that we may all be one, it is sad indeed to find an effort to emphasize a dogma of difference such as this, which contravenes both St. Vincent's truly Catholic rule that that is Christian doctrine which has been held "always, everywhere and by all" and also the Apostles' dictum, "the letter killeth, but the Spirit giveth life," but most of all the Master's words: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and thy neighbor as thyself, for this is the law and the prophets."

While I cannot follow the full intent of the rhymster, yet there is just enough of truth in the following lines to make us thankful that we have left the "good old days" he refers to far behind.

"Now, Heaven was once an upper flat,
Wherein the Saints serenely sat,
Each with a halo for a hat.
Each sang his bliss without alloy,
Each sang his most ecstatic jay,
Knowing the engine-room was jammed
With legions of the suffering damned."

Let us not revive this spirit.

GIMBEL BROTHERS Announce for Monday

The Disposal of The Entire Stock of

Abm. Besthoff & Son

288 FIFTH AVENUE

New York's Oldest Fine Leather Goods Store

Fifty-nine years have passed since Abraham Besthoff first started the Leather Goods business in his store at Broadway and Eighth Street, with a modest collection of cigar cases and other articles. This first venture was the beginning of long and uninterrupted success, identified with the fashionable New York of more than a half century. Before the war, the young men of fashion made Besthoff's shop their headquarters for buying complimentary and personal gifts in leather. And ever since, Besthoff's name has been familiar among New York's fine old families, which followed him in his trade to his successive shops, at 903 Broadway, 935 Broadway, near Twenty-second Street, and finally, 288 Fifth Avenue, at 31st Street.

His stocks have always been notable for the exquisite discernment with which they were chosen, their beauty and their exclusiveness. He was of Austrian blood—which has given to Vienna its prestige as the centre of the fine leather goods trade. Their high character has been maintained up to the very moment of the firm's retiring from business; and it is the stock remaining after the dissolution of the firm that has been bought in its entirety by GIMBELS, and which we have the privilege of placing on sale Monday.

At Half Besthoff's Actual Former Prices—Often Less

It is perhaps necessary to say that the Sale will include only goods from the Besthoff stock. And so varied is this, containing so many choice pieces, of which there is but one of a kind; that many definite details are impossible. But special notice is due to the rich variety of Women's Handbags, Traveling Bags and other Leather Goods of finest quality, just as you might expect to find in such a splendid stock as this. A large group of Smokers' Articles, in which Besthoff specialized. Beautiful genuine Ivory Toilet Articles. And much that is of equal interest.

Come prepared to secure the most extraordinary opportunities you have ever known in goods of such fine quality. Many a superb gift for Christmas, for weddings, for presentation, or other purposes, will be secured by the prompt visitors. Here is as much as we can tell in detail:

"A Book We Neglect," will be the subject of Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire's sermon at the Park Avenue Baptist church tomorrow morning, and in the evening the theme will be "The Grand March."

Mrs. Ramsey Blair will have charge of the W. C. T. U. meeting at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the rooms on Madison avenue.

Howard Parry will lead the Young People's Society meeting at the First Baptist church at 6:50 o'clock tomorrow evening.

'STOKES A LIAR'

"The human being is the most important thing in this world and the Legislature ought to recognize it as such and regulate the laws accordingly. Factory labor laws, as are now in operation, give undeveloped children a steady, monotonous grind and these regulations ought to be revolutionized by political machinery. I want to see the day when partisanship and bitter feeling will be eliminated from our politics."

George T. Hughes, city editor of the New York Globe, lauded the candidates on the Progressive ticket and outlined the principles for which each was pledged to stand. Mr. Hughes advocated the election of capable men and urged the selection of men who understood their fellow men and knew what was best for their welfare.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 24.

THE tailor who announces expert service and then turns out horribly ill-fitting clothes is a poor advertiser, no matter how much money he spends for publicity nor how cleverly his announcements are prepared.

The merchant who advertises shoes "worth $5.00 for $2.50" when the shoes are just ordinary $2.50 values and no more is a poor advertiser.

The man who permits his clerks to treat visitors as if they had come to steal something, or as if to wait on them were a burden too great to bear without resentment, is a poor advertiser.

I'm writing this on a typewriter that is widely advertised as the most perfect piece of typewriting mechanism ever devised. And yet the keys sometimes get "locked" and the machine doesn't come up to promises or expectations, no matter how carefully it is operated. That, too, is poor advertising.

The point of all is that, in order to make advertising really effective, the goods have got to live up to what is claimed for them.

The printed word is a power for upbuilding. But no printed words can build up a business that belies its very cornerstone—the trust and confidence of the public. Once gained, this confidence is hard to shake.

What are you doing, Mr. Merchant, toward the real upbuilding of your business? The newspaper cannot do it all. The newspaper introduces you to the people you want to reach. It is entirely up to you to make those people thankful for the introduction.

FRANCES MARSHALL

An Easy Dessert.

Whips are an easily made dessert that can be so varied that they never become monotonous.

White of egg is the foundation of all whips. They can be made with or without gelatine. If you have time, use the gelatine, especially if eggs are expensive or scarce. If you are in a hurry, simply use the egg white.

To make the quickest whip, beat the egg whites stiff and sweeten them with powdered sugar—from two teaspoonfuls to a tablespoonful. Then add the flavoring, heap in long-stemmed glasses or any sort of sherbert cups and serve.

Flavoring.

Prune whip is delicious. To make it press about a dozen plump, cooked prunes through a wire sieve. Beat the whites of two eggs stiff, and sweeten with powdered sugar. Flavor with a tablespoonful of sherry and add the prune pulp. Chill on the ice and serve.

To make orange whip, dice sweet oranges. Whip the egg whites and sweeten them to taste and add as much of the finely diced oranges and juice as they will take. Pile the whip in glasses and pour the rest of the juice, slightly sweetened, around it. Serve cold.

With Cake.

If you have any stale or fresh plain cake—sponge, pound, lady fingers or patty cakes—cut it in neat dice or strips and put a little in the bottom of each glass. Then whip the egg whites, flavor them with sherry and sugar, and pile on top of the cake. Garnish with a few chopped pecans.

With Gelatine.

To make plain whips with gelatine soak two tablespoonfuls of gelatine in half a cupful of cold water. Then add a cupful of boiling water, half a cupful of granulated sugar, a teaspoonful of vanilla and five tablespoonfuls of sherry. Cool and when it begins to stiffen add the unbeaten whites of two or three eggs. Beat until it becomes frothy, pile in glasses, chill and serve.

Cherries may be used instead of sherry. Substitute maraschino cherry juice for the sherry and vanilla, and scatter chopped cherries in the whip.

Chocolate whip can be made by melting an ounce of unsweetened chocolate with a half a cupful of sugar and enough water to make a syrup. When it has grown cool add it slowly and carefully to four egg whites, beaten stiff.

Some Cookery Suggestions

SEASONABLE SALADS.

WHEN the season is almost over there are still many fresh vegetables available that make delicious salads. Vegetables and fruits combined with nuts make nice accessories to the autumn dinner or luncheon.

Mixed Chicken Salad.—Cut into small pieces three cupfuls of cold, boiled or roasted chicken; also cut up one cucumber and two heads of celery. Then add a cupful of broken walnut meats and one can of French peas or an equal quantity of fresh peas. Mix these and add mayonnaise. Garnish with olives.

Novel Potato Salad.

Potato Mint Salad.—Scrape and boil two pounds of potatoes, add a little salt and a small sprig of mint to the water in which they are boiled. Shell and boil some fresh green peas and some canned asparagus. When cooked drain the vegetables well, cut the potatoes into thick slices and the asparagus into short lengths. Mix all together, put into a salad bowl and add mayonnaise. Garnish with slices of tomatoes.

Leek Salad.—Cut the white part of young leeks into small, equal pieces. Scald a large tomato, remove the skin, leave until cold and cut into thin slices. Wash a head of lettuce, break off the leaves and arrange on a fancy dish. Put in the sliced tomato and then the leeks. Mix together oil and vinegar, using more of the former, dust in pepper and salt and pour over the salad.

A Dainty Fruit Affair.

Apple and Nut Salad.—Slice rich, juicy fruit or cut the flesh into dice. Take equal parts of the apple and of tender diced celery. Add a generous portion of hickory nut meats and just before serving toss with cooked mayonnaise dressing whipped with equal parts of cream beaten to a stiff froth.

Fresh Salmon Salad.—For this take a quart of cooked fresh salmon, a head of lettuce, two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, a tablespoonful of vinegar, half a teaspoonful of salt, quarter of a teaspoonful of pepper, a cupful of French dressing. Season the salad with salt, pepper, vinegar and lemon juice and break the fish into pieces. Wash the lettuce, tear it into pieces and arrange these in the center of a dish. Heap the salmon on them and cover with mayonnaise dressing. Arrange whole heart of lettuce leaves around the base.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Jack Frost Seems to Like Late Apples.

The Farmer Built Fires in the Orchard.

"THERE, now," said daddy; "we are going to have Jack Frost around here pretty soon."

"Dinah said there would be frost tonight," Evelyn remarked.

"Ugh! How does she know?" grumbled Jack. He had had a skirmish with Dinah before coming upstairs and was cross with her.

"I have no doubt Jack Frost would like to make us a visit," daddy said. "He would have a chance to nip the chrysanthemums in the garden, the cabbages out there by the barn and get a bite at those Baldwin apples that hang on our late apple tree.

"Once upon a time there was a lovely big tree of ripe red apples that fairly made Jack's teeth water. He did want a bite so much.

"Jack began teasing and teasing old Mother Nature to let him go out some night and have a feast, but she kept saying no until he got tired and promised himself that the first chance he got he would slip off without asking leave.

"The first night he sneaked out he did not notice that Mother Nature was watching him.

"Up in the sky she was gathering her soft cloud blankets together, and before Jack could do any harm she had dropped them down till they covered the fields and orchards snugly like a blanket.

"Of course Jack was very cross, but he couldn't say a word, because, you see, he had been told not to go out until he was allowed.

"'I'll get 'em yet,' he grumbled. So one night he slipped out again.

"This time Mother Nature had no clouds handy, but she called up the gentle south wind and told it to blow gently so that Jack Frost would be blown along and not have a chance to stop long enough to nip the plants. The little south wind giggled and started out, meaning to have all the fun it could with naughty Jack.

"The wind gave Jack a merry chase, and he came home angry and tired. 'It just seems I never can have anything I want!' he complained.

"Jack tried it again, but this time the farmer had built fires in the orchard so that he could not get near the trees.

"But a few evenings later Mother Nature said to him:

"'Now, Jack, you may go out if you like.' So Jack started. He slowly drew away from the plants and stones all the heat that was in them. Then the mist in the air was chilled so that it covered them with drops of dew. After that Jack Frost went to work. In the morning the trees and grass were covered with white frost. Luckily there were only a few apples left on the tree, but they were enough to satisfy Jack Frost for that time."

WIRE CAUSES TROUBLE.

William S. Tyler, president of the Plainfield Board of Education, reported to the police last night that a tree had become ignited on his property. The flames was caused by a defective electric light wire. An electric light wire in Plaineld avenue, between West Front and West Second street, was reported as torn loose from its connections. The Public Service were notified in both cases.

REALTY BROKERS' SUIT.

The case of Elston M. French against Charles H. Lyman, which came up in the Supreme Court in Trenton yesterday, was referred by Judge Vail to Supreme Court Commissioner George W. Anderson, of this city, for the purpose of taking further testimony. A hearing was set down for next Thursday.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE

Conducted by Plainfield Branch New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

Talking to a friend who has not yet decided whether she favors or opposes suffrage, she said: "After all, the question is not whether suffrage will do or not do what any particular person or group of persons want done, but whether any one has a right to keep part of the citizens from exercising the right of voting."

"Then," I said, "you think the ballot is a right per se?"

"Yes," she said, "I think that is my view, and if that is true, I don't know that I have a right to oppose suffrage."

I thought that most people had abandoned that idea which in view of the history of government seems so untenable. But repeat a thing often enough and you will get some to believe it.

But, if the vote is a right—an inalienable right, how comes it that in Massachusetts an educational test is provided, that, in the South certain conditions are attached to the privilege of voting; that in Rhode Island a property qualification exists. The State determines at what age, and under what conditions a man may vote. And the State can disfranchise in a wholesale manner as it did in one of the States not very long ago. No, a vote is a device for carrying on the government and in no sense an inalienable right.

ELIZABETH B. SYKES.

WHAT A VOTE WILL NOT DO.

It will not clean streets, provide schoolhouses, lighten dark tenements, prevent over crowding, furnish pure milk, stop child labor.

It cannot.

Why?

Because it is not a remedial agent. Men find that it works so slowly that they have put it aside, and organized all sorts of clubs and commissions for social reform in order to make public opinion.

Public opinion is the real remedial agent. If public opinion is aroused, legislation always follows. Women are better awakeners of public opinion than men. They are recognized as fellow workers on all these commissions, and individual women of judgment and ability, who are free from other obligations can render valuable service to the state or their own committees along these lines.

The vote cannot raise wages.

Men have never had their wages raised by the ballot.

Wages depend upon the markets, upon labor competition, upon skill and permanency, upon the quality of the output and not upon sex or votes.

Public sentiment must first be made, and liquor dealers now say they "do not fear women's votes."

The liquor traffic still flourishes in Equal Suffrage States.

The vote cannot eradicate prostitution.

The Federal Government is now putting a firm hand on the so-called "White Slave Traffic."

The sentiment of the nation is against this nefarious traffic and the nation will put a stop to it.

Prostitution in cities and towns has been forced out in some places by the concerted action of men and women of influence and information outside of politics. This vice is inextricably tangled with politics. Only outside of politics can it be fought with success. Decent men and women working together can arouse public sentiment, insist on remedial legislation and follow up its enforcement.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

In these days of thrills and sensations—days of dramatized evil—what a joyous relief is experienced when you find charming comedy and good drama beckoning to you from across the footlights and that is exactly what you find in "The Five Frankforters," (the story of the House of Rotchschild) which is the attraction at the Plainfield theatre October 31. Critics who saw this notable play during its long stay in Vienna, in Berlin and in London and also saw it during the run last season in New York, pronounce the cast, scenic equipment and costuming greatly superior in this country. The superb original New York cast includes that grande dame of the American stage, Mme. Mathilde Cottrelly, Edward Emery, Lynn Pratt, Frank Losee, Stapelton Kent, Edward Mackay, Pedro de Cordoba, Alma Belwin, Helena Byrne, Marie Davis, Henry Travers, Lawrence Grant, Henry Fearing, Frank Davis, Arthur Row, Georgia Waldron and Ninita Bristow.

Mrs. E. Dorflinger, 400 Clinton avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "The first symptom of kidney trouble in my case was a dull, heavy pain in my back and head. This was followed by a tired, languid feeling and I knew that my kidneys were gradually giving out. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and getting a box at Randolph's drug store, I began using them. Before long I improved and I continued until I was cured. I hold just as high an opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills now as when I gave my former testimonial. The cure they made has been permanent."

NOTICE TO VOTERS—Public notice is hereby given that the question of the adoption or rejection of the following mentioned act will be submitted to the legal voters of the State, in Union county, New Jersey, at a general election to be held November fourth, nineteen hundred and thirteen:

Special Session, Chapter No. 20, Laws of 1913, State of New Jersey. A supplement to an act entitled, "An act concerning juries" (Revision), approved March twenty-seventh, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.

Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

1. In each county of this State there shall be appointed by the Chancellor of this State one citizen, resident therein, who shall not be a member of the same political party as the sheriff of such county, and who, together with the sheriff of such county, shall constitute and be designated as "Commissioners of Juries." The certificates of appointment shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county in and for which said commissioner is appointed. Such commissioners shall, before they enter upon the discharge of their duties, take and subscribe an oath faithfully and impartially to execute the duties of their office according to the best of their skill and understanding, which oath shall be filed in the office of the clerk of said county. No person holding any other public office, or licensed to practise law in this State, shall be appointed as a commissioner of juries except as herein otherwise provided.

2. The said appointed commissioner in said county shall hold office for the term of one year. The office of any appointed commissioner of juries shall become vacant immediately upon his assuming the duties of any other public office. Such appointed commissioner shall receive such compensation as shall be fixed by the justice of the Supreme Court holding the Circuit Court in such county, but not more than the sum of nine hundred dollars per annum in counties of the first class, seven hundred and fifty dollars per annum in counties of the second class, and five hundred dollars per annum in all other counties, to be paid semi-monthly by the board of chosen freeholders of such county, and such board of chosen freeholders shall provide each commissioner with such stationery and other equipment as may be required by such commission.

3. The Chancelor of the State may at any time, remove the appointed commissioner in any county, and in case of a vacancy occurring by such removal, or by death, resignation, removal from the county, or because of disqualification by the assuming of the duties of any other public office, or for any other reason, shall appoint his successor for the balance of the term. The certificate of removal and of appointment to fill the vacancy shall be filed in the office of the clerk of such county.

4. The commissioners of juries may, upon the approval of the justices of the Supreme Court assigned to hold the Circuit Court in their county, employ a clerk at a salary to be fixed by such justice, not to exceed the sum fixed and to be paid to the appointed commissioner in such county, which salary shall be paid semi-monthly by the board of chosen freeholders of such county, and which said clerk shall hold office only at the pleasure of the said justice.

5. The commissioners of juries shall, at least thirty days prior to the commencement of each term of the Circuit Court, in their county, make two lists alphabetically arranged, of persons liable to jury duty, having regard to the just distribution of jury service among those persons qualified therefor in the various wards and municipalities of such county, with their occupation and places of abode and designating their respective municipalities and wards (if any) in municipalities, which lists shall be designated respectively "grand jury list" and "petit jury list." The number of persons named on the grand jury list shall at no time be less than three hundred, and the number of persons named on the petit jury list shall at no time be less than five hundred. The commissioners shall cause two copies to be made of each of said lists and shall certify the same under their hand as true and correct and shall cause one copy of each to be filed in the office of the clerk of such county at least twenty-five days prior to the commencement of each term of the Circuit Court in their county, there to remain a public record, and shall cause the other copy to be delivered to the justice of the Supreme Court assigned to hold the Circuit Court in such county. Upon the filing of such list with the county clerk he shall cause a copy thereof to be made immediately and posted in his office in a conspicuous place. Said commissioners may, from time to time, before certifying such lists, revise, strike off and add thereto, and the said justice may at any time order said commissioners to revise, correct and certify a new jury list or lists which shall not contain any names theretofore stricken off within one year. Each name on the respective jury shall be numbered in consecutive order. Said commissioners shall have access to and may copy the assessment rolls and registry lists of the several municipalities and election districts of their county; and they may, before certifying any lists, send notices to all persons whose names they may propose placing on such lists, requesting such persons to present to the commissioners any claim they may have to exemption from jury duty, and upon satisfactory reasons being given therefor they may be excused by the court.

6. On a day and time to be fixed by the justice of the Supreme Court, not more than fifteen days before the commencement of each term of the Circuit Court, the county clerk of the county, or his deputy, shall in open court, present to such justice, or, in his absence to the president judge of the Court of Common Pleas of such county, the jury lists for the term filed with such county clerk, and the jury commissioners shall at the same time and place, produce uniform pieces of metal, with numbers stamped or impressed thereon in consecutive order to correspond with the numbers set opposite the names on each of said jury lists, and said commissioners shall hand the said pieces of metal to said justice or judge, who shall examine the same and, if found correct, return them to said commissioners. The commissioners shall thereupon deposit the pieces of metal numbered for grand jurors in one box and the pieces of metal numbered for petit jurors in another box.

7. Immediately after the numbered pieces of metal have been so deposited, the boxes shall be shaken and the pieces of metal deposited therein thoroughly mixed together, and the commissioners, or one of them, shall forthwith, in the presence of such justice of judge, proceed to draw singly, from the grand jury box, twenty-four pieces of metal, and the persons whose names are found on the said grand jury list opposite the numbers corresponding with those found upon the pieces of metal so drawn, shall be summoned to serve as grand jurors in and for such county at the next ensuing term of the courts thereof; and shall in like manner draw singly from the petit jury box such numbers of pieces of metal as the said justice or judge shall direct, and the persons whose names are found on said petit jury list opposite the numbers corresponding with those upon the pieces of metal so drawn shall constitute the panel of petit jurors to serve in and for such county for the next ensuing term of the courts thereof, and shall be so summoned.

8. The names, occupations and places of abode both of grand jurors and petit jurors shall, as each number is drawn, be publicly announced by the commissioners, the metal pieces so drawn from the box handed to the justice or judge for inspection, and the clerk of the county, or his deputy, shall transcribe the same as they are announced and shall make two lists thereof, both of which shall be certified by the justice or judge as true and correct, one of which said clerk shall file in his office and the other he shall forthwith transmit to the sheriff of the county, who shall thereupon cause the persons so drawn, constituting the grand jurors and panel of petit jurors for such county, to be summoned to serve as such according to law.

9. The justice of the Supreme Court may direct that the panel of petit jurors so drawn shall serve for a designated portion of the next ensuing term only, and in such event they shall be so summoned, and the said justice may direct said commissioners, at a time to be fixed by the justice, to draw a new panel or panels of petit jurors to serve for another designated part of such terms, and such new panel or penals shall be drawn and summoned from the list certified by the commissioners prior to the commencement of such term, in the same manner as hereinabove provided.

10. In case a grand jury shall be discharged before the end of the term for which it is drawn, the justice of the Supreme Court may direct the commissioners of juries to draw a new grand jury to serve for the balance of the term, and such new grand jury shall be drawn and summoned from the list certified by the commissioners prior to the commencement of the term, in the same manner as hereinabove provided.

11. The court in which the grand jurors shall be sworn in any county shall select and designate one of said grand jurors to act as foreman thereof, who shall be sworn to so act, and may excuse or discharge one of the said jurors if all shall appear when summoned.

12. Any person having served as a grand or petit juror at a term of court shall be ineligible to serve either as a grand or petit juror for the space of one year thereafter.

13. Nothing herein contained shall be held or construed in anywise to limit the powers of the court or any justice or judge as heretofore had or exercised in connection with the drawing or discharge of jurors or panels of jurors.

14. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed, and this act shall take effect immediately, but its provisions, except as to the referendum herein contained shall remain inoperative as a law of this State until the legal voters of the State voting at the next general election held after the approval of this act for the election of the members of the General Assembly have adopted the provisions of this act in the manner hereinafter provided. The county clerk in every county shall cause public notice of the submission of the question of the adoption of this act in the said general election to be given by advertisement signed by himself and set up in at least fifty different places in his county and published in one or more newspapers thereof for at least fifteen days before such election. The ballots used at the said election shall contain the words "For the adoption of an act approved (insert here the date of approval), and entitled, 'A supplement to an act entitled, "An act concerning juries," (Revision), approved March twenty-seventh, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.'"

Below upon said ballot shall appear the phrase "I favor the adoption of said act," and the phrase "I oppose the adoption of said act," with a square to the left of each phrase, and below shall appear the words "Place a cross in one square."

The votes cast upon the question of the adoption of this act shall be canvassed in the manner now provided by law for the canvass of votes cast at the general election held for the election of the members of the General Assembly; and if the greater number of vots cast with reference to the adoption or rejection of this act favor the adoption of this act, the act shall become effective as a law of this State on the fourth Tuesday of November, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen; but if the greater number favor the rejection of this act, then this act shall be null and of no effect.

Approved May 29, 1913.

This notice is given in pursuance and under the direction of Section 14 of the foregoing mentioned supplement.

Dated September 25, 1913.

PLANNING BUSY LEAGUE SEASON

Three Interscholastic Managers Now Roking on the Tri-Cornered Organization.

EXPECT BANNER YEAR

Each Faction Has Material for a Strong Combination—Medals and Cup Will Probably Be Offered Prior to the Opening of Schedule.

Scholastic basketball managers representing the Plainfield and North Plainfield High Schools and the Leal Private School are planning for the 1913-14 local interscholastic basketball league which will again assume its three-cornered shape. All three of these institutions are planning for a banner season of the court game and the trio of managers are now completing their schedules. It is probable that a meeting will be called the forepart of next week to arrange an interscholastic schedule of contests to be played on the Y. M. C. A. court.

From all reports the Interscholastic League contests will once more be staged on the association court and the three managers are planning several innovations in the league work for the coming season. The game-bookers are now busy trying to secure a suitable trophy to inspire competition and it now seems probable that medals will be offered with the cup, the individual trophies to be presented to the members of the winning aggregation at the conclusion of the season.

The private institution and North Plainfield High School have already had several practises on the basketball court but no competitive games have been arranged as yet. Plainfield High School, however, is still busy with football, being the only one of the trio of local educational institutions to promote the gridiron game and therefore will not get started as early as its rivals. North Plainfield is scheduled to open the season next week while the Leal five will probably enter competition within the next two weeks.

Chauncey Stewart is managing the Leal quintet, Duclos Van Mater is arranging games for North Plainfield High School, and John B. Cottrell is acting in a like capacity for Plainfield High School. All of the tri-cornered league factions have many players to pick from this year and present indications seem to point to a more even and keener competition for the interscholastic title than has been seen here in years. All of the teams appear to be about the same strength and the contests will probably be evenly contested this fall and winter.

OPENING GAME FOR N. P. H. S. GIRLS ON FLEMINGTON COURT

The girls basketball team of the North Plainfield High School will open the season next Monday afternoon when they will go to Flemington and play the team of Reading Academy. No captain has as yet been elected so the team that will go will be chosen by the coach.

Last year these teams were the first to meet at the opening of the season and the game went overtime before the borough girls finally won by two points. The team will leave Plainfield station on the 2 o'clock train. The probable lineup follows: Lillian Spencer and Marjorie Burtis, forwards; Lucy Douglas, center; Elsie Debele and Helen Meaney, guards, Bertha Keller and Nora Meaney, substitutes.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is there a clause in the United States constitution barring a Jew from the presidency of the United States?—F. T.

Answer—A Hebrew or any other person can become President if he can secure enough votes.

Sporting Editor:

Query—At what weight did Bob Fitzsimmons fight Jim Corbett for the championship of the world?—B. C.

Answer—It is said that "Fitz" weighed in at 160 pounds, but the official weights were not announced.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Do I have to pay poll tax in order to vote?—N. H.

Answer—Pay your pol itax or sacrifice your ballot.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What is the age requirement to take out an automobile driver's license?—R. S. V. P.

Answer—The applicant must be at least eighteen years of age.

J. G. D.—Cannot give you information or publish songs in this column, the space is too limited. Send a stamped and self addressed envelope and we will forward you what you want.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Have you ever heard of such a thing as a "Warship Engineer?"—G. H.

Answer—I certainly have.

Sporting Editor:

Query—I want to walk across the continent starting from Plainfield, but first want to fix a wager with somebody? Where is the man I am looking for?—J. T.

Answer—Not in Plainfield, old top. If you want to walk around the continent, go ahead and do it before the weather gets too cold. If you start now we will expect to see you back before Thanksgiving.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What requirements does one have to satisfy before he can become a member of the Y. M. C. A. Ajax basketball team?—K. H.

Answer—All you have to do is to take out a membership in the association. Competition for positions on the Ajax team is open to every member and if you want to play, report at the next practice. The more, the merrier.

Query—Does a foreigner become a citizen answering the questions that are asked in their own tongue?—H. T.

Answer—Sure thing.

JOHNSON'S RECORD FOR FULL DISTANCE

Car Winner Pitched More Full Games Than Any Other Twirler.

Walter Johnson not only twirled more victories last season than any other American League pitcher, but he pitched more complete games than anyone else. The Chalmers car winner went the route twenty-nine times, only being knocked off the rubber once. Another hard worker was Jim Scott, of the Chicago White Sox. "Death Valley Jim" labored in twenty-six complete games, while his teammate, Reb Russell, did almost as well, figuring in twenty-five.

George Baumgardner, of the Browns, pitched twenty-four fall contests; Vean Gregg and Fred Falkenberg, of the Naps, each twenty-three; George Dauss and Jean Dubuc, of the Tigers, each twenty-one, and Ray Collins, of the Red Sox, and Roy Mitchell, of the Browns, each twenty.

Of the champion White Elephants, Eddie Plank pitched more full games than any of his teammates. The Gettysburg Guide was in eighteen while "Chief" Bender was only in thirteen. The Indian was often used by Mack as a rescuer, none of Mack's young pitchers except Shawkey showing much cleverness at being able to go the distance.

Mack changed pitchers oftener than any other American League leader. The Athletic slabmen twirled only sixty-seven complete games, the Browns' gunners turned in 104 full contests. The number of complete games pitched by the other hurling staffs was as follows: By New York, 75; by Boston, 76; by Washington, 98; by Chicago, 84; by Detroit, 86, and by Cleveland, 96.

All told, there were just seventy-one gunners who were able to twirl complete games last year, the men who pitched ten or more full contests being as follows:

COMPLETE GAMES PITCHED.

29—Johnson, Washington.
26—Scott, Chicago.
25—Russell, Chicago.
24—Baumgardner, St. Louis.
23—Gregg and Falkenberg, Cleveland.
21—Dauss and Dubuc, Detroit.
20—Collins, Boston, and Mitchell, St. Louis.
19—Hamilton, St. Louis.
18—Boehling, Washington; Plank, Philadelphia; Cicotte, Chicago, and Willett, Detroit.
17—Groom, Washington, and Weilman, St. Louis.
16—Mitchell, Cleveland.
15—Ford, New York, and Blanding, Cleveland.
14—Fisher, New York; Caldwell, New York, and Leonard, Boston.
13—Bender, Philadelphia, and Leverenz, St. Louis.
12—Wood, Boston.
11—Brown, Philadelphia.

IT WILL COST $3 TO SEE ARMY-NAVY FOOTBALL GAME.

John B. Foster, secretary of the New York Baseball Club, yesterday, announced the conditions of the sale of the tickets for the Army-Navy football game, which will be played at the Polo Grounds in New York Saturday, November 29.

The Polo Grounds will accommodate 41,500 persons on that date.

Twenty-five thousand tickets will be used by West Point and Annapolis.

Each institution will be given an option for 4,000 more, the option to expire at midnight November 19.

If these tickets are not taken up by either of the institutions, they will be placed upon public sale November 20, together with the 8,500 tickets held for the public.

General admission will be $3. Boxes, of four seats each, will be $100.

WHY "FAT" HURTT DID NOT SHINE IN THE U. S. S. WASHINGTON BATTLE.

Many of the Holy Cross cohorts who witnessed the combat on Cricket Field last Saturday afternoon, when the boroughites stacked up against the U. S. S. Washington eleven wondered what had happened to "Fat" Hurtt, the erstwhile football terror who was heralded about these diggings last year as a stonewall about two feet thick and a serious impediment in the path of any line-bucker. Something was plainly the matter with the spacious life-guard last week, however, and many and varied were the solutions made by "wise guys" to queries avered by red and white followers. In some cases the supporters of Holy Cross were really led to fear for the safety of their own players, so mystifying was the battling of Hurtt. Everyone knew that it was his first game in some time and the consensus of opinion attributed his bad football to his condition at the time.

The real truth of the whole matter was unearthed yesterday afternoon, however, when one of the loyal signal cherishers of the Holy Cross eleven revealed the startling circumstances that were known only to those who played in the big game Saturday and shifted the blame from the wide-spreading shoulders of Hurtt to those of Joseph Gregory Carty, the pivot man on the team. It seems that Captain Wilson drew up a method of attack before the game that was guaranteed to impress the signals on Hurtt's brain with unfaltering accuracy.

Hurt had never learned the red and white regiment's signals and Wilson informed him that a dash through his side of the line would be preceded by a violent sneeze emitting from Carty's tabernacle. This would be a signal for Hurtt to prop up his big area of anatomy and smash a crevice in the opposition through which the ovalbearer could squirm.

Everything went along swimmingly until Carty ran out of sneezes and then some genius in the Holy Cross fold introduced a method by which Carty's nostrils could be used to disperse signals. Cayenne pepper was the new feature of the teamwork and Carty once more began to send forth frequent eruptions with clock-like regularity. The pepper soon began to cloud the atmosphere, however, and in a short time Carty began to sneeze like a rapid-fire gun, sending forth signals that kept Hurtt constantly on the jump and in the end made him cry for help and wind.

Carty has rid himself of the pepper and Hurtt has learned the signals and a repetition of this sorrowful event is not looked forward to by the teammates of these guilty parties.

NASSAU SENIOR PROM NOV. 7.

Princeton, Nov. 25.—The annual senior "prom" will take place in the gymnasium November 7, the night preceding the Harvard-Princeton football game. Preliminary to the dance there will be a concert in Alexander Hall by the university musical clubs, and possibly the Harvard Glee and Musical clubs will join in a combination concert, as was planned last year. If this takes place the Princeton clubs may go to New Haven to give a joint concert with the Yale clubs November 14, the night before the Yale-Princeton football game.

BASKETBALL ON MANY COURTS

DOUBLE OPENING BILL.

Hope Chapel basketball managers have arranged two games to be played on the Chapel court next Saturday night, when the opening games of the season will be staged, the first team lining up against the Crescent A. C. of Bound Brook, and the seconds pitting their strength against the Watchung A. C.

AJAX FINAL PRACTICE.

Captain Brynairski, of the Y. M. C. A. Ajax, has issued a call for the final practice prior to the opening game to be held in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium tonight. The first game of the 1913-14 season will be played next Saturday night in the association gymnasium when the North Plainfield High School contingent will pit their strength against the Y. M. C. A. five. Several new candidates have signified their intention of trying out for the numerous open berths on the team tonight and Brynairski expects a record-breaking squad to report.

SCOTCH PLAINS DRILL.

The initial call of the season for Scotch Plains Parish House basketball candidates has been sounded and the boys' team will hold its first drill of the season tonight in the Parish House gymnasium. All of last year's veterans have returned to the fold and many new players will be on hand for the tryouts. Among those back in the game are Lidgate, Jack and Tom Ricketts, Marsten, Thompson, Lee and Dallas.

LOCALS AT ELIZABETH.

An All-Plainfield team is scheduled to appear against an All-Elizabeth quintet in the latter town tonight, the occasion being the opening of the new Hippodrome in the Union county seat. Elaborate arrangements have been made for the opening night and the Plainfielders play the leading role on a large program. Those who will represent this city are Leighs and Heron, guards; Doig, center; McNamee and Dunning, forwards. George Leighs is managing the Plainfield five.

AJAX SHIFT LINEUP.

Only three veterans remain in the Y. M. C. A. Ajax lineup as the result of a number of shifts that have been made during the preliminary practice and indications point to an entire new roster when the five takes the floor against the N. P. H. S. five next Saturday night. Several of the candidates have not come up to their past season form while several of the old members have quit the team to play with their alma mater for another year. Many new men have reported to Captain Brynairski, who is selecting his lineup regardless of the previous playing of the men.

HOPE PRACTICE.

Jack Martin, coach of the Hope Chapel basketball team, has sounded a call for practice tonight and expects all of the players to be on deck at that time. A first and second squad will be formed tonight and a practice game staged as a preliminary.

N. P. H. S. GIRLS' ELECTION.

The North Plainfield High School girls' basketball team opens the season Monday afternoon at Flemington when they play the girls of that place on an outdoor court. A captain will be elected at that time.

N. P. H. S. PRACTICE GAME.

Captain Ashley Burner, of the North Plainfield High School boys' basketball team, will pit his charges against the Watchung A. C. in Saengerbund Hall, Monday night, as a practice tilt before the opening game with the Ajax.

ONCE DECLARED OUT, THEY ARE COMEBACKS

Larry Doyle and Jake Daubert Were at One Time Inferior Ball Players.

One of the many peculiarities of baseball crops up in Daubert being considered by the Chalmers Trophy Commissioners the player most valuable to his team in the National League this year, for in 1907 the Brooklyn captain was declared not sufficiently competent to hold his berth with Cleveland. This year he wins the Chalmers car. That same season Larry Doyle, who won the Chalmers car last year, was looked over by a scout for an American League club while he was playing with Springfield of the Three-Eye League and the scout advised against his purchase.

Doyle cost the Giants $4,500, which was a record price for a minor league infielder in 1907. Daubert was acquired by Brooklyn via the draft process in 1910 for the sum of $1,000, the Giants also putting in a draft for him and losing out in the draw. Sir Jacob never was in danger of being sent back to the minors after he reached the majors for the second time, and by June, 1910, had been dubbed the Hal Chase of the National League. He failed to obtain membership in the Society of the Three Hundred the first year he was in the National League, but in 1911 he hit at a .307 clip and in 1912 his record was .308. This year Daubert has boosted his stick credit to .350 and there is a possibility that he may be the batting king in the organization in which he plays.

In his first 128 games this year Daubert procured 165 safeties, going hitless only in 26 controversies. In each of 56 games he made one hit; in each of 31, two, in each of 13, three, and in each of two, four. His largest afternoons with the willow were on July 14 and 16. On the first named date he secured four hits in four times at bat off Pierce, Overall and Reulbach of the Cubs and on the last-named date he located Jimmy Lavender of the Bruins for four smashes, batting against him five times. Daubert has hit at a .428 clip against the Cardinals, and at a .403 pace against the Phillies. The Cup pitchers have yielded him an average of .350, the Pittsburg hurlers of .342, the Red heavers of .339, the Boston gunners of .310 and the Giants artillerists of .279.

Daubert has made only a dozen errors this season and only once has he committed two misplays in the same contest. His biggest day's work at the first corner was on April 29, when he cared for twenty out of the twenty-one chances that came his way. On April 14 he obtained four assists, which is quite a lot for a first baseman.

Daubert is one of the sons of the Keystone State, Llewellyn being the place where he was born.

LONG DISTANCE SWIMMER APPLIES FOR A RECORD

Mr. James E. Sullivan, secretary-treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union, received from J. Frank Facey, secretary of the New England Association, application for a record of Samuel Richard, Jr., of a swim from the Battery to Sandy Hook, which he made on September 14th, 1913. The application was endorsed by twelve men who were witnesses of the swim from Battery (Pier A) to Sandy Hook (the northwest point). Richard started at 6.40 a. m. and touched at the Hook at 2.52 p. m.

Mr. Sullivan stated that the A. A. U. rules provide "that no record shall be accepted unless made in open competition and in an event for which entries were regularly made upon the form adopted by the A. A. U., and which event and entries appeared on the program of the meet."

As the swim in which Mr. Richard made the record was not sanctioned and the above rules not carried out, Mr. Sullivan said that the record could not be accepted.

HOLDS LIFESAVING ABOVE FOOTBALL.

Washington, Oct. 25.—Holding lifesaving to be more important than feats on the gridiron, Assistant Secretary Newton, of the Treasury Department, refused permission yesterday to Carroll Dwight Hale to absent himself from the lifesaving service in order to play on the northwestern University football team at Evanston, Ill.

President Wilson had referred to the department a petition signed by a host of Northwestern students, asking for the release of Hale, whose resignation the keeper of the Evanston lifesaving station refused to accept, on the ground that this was the most important time of the year for experienced lifesavers to be on duty.

CROSS COUNTRY EVENT FOR METROPOLITAN 'CHAMP.'

Entry blanks have been issued for the Junior and Senior Metropolitan Association Cross Country championships, to be held at Van Cortlandt Park; the Junior Saturday afternoon, Nov. 8, and the Senior the following Saturday, Nov. 15.

Each club in the Metropolitan Association will be allowed to enter eight men on a team, but only the first five to count in the point score. The points will be scored as follows: First place shall count one point, second place two points, third place three points, and so on, each contestant having scored against him the number of points represented by the place in which he finishes.

Five regulation Metropolitan Association Solid Gold die medals will be given to the winning team; silver medals to the team finishing second, and bronze medals to the team finishing third, and similar championship die medals to the first three in the individual championship.

The Cross Country Championship Committee have selected James E. Sullivan, who is a candidate for county clerk on the Democratic ticket, as referee for both the Junior and Senior Championships.

MICHIGAN ATHLETICS.

The University Appoints Committee to Handle Existing Problems.

For the purpose of treating either directly with the intercollegiate conference in regard to a possible arbitration of present difficulties or with the Michigan board of regents the board of control of the University of Michigan athletics at its annual session recently appointed a committee consisting of Professor Allen S. Whitney, Judge James O. Murfin of Detroit and Albert Fletcher, a student member of the board. The method of procedure is to be decided by the committee.

The action of the board came following a practical demand made by the Daily, the student publication, that definite action be taken immediately relative to the opening of official negotiations with the conference.

The instructions given the committee include an order to confer with the board of regents and are prompted by the belief of the board members that the regents by their action in sending resolutions to the regents of the conference universities have taken the matter of negotiations out of the hands of the board of control.

the remotest way suggests that after His death His disciples were to observe another day in place of the seventh. And there is nothing in the New Testament that indicates that they did. We are sometimes pointed to the statement that the disciples were met once, and possibly twice, after the resurrection of Jesus, "on the first day of the week;" but this was not as a Sabbath, nor even in honor of His resurrection, for they did not yet believe in His resurrection. But this phase of the matter is foreign to my topic, "Jesus the Sabbath-keeper." He observed the seventh day.

If then you ask me why I keep the seventh day, my answer is, Jesus Christ, whom I try to serve, whose example I try to follow, who loves me and whom I love, Jesus Christ in His life of purity and goodness and righteousness, interpreting the commandments, the law of God in the spirit as well as the letter, Jesus Christ kept the seventh day of the week. He who in interpreting the law of murder showed that murder could exist in the heart, by His example interpreted the Sabbath as being the seventh day. He who in interpreting the law of adultery showed that adultery could exist in the heart, by His example interpreted the Sabbath as being the seventh day of the week. He who was in the spirit of eternal love the great fulfiller, the freate completer, the explainer, the interpreter of the law of God, with all the fullness of liberty and freedom of the spirit which were his, He by His example said that the seventh day is the Sabbath.

And so you may talk to me all you like about the order of the days of the week being lost in the early history of the world, you may bring arguments to show that among the ancient Hebrews the Sabbath was a changing festival, there is no question about any change or confusion or mistake in the days of the week since the time of Christ, and I know what day of the week Jesus, the everlasting Son of the everlasting Father, in His humanity as a pattern for His brethren, I know what day of the week He kept.

Or you may talk to me from the standpoint of the evolutionist, that the Sabbath was, under God, a growth, that like the other elements in the moral law it came gradually to be revealed to men during the ages, as they learned by experience, and the sense of justice and other virtues little by little developed, till these eternal principles were codified in the laws of the nations and especially in the law of Moses,—I say you may talk to me from this standpoint till our thoughts are almost lost in the confusion of speculations, I am content amid these uncertainties to come "back to Jesus" for my interpretation of these laws, no matter who the detail of their historic origin, I am contest as a follower of Christ to take His example, and I find without the shadow of a doubt that He kept the seventh day as the Sabbath. If I observe Sunday as the Sabbath I am not following His example, nor that of his immediate disciples, and so far as the Sabbath is concerned I should change my name for there is no Christian Sabbath but the seventh day. True a weekly celebration of the resurrection quite early grew up among the Christians but it had no connection with the Sabbath for many years. Unless the Sabbath has been abbolished there is no Sabbath but the seventh day Christ did not abolish the Sabbath His example is my authority and my inspiration for being a Sabbath-keeper.

But in the third place let us notice how Jesus kept the Sabbath. Mark I, 21: "And when the Sabbath was come, He began to teach in the synagogue." Luke IV, 16: "And as His custom was He went into the synagogue on the Sabbath day, and stood up for to read." Luke VI, 6: "And it came to pass also on another Sabbath that He entered into the synagogue and taught."

These four references with others that I might quote indicate very clearly that it was the custom of Jesus to visit the synagogue on the Sabbath. The church edifice of today with its service of worship is the outgrowth of the synagogue and its service in the time of Jesus. His custom is our example for divine worship and religious teaching in our churches on the Sabbath, worship in the form of prayer and praise and meditation, and teaching in the form of reading from the Scripture, preaching the truth, instruction in the Sabbath school, etc.

Again we find Jesus healing the sick on the Sabbath, to which the religious leaders objected. Luke XIII, 10 et. seq.: "And he was teaching in one of the synagogues on the Sabbath. And behold there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her He called her unto Him and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. And He laid His hands on her, and immediately she was made straight." This was a healing of the sick on the Sabbath in the synagogue. Luke XIV, 1 et seq. gives the story of a healing on the Sabbath in the home of a Pharisee with whom Jesus was eating dinner. In the ninth chapter of John is the story of the healing of the blind man on the Sabbath by the roadside. These are three typical cases of the healing of the sick by Jesus, in all of which He was criticised by his opponents for breaking some of the specific Sabbath regulations.

And then again Jesus did acts of necessity, to meet the needs of the occasion. His disciples were once walking on the Sabbath through fields of ripe wheat. They were hungry, and the customs of the land allowed them to pick out what they wisher as they went along the path, rubbing the heads to remove the chaff, they ate the wheat. The onlookers objected on the grounds that they were breaking the Sabbath law by threshing grain on the Sabbath. Jesus quoted the action of David and added, "The Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath." Did you ever go into a home where everything was in perfect order, spotlessly clean, painfully neat. And have you not received the impression that the people were made for the house. That the father and the mother, and the children, if there were any, and the servants, and even the guests, existed for the house. But is not that the wrong way to look at it? Does not the house exist for the people? To be sure it should be clean and neat and inviting, but the impression should be unmistakably evident that the house exists for the people. Such is what I understand Jesus to mean when he said that the "Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath." The Sabbath is not a "stunt" that is to be performed once a week, but a blessed opportunity for rest and worship and unselfish service.

In the early years of this century our people published for a time a little magazine called "The Sabbath of Christ." On the outside cover were these words: Christ kept the Sabbath. He rejected the false burdens which Judaism had placed upon it. He Christianized it for His kingdom. He did not abrogate it. His teaching and example concerning the Sabbath are binding on all Christians. For this we plead.

BOYS AND GIRLS!

Here is an opportunity for you to see how well you can draw. Call at the Drawing Competition Headquarters in the store, Fourth floor, Old Building, and get a copy of the rules of the Wanamaker Christmas Drawing Competition, and an honor certificate to paste on your drawing—you must have this certificate before your drawing will be accepted.

The Competition closes November 22nd, so you must commence right away.

There are going to be 200 prizes awarded to the best drawings—just the things boys and girls like best of all. Watch for a later announcement of an exhibition of the prizes. We want you to see what you are working for.

MAKE MONEY WITH POULTRY

AMERICAN POULTRY is a magazine devoted entirely to helping earnest men and women make a financial success of poultry raising. Its staff of writers is composed entirely of those who have made a practical, instead of theoretical, success of poultry farming, and who are glad to pass on the results of their hard earned experience to AMERICAN POULTRY readers.

There are many pit-falls in the path of the novice which may be entirely avoided by those who will follow the teachings set forth in this magazine. It fully explains how to make a start, how to construct houses, coops, and other devices, how to get a large egg yield, how to cure and prevent disease, how to exhibit, how to get the top price for eggs, how to use incubators and hundreds of other points which everyone wishes to know. It explains the famous secret system through which poultrymen have become rich and afterwards sold for hundreds of dollars.

AMERICAN POULTRY is a large, handsomely illustrated, monthly journal, well printed on fine paper, and should be found on file in the home of every poultry fancier. No beginner in the poultry business should think of being without it. It will save him many times the small subscription price. The advanced poultryman will also find it of great value; the articles being varied in their scope.

SPECIAL OFFER. The regular price of AMERICAN POULTRY is 50c per year, but in order to introduce it to several thousand new readers, we will, for a short time, give a large 200 page poultry book, which is a complete guide in the poultry business, absolutely free to everyone sending 50c for a yearly subscription or $1.00 for a three year subscription to AMERICAN POULTRY. A trial six months' subscription (without book) will be sent for 25c. Never has so much been offered for so small a sum. Advantage of this offer should be taken at once.

'TWAS GREAT DAY FOR SUFFRAGISTS

Parade and Mass Meeting at Newark Notable Political Demonstration.

MARCH IN THE RAIN

Dr. Howard Shaw, Senator Borah and Everett Colby Enthuse the Crowd at Meeting—Rev. Antoinette B. Blackwell In the Parade.

By Mrs. E. F. Feickert.
(Pres. N. J. Suffrage Assn.)

The suffrage parade on Saturday had the unique distinction of being the first suffrage parade held on a rainy day, and although this caused it to be only one-quarter as large as it would have been if the sun had shone, still in a way it was more worth while than any of the others, as showing how many suffragists are more than "fair weather" workers. No official count was taken of the number in line, but several reporters who had ridden the length of the parade put it as high as 1,000. Five floats and several hundred fancy costumes could not be used, of course, but the bands were very much in evidence, their members wearing parade hats with yellow bands reading "Votes for Women," very much to the delight of the small boys on the sidewalks.

One feature of the parade which attracted much attention was a sombre black figure carrying a crepe draped sign reading

Our "Bill,"
Born April 10, 1913;
Killed August 4, 1913,

which referred to the passage of the suffrage bill last April by majorities of 14 to 5 in the Senate and 46 to 5 in the Assembly, and its "death" in August through the neglect of the officials of the State who failed to carry out the provisions of the law regarding it.

The most notable women in the parade were the Rev. Antoinette Brown Blackwell, of Elizabeth, aged eighty-three, and Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National Woman Suffrage Association. Dr. Shaw began parading in an automobile, but said she could not stand marching that way and got out at the end of two or three blocks and walked the mile and a half of the parade. She had just returned from the State Suffrage convention in Lynchburg, Virginia, on a train five hours late, and without resting for a moment came directly to Newark to march. She afterwards spoke at the mass-meeting at Proctor's theatre for nearly an hour. Dr. Shaw is sixty-five years old, and her splendid spirit may well serve as an example to any faint-hearted sisters who were deterred from marching by the rain, not realizing that what any cause needs much more than money is devotion.

The first division of the parade was led by Mrs. E. F. Feickert, of Plainfield, and Mrs. F. H. Colvin, president and vice president, respectively, of the State Association, and Mrs. Everett Colby, chairman of the legislative committee, and representatives of over twenty leagues of the association were in line. Among the league presidents who marched were Mrs. C. L. Riley, of Plainfield; Miss Esther G. Ogden, of Elizabeth; Mrs. C. W. Stevens, of New Brunswick; Mrs. L. C. Geery, of Bayonne; Mrs. Charles L. Carrick, of Jersey City; Mrs. George G. Scott, of Montclair; Mrs. Frederic Adams, of East Orange; Mrs. D. W. R. Macdonald, Miss Emma Richards, of Newark, and Mrs. W. G. Davis, of Ridgefield Park. The second division of the parade was composed of members of the Women's Political Union, led by their president, Mrs. Abram Van Winkle, of Newark.

Proctor's theatre was well filled. There were a great many Plainfielders in the audience in addition to the marchers. Among them were Dr. William L. Saunders, Miss May Rodman, Mrs. S. D. Lounsbury, Mrs. Arthur Otterson, Mrs. L. G. Timpson, Miss Stewart and Miss Elsie Martin.

The principal speakers were Dr. Shaw, Everett Colby and Senator Borah, of Idaho. All the Gubernatorial candidates were invited, but Mr. Stokes declined on the ground that his campaign manager had made another engagement for him, and Senator Borah represented the Republicans in his place. Governor Fielder wrote that he would not come because he was not in favor of woman suffrage, and probably it was just as well that he did not come for he would not have enjoyed the remarks of all the speakers in regard to the carelessness, or worse, of his administration in allowing the suffrage resolution to be killed by neglect. Mr. Colby told of the ease with which other bills had been "lost" when he was representing the State at Trenton, and how necessary he found it to watch every bill in which he was especially interested every minute from the minute it had been introduced until it had been signed

MRS. MARY TAYLOR DIES IN COLORADO

Former Plainfielder Succumbs After Long Illness—Will Be Buried Here.

Mrs. Mary S. Taylor, widow of Morgan S. Taylor, for many years a well-known resident of North Plainfield, died yesterday at her home in Colorado Springs, Col., following a long illness. She was in Plainfield last April for a time and while visiting in Baltimore was taken ill. She went to Atlantic City for a time, where her condition grew worse, and two months ago she was taken to her home in Colorado Springs in a special car with physicians and nurses in attendance.

Mrs. Taylor before her marriage was Miss Mary S. Pike, and was born in Eastport, Maine. Her father was a Republican Coongressman for many years and her mother was prominent in the missionary work of the Baptist denomination. Mr. Taylor's father, Rev. Dr. E. E. L. Taylor, was a prominent Baptist clergyman of Brooklyn for many years.

Mrs. Taylor's husband died in 1894 at the home on Rockview avenue, the borough, and the family never lived there long after that time. There survives one son, Fred Taylor, of Colorado Springs. The remains will be brought to this city for interment in Hillside cemetery and Dr. J. M. Taylor, president of Vassar College, who was a brother of Mrs. Taylor's husband, will conduct a simple service at the grave.

BAPTIST CONVENTION AT TRENTON TODAY

Pastors and Officers of the Three Local Churches Are in Attendance.

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, Oliver B. Leonard, church clerk, and a number of members of the First Baptist church; Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, George E. Hall and others of the Park Avenue Baptist church, together with Rev. Evarts C. Conover and members of the Temple Baptist church, are attending the eighty-fourth anniversary meetings of the New Jersey Baptist Convention which opened in Trenton today and will continue uneil Wednesday night.

This is the tenth time that the convention has been held in Trenton, the first one having been held there in 1830. The session opened this moning with a meeing of the Baptist Pastors' Conference, when Rev. Dr. Cornelius Woelfkin, of New York, made an address. There will be addresses this afternoon by prominent clergymen and laymen on various topics and a young people's meeting will be held in the Y. M. C. A., tonight, to be addressed by Dr. Woelfkin, and Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, of Montclair.

There will be business sessions tomorrow morning and afternoon and in the evening Rev. Dr. James H. Franklin, of the Foreign Missionary Board, will speak. The glee club of Peddie Institute will sing. Further business will be considered Wednesday and in the evening the Social Union banquet will be held with prominent speakers. Dr. Strong will have a part in the program on Wednesday.

CHRISTMAS SALE HELD AT SERRELL STUDIO

Miss Minnie B. Serrell, who conducts The Serrell Studio on the second floor of the Stephenson building, 247 West Front street, opposite the postoffice, gave a private Christmas display last week which was largely attended. Miss Serrell is an artist of unusual talent, a graduate of Cooper Art School, a member of the National Society of Craftsmen, New York, and a former pupil of Louis Tiffany, having held a position with the Tiffany Studios after her graduation until engaging in business for herself.

At this studio there is to be found attractive hand-painted place cards, Christmas cards, hand-made articles in leather and jewelry, some her own work and others imported from Italy. Among the unusual articles are bags, bill-folds, made by Miss Serrell in genuine pin seal leather bearing monograms wrought in leather, Miss Serrell's own invention. The Christmas sale and display being held will continue until December 25.

WELL INFORMED POLITICIAN.

Roger F. Murray hands out a stinging blow to the Newark News which paper said he was a political boss. If there is one man better posted on affairs political about New Jersey than is Roger F. Murray we have not yet heard of him.—Plainfield Review.

SUFFRAGISTS' TALKS WILL BE INSTRUCTIVE

Miss Alice Jaynes and Miss A. J. Vermilye to Speak Here Tomorrow.

The Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield will hold its monthly meeting in the new lecture room of the Plainfield Public Library tomorrow afternoon, with a business meeting at 3 o'clock to be followed at 4 o'clock with speaking. The use of this room has been granted the league on the fourth Tuesday of each month.

Miss Alice Jaynes, secretary of the Consumers' League, of New York, will be the first speaker. Miss Jaynes knows more about the working girls of New Jersey that probably anyone else in the State, it is said, and will tell a part of what she knows at this time. Miss A. J. Vermilye, the second speaker, will discuss "Organization as It Was Taught in the 'School for Suffrage Workers' in New York." The last speaker will be Miss Lucy Burns, of the Congressional committee at Washington. She has come on from the Capitol for the purpose of inviting New Jersey women to wait on President Wilson on November 16 and present to him their reasons for desiring equal suffrage. All are cordially invited to attend this meeting at the library.

INSTRUCTIVE TALKS TO BE GIVEN FREE

Current Events Program of First M. E. Church Society is Announced.

The first of the "Current Events," under the auspices if the Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E. church, will be held in Vincent chapel at 3:15 o'clock, tomorrow afternoon. These lectures will be given on the last Tuesday afternoons of the months of October, November, January, February, March and April.

The general subject tomorrow will be "Some Present Tendencies in Public Education in New Jersey," and the speakers will be Lewis H. Carris and A. B. Meredith, Assistant Commissioners of Education in New Jersey.

The rest of the program follows: November, "A Lesson in the Laws Which Govern Women and Children"; January, "An Historical Afternoon"; February, an evening meeting at the Y. M. C. A., with moving pictures, "Let Us See America First"; March, "Our Immigrants; How We Care for Them; Our Poor How We Help Them"; April, domestic science.

Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring has been secured in addition to give three lectures on the second Thursdays of December, January and February, on "The Soul of Dante's Divine Comedy."

PROGRESSIVE SPEAKERS DRAW LARGE CROWDS

The Progressives made a whirlwind campaign in Elizabeth on Saturday night, speaking at several street-corner meetings to large numbers of people. The campaigners were Assembly candidates George W. V. Moy, of this city, and Mayor Harwood Fish, of Roselle Park; Dr. D. E. Croft, William Levine, C. A. Trimble, Roland Calhoun, W. D. Jones, W. L. Phillips and Frederick C. Taggert. All were pleased with the cordial receptions given them by the crowds.

The Progressives are expecting a monster mass meeting in Elizabeth tonight, when Governor Hiram W. Johnson, of California, and Everett Colby will be the speakers.

MRS. AUGUSTUS ROWLEY DIES AT MT. PLEASANT

Mrs. Augusta C. Rowley, aged 85 years, widow of Platt J. Rowley, died yesterday at her home at Mt. Pleasant after a long illness. For some time Mrs. Rowley had been detained to her bed and was in a helpless condition. She was a devout Christian and had lived at Mt. Pleasant for many years. Her husband, who died a number of years ago, was a well-known farmer there.

There survives two daughters, Miss Rowley and Mrs. George Banks, both of whom live at home. The funeral will be held at the late home Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and the burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

Y. M. H. A. DANCE.

Invitations have been issued by members of the Y. M. H. A. for its formal dance to be held Thanksgiving night.

WEEK'S PROGRAM AT LOCAL Y. W. C. A.

Many Events Scheduled for Entertainment and Instruction of Young Women.

Tonight at the Y. W. C. A., supper will be served at 6:30 sharp for fifteen cents. This supper is designed to fit the needs of those coming from business and remaining for the evening classes, but any who would find it convenient or pleasant to come are cordially invited.

At 7 p. m. the Bible and Mission Study classes have their meetings, and at 8 p. m. are held classes in millinery, dressmaking, embroidery, elocution and gymnasium.

On Thursday of this week the social committee will entertain all of the members at a Hallowe'en Party. Hallowe'en games will be played progressively, and music and refreshments enjoyed. Preceding the party the October birthday supper will be served at 6:30. This supper is fifteen cents and to it are invited all members whose birthdays have come during the month of October.

The Fireside Reading Club will hold its first meeting on Friday evening, Nov. 7. This club is a membership privilege, and is one of the most delightful courses offered this year. Around the open fire in the green room the members gather and listen to readings by people who know what to read and how to read. Miss Ariadne Gilbert is in charge of the first five meetings, and will read a course which she has named "Romance in Poetry."

Two new supper clubs are being formed this week under the direction of Miss Beatrice Gardner. These clubs meet on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 6:15, girls coming to them directly from work and preparing under Miss Gardner's direction, a simple meal costing ten cents each. The work is both instructive and enjoyable, and a social hour follows the serving of the meal. Any girls interested in these clubs may learn more of them at the Association, and will be welcomed as members.

A Wednesday morning gymnasium class is being formed for the accomodation of those whose time of greatest leisure is in the day. Miss Wetherell, the gymnasium director, will be very glad to hear of young women interested in joining this class.

On Friday morning of this week the finance committee will hold its regular meeting. The physical committee meets Friday afternoon at 5 p. m. The regular monthly meeting of the board of directors will be held Monday morning, Nov. 3, at 10 a. m.

Mrs. Martha Tennant has accepted the chairmanship of the religious work committee, and at its meeting last Friday morning plans for an aggressive work were laid. Beginning the first Sunday in November the hours from 4 to 6 p. m. will be kept as social hours, and all the members are invited to drop in during that time, to sing, read, and to have a cup of tea. The regular vesper service will be held one Sunday each month, but these informal hours on the other Sundays will doubtless be very popular.

An appeal was inserted in this paper last week asking for the use of a piano for the year, and the board of managers is happy to report that a nice upright piano has been loaned the Association.

There was a large attendance at Miss Earl's lecture in the Home-Makers course last Thursday, and it is expected that an equally large and enthusiastic audience will greet Miss Tennant this Thursday when she speaks on "An Artistic Home at a Small Cost."

NEW INCOME TAX LAW GIVEN IN A NUTSHELL

The analysis of the Income Tax which, as stated in these columns a few days ago, would be distributed by The Plainfield Trust Company the first of the week, is now ready and those desiring a copy may obtain one at the office of the company. This analysis will enable those who have had difficulty in understanding the original text to grasp every rule relating to those who are taxed, the amount of personal and corporation tax, what to include when estimating income, the date for making return, penalties for evasion, etc.

The new law is now effective and applies to every person who, if unmarried, has an income of $3,000 a year or who, if married, has a yearly income of $4,000 or over and The Plainfield Trust Company's anaylsis will be of great assistance to those upon whom the law is binding.

MISS BROWN NOW IS MRS. D. C. WHITE

Fanwood Couple Wed, Rev. Alfred C. Nickerson, of This City, Officiating.

Miss Katherine Brown, daughter of Mrs. William L. Brown, was married Saturday night to D. C. White, also of the borough, at her home in Forest road, Fanwood. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Alfred C. Nickerson, former pastor of All Saints' church. Miss Amy Baker, of Philadelphia, was bridesmaid, and Miss Mildred Brown, of Fanwood, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The best man was Richard Full, of the borough.

Following the wedding, a reception was held, the guests later going to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Gardner, in Martine avenue, where dancing was enjoyed. The decorations at both places consisted mainly of autumnal foliage. The events were largely attended by relatives and friends, many coming from distant points. On their return from a honeymoon trip the couple will reside in Fanwood. Mr. and Mrs. White are widely known in this vicinity. The bride is a graduate of Vassar College.

MUSICAL SERVICE AT THE CRESCENT AVE.

Edifying Program is Provided by Dr. Davis and the Church Choir.

The quartet choir of the Crescent Avenue church, under the direction of Dr. E. Metler Davis, organist, gave the first musical service of the season yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, preceded by a fifteen minute organ recital. The large edifice was thronged with people, all enjoying the program. Six numbers comprised the organ recital, all being compositions of the early composers.

The choir then sang the "Stabat Mater," with solo parts for soprano, tenor, duet, soprano and alto; quartet and alto. The service was a beautiful one and the work of the quartet and soloists delightful. The quartet is composed of Miss Lillian Vernon Watt, soprano; Miss Grace J. Carroll, contralto; Paul Haskell, tenor, and Graham Reid, baritone. Dr. Davis gave as a postlude, "Tocatta," Mereaux.

PAPILLILO ON TRIAL AGAIN FOR HIS LIFE

Elizabeth, Oct. 27.—Matteo Papillilo, the Italian, who was indicted for the murder of Thomas Deers, colored, of Plainfield, was put on trial for the second time in the Union County Court, this afternoon. It was 2 o'clock when the work of selecting a jury was started before Justice James J. Bergen.

The death of Deers occurred in Muhlenberg Hospital last April following a fight in Hetfield row. It is claimed that owing to racial trouble Papillilo was acquitted at the first trial.

OLYMPIC HERO WEDS.

Platt Adams, recognized by some critics as the greatest all-around athlete in the world today and who was formerly a member of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A., was married last Wednesday to Miss Julia Hubbard, at Houghton, Mich. Hervey Marsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Marsh, of Maple avenue, a close friend of the Olympic hero, was one of the ushers at the wedding.

TO TELL LIFE STORY.

Rev. William Turner, of Canada, who has been giving Bible readings at the German Reformed church under the auspices of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, will speak there tomorrow night at 7:45 o'clock, giving a sketch of his life, which is said to be of unusual interest because he was disinherited by his father.

BIBLE STUDENTS MEET.

Representatives of the International Bible Students' Association conducted an interesting meeting yesterday afternoon in Junior Hall, North avenue, Dunellen. The subject of the discussion was "Restitution." Similar meetings will be held every Sunday.

PRESENT YOUR BILLS.

All bills against the city must be in the hands of the City Clerk by tomorrow night to insure payment at the November meeting of the Common Council.

PLANNING FOR ELECTION.

The City Republican Committee will meet with the advisory committee tonight in the Frost Building.

TWO RUNAWAY BOYS VICTIM OF SWINDLE

Brooklyn Youths Stranded Here After Giving Man $20 to Get Them Jobs.

Asserting that they had given a man in New York $10 each under the promise that he secure them employment, two Brooklyn boys in their early 'teens, are at police headquarters the victims of an old swindle. They are Russell Perkins, 12 years old, of 3612 Fifteenth avenue, and Leo Geller, 15 years old, of 1148 Fortieth street. Their parents have been notified of their plight and will come to Plainfield to take them back home.

The two youths came to headquarters last night and applied for lodging. Questioned regarding their presence in this city, the boys confessed that they had run away from home to make their way in the world unaided by parental guidance. They said they had sought work in the Metropolis, although their parents wanted them to go to school. While looking for employment in New York city the boys stated, a man came up to them and offered to get them jobs for $10 each. The stranger went into an office building, saying he was going to telephone to the owner of a poultry farm in Plainfield who would pay them $20 per month with board free. They have not seen the stranger since.

HE GOES TO HOLLAND TO BUY POTATOES

Shortage of America's Crop Demands Expected Relief From Dutch Farms.

A reminder of the great shortage in this season's American potato crop was occasioned yesterday by a visit to this city of John Mehl, of Hoboken, a former well known local resident, who spent the day with relatives and friends previous to sailing tomorrow for Holland. Mr. Mehl is one of the country's expert potato buyers and goes to the land of dykes and windmills for the purpose of purchasing tubers for his concern, the New York and New Jersey Produce Company.

Holland is practically the only place left that can furnish enough of the lowly but necessary vegetable to help ease the scarcity here as the government has placed an embargo on the product of the British Isles, owing to an infection potatoes there have contracted and might spread in America if any of them are used for seeding purposes.

Last year Mr. Mehl spent the winter in Ireland and Scotland, buying up nearly half a million bushels and he expects to remain in Holland until no more potatoes can be had for export. Mr. Mehl is a brother of Captain George Mehl, of No. 3 Hose Company.

PLEDGED TO OBTAIN $13,000 FOR CHURCH

Sum Needed for Improvements at the First Baptist Church.

Repairs are still progressing at the First Baptist church and at the morning service yesterday, following a brief statement by L. V. F. Randolph, president of the board of trustee,s a resolution introduced by Charles W. McCutcheon was passed pledging the congregation to raising $13,000 to complete the work and to make extensive repairs to the Sunday-school room.

During the past week an electrician was obliged to go to the upper part of the church to fix some wires and making a misstep his foot went through a small part of the ceil-decorations. This will be repaired soon.

KINKEAD COMING.

Congressman Eugene Kinkead, of Hudson county, will be one of the speakers tonight at an open-air mass meeting to be held at the intersection of West Front street and Madison avenue. L. Edward Herrmann, secretary to Fielder, will also make an address. Mayor Stewart will preside and those seeking local offices on the Democratic ticket will also be on hand.

ENJOYED A DANCE.

Many young people attended the dance Saturday night in the Washington School auditorium under the auspices of the Public Recreation Committee. Miss Emma Ryno, acting supervisor, was in charge.

JOHN P. NOLTING PASSES AWAY

Prominent Resident Succumbs After a Lingering Illness.

FUNERAL TOMORROW

Salesmanager for Large Paper Concern—Formerly a Vestryman in Grace Church—Native of Richmond, Va.

John Paul Nolting, a well-known resident of this city for the past fifteen years, died at his home on West Seventh street, yesterday, following an illness of several months. In the hope that a change of climate would be beneficial, he took a trip to Panama, and on his return several weeks ago, he was not improved in health.

Mr. Nolting was born in Richmond, Va., and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Nolting, Jr., of that place. He spent his early life in Richmond, and afterward lived in Boston and New York, removing here from the latter place about fifteen years ago. For many years he was the New York sales manager for the Hamilton Paper Company, of Philadelphia.

During his residence in Plainfield, Mr. Nolting was an active and prominent communicant of Grace church and served for some time as a vestryman. He was also greatly interested in the work of the Sunday-school, devoting much of his time to the advancement of the work of the parish.

There survives a wife, who was Miss Dryden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dryden, former residents of this city; three children, Miss Virginia Nolting, Jocelyn and John Paul Nolting, Jr.; a sister, Miss Kate Elise Nolting, and a brother, William G. Nolting, of Baltimore.

The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at Grace church. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, the rector, will officiate and the burial will take place in Baltimore.

REPUBLICAN MEETINGS FOR THE LOCAL VOTERS

Under the auspices of the Plainfield Colored Republican Club, a meeting will be held tonight at 8 o'clock, at 324 Plainfield avenue, to be addressed by City Judge W. G. DeMeza, Martin B. Stutsman and J. J. Carroll. Tomorrow night a mass meeting will be held at the Washington School under the auspices of the City Republican Committee, at which the speakers will be City Judge W. G. DeMeza, Councilman Leighton, Juan A. Babcock, John H. Cose, Martin B. Stutsman, Thomas F. Hylan and J. J. Carroll.

PLAINFIELDERS ABOARD THIS DERAILED TRAIN

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh B. Sweeny, who returned yesterday from their wedding trip spent at Tupper and other points in New York State, had a narrow escape from serious injury on Saturday while on their way home by the way of the New York Central.

As the train was speeding pass Big Moose, the engine jumped the track, and came near taking several of the coaches with it. Fortunately, the train was on an up-grade and it was easily stopped. The accident was caused by a hot box. The engineer was trying to make Utica when the axle broke. The train was due in New York Saturday night, but was delayed until yesterday.

GAVE KITCHEN SHOWER FOR THE BRIDE-ELECT

Following the announcement of the engagement of Miss Blanche Buttfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Buttfield, of this city, to Harlen Pratt, of East Orange, Miss Jean Saunders, of Rockview avenue, the borough, gave a kitchen "shower" for Miss Buttfield at her home on Friday. The affair, which was an informal one, was attended by about twenty young people intimate friends of Miss Buttfield. The latter received a number of gifts.

Miss Buttfield formerly lived in the borough. She has been prominent in the younger society set, taking part in many social functions. She is a graduate of Smith College. Mr. Pratt is a graduate of Stevens Institute and has a number of friends in this city.

THE DAILY PRESS IN SOMERVILLE will be found on sale or delivered to any address every afternoon after 4:30 by Jacob Gernert, the Main street newsdealer and stationer.

who can best serve his people is he whose hands are free. If he is tied down with "promises to do" this or that, he must often turn from the course his better judgement would urge him to follow; likewise the merchant, be he manufacturer, jobber or retailer. If the manufacturer pays 25% commission to someone that brings him buyers, that manufacturer must add 5% to the cost price of his product. His customer does in every instance indirectly pay the increased cost. Such manufacturer can't possibly compete with the man whose hands are free, when instead of surrendering a good part of his sales to a go-between, cuts every useless expense item clean out, buys and sells his wares for the least amount possible and gives his customers the benefit thereof. It has always been the policy of this firm to buy the best for the least and in turn sell the best for the least, to eliminate all unnecssary expenses, thereby making our overhead expense the smallest and our values the greatest of any firm doing business in this particular locality.

A merchant if he be successful must make up the selling price of his wares; First, cost of article; second, cost to do business; third, his profit. Isn't it common sense, that if his cost to do business has been increased by giving away some one thing or another, his price to you must be relatively increased. We give our patrons polite, courteous attention, prompt service, the lowest price possible for any given article we sell, nothing more. Think this over and you'll always trade at

ACTION TO PREVENT SPREAD OF GLANDERS

Health Board Gets Busy to Save Local Horses From Contagious Disease.

Mrs. S. G. Van Hoesen, agent for the S. P. C. A., co-operating with Health Officer Randolph Chandler, of the Board of Health, is taking every precaution to prevent a spread of glanders among the horses of Plainfield and vicinity. A horse suffering from that contagious disease was found at Scotch Plains on Friday and immediately shot.

This animal was owned for some time by Chris. Mobus, a local hackman, and it was allowed to stand at the North avenue station and mingle among other horses at the time it is believed to have had the disease. Mobus traded the horses with Debbie & Wahl, of Scotch Plains, and was used in the Rural Free Delivery service for a time.

All of the water troughs in the city have been closed. Owners of horses or stablemen are requested to make a thorough inspection of horses and at the first sign of the disease notify a veterinary. This disease is contagious among human beings and when once contracted is practically incurable.

RECEPTION AND DONATION.

The annual reception and donation party of the City Union of The King's Daughters will be held at The Day Nursery on West Front street, tomorrow afternoon from 3 to 6 and in the evening from 8 to 10 o'clock. The public is invited and it is hoped that there will be a generous donation of dry groceries, vegetables and money with which to carry on the work this winter. Two of the circles will serve refreshments afternoon and evening.

DRAMATIC CLUB NOTE.

The Washington Dramatic and Musical Club will meet Wednesday night in the auditorium of the Washington School instead of on Thursday as heretofore. Rehearsals will be started for the first public performance of the club which will take the form of a minstrel show, with attractive sketches and vaudeville acts. New members are welcome.

OPERETTA TONIGHT.

The Monday Club of Hope chapel which meets tonight for reorganization will also present an operetta entitled, "Bianca," by Louisa Alcott, after which plans for the winter will be discussed. The women will have full use of the gymnasium every Monday night, as before.

STOLE HIS CHICKENS.

Samuel Golison, of 1021 West Third street, reported to the police Saturday night that thieves had looted his chicken coops of over twelve choice fowl.

WASHINGTON SILENT ON MEXICAN SITUATION

Washington, Oct. 27.—Secretary of State Bryan refused to make any comment upon the Mexican situation this morning. The White House also was silent on the election in Mexico and indicated that in the absence of the President there would be nothing to give out in an official way.

It is understood, however, that official Washington does not look upon the performance in Mexico yesterday with favor. The failure of the citizens to take part to any great extent in the elections is regarded here as stamping the whole proceeding as a flimsy pretence. That Huerta will hold on to the dictatorship and disregard the farcial election is regarded as certain.

ARRESTED FOR FIGHTING.

Charged with fighting yesterday afternoon, Sylvester Rinehart, 22 years old, of 221 North avenue, Dunellen, and John Feraro, 19 years old, of 183 Somerset street, were arraigned this morning before City Judge De Meza, who suspended sentence in each case. The men were arrested by Patrolman Vanderweg at the intersection of Park avenue and Arlington place.

PROGRAM POSTPONED.

Owing to the weather conditions Saturday night, the program of entertainment planned by the Recreation Committee for the weekly reception in the Washington School auditorium was postponed for two weeks.

ALUMNI ENTERTAINMENT.

Dancing will follow the meeting tomorrow night of the Stillman Alumni Association in the Franklin School. A. B. Jones, chairman of the club committee of the Public Recreation Committee, will be in charge.

HARVEST OYSTER SUPPER.

Under the auspices of the Women's Guild of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, a harvest oyster supper will be given in the parish house tomorrow night from 6 to 9 o'clock. The women promise a good supper and good music.

CLASS OFFICERS.

The freshman class of the Plainfield High School the has elected these officers: President, Chester Alpaugh; vice-president, Russell Beekman; secretary, Harold Spicer; treasurer, Miss Helen Newell.

S. P. C. A. HELD MEETING.

The local branch of the S. P. C. A. held a meeting this afternoon in the parlors of the Y. M. C. A.

Arthur Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Martin, of Duer street, who has been in the Adirondacks for his health, returned home yesterday. His condition is not improved.

The departure of the cook or maid does not prostrate the lady who knows the efficiency of Press want ads.

And want ad-reading servants are of the desirable class.

NEWSPAPER USAGE.

Not long ago we took occasion to comment on objections made to the custom among newspapers to refer to people by their last names and sometimes with their Christian names prefixed without the designation of "Mr.," "Mrs." or "Miss" as the case might be. We pointed out that no disrespect was intended and called attention to the fact that it is really a matter of distinction to be referred to solely by the surname. To prefix "Mr." to Socrates, Solomon, Washington, Lincoln, et cetera, we remarked would be an absurdity, and so it would be when prominent local persons in public life are mentioned.

That great, clean and able journal, The New York Times, it seems, has been called to task because of its adherence to the newspaper custom. What it says in reply to a communication is well put. Says the Times:

A reader of this paper writes to it in what seems to us not wholly unjustified but much exaggerated and overemphasized criticism of the habit, common in all our newspapers, of mentioning the President without prefixing his name with either his official title or the usual "Mr." To give full measure to his reprehension, our correspondent also objects to the naming of the President's daughters without the honorific indicative of their unmarried state. He even goes the length of asserting the existence of a relation between this lack of due respect and the assassination of two Presidents, and considers not unconnected with it the hissing of the President's picture which he says he recently heard in a Broadway theatre.

As regards the President, to call him "Wilson," plain and short, could easily enough be interpreted as complimentary rather than disrespectful, since we find "Washington" and "Lincoln," not to mention, as one might, innumerable other names of the great and good, quite adequate for the expression of reverence. Real eminence always gets along without the linguistic decorations demanded by mediocrity. However, that is something of a quibble, it must be confessed, and so would it be to remind our critic that nobody hesitates to deprive Jane Addams or Grace Darling of "Mis" or Elizabeth Barrett Browning of "Mrs."

Let us admit frankly that, as President Wilson is contemporaneous and very much alive, he might as well or better have his title, except when to give it to him, as often in a headline, is very inconvenient indeed, and that, as much as any other young women, his daughters should have their distinctive honorific. That the matter is of any such consequence as our correspondent says we cannot believe. It is a sort of a rule with newspapers to omit "Mr." and the like when both first and second names are printed, and only a rather morbid sensitiveness will be shocked by its observance, even in the case of a President's daughter.

THE FIGHT.

One week from tomorrow the general election will be held and as that day draws near all three Gubernatorial nominees appear confident of their election. Here in Union county each one is sanguine that he will be a winner. From an unprejudiced standpoint there is no question but that the closest fight in all the State will be in Union. Under normal conditions Stokes should carry it but he was not the choice at the primaries and besides the Republican party has been meeting with reverses in the county during the last few years. Their defeats have been administered by the Democrats, whose victories have been caused by the personality of Woodrow Wilson.

During this time the Progressives have been forging steadily ahead. They have been mustered largely from the Republican party and among the recruits may be counted many of its able men. The Progressive movement started long before the birth of that party during the Presidential campaign. It was begun when Everett Colby, now the party's Gubernatorial nominee, first proclaimed the "New Idea," declaring war on Carl Lentz and the "Board of Guardians." Since that day, the cause has been advancing steadily just as the independence of the voter has become more and more pronounced.

The nobility of Colby's character and his generally conceded ability in politics has drawn to him and the cause he represents an army of voters whose sincerity and enthusiasm are truly remarkable. Such men as Wilson and Roosevelt have publicly acknowledged that the former State Senator is the pioneer in all America of the Progressive movement and we in New Jersey know this to be absolutely true. Wilson and Roosevelt have both paid tribute to his signal services and his excellent political record.

He is firm, courageous, broad, aggressive, experienced, able and clean. If elected Governor everybody will know where to find him—on his job working for and protecting all the people who he will look upon as his masters. There will be no "backstair" conferences as he told about when fighting the first fight for "The New Idea;" there will be no sidedoor in the executive offices through which "The Board of Guardians" or any bosses will be bid welcome; there will be no ear for the sinister interests. Colby would be a real Governor and a good Governor. He would make a reputation for himself, for the State and for all the people and New Jersey and its Governor would be a proud boast of righteous Americans wherever they are to be found.

You will want to read every page of the Industrial edition, the biggest thing of its kind known here, when it is issued by the Daily Press. Watch for the announcement.

GREAT DAY FOR SUFFRAGISTS

by the Governor and sent to be engrossed. Mr. Colby said that the Progressive party not only meant every word of the woman suffrage plank in its platform, but that if the bill passed the next two Legislatures, his party intended to use every bit of its party organization to help the women win when the measure came up for the popular vote.

Dr. Shaw was never in finer form. She spoke of the suffrage planks in the platforms of all the political parties this year and added, "But if any party should feel it was peculiarly bound to see that the suffrage referendum resolution passes the next Legislature, it is that party in whose care the bill of this year was left, in the office of whose Governor the resolution lay with "dead" bills until the time had passed when it could be legally advertised. She spoke of the attitude of the men whom she had met in Lynchburg, and how they had assured her that their women would always be protected by the chivalry of their men. When she investigated the industrial laws of the State, she was forced to conclude that the women of the South received chivalry in lieu of justice. Criticising Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, who said in a recent speech, "We will clothe our women with lustre," she said that on stormy days lustre would be rather an insufficient clothing, and added that the laws of South Carolina for the protection of women and children are the worst in the country. In referring to the fact that the first constitution of New Jersey allowed women to vote ,she said, "Many of us like to boast that we are descended from the fathers of the country. That is just the trouble with us. we have descended!"

Senator Borah said he came from a State where woman suffrage was not an experiment. That after voting for twenty years the women of Idaho were just as feminine as they ever were. He said that the men of Idaho would not give up the votes of their women for the world, for cuses or conventions to any great ex- they knew they could always trust them to vote on the side of clean politics and good laws. He said their women did not participate in caucus, but their potential force was felt in those gatherings. He cited instances where political conventions had been on the point of nominating candidates whose reputations were not of the best, but, receiving word that the women of the State objected to their nomination, the names were promptly withdrawn. He said he was proud to testify that the women of Idaho had never supported a corrupt measure or a man of questionable reputation.

WILL BUILD A CUP DEFENDER

ALEXANDER S. COCHRAN.

A second yacht for the defence of the America's Cup is now assured, as Mr. Alexander Smith Cochran, a member of the New York Yacht Club and one-time owner of the great schooner yacht Westward, placed an order with William Gardner & Co., of New York, for a defender.

In his agreement with Mr. Gardner, Mr. Cochran stipulated that the former shall design no other yacht for the defence of the America's Cup, but devote his entire attention to the one he has ordered.

Mr. Cochran has taken up the task of building and running the yacht without the assistance of any others.

The yacht will, in all probability, be built of bronze, according to Mr. Gardner, who says she will be completed by about May 1, next year, so as to have plenty of time for tuning up.

Mr. Cochran is a brother of Mrs. Percy H. Stewart, wife of the mayor of Plainfield.

MYSTERY OF SIGHT

Most Wonderful and Inexplicable of All Our Senses.

LIMITS OF THE HUMAN VISION.

There Are Colors All About Us That the Eye Cannot See, as We Cannot Distinguish Beyond the Extremes of the Spectrum Red and Violet.

No two persons see precisely alike any more than any two persons hear precisely the same. The differences in these perceptions are due to the wide disparities not only in the organs of vision and hearing, but also to the differences in mental makeup of the individuals.

There are more unsolved problems as to sight than any other sense. It is the most wonderful and at the same time the most inexplicable sense that we possess. Every school child is taught that we see because rays of light reach the retina of the eye after passing through the transparent cornea, that curved surface which is in direct contact with the external air, the aqueous or watery humor, and the crystalline and vitreous humors.

The eye is thus made up of three separate lenses, through which the light passes before reaching the retina. When observed from outside it is plain that all the images appear to be reversed in the eye. We see everything upside down, but in some way this reversal is corrected, so that things appear to us as they should, though this simple point has not yet been explained by the most advanced science.

But the eye sees not only images and light; it also distinguishes color. And here is one of the greatest problems with which the eye has to deal. The white light of a ray of sunshine is divided by a prism into all of the colors from red to violet, and it is one of the greatest triumphs of modern optics to have proved that what we call color is nothing but the speed with which some parts of the ray of sunshine strike upon the retina.

The eye can perceive waves striking it as low as red and as high as violet, but there are many rays both above and below the red and violet, the extremes of the spectrum, as they are called. The human eye cannot perceive these because the lengths of the waves or the frequency with which they strike upon the retina are too great or too small for the human organ. Yet they are most important, exercising a great influence upon human beings.

The ultra violet rays are known now by their chemical action and are termed chemical rays, while the infra red rays are heat rays and are known as such. So it is evident that there is much that the eye does not or cannot see, even with all the mechanical aids which have been provided in telescope, microscope, etc.

What really carries the message of vision to the brain center of vision, which is at the back of the head, is the optic nerve, and the fact that if you have a pain in the back of the head it is probably due to eye strain is admitted by all physicians. If you feel that strain and headache located at the occiput the first thing to do is to consult an oculist and get the glasses which will correct the error of vision.

Your eyes may be wrong in any number of ways. Either there may be a defect in some one of the lenses or the nerve may have become weakened or the muscles of accommodation by which the eye is focused may be wrong. The last is probably the commonest of troubles and may be easily corrected if promptly taken in hand by an expert.

Cross eyes are only defects of muscular control, and the latest researches point to the necessity for correcting this defect as promptly as possible. Many parents make the fatal mistake of not calling in the specialist even when they notice that an infant "crosses the eyes." But it is in the early stages that this trouble may be best corrected; otherwise the muscles become fixed in their error and the defect is permanent.

It is never too early to put glasses upon the child who requires them. It is often too late to save the child from permanent injury of the most beautiful, most expressive and most useful organ.—New York World.

"The Hugginses," said Sherlock Holmes, "are very popular with the wealthy classes."

"How do you know?" I queried, confident of a brilliant answer.

"Because there are so many grease spots on the pavement in front of their house."

"I don't see the point," said I.

"You auto," said Sherlock.—Newark News.

WOMEN SOLDIERS OF MEXICO MILITANTS IN REAL BATTLES

Over Two Hundred Mexican Women Enlisted as Soldiers.

Some Have Risen From the Ranks as Officers of Guerrillas.

WOMEN are coming to the front in many ways today, and in troubled Mexico they are actually coming to the front along the firing line. They are real militants, at least 200 Mexican women fighting on one side or the other in the field. This does not mean the camp followers, for there are thousands of such, with several times as many children, in the train of the forces, but it means regular soldiers, out with rifle and gun, accepting the lot of the soldier, reaping the rewards of the victor, paying the penalty of the loser, enduring hardships and asking no quarter. Some even are officers of irregular forces, guerrillas attached now to one side and now to the other, obeyed uncomplainingly by men who are apt to chafe at any discipline, respected always by those who are growing more and more to respect nothing.

TWO MOUNTED WOMEN GUERRILLAS.

Bella de la Torre is one of the women soldiers to rise from the ranks, and she has a score or more of sister officers, true militants in this day and generation. Senora Carmen Alanis, who recaptured Juarez last year with twelve men and disarmed the volunteer home guards, is another. "Chica," whose other name is a mystery, is still another, and there are Maria Castanado, "Chiquita," who stole the dispatches from Orozco and rode away in a rain of bullets; "the Pride of the Army," Jesusa Alvarez, over in Sinaloa; the "Woman Doctor of Sonora," whom the federals caught in August, and a half dozen others. They are regular officers, duly commissioned.

A great deal of Indian blood compounded with Spanish and an occasional sound of French or Aztec Mexican produced the strain which evolved the woman soldier of Mexico today. It has all developed within three years of demoralization, and where it will end no one can say. In a majority of instances the start in military life was as a nurse; in some of the others it was the gradual evolution of one who had followed a husband, father or sweetheart into the field.

In all Chihuahua among the military there is no one better known than Bella de la Torre. Men speak of Senora Alanis with admiration, but they grow enthusiastic over Bella as they tell of the acts of recklessness and daring of her young but eventful life. She is not over eighteen years of age.

Senora Carmen Alanis is the wife of Colonel Alanis, who fought with Madero against Diaz. He was killed, and his wife stepped into the command of his forces. They say that the senora is all military and appears to know her book as well as any man. She preserves the strictest discipline in her troop and fights her men like a veteran. She will always be remembered as the woman who recaptured Juarez last year.

Maria Castanado is an artillery woman fighting today with her husband, Captain Castanado of the federal forces. They say she can run a small field gun or a mountain howitzer as well as a man. She had her first experience in the Orozco revolution on the rebel side, and her blue shirt, wide brimmed sombrero and divided khaki skirt became very well known to all the soldiers.

Men speak of the Senora Castanado with reverence and respect. "Mujer valiente" they say of her, which is the highest title they can give a woman in the new order of things, but they know little of her.

Of Chica, on the other hand, they tell a hundred stories, and they know everything about her except her name. Chica is a duly enlisted rebel soldier, wears man's clothes, carries a rifle and uses it like a man. Up to last accounts she was with her brother and father in the ranks. They say she fights like a demon and is fond of witnessing the execution of federal prisoners.

You go back to Bella de la Torre for some one resembling Chiquita, except that Chiquita, spy and soldier for the rebel army, is of even higher class than the first named young woman. Chiquita comes from the south and was educated in the United States and France.

She rode into Jiminez one day during the Orozco revolution, announcing that she was a trained nurse come to minister to the wounded patriots. There was nothing concealed about this arrival, for she went at once to headquarters, where it is said, the rebel commander himself succumbed to her charms, made her chief nurse and gave her special attention.

Chiquita made a dash out of Jiminez on horseback a week later with about all the important papers, maps and documents Orozco had. Over desert and mountain she rode, her pursuers dropping farther and farther behind. The chase lasted several days. She was about the best spy the federals had. Chiquita is with them this year, and when last heard of they had chased her out of Eagle Pass for helping to prove that the neutrality act is mostly a product of the imagination. She is versatile. She can be by turns a spy, a nurse, and then a soldier out in the trenches.

The Pride of the Army, an efficient nurse at the beginning, is a valiant soldier when the need arises. The rebel army respects "the Pride" and calls her by no other name. None is braver than she, they say, and they tell of seeing her often out on the firing line helping the wounded as coolly as if she were in a hospital. Men worship her wherever she is, and her way is as safe as if she were in her own home at Chihuahua.

The Woman Doctor, as has been said, was captured by the federals over in Sonora and information about her ceased about the middle of August. She had been in the field about two months. It seems that she was a medical examiner for the federals around Monterey, and it was discovered that for a reward she was giving citizens medical certificates exempting them from military service.

This can only be a partial list of the women soldiers of Mexico. From all states where the internecine war rages come reports of the women fighters. Zapata has several with him in Morelos. Among the Yaquis of Sonora there are many. Obregon has them on his rolls, and every half bandit, half soldier irregular has more.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 24.

THE tailor who announces expert service and then turns out horribly ill-fitting clothes is a poor advertiser, no matter how much money he spends for publicity nor how cleverly his announcements are prepared.

The merchant who advertises shoes "worth $5.00 for $2.50" when the shoes are just ordinary $2.50 values and no more is a poor advertiser.

The man who permits his clerks to treat visitors as if they had come to steal something, or as if to wait on them were a burden too great to bear without resentment, is a poor advertiser.

I'm writing this on a typewriter that is widely advertised as the most perfect piece of typewriting mechanism ever devised. And yet the keys sometimes get "locked" and the machine doesn't come up to promises or expectations, no matter how carefully it is operated. That, too, is poor advertising.

The point of all is that, in order to make advertising really effective, the goods have got to live up to what is claimed for them.

The printed word is a power for upbuilding. But no printed words can build up a business that belies its very cornerstone—the trust and confidence of the public. Once gained, this confidence is hard to shake.

What are you doing, Mr. Merchant, toward the real upbuilding of your business? The newspaper cannot do it all. The newspaper introduces you to the people you want to reach. It is entirely up to you to make those people thankful for the introduction.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

FRANCES MARSHALL

Italian Economy.

One of the best lessons in economy that the housewife can learn from Italy is in the use of macaroni, the high nutritive values of which in convenient form recommend it to much more widespread use than it now enjoys.

Macaroni has high nutritive value—and it is cheap. These are two qualities which ought to recommend it to every economical housewife.

But don't expect that you can simply boil macaroni, add cream sauce to it, bake it and serve it on your menu once or twice a week all winter and have your family devour it with eager relish. Macaroni needs careful treatment to make it palatable and appetizing. And to learn how to cook it you should go straight to the Italian housewife. She always has at hand a supply of olive oil, cloves of garlic or onions, tomatoes and cheese. These ingredients are as necessary to the Italian cook as lard and baking soda are to the New Englander.

Some Italian Methods.

This is one way an Italian housewife uses macaroni. She boils it until it is tender and then adds to it the gravy in which any sort of meat has been simmering. The gravy from veal cutlets is especially good used in this way. Then she adds it to the meat and serves it piping hot with a coating of bread crumbs browned in butter.

Another macaroni dish is made in this way: Boil macaroni in slightly salted water until it is tender. Drain it and place it in a saucepan in which two tablespoonfuls of butter have been melted. Then add half a cupful of chopped cooked meat—preferably tongue—half a cupful of chopped mushrooms, half a cupful of grated cheese. Mix all this thoroughly over the fire and pour over it a peppery tomato sauce.

When the housewife has once got the spirit of Italian macaroni cooking—and the family will quickly appreciate the superiority of dishes prepared in this spirit over the soggy, flat, watery dishes which usually go by the name of macaroni—she will be able to devise no end of new macaroni combinations.

Always boil the macaroni in slightly salted water until it is tender. Some cooks think it is tender if it is put on in cold water and brought slowly to the boil; some put it over the fire in boiling water. Try and see which way you prefer to do it.

Whenever possible combine it with a meat flavor, even if it is only a suggestion. Flavor it liberally, with onions, if you like the flavor. Remember the value of tomato and cheese combinations, and always serve it, however it is prepared, piping hot.

Some Cookery Suggestions

NOW FOR MUSHROOMS.

MUSHROOMS may now be found in the country, and the city housewife will find them in the markets.

If they are available for your table you are fortunate, for they may be used to vary the flavor of other foods or made into many dainty dishes alone or in combination with other foods.

An Appetizing Dish.

Baked Mushrooms.—Prepare the mushrooms for stewing. Place them in a baking pan in a moderate oven. Season with salt, pepper, lemon juice and chopped parsley. Cook in the oven fifteen minutes, baste with butter, arrange on a dish and pour gravy over them. Serve with a sauce made by beating together a cupful of cream, two ounces of butter, a tablespoonful of chopped parsley, a little cayenne pepper, salt, a tablespoonful of white sauce and two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice. Put in a saucepan on the fire. Stir until thick, but do not let boil.

A Dainty Toast.

Mushroom Toast.—Choose medium sized mushrooms that have opened well. Take out the stalks and peel the tops very thinly. Fry them slowly in butter with the under side uppermost. It is not necessary to turn them while in the pan. Have slices of hot buttered toast, on which place the mushrooms as soon as done. Pour into the pan a little brown stock or cream, stir over the fire for a minute and flavor with a few drops of lemon juice. Season with salt and a little red pepper. Pour one teaspoonful over each mushroom and serve hot.

An Omelet With Herbs.

Mushroom Omelet.—Beat the yolks of six eggs until they are almost white; then beat the whites for the same time and pour them over the yolks. Add a dessertspoonful of chopped mushrooms, a teaspoonful of mixed herbs, a dessertspoonful of finely chopped parsley, a few drops of lemon juice, pepper and salt, six tablespoonfuls of milk and three teaspoonfuls of flour and beat together for at least five miutes. Peel a small onion, slice and fry in butter. When the butter is boiling hot take out the onion and pour in the omelet. Hold the pan over the fire in rather a slanting position to keep the omelet from spreading. When fried a light brown fold over and serve very hot. A little grated tongue may be added to this omelet.

Anna Thompson.

Dannie Liked to Stay Up Late.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—Dannie And the Story Books.

THE children settled down with sighs of content. Jack had one arm of daddy's chair, and Evelyn had the other.

"Tell us a nice long story," they urged. "We aren't a bit sleepy."

"Staying awake when you ought to go to sleep isn't wise," daddy said. "There was Dannie, a boy who liked to sit up late and read. One time his mother and father went away and left him with the servants.

"So every night when he was sent to bed he would close the door and turn on the electric light by the bed and get out the book he had under his pillow and read and read.

"One night when he went up to bed he began on a particularly exciting chapter.

"He was just in the midst of it when the bell tinkled.

"He was so busy with the book that he did not pay much attention to the noises downstairs.

"Suddenly he heard a hand turning the handle of his door. Even then he did not notice, because the story had become so interesting.

"When he looked up there stood his mother at the door, looking, oh, so surprised.

"'Why are you not asleep?' she asked. Dannie looked ashamed.

"'Let me see what you are reading?' she went on. Dannie handed her the book.

"'Why, it's all about Indians!' she exclaimed. 'That's a funny kind of book for a little boy to read when he wants to go to sleep,' and she laid the book down.

"'And how many times have you stayed awake to read?' she asked.

"He could not remember just how many evenings, but he knew there had been a good many.

"'Very well,' his mother said; 'I will put the book away, and since you are so fond of staying up, every evening for a week you can stay up with your school books. I am sure, if you are so fond of books, you can't mind that.'

"Dannie did mind, but of course he could not very well say so.

"Then his mother talked to him and told him how foolish he had been in reading silly books in bed, where the light was so poor that he might have hurt his eyes.

"The next time you feel you must finish a story get up early in the morning. It's better to do that than to chip the wrong end off the day.'"

PROCTOR'S NEW SHOW.

Proctor's vaudeville show for today will comprise many novelties, including Elliott Belmont and Elliott, whose comical capers are countless; Davenport-Renard and Co., presenting a comedy, burlesque and travest entitled, "On the Trail; "The Schuman Quartet" in a program of high-class musical numbers entitled "Students Abroad;" John Keefe in "The Broadway Rube;" the Marimba Duo will render delightful music on the popular and wonderful instrument, the Marimba, while the photo-plays will include only the best from John Bunny to Gilbert M. Anderson, the "Broncho Billy" of the West.

—A study of the ads is a part of the "business" of every woman who does any buying for the home.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

"While I am not particularly superstitious," said Mme. Cottrelly, who has won the greatest fame of her notable career in her visualization of the charming mother of the Rothschilds in "The Five Frankforters," which appears at the Plainfield theatre, October 31, "I believe I had a curious and distinct promonition that I was intended to enact this rule," and Madame resumed: "Some years ago, while playing one season in New York, I visited a wealthy Jewish family. Mrs. Freudenberger, the mother of my hostess, had reached the age of 102 and every day I spent an hour in her sunny rooms, happily interested in her fascinating reminiscences of days gone by. As a young woman she had been employed as a cook in the home of the Rothschilds in Frankfort and she vivaciously related many amusing incidents of the famous family. Frau Gudula was beloved by everyone. She was very strict with her daughters and during the hard times in Germany (caused by the Napoleonic wars) they were forbidden to attend balls and parties, because Frau Gudula considered them in bad taste and too expensive at such a time. Sometimes, however, after the mother had retired, the young girls would bribe the cook to let them out by the kitchen door and she would also wait up for her fun-loving young mistresses. When the Messrs. Shubert sent me the manuscript of 'The Five Frankforters,'" said Mme. Cottrelly, "It all sounded strangely familiar and I knew it was true to the life of the imperious yet loving old mother of the Rothschilds."

Miss Alice Brady who is one of the most promising actresses of the younger generation of players, is to be seen in a prominent role in Laurence Eyre's new play of comedy values, "An Angel Without Wings," which is to be housed at the Plainfield theatre, Saturday, matinee and night, November 1. Miss Brady has proven that she is able to bring the dramatic values out of a part with the same finesse that one looks for in players of longer standing in the histrionic profession. She is to be seen as Beulah Randolph in "An Angel Without Wings," and to the role she is sure to bring her charming personality as well as a keen intelligence. Miss Brady is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, where she studied for opera, but the call of the stage has been the stronger, and so Plainfield will be able to enjoy her presence in a comedy that will give her every opportunity to show her powers.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. LeRoy Ellis, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Dorothy Ellis and son, James, has returned from her cottage at Cedar Lake where she has been spending the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Barnes, of the borough, left Friday for their winter home at Mandarin, Florida. They will return in the spring.

Ladies' Home Journal Patterns

The finest pattern articles in the world printed exclusively in Plainfield in The Plainfield Daily Press. Ladies' Home Journal Patterns are on sale at A. E. Force & Co., "The White Store."

CORRECT FOR EITHER IN-DOOR OR OUT-OF-DOOR WEAR

Since, to a degree, simplicity is the rule this season, many of the well-cut designs, showing long, straight lines, are equally as appropriate for afternoon teas and matinees as for street wear. A fact that makes for economy and a saving of time as well.

The lines of the "new" figure show a more or less of a slope to the shoulders and broad lines in waist and hips and often at the knees. 7789 and 7710 is especially suited to these lines, showing, as it does, the drop-shoulder and a slight fullness at the waist. A bit of drapery on each side of the skirt is modish and graceful.

The frilling of net filling in the neck and the diagonal closing of the blouse is another effective touch.

One of those quaintly figured stuffs that fairly "make" a gown is used here. The design could also be fashioned of one of the modish velours or ratines effectively. A figured charmeuse or a brocaded satin are also good suggestions if the frock is intended solely for afternoons. An attractive folded girdle in a bright, harmonious shade and an inset of the same satin at the bottom of the skirt are individual notes that give distinction.

No. 7789—sizes 32 to 42.
No. 7710—sizes 22 to 30.

Futurist Collar and Cuff Set.

Collar and cuff sets are worn so much that one is always glad to have a large variety of them with which to freshen up a winter dress.

This Futurist design for collar and cuffs is very simple and easy to embroider, and is particularly suitable for wear with a school or business dress of wool material.

The design should be developed in unpadded solid work, outline and French knots in crude shades of red, green, purple, orange, cerise, yellow and black. These are the Futurist colors, from which a selection of four or five may be made for embroidering this set. Do not be afraid of the daring combination of colors, as they will blend surprisingly well in such a design as this. The edge may be buttonholed in the predominating color which should match or harmonize with the color of the dress with which the set is to be worn.

Cotton crepe, ratine, crepe de chine, lawn or handkerchief linen may be used for making the collar and cuffs.

Pattern No. 14646 is cut in the medium size only, but can be made larger or smaller by cutting inside or outside of the neckline. This design will be supplied to readers of the Daily Press for 15 cents.

"MAC" SAYS

THOSE FOOTBALLISTS.

On Friday they are cripples they are hopeless broken wrecks,
With half a dozen splintered arms and seven broken necks,
But suddenly on Saturday they leave their beds of pain,
And put their football armor on and battle once again.

In glancing over the Sunday lineups did you notice how many cripples had suddenly come into their own and were scoring touchdowns and booting the pigskin like demons for their alma mater?

The same holds true in every branch of spot; the hospital roster generally contains the stars of the combat.

Several local players went to Elizabeth Saturday and said players returned the next morning vowing vengence on the heads of the county seat bruisers should they ever bump into them on a lonely road.

Pleasant thoughts—Members of the Holy Cross football club chartered the auto bus yesterday and invaded Perth Amboy only to see their deadly rivals, the Dexters, trounce the Franklins to the tune of 18 to 0. It can't be done, they were heard to murmur.

We recollect that those Franklins were exactly the same players that trimmed Holy Cross by a count of 6 to 0 not more than one moon ago.

Plainfield High School football artists remained within the limits of the Queen City, Saturday, prefering to wait until some warmer day to mingle in the waves of Monmouth county. The Long Branch eleven had a whitewash bath all ordered up for the locals but the red and blue supporters had something worse than that to spring on the rival combination.

FOOTBALL NOTES

Penn State has found a corking good drop kicker in Craig, one of the substitute backs.

Referee Joe Pendleton says that Streit, the Princeton back, reminds him of Ted Coy as a hard man to tackle.

Dave Campbell, captain and end on the 1901 Harvard team, has joined the coaching staff at Cambridge.

Goldberg, the big Brown linesman of the past few years, is assisting Jake High in coaching the New York University squad.

The brilliant playing of Charley Brickley, the Harvard crack, indicates that he will be an All-American back again this year.

Altoona, Pa., has a football team composed of old Carlisle Indian School stars, among whom are Arcasa, Powell and the younger Wheelock.

Fullback Minds, of the Penn eleven, is very clever at forward passing, throwing as he would a baseball and very accurately for distances varying from 20 to 40 yards.

When Harvard meets Princeton on the Tigers' field next month there will probably be a morning attraction furnished by the Crimson and Tiger freshmen teams.

In Captain Fleming, Indiana University boasts of the most versatile football player the game has ever known. He has played every position on the football and basketball teams, and filled all places on the baseball nine with the exception of pitcher and catcher.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—What is the average weight of the Plainfield High School football eleven?—K. C.

Answer—No statistics have ever been taken but I should estimate about 150 pounds.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is there any place in Plainfield where I can learn to clog dance? —D. D.

Answer—None that we know of.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Can a person holding the joker in a no-trump hand in the game of five-hundred play the card at any time?—S. E. T.

Answer—According to one set of rules, yes. Another set holds that in a no-trump bid the joker is a suit by itself and is a trump, but the holder of the joker cannot trump with it while able to follow suit.

Sporting Editor:

Query—How many points does a touchdown count for in football, and also a goal from the field?—P. M.

Answer—For the 'steenth time we will answer this question. A touchdown counts six points and a goal from the field counts three points. It isn't like it usterwas when a touchdown was scored as five and the team had to kick the goal in order to chalk up the sixth.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Where can I secure a hunter's license?—P. G.

Answer—At the county clerk's office in Elizabeth.

Sporting Editor:

Query—How many times has Holy Cross been scored on this season? How many times has it been beaten —T. O. M.

Answer—Once for each Tom, old scout. The Franklins defeated the boroughites by a count of 6 to 0.

Sporting Editor:

Query—When were motion pictures invented?—C. F.

Answer—The motion picture was experimented with and test pictures shown privately both in this country and in Europe in the early '90's, though it was not until 1895 that the invention had so far advanced as to make a public exhibition practicable. The latter part of the year they were exhibited in Europe and America.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is a trombone a bad instrument to play?—H. D.

Answer—Not as long as you don't live in my neighborhood. The trombone is all right but don't play it night and day and annoy your neighbors.

Sporting Editor:

Query—I have a puppy dog I want to break in for hunting purposes. Is there any law which will prevent me from taking him into the woods with me during the month of October or any month during the year?—L. H.

Answer—If your dog is a hound you can take him into the woods from November 1 to December 15 inclusive. You can run and train your dog between the first day of October and the first day of February following provided it is not a hound. At all other times of the year a dog may be allowed to run in the woods under the control of its owner or custodian.

Sporting Editor:

Query—A claims that if a man is sent to State's prison for murder or any other offense a woman is as free from that man as she would be with a divorce. B claims that a woman is not legally free from her husband until she is granted a divorce. Who is right?—N. C. D.

Answer—B is right.

INTRODUCTION OF "PROTECTIVE RULES" INTO BASKETBALL.

When a Plainfield team composed of Y. M. C. A. Ajax, Hope Chapel and North Plainfield players went to Elizabeth Saturday night, they were treated to a surprise just before taking the floor when the referee announced that protective rules would govern the play. Ignorant of the regulations of any such code as this one, the Queen City delegation sought information from the official and in turn the captain was informed that the rulings were simple and required very little practice. In fact, one sentence heralded forth the entire code and the phrase read: "Protect yourself all you can."

With this knowledge of a new game stored away in their craniums the Plainfielders waded into the fray and during the first half were so busy protecting themselves that two sensational goals, caged by the two forwards, were the sum and substance of their score. The battle became still fiercer in the final session and the glass-like surface of the court on which the contest was played lent additional terror to the hearts of the visitors while all of the ten players were lying in a heap on the floor the greater part of the twenty minutes it took to roll off the contest.

The match resembled the old fashioned football game when a dozen or more men piled on top of the player with the pigskin and the basketball player who clung to the ball soon found himself on the bottom of a pile of huskies. Puglistic tactics also served as another form of entertainment and following the battle the Queen City five was informed by the home manager that it was customary to stage a football game, basketball game and puglistic battle on the court the same night and the Plainfielders served et al. on this occasion.

NUTLEY HIGH SCHOOL TEAM WILL PLAY N. P. H. S. TWICE

The Nutley High School has completed its schedule of basketball games, as follows: November 21, Kearny at Kearny; November 26, West Orange at West Orange; December 2, Summit at Summit; December 5, Rutherford at Rutherford; December 10, Westfield at Nutley; December 19, Harrison at Nutley; January 9, South Orange at Nutley; January 14, North Plainfield at North Plainfield, January 16, Glen Ridge at Nutley; January 21, Westfield at Westfield; January 23, Bloomfield at Nutley; January 30, South Side at Nutley; February 4, Belleville at Belleville; February 14, Ridgewood at Ridgewood; February 18, Bloomfield at Bloomfield; February 20, Glen Ridge at Nutley; February 25, Ridgewood at Nutley; February 27, Belleville at Nutley.

Basketball on Many Local Courts

North Plainfield High School basketeers are scheduled to lineup against a combination known as the Watchung A. C. in a practice duel on Saengerbund Hall court tonight. Captain Ashley Burner will present his regular lineup at that time and local critics will get their first opportunity of reviewing the N. P. H. S. talent.

The Ajax-North Plainfield-Hope chapel combination that took a trip to Elizabeth Saturday night was walloped so bad that the scorekeeper forgot to keep score. Several split craniums and a large amount of indignation prevailed in the Plainfielders' ranks after the game. The Elizabetheans sprang a new one when they announced that the contest would be played with protective rules and informed the Queen Cityites that all the knowledge required was to bear in mind that each player was responsible for his own protection. The locals were so busy protecting their anatomy that they forgot to cage baskets, hence the defeat.

Frank Dunning is guiding the destinies of the North Plainfield High School feminine contingent on the court this season and took his proteges to Flemington this afternoon where they will play their first game. N. P. H. S. critics are anxious to see what kind of a coach this Dunning personage is and if the borough maidens are trimmed it will be a sad shock over in Canada.

That much-talked of North Plainfield High School basketball election is due to be decided this afternoon. So keen has the controversy over the election of a captain for the girls' team become, that the authorities were forced to put off the balloting until the last minute.

Another new man made his appearance on the Y. M. C. A. floor Saturday night when Captain Brynairski led his Ajax in their regular practice and the recent "find" is practically sure of a berth on the quintet. Joe Gavett, a former Cornell athlete, is the new acquisition and additional worry has been cast into the camp of the regulars as the result of his appearance. Gavett will play center and further shifts are said to be forthcoming before the first game Saturday night.

Jack Martin had his Hope chapel crew out for a drill Saturday night and the finishing touches are being put on the aggregation for the opening of the season next Saturday night when the Hopes take the floor against the Crescent A. C. of Bound Brook.

Martin has accomplished a thing at Hope chapel that is rarely completed in this section and is the organization of a second squad. In a majority of cases the coach is unable to retain any players but those who are reasonably certain of making the first team.

The North Plainfield High School players will use their new basketball jerseys for the first time tonight. The new uniforms are a little out of the ordinary, having a band running diagonally from the left shoulder to the waist line with the numerals on it.

Manager Seidel, of the N. P. H. S. freshmen basketball team, scheduled a game with the Marathon A. C., to be played on the Saengerbund Hall court this afternoon, but as the borough schoolboys do not have the use of the hall on Mondays the game had to be called off.

The N. P. H. S. team will present the following array of talent in Saengerbund Hall tonight: Love and Van Mater, forwards; Dunning, center; Burner and Abrams, guards; while their opponents, the Watchung A. C., will have Fetherstone and Bowdoin, forwards; Schmidt, center; Armstrong and Underhill, guards.

HOLY CROSS CLUB SAW DEXTER WIN

Rival Gridiron Warriors put it Over Local Team's Conquerors Yesterday.

Members of the Holy Cross football club chartered the Plainfield auto bus to take a representative delegation of the club members to Perth Amboy yesterday where the Dexter eleven was scheduled to lineup against the Franklins. Both of these teams are well known to every follower of the football game in this city, the Dexters being none other than the aggregation that has been aching for an opportunity to take a fall out of the boroughites for the past two years and will be given a chance to do their worst on Cricket Field a week from next Saturday afternoon. The Franklin eleven is the same combination that trimmed the Holy Cross team to the tune of 6 to 0 here three weeks ago and they were in turn given a severe drubbing by the Dexters yesterday who piled up eighteen points while holding their opponents to a whitewash score.

Those who accompanied the club to Amboy yesterday are "Doc" Doyle, Edward Mundy, George Webster, George Howe, William Amerman, Richard Harrigan, Jesse Mulford, "Pop" Thorne, Kenneth Phillips, Dan McAfee, John Pluvius Caufield, William Ruttledge, Jack Wilson and Frank McInerney.

FOOTBALL PROGRAM SOAKED BY STORM

All Scholastic Games Had to Be Called Off Because of Swampy Gridirons.

Muddy gridirons caused the postponement of a majority of the football games scheduled by scholastic managers for last Saturday afternoon and the few contests that were staged in this State resolved themselves into mere farces, none of the battles being decided on playing merits. The teams that braved the storm were handicapped by playing fields that resembled small lakes and in most instances the players were covered from head to foot with mud almost before they started to play. Parker Field was little better than a swamp and as this is one of the best drained fields in the State some idea as to the condition of other gridirons can be obtained.

Plainfield High School was scheduled to appear in Long Branch as opponents to the Chattle High School eleven, but even the sandy battle field in Monmouth county was unfit for football chasing and the locals were notified early in the morning that the game would have to be called off. There is a probability that the struggle will be staged at some later date.

Somerville High School was scheduled to play Bernardsville at the latter place but the farmers in that section refused to take chances and the match was postponed indefinitely. The Holy Cross juniors were scheduled to meet a team on Parker Field, New Brunswick High School was down to play at Bound Brook and Holy Cross was to have entertained the Vikings of Bayonne, but all were blotted out by Jupiter Pluvius.

PLANK MAY QUIT.

Great Philadelphia Pitcher Wants to Develop His Farms.

The last world's series may mark the passing of Eddie Plank, the great Philadelphia American. For several years he has desired to drop out of the game and only continued at the personal solicitation of Manager Mack.

Plank was born at Gettysburg in 1875 and entered Gettysburg college in 1900. Even in those days he felt the pitching prowess of Christy Mathewson, for during the time he was the leading twirler of his varsity team Gettysburg met the Bucknell college nine on the diamond. The tall, lanky youth on the slab for the visitors was Mathewson, and after a remarkable pitching duel, from a college standpoint, Plank and his teammates were defeated, 3 to 0.

Plank never has shown any desire to wander "far from his own fireside" and today owns two large farms near his birthplace. He spends all his spare time there. He has wearied of the diamond strife and is anxious to settle down.

If Mack can persuade him to return to Shibe park and don a playing uniform next spring it will be but another example of the wonderful hold the tall leader has over his players, according to the Athletics, who carried Plank off the Polo grounds field on their shoulders.

It certainly will not be due to any financial inducements that Mack can offer, for Plank, in company with the other forty-nine players who participated in the series, divided $135,163.89 on the basis of 60 per cent to the winners and 40 per cent to the losers. The stockholders of each of the two clubs also had $79,109.50 to divide as a result of their players' drawing powers during the world's series.

STOKES FAVORED RAILROAD INTERESTS

Governor Fielder Uncovers Stokes's Record as State Official and Railroad Director

—:o:—

HOW STATE SUFFERED IN DEAL

—:o:—

WHENEVER THE INTERESTS OF STATE AND RAILROADS CLASHED STOKES RUSHED TO THE SIDE OF THE RAILROADS—HOW HE CAME TO STAND FOR THE INCREASED MAIN STEM TAX—HIS RECORD ON THE HILLERY MAXIMUM TAX ACT.

—:o:—

In his tour of Gloucester County last week Governor Fielder made special reference to the Stokes-Colby controversy. He said:—

In one of Senator Colby's speeches a few days ago, he charged Mr. Stokes with railroad affiliations and with having been a director of a railroad, to which Mr. Stokes with a great show of heat and indignation denies that he is a railroad director. But he stops there and fails to draw a curtain which covers the past. Let us lift a corner and take a glimpse for ourselves.

STOKES A RAILROAD DIRECTOR.

In 1901, when Mr. Stokes was completing his last year in the Senate, he was elected a director of the West Jersey and Sea Shore Railroad Co., listed on the tax books of the State as "part of the Pennsylvania Railroad system." He evidently "made good" for he was re-elected in 1902, 1903 and 1904. The West Jersey and Sea Shore Railroad then operated over one-third of the entire mileage owned or controlled by the Pennsylvania R. R. system in this State. The president of the Pennsylvania was the president of the West Jersey and Sea Shore, and all directors of the latter were elected by the Pennsylvania R. R. In an article published in the New York Evening Sun, Oct. 21, 1904, advocating the election of Mr. Stokes as Governor, that paper says, "he enjoys the confidence of the Pennsylvania R. R. Co."

STATE OFFICIAL AND RAILROAD DIRECTOR.

Mr. Stokes was a member of Assembly in 1891 and 1892. He was Senator from Cumberland County in 1893 and for the succeeding eight years. The same year he was first elected a director of the West Jersey and Sea Shore R. R., he was appointed Clerk in Chancery by Governor Murphy, which office he held until he became Governor himself in 1905 and during his term of service as Clerk in Chancery, he was a railroad director and well known about the State House, as the representative of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

While a Senator, he was a member of the Railroad and Canal Committee and other important committees and yet in his campaign for Governor in 1904, when the great issue was reform in the laws governing railroad taxation, he said that such question was not ripe for discussion. When Judge Black, his opponent, asked him if he was not a director of the West Jersey and Sea Shore R. R. Co., he replied with as much frankness as he replied to Senator Colby, that he was not. An investigation of the records showed that he had resigned about a week before.

STOKES PARTIAL TO RAILROADS.

At the time of that campaign, the main stem of the railroad paid a tax of only five dollars per thousand of valuation and had been paying at that rate since 1884 and yet Mr. Stokes thought that the question of increasing that rate, was not "ripe for discussion" and he had had all the experience I have mentioned, as a member of the legislature and a member of the important railroad and finance Committees of the Senate. Perhaps his experience as a railroad director convinced him that the question was not "ripe."

In his reply to Senator Colby, he takes the credit for having passed during his administration, the present law by which the railroads pay at an increased ratio their main stem property. He had to pass such a bill, or take something worse for the railroads. He could not help it, so great was the pressure of public opinion, and yet he juggled with the subject so as not to give the public a full measure of relief. The law to which he refers was passed in 1906. It provides that the main stem railroad property shall pay at the average rate of taxation of the municipalities of the State, not that it shall be assessed at the tax rates of the taxing districts through which it passes. But he cunningly omits to mention two other laws which he also devised and caused to be passed at the same time as part of his reform railroad taxation. One was the obnoxious Hillery maximum tax rate law, which limited the rate of taxation beyond which municipalities could not go and the other was the County Boards of Taxation law, which gave him the power to appoint the members of the County Boards and gave them the right to boost valuations in the taxing districts. These two laws made the assessed valuations of the individual high and kept down the tax rate, thus making the "average tax rate," at which the railroads were assessed, low.

Oh no, Mr. Stokes is no railroad director and has no railroad interests and it is quite apparent he never had any. Every one must sincerely regret that Senator Colby has wounded his sensitive feelings.

LYNCH DEFENDS AGAINST ATTACK

National League President Says He Stands on His Record.

HERRMANN IS WAR LEADER.

National Commission Head Is Said to Favor Robert Brown of Louisville For Head of Organization—Several Clubs Now Said to Be Lined Up Against Lynch.

"I stand on my record as president of the National league for the past four years," says Thomas J. Lynch. "If the National league club owners see fit to drop me very well and good, but I positively will not resign. My record, I think, speaks for itself. I have always acted in the best interests of baseball, and my record is my strongest recommendation. Regarding the rumors that some of the club owners are against me, I will say nothing. I absolutely refuse to talk about it further."

The National league election will be held at the annual meeting in New York city Dec. 9. President Lynch has antagonized several club owners because of his fearless, uncompromising stand on the umpire question. He has backed them up at all times—in fact, at times when the club owners believed that the indicator holders were all wrong.

On Outs With Herrmann.

It is said that there is a wide breach between Chairman Garry Herrmann of the national commission and Mr. Lynch, who serves on the same board. It was noticed that during the world's series Mr. Herrmann and Mr. Lynch were seldom in the same vicinity. They traveled on different trains between New York and Philadelphia, and kept as far apart as possible, except when conducting the official business of the national commission.

Mr. Herrmann, it seems, is leading the opposition against President Lynch. Herrmann wants to get a candidate of his own, Robert Brown, of Louisville, a newspaper man, into the office. Mr. Lynch was the compromise candidate of the late John T. Brush, and his one hope of retaining the office is that he will still have the influence of President Harry N. Hempstead and the New York club. If Mr. Hempstead sides with the opposition, Mr. Lynch's chances will probably be slim. The New York club wields a great deal of influence in National league affairs.

Mr. Lynch, it is said, is not conducting any campaign to retain the office.

In St. Louis Schuyler P. Britton, president of the Cardinals, vehemently denies that he has "lined up with Garry Herrmann" in a scheme to oust President Lynch of the National league, as was recently printed in dispatches from Cincinnati. Britton declares that he never had any conferences with Herrmann on any other subject except the possible trading of ball players.

The New "Six"

A Motor That Can't Be Stalled

Here's a New Factor in Safety--An Additional Source of Comfort

THE PICTURE TELLS THE STORY

Any motor might lose its spark unexpectedly; the gas might be cut off accidentally. Think of the possibilities if this should occur on a crossing.

The non-stallable motor of the New Chalmers "Six" protects you in such a case. The electric starter speeds up the motor even should the gas be cut off or the spark interrupted. It keeps it running in every emergency.

It prevents "going dead" in crowded traffic; keeps it from stalling under sudden overload.

A GUARDSMAN ALWAYS ON DUTY

The starter is always ready. It comes into action automatically with the release of the clutch whenever the engine speed drops to a certain point. No need to give it a thought. Throw on the switch at the outset—that's all.

This non-stallable features of the New "Six" gives you a sensation of security that doubles your motoring pleasure.

WHERE THE NEW "SIX" IS SUPREME

No honest maker claims that a "Six" will get away any quicker—run any faster or climb any steeper hills, than a "four" of equal weight and horsepower.

But Oh! how much more smoothly, silently and easily it does it. The six cylinders give a continuous stream of power; there's no interval between explosions; the impulses are utterly imperceptible.

The entire absence of vibration nearly doubles the life of the car and the comfort of the passengers. You can tour day after day in the New "Six" with the comfort of your easy chair.

Ride in it once and you'll be forever spoiled for any "four."

HERE'S FLEXIBILITY NO FOUR CAN EQUAL

Take the wheel of the New Chalmers "Six." Push the switch of the electric starter and let in the clutch.

Notice how quietly—how smoothly it moves away. See how easily and how quickly it mounts to 20—30—40 miles an hour or throttles down to two—and then off again, without shifting gears.

That's flexibility. And it's all in the motor itself; gear shifting is seldom needed. Any auxiliary gear mechanism to secure flexibility would be merely superfluous weight.

LET THE CAR PROVE IT.

Come and see this wonderful "Six." Its classic beauty—its harmony of outline will fascinate you.

Let us take you for a ride in it. Its mystic silence—its velvety smoothness—its supple power will give you a new sensation in motoring pleasure—the thrill of speed with the luxury of rest.

THE CHALMERS CAR

Advantages of the Left Hand Drive.

"If, in the early days of automobile building, the majority of makers had designed their cars with left hand control, they undoubtedly would have been accepted without comment, and right hand drive would never have been popular," says Geo. W. Dunham, vice president of the Chalmers Company and designer of the new Chalmers "Six." "But all followed the custom common with the horse drawn vehicle. The driver's seat was located to the right, almost without exception.

"Learning to drive a car in this position, and not being offered a better control for some years at least, it naturally followed that the right hand drive came to be considered the best, and, in fact at that period of promiscuous driving previous to the strict regulation of traffic in our cities, either side was about equally satisfactory. Being used to sitting on the right hand side, it was only natural that the automobile driver should prefer to continue that custom, even after the traffic regulations made it most convenient.

"As soon as the law in most cities prescribed that all vehicles keep strictly to the right, turn square corners and stop on the right hand side of the street, the need of something different in the way of control was felt. Nearly everyone has experienced the disagreeable condition of stopping at the right hand curb, possibly in the rain, and having to get out on the left in the rain and mud. At such times the disadvantages of the old style control was forced home.

"It has been held as an argument that it would be dangerous to sit on the left, as one could not see to stop at the curb or to cut in close to a country ditch in passing an approaching vehicle. Previous to traffic regulations, no difficulty was experienced in driving up to the left curb, nor has it ever been held dangerous to cut in close to the left hand ditch when passing a vehicle going in the same direction in the country. And how much safer it is to be on left hand side of your car and be able to see around the vehicle to be passed when one is forced over on the left side of the road. The entire responsibility rests with the driver of the car about to pass the one ahead and going the same way, so he certainly needs the clearest vision he can get.

"In meeting another vehicle, both drivers face each other and naturally can pass with greater safety and a surety of not crowding. The danger always lies more with the vehicle to be passed than from the side of the road.

"Again, perhaps the most difficult condition in driving is the making of a left hand turn in heavy traffic. To make a right hand turn, one has only to edge over toward the curb and whip around the corner when the cross street is reached. But a turn the other way is altogether different. There is probably a stream of traffic going in the opposite direction on the other side of the street, and cars coming up behind which immediately try to pass to the left the moment one slows down to make a left turn. How simple it becomes when sitting on the left hand side of the car; one can glance back to note the condition behind and signal both those in the rear as well as those approaching, making the turn without danger and without loss of time. By working in close to the curb, no one can crowd past when making a right hand turn, but crowding is always a possibility when turning to the left.

"It has been stated that the driver on the left cannot open the tonneau door, and this is true with a closed car if the windows back of the driver are closed, but usually the driver of a limousine sits alone and he can easily slide over and open the door, while with an open body it is really easier to reach the right hand tonneau door from the left seat by reaching over the seat back than when sitting on the side toward the curb.

"To sum up, the chief advantages of the left hand drive are:

"First, the occupant of the front seat can step out on the curb or the street, as he may elect.

"Second. Better position in turning in traffic.

"Third. Driver can see ahead when passing a vehicle going in the same direction.

Fourth. Better position when meeting and passing a vehicle."

1914 Announcement

"4" Studebaker

ELECTRICALLY LIGHTED AND STARTED $1050

1914 Studebaker "4" $1050 Equipped

"6" Studebaker

ELECTRICALLY LIGHTED AND STARTED $1575

1914 Studebaker "6" $1575 Equipped

The Huge Facilities of Fourteen Studebaker Factories Are Centered This Year on the Production of One "Four" and One "Six"

How We Reached the $1050 Price

Understand, this new Studebaker "Four" is electrically lighted and started.

It is a full five-passenger car.

It is manufactured from "stem to stern."

Its goodness is built-in—not assembled.

As an illustration, a corps of four hundred vigilant inspectors watches every part every day.

It sells complete for $1050.

And the price is made possible:

First, by dollars and cents, volume of production.

Second, by intensified manufacturing—by focusing the facilities of these fourteen Studebaker factories on the production of two cars, one "Four," and one "Six."

See What Kind of a Car It Is

You can't appreciate the price unless you study the construction.

Listen:

Its axle is of the full-floating type, designed and built in the Studebaker plants.

It has a full-powered, long stroke, bloc motor, designed and built in the Studebaker plants.

The intake is very short and direct, placing the carburetor in the most advantageous position.

In fuel, both oil and gasoline, it will give long mileage.

Timken Bearings Where Wear is Greatest

It is a full Timken roller bearing car—at every point in the transmission and rear axle, and in the front wheel hubs.

It has left hand steer and center control.

Its construction is so simple and its adjustments so accessible that no owner needs the criticism of others; he can see for himself.

It has low, comfortable tilted, and deeply upholstered seats.

It presents a beautiful and graceful body design.

The hood slopes gradually upward and joins a deep cowl without break or offset.

Still More Built-in Goodness.

It has the gasoline tank under the cowl, affording a short, direct, gravity feed.

It has clean running-boards, with tool box and battery under the front seat.

The "Four" is equipped with the two-unit Wagner system—two units because the motor and generator functions are better accomplished by separate machines.

Gray & Davis parabolic electric lamps, brilliant and handsome in appearance, are used. The wheels are provided with detachable demountable rims and an extra rim with tire irons is attached in the rear. Wheelbase is 108 inches.

The windshield is of new design, ventilating, clear vision and rain vision.

Studebaker - Jiffy Curtains can be put in place from within the car in an instant.

Why This Price Is Wonderful

You should not dispense with manufactured qualities in a "six."

And outside of this Studebaker "SIX" you can't get them without paying a much higher price.

You get them in the Studebaker "SIX" at this price because of the Studebaker volume.

Two or three times as many "sixes" as any other plant in the world has ever produced in a year.

Every one of these, we wish to repeat—over and over again—manufactured in the strictest sense of the word.

Why This "SIX" Is A real "Six"

The motor of the Studebaker "SIX" is designed and built from the rough materials in the Studebaker plants.

Its full-floating rear axle is designed and built in the Studebaker plants.

Its transmission and differential gears are cut and machined in the Studebaker plants.

The heat-treating and hardening of parts are done in the Studebaker furnaces.

The materials are selected, and tested, and re-tested, to see that their quality remains constant, in the Studebaker laboratories.

We believe that in fuel consumption the "SIX" is at least as economical, if not more so, than any good car of equal horsepower on the market.

It is light, considering its 121-inch wheelbase, and an unusually powerful car.

For the same reason, it is very economical in the wear of tires.

This Is Not a Stinted "Six"

Observe the beauty of this Studebaker "SIX."

Can any price purchase greater beauty?

It is a seven-passenger "SIX."

Its upholstery is deep and luxurious.

It affords ample room, both in front and in the rear.

Extra Seats Fold Out of Way

The auxiliary seats fold entirely out of the way, into recesses in the back of the front seat.

Its proportions and its balance are perfect, so that the easiest riding results.

As in the Studebaker "Four" the Wagner six-volt two-unit system of electric lighting and starting is used. This equipment is reliable and wholly satisfactory.

The parabolic electric lamps are Gray & Davis' highest quality.

Rims are detachable, demountable.

The curtains are the Studebaker-Jiffy pattern, the most convenient form of the greatest improvement in automobile curtains ever devised.

The winshield of our own design, needs no stay rods, and is at once rain vision, clear vision and ventilating.

JOHNSON LAUDS EVERETT COLBY

Great Demonstration When California's Governor and Pro. Candidate Speak.

OTHER NOMINEES TALK

Moy and Fish, for Assembly, Make Brief Remarks at Largest Meeting of Bull Moose Campaign in Union County.

Elizabeth, Oct. 28.—Governor Hiram Johnson, of California, and Everett Colby made stirring addresses before a great audience in Hippodrome Hall, in Elizabeth avenue, last night. In addition the Union County Progressives Assembly candidates also spoke. Governor Johnson made a tour of this county yesterday, speaking in the interest of Mr. Colby's Gubernatorial aspirations. Before coming to this city he spoke at an open-air rally in Rahway.

Governor Johnson said last night that he believed Mr. Colby should be elected because in his platform he embodied all that the Progressives stood for, and that, if elected, he would carry out the policies advocated by former President Roosevelt.

"New Jersey today," he said, "needs a man like Everett Colby in the Govenor's chair. He has made the people's fight his fight, and he will continue to do so if you elect him. It is not sufficient, however, to elect Mr. Colby. Give him the tools to work with—a Progressive Senate and House of Assembly.

Former Senator Colby and Governor Johnson entered the hall together. They were greeted with prolonged applause. Senator Colby told of his fight in the Legislature for the reform movements. He said that former Governor Stokes, his opponent on the Republican ticket, was sotied by railroad interests that he would find it impossible to faithfully serve the people.

Mayor Harwood Fish, of Roselle Park, and former Mayor George W. V. Moy, of Plainfield, also made addresses. It was the largest rally the Progressives have held in this county during the campaign.

Two Progressive meetings have been scheduled for tomorrow night. One will be held in Bauer's Hall, Garwood, and the other in Borough Hall, Roselle. Senator Poindexter, of Washington, is scheduled to speak at both meetings. Edmund B. Osborne, who was Mr. Colby's opponent for the Gubernatorial nomination at the primary, will also make an address. Other speakers will be Assembly Candidates Fish, Moy and Morrell.

At the Roselle meeting the local candidates also will speak. Special arrangements have been made for women who desire to attend the meetings.

BORO BOARD PROVIDES FOR OUTSIDE PUPILS

A resolution was adopted by the North Plainfield Board of Education last night fixing the cost of tuition for pupils coming from other municipalities and providing that such payments be made promptly. The resolution follows:

"Pupils living out of the school district of lawful school age, shall be admitted to the school only with the concurrence of the Board of Education and on payment of $5 per quarter for the kindergarten; $7.50 per quarter for the primary; $10 per quarter for the grammar; $12.50 per quarter for the high school department, and when not taken in connection with regular work, $12.50 per half year for cooking and sewing and $12.50 per half year for woodwork. Bills to be due 30 days after beginning of the term. Pupils in arrears for such tuition to be dropped at the discretion of the Board."

FINE SINGERS AT PROCTOR'S.

The Schumann Quartet in a program of operatic selections featuring "Students Abroad," is the top-line act at Proctor's this week. The singers made a big hit last night. Davenport-Renard & Co., presented a western burlesque travesty, "On the Trail," eighteen minutes of pure nonsense. It is one of the funniest sketches presented in a long time. Elliott, Belmont and Elliott comedy acrobats, are good; The Marimbo Duo, Mexican instrumentalists, play operatic and popular selections on their sweet toned instruments. John Keefe, the monologist, was taken ill and his act will be replaced with another one today.

KINKEAD PRAISE FOR PARTY RULE

Congressman Before Large Crowd Tells of Recent Democratic Achievements.

AN OPEN AIR MEETING

Tariff Reduction a Boon to the Masses—High Tariff Benefit Only to Capitalists—Assembly Nominees Give Brief Talks.

Some five hundred citizens heard the speeches made last night by Congressman Eugene Kinkeadat an open-air mass meeting held at West Front street and Madison avenue under the auspices of the Democratic County Committee. Assembly candidates Francis V. Dobbins, William Leonard and J. J. Griffin and several local candidates also spoke. Mayor Stewart, chairman of the county committee, presided.

Kinkead denounced Edward C. Stokes, the G. O. P. gubernatorial aspirant, and said his election would mean a return to boss rule and government in the interests of a few.

"The Democratic tariff," said Kinkead, "is one of the best pieces of legislation of its kind ever enacted in any country. The high protective tariff bill advocated by the Republican party was only essential to the material interests of a few capitalists and was not beneficial to the people at large. Andrew Carnegie, in thirty years, compiled a fortune of one hundred million dollars by a protective tariff system, while those in whose sweat and toil this vast fortune was produced received scarcely a living wage.

I heard Carnegie say under oath before a Congressional investigating committee that a tariff on steel was not needed.

If a protective tariff was essential to the industrial enterprise of the American people is there any many who doubts that the Democrats would not be favorable to it as well as the Republicans. A protective tariff system is economically wrong. Woodrow Wilson promised the American people one year ago that in the event of his election he would be the spokesman of the people irrespective of party and would insist upon a downward revision of the tariff. He has kept that pledge. He is working to make that sentiment in the Declaration of Independence, which reads, "All men are created equal and endowed with certain inalienable rights," a living rather than a beautiful sentiment. He is laboring to give this nation a currency bill that will be a benefit to the manufacturers, business men and farmers, and will prevent the handful of individuals who control the finances of the nation from producing industrial depressions and financial crisis, whenever they see fit to do so, as has been the case heretofore.

Mr. Fielder has consistently carried out the Wilson principles and while this State is now in the front ranks of progressive commonwealth, there still remains much to be done and Mr. Fielder can do it. In the Bible we read, "By their fruit so ye shall know them." The Democratic party asks that you judge it by the fruit it has produced in this State for the past three years and in the country for the past seven months.

EXPLORER TO LECTURE TO BOY SCOUTS TONIGHT

One of the noted explorers of the day, Dr. Frits V. Holm, who delved into the heart of China in the interests of science, will be the guest of the Boy Scouts of Plainfield tonight in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church. It is hoped that every troop will be present to give to Dr. Holm the welcome his distinguished achievements entitle him to. Troops 7, 8, 9 and 10 will appear in full uniform and after the lecture will escort their distinguished guest to the depot in a body.

Dr. Holm's lecture will be full of intense interest. He has a happy way of putting thrills into his narratives in a modest, yet nevertheless forceful way which holds his audiences spell-bound. His experiences were exciting, but the queer people he found and the queer customs they have over there is all summed up in as interesting an hour's talk as anyone could wish to hear. The lecture is under the auspices of Troop 5, each member of which cordially invites the other troops and their friends to be present at 8 o'clock. The lantern slides will be operated by Deputy Scout Commissioner A. V. Searing, Jr.

JUVENILE CRIME AS THEIR THEME

Judge Osborn, of Essex, Chief Speaker, Tells of Purpose of Children's Court.

TO REFORM YOUTH

City Judge DeMeza, Mrs. Howard M. Canouno and Mrs. Van Hoesen Take Part in Discussion Before Monday Afternoon Club Dep't.

The miscellaneous department of the Monday Afternoon Club held a profitable meeting in the Public Library yesterday afternoon when over fifty members and friends of the club gathered for a discussion of "Juvenile Criminality." Mrs. Howard M. Canono read a paper on "Juvenile Crime," dealing with the methods used in various places to correct the small child and describing in detail the probation system and its many useful and important features. She told how the juvenile court is supplying the need for which it had been instituted and stated that one-fifth of the children arraigned before the magistrate in this court of justice never returned to the court as defendants. She classed the reformatory as the last resort and deplored the sending of children to the House of Correction for minor offenses when a reprimand or term of probation would be equally as profitable. Mrs. Canouno claimed that mental deficiency is responsible for a large percentage of the country's crime and the court's aim should be to reform and restore good character rather than to punish.

Judge Harry V. Osborne, of Essex county, treated juvenile crime from personal investigation and said:

"The subject of reforming boys interests masses of people, especially women, for men are busy with political issues and the moral questions are left to the women. The reports of the Essex county probation officer show that fifty per cent of the crimes committed in Essex county during the past year were of the juvenile nature and that a majority of the offenders come from thickly settled portions of the county. Where the population is conjested there is a greater tendency toward waywardness while in the suburbs there is comparatively little juvenile delinquency. This can be remedied by providing recreation centers such as

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR PATRICK LYNCH

Police Escort at Obsequies of Former Member of the Department.

The funeral service of Patrick Lynch, who was sergeant of the local police department for many years being one of the veterans, was held at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's R. C. church. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends, including many people who had personally known Mr. Lynch during his residence in this city.

Father B. M. Bogan, pastor of the church, officiated, assisted by Father Daniel Hogan and Father Vincent Sciolla.

There was a large and beautiful display of floral tributes, including two pillows, bearing the words "Father" and "Grandpa" and wreaths, crosses, sprays and cut flowers from relatives and friends. There was a special escort of six members of the police department who accompanied the remains from the house to the church and the cemetery. They were Patrolmen Dennis O'Keefe, Tobias Nolen, Richard Birmingham, Frank Sweeney, Martin Flatley and Nicholas Myers.

The pall-bearers were John Culhane, Michael D. O'Keeffe, J. C. Callahan, Charles W. Dodd, John Walsh, John F. McIntyre. The burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR JOHN PAUL NOLTING

The funeral of John Paul Nolting, whose death occurred on Sunday after a long illness, was held at 10 o'clock this morning at Grace church, of which he was an active member for several years. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector, officiated. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends, including a number of Mr. Nolting's business associates from New York and Philadelphia. There were also many beautiful floral tributes, including those from the church and Sunday-school. The burial will take place in Baltimore today.

FAMOUS KANSAN WILL SPEAK HERE

Wit and Eloquence Mark Talk of Henry Allen White—Colby's Final Appearance.

Everett Colby, Progressive candidate for Governor, will make his last personal appeal for the votes of Plainfield men on Thursday night at a meeting to be held in Reform Hall. He will speak for a half hour on the issues which the new party is advocating in the present campaign.

Former Congressman Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, whose ability as a speaker won for him attention even in the turbulent sessions of the Republican National convention last year, will also make an address, and his presence assures those who attend a witty and forceful talk. Mr. Allen's reputation is nation-wide and the Progressives feel certain that in presenting him as an advocate of Mr. Colby's candidacy they are offering a man second only to Governor Johnson, of California, who was unable to come to Plainfield because of the demands on his time. While it is not definitely decided it is hoped to have Mrs. Douglas Robinson, Colonel Roosevelt's sister, also here to address the meeting.

Lively music will be provided by the Dutch Arms band. It will also play on the street for an hour preceding the meeting.

HER MODISH GOWNS BROUGHT HER LUCK

Miss Kirk's Dress Lost Her Job as Teacher But She Got Better One.

Miss Florence Kirk, who decided that she would rather reserve the right to wear clothes of her choice to teaching school at Scotch Plains, has secured a more lucrative position teaching in the public schools at Fairfield, Conn., receiving $20 more a month that she got at Scotch Plains.

According to the report of a teacher's institute held in Connecticut a few days ago, officials went on record as saying that it was not up to school authorities to determine what a teacher should wear so long as it was not immodest, and so far as they were able to ascertain Miss Kirk's dress did not come in that class.

THEY SEEK TO RECOVER $10,000 FOR HER INJURIES

Elizabeth, Oct. 28.—The case of Mrs. Estelle W. Beidelman and her husband, Harry C. Beilderman, of Plainfield, against the Public Service Corporation, in which the husband is seeking to recover $10,000 from the company for the loss of his wife's services, the result of a trolley accident, is being tried before Judge Vail in the Circuit Court.

Mrs. Beidelman claims that she was injured in Plainfield on May 31, 1911, when she was a passenger on a trolley car on Putnam avenue, which collided with another car.

PROSECUTION CLOSING IN PAPILLILO MURDER CASE

Elizabeth, Oct. 28.—The second trial of Matteo Papillilo, charged with the murder of Thomas Deers in Plainfield, last May, is still on before Justice Bergen. The prosecution examined a number of witnesses yesterday afternoon and this morning, and among those on the stand this morning were Detective-Sergeant John J. Flynn, who identified Papillilo, and Dr. James F. Lawson, of Plainfield, the physician, who attended Deers. The prosecution may complete its case today.

INTERMENT HERE TOMORROW.

The remains of Mrs. Morgan S. Taylor, who died in Colorado Springs, Colo., on Sunday, are expected to arrive in this city tomorrow afternoon. The burial will take place in Hillside cemetery, upon arrival of the 2:30 train. Dr. James M. Taylor, president of Vassar College, will conduct a simple service at the grave.

MISS BEAM A BRIDE.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Florence Beam, of the borough, and Henry I. Steffen, of Johnston avenue, this city. The couple was married Saturday evening by Rev. J. O. McKelvey at his home on Grandview avenue. They will reside in this city. The bridegroom is employed by Woolston & Buckle.

G. O. P. SCHEDULES WEEK'S MEETINGS

Neighborhood Rallies Arranged by the Republican City Committee.

SPEAKERS ANNOUNCED

Candidates and Other Local Men as Spellbinders — Instructions for Party Workers Given at Last Night's Meeting.

The City Republican Committee together with the advisory committee met in the Frost building, last night, when instructions were given to the party workers, including challengers as to election day duties, and a series of ward meetings were announced for the week as follows:

Tonight, Washington School—City Judge W. G. DeMeza, Leighton Calkins, Juan A. Babcock, John H. Cose, Martin B. Stutsman, Thomas F. Hylan, John J. Carroll.

Wednesday night, Church of the Heavenly Rest parish house—City Judge W. G. DeMeza, Leighton Calkins, Juan A. Babcock, John H. Cose, Martin B. Stutsman, Charles C. Graves, John J. Jarroll, Thomas F. Hylan. Nonpareil Club, St. Mary's avenue—City Judge W. G. DeMeza, Juan A. Babcock, John H. Cose, Martin B. Stutsman, A. A. Prudhon, J. J. Carroll, William Page.

Thursday night, Bryant School—City Judge W. G. DeMeza, Leighton Calkins, Juan A. Babcock, John H. Cose, Martin B. Stutsman, George C. Clay, John J. Carroll.

Friday night, Kunzman's Hall—City Judge W. G. DeMeza, Juan A. Babcock, John H. Cose, Martin B. Stutsman, Charles C. Graves, John J. Carroll, Thad. Doane, Ja., Dr. N. W. Currie.

Saturday night, West Front street and Madison avenue—City Judge W. G. DeMeza, Leighton Calkins, Juan A. Babcock, John H. Cose, Martin B. Stutsman, A. A. Prudhon, George S. Clay, Charles C. Graves, Thomas F. Hylan, William Newcorn, John J. Carroll.

There was some talk of holding a meeting on Monday night, possibly at the Plainfield theatre, provided arrangements can be made with the borough Republicans to transfer the meeting announced for Thursday night in the borough when Senator Albert B. Cummins, of Iowa, is to be the chief speaker.

BORO SCHOOL BOARD WANTS A LOW RATE

Insurance Fee for Somerset Building is Considered Too High.

The law bill fixing fire insurance rates which went into effect Oct. 15 last, has caused trouble for the North Plainfield Board of Education for in a communication to be sent to the Commissioner of Insurance it will complain that the rate at applying to the Somerset school building is too high. This was decided at last night's meeting of the Board. A communication in reply to one addressed by the Board asking for a lower rate of insurance was received from an insurance concern stating that the rates were fixed by law and that the only way that a reduction would be made would be to apply to Commissioner of Insurance George M. LaMonte.

The placing of the insurance on the school property with an agent paying taxes in the borough was strongly urged. It was at first suggested to distribute the writing up of the policies to various insurance men but this was opposed, it being finally agreed to place the insurance with the lowest bidder, could one be secured that would give a lower rate than the others.

TO CELEBRATE OPENING.

Mrs. Florence Stahl Patrick, formerly of New York, will open her bungalow, "Flocroft," at Lincoln, with a birthday dinner on Sunday, November 2. Invitations have been sent to relatives and friends in New York, Paterson and Passaic.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 60 degrees; 11 a. m., 66 degrees; 1 p. m., 72 degrees.

Take Notice.

Bricklayers and Masons:

There will be a special meeting of Union No. 14 on Wednesday, October 29, at 8 o'clock.

AIM TO REDUCE SCHOOL EXPENSE

North Plainfield Board to Renew Investigation to Low Cost of Maintenance.

ROUTINE BUSINESS

Engage Janitor—Teacher Granted Leave of Absence—School Custodian's Report and His Salary Put at $100.

For the ultimate purpose of reducing the expense of the running of the public school system in North Plainfield, the Board of Education last night decided to renew investigations and new plans were discussed for bringing about a satisfactory solution to the problem. E. C. Boyer said that although he had found that the present registration is one less than in 1906 there are now eight additional instructors employed. Supervising Principal Arthur B. Vosseler and President J. H. Cooley stated that the school laws have since been revised calling for a larger corps of teachers. Mr. Vosseler volunteered to make a report showing causes why more teacher are not needed and submit it at a meeting on Monday night, November 10.

In his monthly report, Mr. Vosseler outlined a new system of dealing with truants and absentees, which he declared, would increase the income from the State and also stated that 300 borough children were attending private schools, causing a loss to North Plainfield in the State appropriation. Mr. Boyer stated that the New Jersey laws required the borough to employ a truant officer but it was the opinion that this expense could not be forced on the borough. The Board decided to give John Griffiths a trial as assistant engineer and janitor at a salary of $50 a month and vouchers for $4,873.63 and $249.14 were ordered paid.

Upon the request of Miss Eva Terry, subscriptions to two magazines were ordered for the High School course. Miss Ellen Dugan was granted a leave of absence until November 3. It was decided to purchase a variety saw and other apparatus for $155 for the manual training department. The finance committee was authorized to borrow $500 from the State Trust Company and the payment of an architect's bill for designing the new lavatories, amounting to $319.56, was ordered paid.

As custodian of school funds, George F. Brown requested a samry of $200 a year but the Board saw fit to grant but $100. Mr. Brown's report showed a balance to date of $2,730.96, with disbursements amounting to $5 451.99. The heating, ventilating and bond account showed a balance of $628.20.

Mr. Vosseler suggested that the High School be permitted to co-operate with Mrs. McNeill Hopcraft in giving a benefit musical recital Thanksgiving Day but no action was taken in the matter.

THIRTY-SIX INDICTMENTS BY UNION GRAND JURY

Elizabeth, Oct. 28.—Thirty-six more true bills were found by the Union County Grand Jury yesterday. It is expected that in the batch is an indictment against Gray B. Lester, of Irvington, for violation of the Mann "white slave act."

Lester is charged with misconduct with Mrs. John F. Leonard, of Elizabeth avenue, this city.

OLD NASSAU MUSICAL CLUBS TO APPEAR HERE

The Princeton Glee, Banjo and Mandolin Clubs will give a concert at the Hartridge Auditorium on Wednesday evening, November 25, the night before Thanksgiving, under the auspices of the Princeton Club of Plainfield. The concert will be followed by a dance and a delightful evening is assured. The clubs this year are said to be stronger and better than ever and as it has been sometime since the musical organization from Old Nassau has been heard here, the event should be of unusual interest.

P. N. HONEYMAN'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Peter N. Honeyman, aged 73 years, brother of A. V. D. Honeyman, of this city, who died at his home in New Germantown on Sunday, the result of a fall from the roof of his porch, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock at the late home. Rev. Charles B. Emple, of the Lutheran church, will officiate. Mr. Honeyman was a son of Dr. and Mrs. John Honeyman. For many years he conducted a general store at Mountainville and at one time he was receiver for the old Rockaway Valley Railroad.

C. O. S.'S REVIEW AND NEW PLANS

Arranging for a Housing and Sanitation Survey of the Entire City.

TO ENGAGE AN EXPERT

To Ask Freeholders' Board to Establish County Workhouse—Reports Read—Dr. Henry M. Maxson Re-elected President.

The Charity Organization Society at its annual meeting at the Plainfield Public Library, last night, voted to appropriate $250 to a fund of $100 with which to have a complete survey of the city with a view to getting definite information as to the housing and sanitation problems, and for the advancement of the interests of the work in fighting tuberculosis.

The action was taken following the report of Dr. F. E. DuBois, chairman of the committee on housing and sanitation. He stated that the Anti-Tuberculosis Society had appropriated $100 for the survey and that an additional $250 would be needed. The work is to be done by an expert from the Russell Foundation or the National Housing Commission.

Another important matter discussed was that in reference to the plan to put county prisoners to work and thereby make it possible for the married men to contribute something toward the support of their families. This will be taken up in earnest with the Board of Freeholders, a resolution offered by S. T. Carter, Jr., to that effect being adopted.

The following trustees were chosen for the coming year: S. T. Carter, Jr., Mrs. J. M. Charles, Dr. F. E. DuBois, Mrs. Eugene H. Hatch, J. Albert Lane, Rev. J. O. McKelvey, Dr. Henry M. Maxson, Rev. William S. McCoy, John D. Miller, H. C. Munger, Dr. William H. Murray, Miss Mabel E. Pierson, Mrs. Charles E. Ryder, Mrs. Dexter Tiffany and Mrs. William M. Wherry, Jr.

Following the annual meeting the trustees met and elected the following officers: President, Dr. Henry M. Maxson; vice presidents, Mrs. Charles E. Ryder and S. T. Carter, Jr.; treasurer, J. Albert Lane; secretary, Dr. William H. Murray.

Following the reports of the evening, all of which proved interesting, C. L. Stonaker, general secretary of the State Charities Aid Society, addressed those present on charity work in general and particularly referring to the work in State institutions.

The report of the treasurer, J. Albert Lane, showed the receipts for the year to be $8,269.29, some of the items being as follows: Contributions, unrestricted, $3,040; restricted, $2,557.87; churches and subscriptions, $170; Christmas contributions, $199.13; summer work, $133; through relief committee,

ALUMINUM SHOWER FOR MISS BERTRUDE TOWNLEY

Miss Bertrude Townley, of Grandview avenue, was given an aluminum "shower" Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. William H. Jackson, of Irvington. The "shower" was in honor of the approaching marriage of Miss Townley to Henri Portier, of Newark. Mrs. Jackson arranged the affair so well that Miss Townley and Mr. Portier were completely surprised when they were presented with a clothes-basket full of aluminum ware as the booby prize in a game of "hearts."

The basket contained many beautiful and useful gifts.

Many of Miss Townley's friends from New York, Newark, Roselle, Cranford and Plainfield were present.

DUTCH ARMS BAND AT COURT UNION SESSION

Court Union, No. 3277, Independent Order Foresters, at its meeting last night, enjoyed a fine program of music by the Dutch Arms Concert Band, after which an oyster supper was served to the members and friends. It was expected that Prosecutor Fred A. Pope, of Somerville, would be present to give the members a talk on the increased rates, which has caused so much discussion, but he was obliged to attend a meeting of the district officers of the order. Arrangements will probably be made to have Mr. Pope speak in the near future.

THE STATESMAN

who can best serve his people is he whose hands are free. If he is tied down with "promises to do" this or that, he must often turn from the course his better judgement would urge him to follow; likewise the merchant, be he manufacturer, jobber or retailer. If the manufacturer pays 25% commission to someone that brings him buyers, that manufacturer must add 5% to the cost price of his product. His customer does in every instance indirectly pay the increased cost. Such manufacturer can't possibly compete with the man whose hands are free, when instead of surrendering a good part of his sales to a go-between, cuts every useless expense item clean out, buys and sells his wares for the least amount possible and gives his customers the benefit thereof. It has always been the policy of this firm to buy the best for the least and in turn sell the best for the least, to eliminate all unnecssary expenses, thereby making our overhead expense the smallest and our values the greatest of any firm doing business in this particular locality.

A merchant if he be successful must make up the selling price of his wares; First, cost of article; second, cost to do business; third, his profit. Isn't it common sense, that if his cost to do business has been increased by giving away some one thing or another, his price to you must be relatively increased. We give our patrons polite, courteous attention, prompt service, the lowest price possible for any given article we sell, nothing more. Think this over and you'll always trade at

NATION'S WEALTH AND GROWTH ARE FOUNDED UPON FORESTRY

Primary Object Is the Perpetuation of Our Country.

An Established Profession That Is Studied Extensively.

IN the popular mind forestry deals with the preservation and utilization of the timberlands of our country. In reality the primary object of the forestry policy of the United States is the perpetuation of the country. No other enterprise is so intimately associated with its welfare and prosperity. Forestry stands as the foundation of the future growth and wealth of the nation, according to Dr. Carlton C. Curtis of Columbia university.

It should be remembered that in the original forests of the United States the timber exceeded in quantity and variety that found in any other area of similar size in the world, that from the original 850,000,000 acres these forests have dwindled to less than 550,000,000 acres, and that of this territory but one-fifth belongs to the United States—forests privately owned containing four-fifths of the standing timber—and that the present rate of cutting is three times the annual growth of the forests.

In stating the forestry situation of the United States two important features must be considered. In fifty years we shall have a population of 150,000,000, and Raphael Zon, chief of the bureau of silviculture, estimates that the forests will be reduced to one fourth the area of the country, or 450,

FOREST RANGER ON THE LOOKOUT.

000,000 acres, and that one-half of our area will be devoted to agriculture. Granting that the one-fourth forested area of the country will be sufficient to maintain favorable agricultural conditions, the question naturally arises, Will this 450,000,000 acres meet the demands of the country for timber? Statistics of European countries show that approximately one acre of timber land is required per capita. But at the present time we are using six times as much timber per capita as in France and Germany, and our forests are producing about one-third as much an acre. The hardwood supply is now nearing exhaustion, some kinds of wood are practically out of the market, and the stands of soft woods will not meet our requirements for more than twenty-five or thirty years.

Meanwhile the world's demand for timber is increasing at the rate of 5 per cent annually. Europe has an annual deficit of 140,000,000 cubic feet. The great lumber producing countries of Sweden, Norway, Austria and Hungary are furnishing their maximum output.

It is evident, therefore, that our forests must be under the control of the very best forestry methods. This means a very large number of specially trained men. A century and a half ago Germany faced the same situation that we are facing today. Extensive forest reserves were established, and the future cut was based upon the natural increment, so that a sustained yield was insured, and there was no lessening of the wood capital of the country.

We can hardly be said to have a national forest policy. The small force of government officials is unable to give proper care to the national forests, while less than 1 per cent of the private holdings are under any kind of forest administration. The neglect of the forests since 1870 has entailed an average annual loss of $50,000,000 and fifty lives through forest fires, while wasteful timbering operations cause the loss of from one-third to one-half of every tree that is felled.

Although during the last decade forestry has developed with remarkable rapidity and the inauguration of forest management on the national forests, the activity of various states in public forestry and the increasing interest of private owners in timber growing and protection have resulted in a marked demand for trained foresters, the work in this country has but just begun.

The first professional school to be established was opened at Cornell university in 1898. Two years later the Yale forest school followed. As far back as 1897 a private school in forestry was in operation at Biltmore, N. C., with Dr. Carl Alwin Schenk (in connection with his work on the Vanderbilt estate), and a school for rangers was inaugurated at Mont Alto, Pa., by the state of Pennsylvania in 1903.

Today twenty-two institutions give courses leading to a degree in forestry, and nearly twice that number include forestry in their curricula. It is estimated that there are about 1,000 young men studying in the forest schools and more than half again as many forest rangers, who, beginning with no technical knowledge of forestry, have, by their experience gained in national and state forestry work under technical direction, acquired considerable knowledge of certain phases of the work.

Forestry may then be considered as an established profession in the United States. Hundreds of young men are considering it as a life vocation and are eager to be informed regarding the character of the work involved, the elements necessary for success, the requirements for an adequate training, the present and probable future opportunities for work and its possibilities as a means of livelihood.

FOR THE NEW COUNCIL.

When the candidates to be elected next week take their seats as members of the Common Council, it is to be hoped that they, co-operating with the hold-over members, will take up in earnest the proposal for municipal control of garbage and ashes collection and disposal. This question is a very serious matter and there is no reasonable excuse for the procrastination that has been evident since the Board of Health first agitated it some twelve years ago.

Plainfield boasts of being a well regulated and up-to-date municipality. It has just claim to standing as a progressive community. We have about all the conveniences, comforts and improvements that any small city could desire or expect, excepting this one thing. The present unsanitary, shiftless and antiquated method of disposal of refuse is a disgrace to the place. The taxpayers have a right to demand that the city take charge of the work; it is a part of the functions of government. When a visitor comes within our gates and his eyes meet one of the old ramshackle ash-carts or dilapidated and unsanitary garbage wagons, what does he think of our government? What does he think of our people for tolerating the condition? And what do the taxpayers themselves think of it? There can be and is but one answer. Then, why not insist that we have decent, orderly, sanitary and satisfactory collection and disposal and in the only possible way—by municipal control?

Will the incoming Common Council act?

There will be no crooked work if he can help it, should former Mayor George W. V. Moy be elected to the Assembly. While chief executive of Plainfield some people thought he was narrow but that was simply because he wouldn't wink at violations of the laws and ordinances and was no respector of persons. He believed that there was one law for all and that its enactment was intended for its enforcement.

About the most unreliable election forecast is that which emanates from the candidate's manager. He generally claims all in sight and a good instance of this is furnished in our own Gubernatorial contest.

When a man calls another "a liar" he is generally subjected to corporal chastisement, but if that punishment were to be meted out to political spellbinders most of them would be in the hospital.

As to his position concerning the equal suffrage resolution, the leaders in the "Votes for Women" movement claim that Acting Governor Fielder's statement is an explaination that doesn't explain.

George L. Babcock, the Republican nominee for the Assembly, is a clean cut young and able local business man, who is making his mark and holds the esteem of his fellow townsmen.

Alfonso is having trouble finding a premier. Well, we have a whole lot of statesmen out of jobs from which he might make a pick.

The next Governor will have twenty-four judges to appoint. Too bad for the lawyers that they can't support all three nominees.

The contributed editorial for next Saturday's issue will be written by a public official.

Be on your guard against the "eleventh hour" political canard.

General Apathy is very conspicuous in this campaign.

Do It For Plainfield.

POPE MFG. COMPANY IN RECEIVER'S HANDS

(By Telegraph to the Daily Press.)

Hartford, Conn., Oct. 28.—The application for a receivership for the Pope Manufacturing Company, made today, was granted on petition of the New Departure Manufacturing Company, of Bristol, Conn., and F. F. Small, of West Hartford, Conn., stockholders of the concern. Col. George Pope was named receiver. The application was a friendly one. The received was authorized by the court to continue the business. A statement was issued from the office of the company today in which it was declared that restricted credit was the cause of the receivership and also apprehension over the maturity of $1,000,000 six per cent. debenture notes of the company.

LABORER MET DEATH ON RAILROAD TRACK

Somewhere in Russia a mother and several children are anxiously awaiting instructions, and money, with which to come to this country to join their husband and father respectively, who several months ago came to America and settled in Dunellen. But unknown to themselves their prospects of united happiness was forever ended, because this morning the dutiful father and devoted husband was killed by a Jersey Central railroad engine, hauling a number of coal cars. The dead man is Gabour Mallenauer, 27 years old, and lived in Chestnut street, Dunellen.

Mallenauer, who is a Slav, as he left his family to come to America, promised to work hard and make enough money to send for his loved ones in several months. He went to work this morning as usual as a laborer with a section gang working around the railroad roundhouse, near Dunellen. Unheeding the warning of the foreman, shortly after 9 o'clock, he stepped directly in front of a passing coal train.

His mutilated body was picked up by his fellow workman and is now in Runyon's undertaking establishment, Front street, Dunellen.

BANG! POOR FUSKO.

Louis Fusko, of 313 North avenue, received slight bruises yesterday afternoon while riding a bicycle, when he ran into an automobile owned by Mrs. George P. Mellick, of 218 East Seventh street. The accident happened in Washington street. No blame was attached to the chauffeur.

CHURCH

RAINMAKING FALLACIES.

Nature's Processes Too Gigantic to Be Imitated by Man.

Warm air is like a sponge. It will suck up a lot of moisture and carry it without spilling any. But if warm air, well loaded with moisture, is suddenly cooled the sponge is squeezed and the moisture falls out as rain.

Many years ago some hopeful gentlemen went to one of our arid regions and exploded a lot of dynamite on the theory that the concussion would mix the strata of warm air near the earth with the cooler strata above and so cause the necessary precipitation of moisture. There happened to be light showers about the time of the experiments, which encouraged the experimenters, but didn't convince anybody else

The fact is that nature's rainmaking machine is too gigantic to be affected by the puny efforts of humans—at least by any methods so far discovered.

Nature pumps the moisture laden air up into the cold regions of the upper atmosphere with a wheel a thousand miles in diameter. When this tremendous wheel of air is revolving normally it hoists millions of tons of water vapor to an elevation where it can no longer be carried in solution and so falls in rain.

When the wheel is off adjustment it is as futile to bombard the sky with dynamite as it would be to fire popgun corks at the side of the latest Dreadnought.—Kansas City Star.

Power of Desire.

It has been said of Abraham Lincoln that as a boy he read less than a half dozen books and that they were such books as "Pilgrim's Progress," Weems' "Life of Washington" and a popular history of the United States written in almost primary language. Yet Lincoln was able to express himself more clearly than almost any public or literary man of his time. Such is the power of desire.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Nelson and family, of West Fifth street, will remove on November 1 to Jersey City.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Hopkins, of West Sixth street, are entertaining relatives from York, Pa.

STOKES ADDRESSES 500 AT ELIZABETH

Republican Party He Says Has Been Nearest Right in Last Fifty Years.

Elizabeth, Oct. 28.—Former Governor Edward C. Stokes made his only visit to Union county in his campaign last night and addressed more than 500 persons in Proctor's Broad Street Theatre. Former Governor Fostor N. Voorhees was chairman. In addition addresses were made by county and local candidates.

"If what I am told by those who ought to know is true," said Mr. Stokes, "Union county will give a plurality to the Republican ticket. This will mean that the next Governor of this State will be a Republican.

"I come here as a Republican, but I do not claim that that party has always been right. In the past fifty years, however, it has been nearer right than the other parties.

FIELDER STEPS OUT; TAYLOR ACTING GOV.

Youthful Speaker of House to Discharge Duties of Executive Until Jan. 1.

Trenton, Oct. 27.—Acting Governor James F. Fielder signed his formal resignation from that office here yesterday and filed it with Secretary of State Crater. Upon the filing of the resignation Speaker of the House Leon R. Taylor, of Monmouth county, was sworn in as Acting Governor by Chancellor Walker.

Governor Fielder's resignation is short and brief. It reads as follows:

"To secretary of state and to the Governor, or person administering the government: I hereby resign my commission as a member of the Senate from the county of Hudson. Very truly yours, (Signed) JAMES F. FIELDER."

A long conference behind closed doors was held by Governor Fielder and Mr. Taylor at the executive office here yesterday. Although no announcement was made it is generally believed that an understanding was reached on several important matters that will probably come up during Mr. Taylor's incumbancy of the executive office.

All pending matters of business have been disposed of as far as possible by Governor Fielder, so that his successor can enter upon his new duties today with a clean slate. Governor Fielder's last formal interview to representatives of the press took place yesterday morning. The Governor appeared to be in jubilant spirits about the outlook for his chances in next month's election. He predicted that he will carry the coming election by a plurality of not less than 50,000.

Mr. Taylor announced here yesterday that he would make no change in the personnel of the executive force. He declared that upon taking the oath of office he will give out a brief statement giving the public an idea of the course he will follow until the regularly elected Governor is sworn in next January.

REALTY TRANSFERS.

The following transfers of local property have been recorded in the office of the county registrar, F. H. Smith: Frederick L. Way et ux. to Edward J. Way, northeasterly side Watchung avenue, corner S. Hirsch, $1; Leon M. Livingston et ux. to Fred C. Gaskill, northerly side West Sixth street, 203 feet of Lee place, $1; Fred C. Gaskill to Bertha Livingston, same as above, $1; P. Frank Stone to Andrew Olsen, southerly side line of Bergen street, 652 feet easterly of West Third street, $1. This contract has also been filed: Leo Slonim with Conniff Bros., mason work new building, West Front street, $1,718.

BORO STORE LOOTED.

The grocery and confectionery store of Joseph A. Church, at 103 Somerset street, North Plainfield, was entered by thieves last night and $15 in cash and about $5 worth of cigars and cigarettes taken. Entrance was effected by forcing a rear door. The police evidently have not learned of the looting as no record was made of the burglary by Chief Weiss.

CAR HITS HACK.

Harry Barry, of 18 Howard street, North Plainfield, a hackman, reported to the police that a Fourth street trolley car ran into his vehicle last night at East Fourth street and Watchung avenue. No one was hurt, but the hack was badly damaged.

ANOTHER PENNANT.

Miss Spencer, the Domestic Science instructor, added another pennant to the collection being made in the school this morning when she donated a large green banner with the word "Simmons" written in brown felt.

$306.84; investments, $260 larger than preceding year. The cash deposits in the City National Bank amount to $690.91 and this year's balance amounts to $139. The society was able to turn back into the capital account $1,000.

Mrs. Charles E. Ryder, chairman of the relief committee, gave a brief review of that committee's work, and Miss Carman gave an interesting report of the friendly visiting committee work, showing that forty families had been visited. Miss Mabel E. Pierson reported for the printing and publicity committee, and Mrs. Eugene H. Hatch, chairman of the membership committee, reported 139 new subscribers for the year.

Miss Lovell, of the office staff, reported expenditures for the year amounting to $3,596.33, with a balance of $136.01. S. T. Carter, Jr., made the following report for the legal committee:

Your committee has met regularly every Thursday afternoon during the past year except for the summer months, when the meetings have occurred on every other Thursday.

It has had before it the same problems as have prevailed in previous years and seem continuously to prevail in any community of the size of Plainfield, and it is astonishing how varied and sometimes intricate these problems are.

The question of the unemployed of the family deserted by its wage earner and left without visible means of support, of homes wrecked by the misconduct of some of the inmates, of the delinquent child and the sometimes more delinquent parent have all been before us.

While some of these questions seem to have been solved to the satisfaction of the parties concerned there are many of such problems which under existing conditions cannot be satisfactorily solved.

Among such existing conditions is one which has been much before the public of late; namely and in brief the fact that no system prevails by which men who have been sent to jail for minor offences can be made to work and so contribute to the support of their families while serving their sentences.

It is our belief that more will be accomplished by giving greater attention to the conditions which generate the problem and less to the results of such conditions, and this is the excuse for interjecting this particular question in the annual report of the legal committee to the exclusion of what is generally reported.

It is our feeling from the character of cases which are continually coming before this committee, that it is of vital importance that the attention of the public be now focused on the problem of jail labor to the end that there may be a solution near at hand.

In this connection your chairman has had several talks with a member of the New York State Prison Commission and has seen the correspondence which passed between him and the man of all others, who seems to have solved this important problem.

That man is Sheriff Tracy, of Montpelier, Vermont, and what he has accomplished can best be shown by a quotation from one of the letters in question, which is as follows:

"I have not handled great numbers of prisoners at any one time but have had control of a county jail carrying from twenty to sixty persons for fourteen years, the first six under a law that kept the men in confinement, never permitting the men to step outside the jail doors. In 1906 the Legislature passed a very crude prison labor law, that contemplated working men on the outside, under guard. I very soon found out that was not as successful as it might be and commenced to give the men a part of their earnings and work them on their honor. From the standpoint of a county jail I feel that I have had wonderful success. I believe we have worked over thirteen hundred men without guard and have had only three attempt to escape and during the last three years not one has attempted to. We have been able to pay back in the State Treasury over $5,000 besides buying clothing and all the expense connected with this work. What is better, we have seen many a man support his little family from jail earnings while serving sentence. This, of course, has taken time, patience and perseverance, but today we feel well repaid for all the work in this line."

It may be added supplementing this letter that a letter received within a few days from the member of the New York Commission in question states that he has visited the Montpelier jail, has seen the system at work, and has found that the only men left in the jail were, to quote his own words, "a few men too old to work, drunks recovering from a debauch and one or two boys who could not be trusted."

If the example of this official were followed it would be no longer possible for a governor of one of our States to say, as did Governor Foss, of Massachusetts, a few days ago:

"Let me declare in all seriousness that the managers of my own shops and factories make a more efficient and intelligent sorting and reclamation of scrap metal than the laws have generally made of the living men and women that have been thrown upon the scrap heap of our jails and prisons."

And, to come nearer home, if Sheriff Tracy's example could be followed in our county, it would not be exaggerating matters to say that the work of the legal committee of the Charity Organization Society of Plainfield would be decreased by at least one-half.

Miss Elsie Burke chairman of the committee on nursing bureau, told of the work accomplished by the bureau and at the Day Nursery, after which Miss Mabel Phillips presented a fine report for the executive committee. It was in part as follows:

About the same number of families have been cared for as in the two previous years—namely 444 in 1913 against 450 in 1912 and 456 in 1911. In the relief of these people we have spent $3,593.08 as against $3,928.24 last year, a decrease of $335 and six families. The relief committee has used every endeavor to make $1 go as far as a dollar will and in this connection I might bring to your attention the uses of the Perpetual Rummage Sale sales aggregated $306.84, a goodly sum, surely, leaving a neat balance for the work even after carting bills and materials used for sewing ($269.28) have been taken out.

The case work which had formerly taken the entire time of two secretaries fell upon one secretary and an assistant who has had besides the clerical work of both treasurer and secretary. The number of visits this year, 3,876 against 4,840 in 1912, is an index of this decrease while the office interviews (6,933 in 1913 against 6,633) show no diminution. The clerical work of the office has shown the balancing increase; 5,586 letters written in 1913 against 3,994 in 1912. The increased assistance rendered by committees is shown in the total aggregate of attendance at meeting 708 in 1913 against 580 in 1912. It has not been possible to give full justice to each problem although the 31 volunteer visitors (against 36 in 1912) have added hands, feet and heads to the office staff.

Nevertheless we have been able to obtain work for 74 applicants against 85 in 1912 and 78 in 1911 had 81 admitted to institutions against 87 in 1912 and 98 in 1911 (none of the 81 being normal healthy children of course), 38 have been placed in private homes against 54 in 1912 and 28 in 1911 and 61, it was necessary to bring before the court against 94 in 1912 and 64 in 1911. 128 referred to doctors or clinic against 569 in 1912 and 98 in 1911.

Mr. Stonaker, of Jersey City, touched upon the subject of dependency and crimes, the work being accomplished to combat tuberculosis, the county workhouse plan which is now receiving encouragement in some parts of the State.

As for the county workhouse plan, Mr. Stonaker said that it could be adopted in every county. He touched upon the plan in Minneapolis where several thousand dollars were netted last year from raising flowers and sending them to market.

DELEGATE'S REPORT ON P. O. S. OF A. MEET

Mrs. Andrew McDowell Tells of National Convention Work.

Mrs. Andrew McDowell, who was a delegate from Washington Camp, No. 1, Patriotic Order of America, to the national camp at Atlantic City, has prepared an interesting report which she will present to the local camp at its next meeting. She brought home with her a concurrent resolution for a change in the American flag, which was protested by the camp. The national president made an earnest plea against such action, adding that now is the time to show the patriotism of the members and stand by the flag that "Betsy" made and that George Washington accepted as the ensign of liberty and that the forefathers bled and died for.

The national secretary's report showed that thirteen additional camps were instituted during the year, making the total enrollment to date 20,653 or 68 per cent. of the entire membership of the order. During the year there was paid out 169 death claims amounting to $40,266.66, which is $1,200 more than paid the previous year. To date there have been paid out 1,327 claims amounting to $314,053.73.

Indiana carried home the honors for having the largest gain in membership, which was a silk flag. One member secured seventy-three members for her home camp. Camps 31 and 13, of Atlantic City, gave a banquet Tuesday evening and on Wednesday both orders met and was visited by the local delegation and escorted to the president's chair. It was stated hat the president is the first full-fledged American that had every occupied the chair because she came from Chicago where women can vote.

The officers elected were as follows: President, Mrs. Minnie Bonn, of Chicago; assistant president, Dr. E. L. Maurer, of Pennsylvania; vice president, Mrs. Harriet Smith, of Connecticut; assistant vice president William Fairing, of Maryland; secretary, George H. Smith, of Phillipsburg; treasurer, Mrs. Emily S. Harkins, of Philadelphia; conductor, Miss Hannah Myers; assistant, George Baker, both of New Jersey; guard, Mrs. Emily Stevens, of New York; sentinel, Mrs. Elizabeth Stunt, of Pennsylvania. New Jersey has three national officers. The next place of meeting will be Syracuse, N. Y.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 25.

IN these days of widely read Classified advertising, there isn't much excuse for an individual with a Want to go long with that Want unfulfilled.

Time was when the mention of "advertising" caused the average man to look scared and take a firmer hold on his pocketbook.

That was because advertising was looked upon as a sort of necessary evil—good enough for those who could afford it, but beyond the experimental reach of the masses.

Today that sort of sentiment does not exist. Advertising is recognized as a potent factor in the world's progress—not alone by the big merchant who spends thousands of dollars annually in telling the public his business story through the newspapers, but by even the woman who wants a good cook or the man-out-of-a-job who is seeking desirable employment.

You can tell an average Want Ad. story pretty thoroughly in three or four lines. Do you know what that means? It means that, at a cost of 30 or 40 cents, your Want will be brought to the attention of hundreds—yes, thousands—of readers.

All of us, at some time or other, have occasion to say something to the great public—to set before it some ware or want. The best place to say it—and results will prove this statement true—is in the Classified columns of this newspaper.

Nursery Neatness.

The habit of neatness is a difficult one to instill in the average child. That is to say, it is difficult to instill if you do not begin until the child is five or six years old. You should begin when the child is still a baby.

Neat table manners are not very difficult to manage. Let the child sit at the family table, occasionally, when it is set for the grown-ups. It soon becomes impressed with the fact that the table is attractive and dainty and without much effort learns to do its part in keeping the table neat.

Let the child's dishes be as much like those of the other members of the family as possible. The flittle thumb spoons are a great convenience, no doubt, and so are baby plates. But the child who learns to eat with a spoon, the handle of which fastens securely around his thumb has to learn over again to eat with the spoon he must hold in his fingers. Better results are gained sometimes by giving the smalfl child an ordinary spoon, and patiently forgiving a good deal of spilling to begin with, in order that the child may learn how to manage the spoon without trouble.

Sometimes much untidiness can be cured if the child is allowed to wear a napkin instead of a bib. It is impressed with the fact that it is allowed to have the same sort of napkin used by the grown-ups at dinner, and regrets each spot with such sincerity that it soon learns to avoid them. If the child wears a napkin, fasten it about the neck with two little clips on a short chain, which are sold especially for this purpose. The clips can be of silver or gold, and some are decorated with small enamel flowers. The very daintiness of the clips makes the child careful to keep the napkins clean, so that he may not have to forfeit the privilege of wearing it—and the clips—to go back to the bib.

Make It Comfortable.

It is one thing to make the child keep itself as neat as possible. It is quite another thing to make it uncomfortable with constant admonitions to be careful about soiling or rumpling its clothes.

Let it wear clothes that a little dust and dirt and crushing will not injure. Cover it with a big apron if you would keep its dress clean. When you wash its face and hands, or let it wash them, either take off its dress or else slip a square or rubber sheeting, with a slit for its head, over its shoulders to keep its clothes dry. When it is going to play out of doors or on the floor put rompers over its other clothes. Let its play hat and coat be durable and of some material that can be easily cleaned.

First, teach it to be neat; next, try not to make being neat a burden to it. (Copyright, 1913, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

The Sabbath Day

A Sermon by

Rev. Dr. G. R. Maguire

The first day of the week is recognized throughout Christiandom as the Sabbath of rest and worship. This of itself ought to be a sufficient answer to all opponents for there is no power under heaven that could have changed the day without the sanction of the Lord Jesus Himself. I know our friends, like Mr. Stillman and others, tell us that Constantine changed the day and that we are following the decree of some Pope. This is not true. Constantine did not give us the Christian Sabbath, yet this is the Shibboleth of all their arguments. After Constantine came to the throne he was converted to the Christian faith and sought at once to marry church and State and to give new authority by the edicts of the State to the Christian faith and the Christian Sabbath. He did not give a new Sabbath, but he did make legal enactments for the keeping of the Christian Sabbath and so sought to crush out the observance of the Jewish Sabbath and to secure unity of worship throughout his kingdom. The first edict was given in 321 A. D. and there has been more or less legislation concerning this day ever since or until the temporal power of the Papacy was overthrown in 1870.

Now please anwser why the eighth day is so often spoken of in the Jewish economy. The first born of the cattle and sheep were to be given to God on the eighth day.—Exodus 22:30. Now, why was not the gift to be made on the seventh or ninth day, instead of the eighth.? It was a pointer to another eighth day when the first born to be given back to Him in resurrection life.

As the late Dr. Mallory so ably expresses: "The Christian dispensation was to be an advance on the Mosaic dispensation." So that we might expect a new memorial day in commemoration of the mightier work of Grace. Why was the act of circumcision required on the eighth day What is the significance of the Great Jubilee year, after 7 times 7 years have passed? Have we not in this Jubilee the wonderful type of liberty in Grace? It is evident that the change from the seventh day to the first day of the week was from the Son of God, for the day began to be recognized as the day of rest and worship from the very day of His resurrection. The disciples meeting that evening, read John 20:19-20. The Holy Spirit has taken pains here to tell us that the disciples were assembled and that it was the first day of the week. Then the Spirit takes pains to tell us also that eight days afterward, which would be the next Lord's day, they were assembled again and Jesus met them.—Dead John 20:26. So we see that the first day of the week thus early began to be recognized as the Christian Sabbath.

Now, if the disciples were wrong in this, Jesus certainly would have corrected them for he was with them five or six weeks before his ascension, time enough to have corrected such an innovation if he had wanted to but instead he sanctioned it for the first day of the week has been observed by the followers of Christ from that day to this. This is proven beyond dispute by the fathers who followed immediately after the Apostles. Let us hear what John and Paul have to say on the subject: John had the vision given him on the Lord's day, the first day of the week. —Rev. 1:10-11. Paul shows us that he observed the first day of the week preaching to the gathered assembly at Troas and breaking bread.—Acts 20:7. We are informed that he tarried seven days as they were not preaching or breaking bread every day—it was a Sabbath service. Our opponents will tell us that Paul often preached in the synagogues on the Jewish Sabbath. Very true, but never to the disciples. He spoke to the Jews whenever and wherever he found them congregated, just as our missionaries do today. They take advantage of every sacred day when the people come together, so did Paul. But whenever he would meet and minister to the disciples he found them congregated on the first day of the week in memory of the mightiest event of all in human history—the Resurrection of Jesus.

Read 1 Cor 16:2, which shows conclusively that the first day of the week was recognized by Christians everywhere, for he says: As I have given orders to the churches of Galatia—making it certain that the first day of the week was their worship day. It was a general order to all the churches. The law of Moses has given place to the higher law of Grace. Old things have passed away behold all things become new. The law of circumcision passed away giving to the higher law cleansing through the Spirit. The Passover feast gave place to the Lord's Supper. The Sabbath of the legal dispensation gave place to the Sabbath of Grace.

One of the most unanswerable arguments to us for the first day is that the Holy Spirit was poured out on that day at Pentecost, not on the Jewish Sabbath. God chose this day to impress the infant church that this was their sacred day of worship. The last Jewish Sabbath before the Resurrection was one of the darkest in human history. He who had come as the hope of the world was lying in the grave. A pall of gloom covered the earth. Surely, God never intended this day to be kept as a memorial or redemption, but rather that day when the bars of the tomb were sundered and death and hell were conquered by the risen Lord.

This is the day toward which circumcision and the Jubilee year of the old testament pointed.

This is the day sealed to the Apostles by Jesus himself.

This is the day which the Apostle Paul observed and which he commanded the church to observe.—1 Cor. 16:2.

This is the day which the new born church has recognized through all the centuries and which will be recognized until the Sabbath of time shall be merged in the never ending Sabbath of eternity.

Some Cookery Suggestions

ICED BEVERAGES WITH TEA.

LUNCHEON MENU.
Mince of Beef and Potatoes.
Scalloped Eggplant.
Peach Shortcake.
Pot Cheese.
Spiced Tea.

BEVERAGES which have the merit of being both cooling and refreshing may be made with tea. Every family has its favorite variety of tea and its own method of making it. Some suggestions for preparing these beverages may not be amiss, however.

In preparing any tea only absolutely fresh, pure water should be used. In making the iced beverage black or green tea may be used, but many persons think it is more palatable if the two kinds are mixed.

Iced Tea.—Make fresh tea double its usual strength. Let it stand for five minutes. Place a thin slice of lemon in the bottom of each glass and one heaping teaspoonful of sugar. Fill the glasses with ice very finely chopped; then pour tea over the ice.

For Festive Occasions.

Tea Punch.—Take a quart of strong cold tea, a quart of mixed fruit juices, the sirup made by boiling two cupfuls of sugar with a half cupful of water for two minutes, a bottle of ginger ale and a bottle of apollinaris and mix these well. Place a block of ice in the punch bowl and pour the mixture over it. Serve in glasses half filled with shaved ice.

Tea Punch With Fruit.—Take the juice of three oranges, three lemons and the pulp and juice of one ripe pineapple and one pint of sugar and let it stand until the sugar is dissolved. Pour a quart of boiling water over one tablespoonful of strong tea and let it stand until cold. Strain and add to fruit pulp and juice. Add one quart of apollinaris water and pour over a block of ice in a punch bowl.

A Harmless Julep.

Tea Julep.—Take some strong tea and pour slowly into glasses that have been filled with cracked ice, on top of which has been placed a thick slice of lemon, a sprig of mint and a lump or two of sugar. There should be sufficient ice in each glass to thoroughly chill the tea.

Spiced Tea.—For each spoonful of tea take two or three cloves. Let the cloves steep in the tea. When cold add the juice of a lemon and two lumps of sugar to each pint of tea infusion. Mix thoroughly and serve very cold. Chill on ice, but do not put ice into the liquid.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Five Little Kittens Take a Walk.

The Duck Chased the Kittens.

DADDY gave the pillow under his head a little pat. Evelyn had tucked it there so that he might be more comfortable while he told a story to her and Jack.

"Once," began daddy, "there were five of the cutest little black kitttens. Their names were Jet and Joe and Jim Crow and Pitch and Patch.

"They lived in a box in the stable and as soon as they were able to toddle they began to tease their mother to take them about with her.

"One afternoon Mrs. Puss went out and left the kitttens alone. She was gone a long time, and the kittens who had been taking a nap waked up before she came back.

"'Let's take a walk up to the big house. Mother goes every day, and the jolly little girl who lives there may play with us,' suggested Jet.

"So the kittens tumbled out of the box and went frolicking after Jet. They had just reached the gate of the poultry yard when they met Mrs. Duck stepping out with her brood of yellow footed ducklings.

"Mrs. Duck doesn't like kittens, and when she saw the five trotting along alone she gave a loud 'Quack, quack!' and started to chase them.

"Jet, who was nearest to her, squalled with fright and darted inside an empty barrel, where the duck couldn't reach him. The other kittens dived under a fence and scampered away.

"'Now, just watch where I go and you won't get in trouble,' said Jim, taking Jet's place at the head of the line.

"And Jim led them straight past the vacant lot where Mr. Billy Goat was nibbling grass. Mr. Billy Goat was in a bad humor, and he put down his head and came straight toward them.

"The four kittens backed away, then turned and ran as fast as they could, but Jim was left behind because he hopped up on top of the tall fence, and Mr. Billy Goat stood below and wouldn't let him come down.

"After that Joe led the kittens, but a bad boy passed the fence and began throwing stones at them. Joe hid under a pile of boards, while the other two kittens ran on to the house. They had to pass the dog house, and Gyp, the playful fox terrier pup, was playing about. He sent both the kittens hustling up a tree.

"The kittens sat on the branches and meowed until Gyp's little mistress came along and drove him away. Close at her heels was Mrs. Puss looking for her little ones, and soon she had them all comfortably gathered together in the box in the barn."

FUR BUTTONS ARE A NOVEL TOUCH ON A SMART SUIT

"Kitten's ear" is the name given one of the new pile fabrics, and well it deserves the name, as it is literally as soft and silky as a kitten's ear. The suppleness and velvety texture of many of these fabrics is really to be marveled at. A material of this sort needs very little decoration aside from a touch of fur or a bit of color for contrast.

In the illustration 7769-7705 is fashioned of "kitten's ear" cloth in one of the new rich shades of red and trimmed with black fox. An odd touch is given the suit by the large fur buttons which close it down the front. The coat has a long waisted effect and a fitted peplum. A four gored skirt slightly draped accompanies the blouse.

To make in size 36 (7769) requires 2½ yards of 42 inch material. 7705 may be made in size 24 with 2½ yards of 42 inch material.

The deep peplum is a feature of many of the afternoon gowns of silk. It aids often in bringing out the broad hip lines, now so fashionable. Blue crepe charmeuse was used for 7650. The vest is of figured silk in soft harmônious shades, and the broad sash is of satin. Lace effectively trims sleeves and collar.

This design may be copied in size 36 with 5 yards of 36 inch material.

Conversion

A Sermon by

Rev. Dr. P. B. Strong

"Brethren, if any among you err from the truth and one convert him, let him know that he that converteth the sinner from the error of his way shall save a soul from death and shall cover a multitude of sins," was the text of an interesting sermon given by Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong at the First Baptist church, Sunday morning.

"This text has reference probably not to the unregenerate sinner, but to the once child of God who has wandered from rectitude of faith and conduct, and the death referred to is not physical death, or everlasting death, but to that condition of being out of touch with the Master which the apostle terms 'dead while one liveth,' that is, dead to all divine things.

"Death is separation from God, either temporary or permanent. The word convert as used in the New Testament is usually used meaning to reclaim not to regenerate, thus he who converteth the sinner in this instance is he who wins back to God one who has wandered away from Him. One of the saddest things in this world is the person who looks back to the joy they once knew in service for Christ, but which is no more. This should not be in the life of any Christian.

"The Christian life is the normal life of an individual, and the reason we fail in it so often, and the reason we find it difficult to live, and the reason we miss the joy we ought to have in it, is because we are abnormal. It should be ever increasingly delightful and joyous and as the Psalmist says, 'a shining light, that shineth more and more unto the perfect day.' This is the normal Christian life, as it ought to be, and if we live it earnestly, truly, this joy will be ours."

Sunday evening a most enjoyable musical service was given by the choir when the cantata "Penitence, Pardon and Peace," was sung, with the anthem, "The Silent Sea." The solo work of Miss St. Ives, soprano, and William Holmes, baritone, was noteworthy. In place of the sermon Dr. Strong gave without exposition or comment, the First Epistle of John, which brought its own message to all present.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

George E. Webster, formerly instructor of manual training and coach of all athletic teams of the High School, visited Superintendent Vosseler, Sunday. Mr. Webster holds the position of principal in the High School, at Rye, N. Y.

Miss Mary Robley, teacher of languages in the High School, who was absent last Thursday and Friday, on account of illness, returned to her duties yesterday.

Principal Earley has secured a prize of $5 to be given to the student in the High School who writes the best essay on "International Conciliation." The donor of the prize wishes his name to be withheld. This is one method which Mr. Earley has taken to interest the students of the High School in great questions of the day. He hopes to secure prizes for essays on other great subjects.

OFFICIAL RECORD OF ELKS' GAMES

First Statistics Given Out in Connection with the 1913 Elks' League Race.

BRUNSWICK ELKS LEAD

Plainfield Tribe Holding Down Eighth Place in the League Standing—Averages of Individual Bowlers With High Scores to Date.

New Brunswick's Elks' Bowling League champions are once more on top of the heap, according to the official averages just issued, leading the way with three victories and no defeats. Plainfield's pin-knights are filling in eighth place with one win and two defeats while Orange occupies the cellar berth, having yet to win its initial combat. Newark is best in team average and high score.

Kiely leads the local squad with 182.2, Nash comes next with 180, Stout next with 178.1, Captain Blatz fourth with 174.2, and Johnny Campbell last with 171.2. It is evident that the star pin smashers of the local quintet have not as yet struck their stride and great things are promised when the new Plainfield alleys are finished.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is it possible for a person to change his or her name without resorting to legal action?—D. E. R.

Answer—A person has the legal right to call himself anything he pleases and can change his name if he wants and when he wants. In so doing, however, he assumes the risk of whatever loss or embarrassment may come to him from the change. In order to make the name change a matter of record, the law provides a procedure whereby he may file a petition with the circuit court, and have the granting of permission made a part of the court records. Without some such record he might find it difficult or impossible under some circumstances to prove the changing of his name, and establish his identity, as for example, he should fall heir to property.

Sporting Editor:

Query—A has 69 in a game of auction pinochle, and B has 99. A gets the bid at 15 and melds 24, which gives him a total of 93. B makes 1 and calls out before A gets the seven points needed to go out. Who wins?—W. K. L.

Answer—There is no calling out in auction pinochle. The bidder always has the first count, and if he makes good his bid he scores all he makes, and if that wins the game he is out no matter what the bidder's opponent makes.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What is considered good time for the one-hundred yard dash for a boy fourteen years old?—G. F. E.

Answer—Eleven seconds is the average time for a runner of your years.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Tell me in what points the girls' game of basketball differs from the boys' game?—O. L. O.

Answer—In nearly every conceivable play and point the two games are widely divergent. Purchase a set of each rules and contrast them.

Sporting Editor:

Query—When does the football season end?—J. H.

Answer—There is no set date for the curtain to fall but Thanksgiving Day is considered the end of the season, although the Army-Navy game is played the following Saturday.

Sporting Editor:

Query—How would a compass act if one stood on the North Pole. If it would point to what is called the true North, how then, would it act?—G. K. N.

Answer—The compass would point to the North magnetic pole and that does not go inside with the true or geographical north pole, but that the magnetic pole would point directly downward. For further information consult "Doc" Cook.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What was Taft's plurality in New Jersey in 1903?—B. D.

LOCAL GOLFERS IN ONE-DAY TOURNAMENT

Mrs. H. R. Stockton Won Prize for the Low Gross Score of the Day.

Mrs. H. R. Stockton, of Plainfield, was the winner of the gross prize in the one-day tournament of the Woman's Metropolitan Golf Association yesterday over the links of the Essex County Country Club with a score of 97. The net went to Mrs. Percy Ingalls, of the home club, the card being 98, 5-93. There was a bogey handicap which resulted in a tie between Mrs. Ingalls and Mrs. L. Ketcham, of Fox Hills, each finishing 5 down, but as Mrs. Ingalls had won the net prize Mrs. Ketcham had a clear claim to the award. Mrs. Morris Dumont, of Plainfield, returned a card of 122, 16-106, in the medal play handicap. In the bogey handicap Mrs. Stockton had 97-3, 9, while Mrs. Dumont turned in 122-16, 15.

Driving from the sixth tee, which is over a ravine with the fairway uphill, preventing much roll to the ball, Mrs. E. N. Loomis, of Essex County, won the driving competition, getting a distance of 399 yards on three tries, an average of 133 yards. Mrs. Ketcham was second with a distance of 359 yards.

The tournament at Essex County yesterday was postponed from last Monday in view of the heavy rain. Today the links of the Englewood Country Club will be visited, Miss Gladys Ravenscroft and Miss Muriel Dodd, of Great Britain, competing.

WESTFIELD RACES POSTPONED.

Westfield, Oct. 28.—On account of the rain Saturday the matinee races, which the members of the Riding and Driving Club were to have held at Fair Acres track, were postponed until next Saturday.

HERO OF 1911 CENTRAL LEAGUE BATTLE TRADED

George McConnell, the human telegraph pole, who twirled the Plainfield Pets to a Central League pennant against Somerville two years ago on Crescent Oval, has gone back to his first love, Buffalo. McConnell was pitching for the Bisons in 1910 when the New York Americans purchased him. Oddly enough Frank Chance, then manager of the Cubs, visited Buffalo one day that season to look McConnell over, but concluded that the tall pitcher wouldn't be of as much value as his catcher, Jimmy Archer. So Chance bought Archer and McConnell came here to play under George Stallings. Subsequently McConnell was sold to Rochester, where he did such good work that the New York Americans repurchased him in 1912, the year after he pitched here.

When Chance made the recent deal with Montreal for Frank Gilhooley he agreed to turn McConnell over to Lichtenheim. There was some mistake in asking for waivers on McConnell and he finally was sold to the St. Louis Browns. The human telegraph pole had an injured hand at the time and couldn't play. Branch Richey, the Browns' new manager, therefore decided to send McConnell to Buffalo, where he will draw salary next year and possibly display enough ability to warrant another return to major league company.

TEAMS EVENLY MATCH

Miss Burtis Opens Another Season of Sensationalism—Played on Outdoor Court—Score See-sawed Back and Forth— Dance Followed.

Playing their first game of the season against the Reading Academy team at Flemington, the North Plainfield High School girls' basketball team met defeat in a close and exciting game. The final score was 13 to 8. The game was rough and featured by many fouls which the officials did not see fit to call. During the entire first half the score see-sawed and at the end of the first period it was tie, the score being 5 to 5. Marjorie Burtis, last year's star forward, was the hero of the first half for the boroughites, she getting every point that was made. Lillian Spencer, the other forward, was so small that her big guard completely put her out of sight when the ball came into North Plainfield's territory. She made one point from a free throw and at times was of much help to her teammates in passing.

In the second half the home team took the lead on a foul and a basket by Miss Butler and retained this lead throughout the remainder of the contest. Miss Burtis again came to the rescue for the visitors, making a basket during this period. For Flemington the Misses Butler and Post played the star games, the former in getting the points for her team and the latter in keeping the North Plainfield star forward from making points. After the contest the visitors enjoyed a dance and refreshments. Miss Ray chaperoned the local team. The score

"DAVIS CUP" FOR GOLF.

London, Oct. 28.—Leading golf enthusiasts in England have begun an agitation for an international golfing competition with America and other countries where the game thrives, to be conducted along the general lines of the Davis cup tennis play. The frequent visits of Americans here and the less frequent trips of British golfers to America have given rise to the idea. At present there is no regular international golf event. One prominent English club is willing to offer a challenge cup if it can be assured that the players across the water would enter the lists with sufficient enthusiasm.

WATCHUNG EASY FOR BOROUGHITES

North Plainfield High School Wins Opening Practise Game Handily.

CONTEST ONE-SIDED

Final Score 62 to 9—Individual Basket Ringing Played an Important Part in the Affair—Substitutes Put up a Strong Game.

The North Plainfield High School basketball team played its first game of the season last night at Saengerbund Hall when the Watchung A. C. quintet was defeated by a score of 62 to 9. The game was one-sided throughout and featured by many fouls. In the absence of Dunning, Love played centre, and Ronald Conroy, a new man, played forward and "made good."

The first half was rough, but slow on the scoring side and the High School boys tallied up 16 points against their opponents 4. At the beginning of the second half the Watchung team made a few changes that apparently weakened the team and the home five had its own way during the rest of the game.

Roy Love was the highest pointgetter of the game, ten baskets going to his credit. Captain Burner and Conroy tallied up five and eight baskets respectively. For the visitors, Underhill and Armstrong played the best games. During the latter part of the second half, Captain Burner put in three of his promising substitutes and although the team was weakened there was no marked difference in the playing. The three men were Warren Townley, Edson Day and Addison Newkirk. At the end of the game, Roy Love was the only regular player on the team. Hyman Abrams played a great game at guard and also aided in the scoring. The Watchungs had eight men in the contest.

P. H. S. MEETS WESTFIELD IN MID-WEEK STRUGGLE

Plainfield High School football warriors will entertain the eleven from the Westfield High School on Parker Field tomorrow afternoon, this being the initial meeting of these two rivals on the gridiron this season. The contest last fall was a gruelling struggle and the game was one of the best ever played between the rival aggregations, one sporting the red and blue, and the other the colors of the Mt. Ararat School.

This season both teams present an almost entirely new lineup and the substitutes of last year will be pitted against each other as regulars this fall. Captain Peacock's men have had a week's rest since the last game and are in fine fettle to put up their best article of the pigskin sport against the Westfield representatives.

"MAC" SAYS

The football star lay almost dead;
His comrades wept about him,
"We wouldn't care a whoop," they said,
"If we could win without him."

Football elevens have excuses to fall back on their representatives in other lines of sportdom never heard of. Hence we hear the reason why the Tigers were tamed by the Dartmouth team.

Basketball players claim the floor was too slippery when they are getting walloped, while football teams claim the field was too slippery last Saturday. Athletics are all built for the same purpose and along the same line.

A big scare was thrown into the North Plainfield High School basketball camp last night when Newton B. Smalley, a member of the borough Board of Education, said, "When I was a boy, we played out of doors. Why spend the school money for the rental of Saengerbund Hall?"

It was intimated at last night's meeting that the rental of the hall had not been authorized and there was a possibility that the right to play games and practice on the borough court would be revoked.

An auspicious debut for the basketball season in Canada—Dunning takes the girls to Flemington and brings them home with the sting of defeat to witness an easy victory being hung up by their male classmates.

"Lefty" Dunning claims that if he had been refereeing the maidens would have won the encounter. We shudder to think of his death-defying piratical intentions.

MISS COLTON RETURNS LOWEST NET SCORE

Miss Ethel Colton returned the lowest net score in the first of the four-days' golf tournament for women held at the Plainfield Country Club yesterday. The play will be continued on Thursday and on Monday and Thursday of next week. It is a nine-hole handicap competition with prizes for the best net and second best net scores returned at the end of the tournament the two best scores to count. The prizes are offered by Elliot T. Barrows.

There was a large field out yesterday to open the tournament. These cards were returned:

Miss Ethel Colton, 65, 25-40; Miss Helen Harman, 65, 23-42; Miss Lillian King, 69, 25-44; Mrs. H. R. Stockton, 46, 0-46; Mrs. A. M. Collens, 72, 25-47; Mrs. W. L. Righter, 72, 25-47; Mrs. Benjamin Aiken, 74, 25-49; Brower, 74, 25-49; Miss Maude Van Boskerck, 65, 4-51; Miss Eva Brown, 77, 25-52; Mrs. Morris J. Dumont, 60, 7-53; Mrs. J. W. Baker, 79, 25-54; Mrs. W. F. Taliaferro, 79, 25-54; Miss Constance Borrowe, 63, 8-55.

TENNIS TITLE FOR DALL-ELLIS TEAM

Plainfield High School Doubles Championship Decided in Straight Sets.

LOSERS' HARD FIGHT

Cottrell and Goodrich, the Runners-up, Put up a Good Battle in the Second Set But Finally Yield to Defeat—Scores 6—2, 7—5.

Curtis Dall and LeRoy Ellis defeated Carter Goodrick and John Cottrell for the tennis doubles championship of the Plainfield High School yesterday afternoon winning two straight sets on the Cedarcroft court by scores of 6-2, 7-5. Yesterday's play marked the conclusion of the annual tournament for the racquet supremacy in the local High School and Dall and Ellis won their title by triumphing in several preliminary round matches and then coming to the fore in the final spurt with the winning punch.

Following a short practice, Dall and Ellis won the toss for the choice of courts and selected the portion south of the net. Goodrich and Cottrell lost the opportunity to clinch the title through their inability to return the speedy criss-cross serves of their rivals and Dall and Ellis kept their opponents constantly on the alert by their neat placing.

The ultimate winners were speedy with their serves and their return drives had Cottrell and Goodrich completely bewildered. Soon after the first few games were played it could be plainly seen that Cottrell and Goodrich had met their masters and were a defeated pair. Twenty minutes was required to run off the initial set, Dall and Ellis taking six games while their rivals could garner but two wins.

The defeated pair started off with a flashy burst of speed in the second set and before their stronger rivals work up had annexed three victories and after dropping one game, increased their tally to a quartet of victories. Through their clever playing and return to form, Cottrell and Goodrich appeared to have the second set cinched but the going was too stiff and the pace too fast for the weaker pair and they soon relinguished their lead to the tireless Dall and Ellis contingent. The set went to deuce and after hard and death-defying rallies Cottrell and Goodrich finally yielded the winning points to the opposition and with them went the championship.

MANY NEW FEATURES OFFERED IN 1914 STUDEBAKER CARS

Concentration of models and standardization of parts have been the aims of the engineering department of the great Studebaker Corporation, of South Bend, Ind., in developing the new line that is now being introduced to the trade. The new line is composed of a new Studebaker Four and the Studebaker Six. Standardization has been brought into play to unify the details of these two types, so that the purchaser in selecting the one that exactly suits his own particular uses is entirely assured of a car of the same quality and essentially the same design as he would have had in the other.

Uniformity of design really begins with the external appearance of the two models, which, with a single exception, has been subject to the same treatment. For both chassis the standard body is a sturdy, capacious and symmetrical touring type—accommodating five passengers in the body applied to the Four chassis, and seven passengers in the Six. These models are sold with full equipment, of course, including, besides the top and windshield, Jiffy type curtains, Gray & Davis lamps, a special form of combined electric lighting and starting system, electric horn, Booth demountable quick-detachable rims, extra rim and tire carrier, and a complete set of tools, several of which are made specially for the car.

For the purchaser who requires greater protection from inclement weather than the standard touring car affords, an entirely new style termed the Landau roadster, has been developed. This is a copy of a design evolved by Salmon & Sons the well-known English body builders, and has been reduced to the form necessary for series production without in the least impairing its distinctive appearance. The body is normally an open roadster of pleasing contour, mainly distinguished by its high sides and doors. When the top is raised, however, and the windows adjusted, it is quickly converted into a coupe. Under tests lasting over the past season, several of these bodies have proved to the satisfaction of the Studebaker officials that they are as well worth while as they are out of the common run of roadster design.

Although the general design of the chassis has not been altered to any material extent, several betterments of an important nature have been introduced. The most noticeable of these, and the most significant, as an interpretation of popular fancy, is the introduction of left-hand drive with centre control. This feature affords a materially better arrangement of the control levers and results in a perceptible alteration in the appearance of the chassis. The use of an improved two-unit electrical system instead of the single-unit system formerly employed is another innovation, as is the development of an ignition system working in conjunction with it, and obviating the need of a separate magneto. Full-floating axles are now used on both models, while a rearrangement of wheel and shaft mountings has resulted in the installation of no less than 13 Timken roller bearings in each model. Other changes include the use of underslung full-elliptic rear springs, equalizers on both sets of brakes, the gasoline tank mounted in the dash cowl and a new method of clutch trunnion ring lubrication.

The motors, in particular, are noteworthy examples of the long-stroke, small bore type, having cylinder dimensions of 3½x5 inches. The pistons are now flat-topped, instead of domed, are fitted with but three rings, and are much lighter than formerly. The wrist pins now turn on bronze bushings that are readily replaceable. Both engines are of the block type with valves on left completely enclosed; large centrifugal water pump also on the left, but driven from a transverse shaft in front; and carbureter on the right. Ignition is afforded by a Remy distributer driven from the right end of the pump shaft and operating through a transformer coil that is mounted on the right side of the engine in front. Current for this purpose is drawn from the Willard storage battery that is also used for the combined lighting and starting systems, and which is slung from the chassis under the front seat.

This highly desirable, but heretofore distrusted, condensation of the electrical system, involving, as it does, the elimination of the magneto, is rendered possible by the careful design and thorough working out of the new Wagner electric system that has been evolved for these cars. Instead of the motor-generator unit formerly used, two separate instruments are now provided, and their symmetrical arrangement, one on either side of the motor, in front, quite apart from functional advantages, has the merit of providing better balance in the machine and also of simplifying its care and repair. The generator is mounted on the left of the motor and is directly driven through a shaft and pinion meshing with the cam shaft gear. The starting motor on the other hand, is mounted on the right of the motor and is connected with the crank shaft by means of a roller clutch, and chain sprockets. To ensure the required reduction of practically 20 to 1, the unit embodies a simple pinion and gear reduction, which is housed within it, and which combines with the chain reduction to afford the proper rate of engine revolutions when the armature is turning at its normal rate. As the connection between the starting motor and the engine is permanent, subject to the influence of the roller clutch, no gear-changing operation has to be performed in connection with the starter action, all that is necessary in order to put the engine into action being the depression of a conveniently located pedal. When the speed of the engine corresponds to a car speed of about ten miles an hour, the battery is put on charge, the charging rate reaching its maximum at engine speeds equivalent to about 20 miles per hour of the car. The system, of course, is silent in operation.

The clutch has been enlarged and materially improved. Instead of bearing on a shoulder, it is now released by the engagement of two grooves and rings, while special provision for lubrication of this important part is made by the installation of a grease cup on the gear-shifting segment, which communicates with the bearing by means of a flexible steel tube.

The gearset, as heretofore, is built on the rear axle in a compact little housing that forms practically an enlargement of the rear end of the torque tube. The driving shaft is carried on Timken bearings, while a Hyatt bearing is now used between the forward main driving shaft and the pinion shaft.

The brakes are now applied by means of long balance beams extending clear across the chassis and affording a simple but effectual method of making even the pulls. Semi-elliptic front springs are used on both models, and three-quarter-elliptic rear members on the Six. The full-elliptic rear springs that are a feature of the new Four, are underslung, which gives the advantage of a highly flexible spring without unduly boosting the rear of the car. So successfully has this suspension been worked out that the little car has developed unusually fine riding qualities and is said to hold a rough road closely even up to 30 miles an hour.

The adoption of the new centre control, naturally affords free access to both sides of the front seat. Even the extra seats in the tonneau of the Six, instead of swiveling and folding against the sides of the tonneau, now collapse into a recess in the back of the front seat, giving more room to the passengers in getting in and out of the car, as well as presenting a more pleasing and finished appearance of the tonneau interior.

JUVENILE CRIME THEIR THEME

those already established in Plainfield and by turning the pubilc school auditoriums over to the public at large for the purpose of holding properly regulated entertainments.

"Stringent laws should be enacted to prevent the marriage of feeble-minded persons or individuals who have a tendency toward criminality for wedlock between these types is certain to produce offsprings afflicted with the heriditary defects. Many individuals are unsanitary and are afflicted with diseases that is transmitted to offsprings. The only manner in which this deplorable circumstance can be solved is by the enactment of eugenic marriage laws similar to those being advocated by various religious denominations and civic organizations at the present time.

"Those accused of various offences should not be ridiculed or found fault with but those interested should get at the seat of the trouble and incurable cases should be placed under close surveillance to prevent the increase of their kind. Lack of proper recreation is also an important factor and in many cases children are led to steal in order to get money to attend motion pictures that are not properly regulated and inspire the juvenile delinquent's mind into further depredations. Bank robberies and shooting scenes, so common in the ordinary motion picture house, should be put under effective censorship."

City Judge William G. DeMeza, outing his personal experiences in dealing with the juvenile offender, said:

"A drunkard should be pitied rather than scorned. He is the victim of circumstances which can be overcome only by patience on the part of those who have to deal with him and not by a long term in prison which in many cases not only inflicts a hardship on the offender, but on the offender's family as well. In many cases, in sending a drunkard or petty offender to jail, you pauperize his family and they either become a public charge or live in a wretched state until he is given his freedom and is able to return as a bread-winner. For this reason, when a man is brought before me I am conscience-bound to give him several chances before taking the step that will send him to prison to serve a term behind the bars and jeopardize his family intereste as well as his own.

"Sometime ago I advocated the founding of an institution where habitual drunkards could be sent and subjected to a treatment that will cure the evil. I also suggested that these men be made to work while inmates of such institution and the money they earn by their labor be turned over to their family, thereby reaping two benefits at one time, the family being provided for and the drunkard being cured."

Mrs. Stephen G. Van Hoesen addressed the meeting telling of a number of court scenes she had witnessed and describing the manner in which the judge had dealth with two runaways that morning in court.

G. O. P. RULE FINE SAYS ACKERMAN

Claims Stokes' Administration Legislative Record Greater Than All Previous.

FEARS THE NEW TARIFF

Former States Senator Reviews Recent Republican Party History In New Jersey—Calls Stokes a "Statesman."

Former State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, of this city, father of the Civil Service and the first Employers' liability Laws in New Jersey, and who served as Acting Governor in 1911, has just completed a half million miles of travel, having returned from a twenty-six thousand mile trip through Europe and South America, is strong in his defence of Republican rule in New Jersey and is equallly zealous in his advocacy of E. C. Stokes for Governor. It seemed strange, he said today, that the opponents of Stokes should make the charge that Republican platform pledges were not kept especially during the administration of Governor Stokes. "The facts are as I stated last February that the Democratic leaders at that time looked upon the Republican record with jealous amazement and vainly attempted to claim credit, as the Progressives are now doing, for Republican enterprise and statesmanship. In order to justify this statement it is only necessary to say that the Democratic platform of 1907 said: "The legislation on taxation enacted since the ascendency of the Republican party in New Jersey has been the result of Democratic initiative.' That language was the highest tribute one political party could pay to another rival organization.

"A noted Washington official is reported in the newspapers as saying that 'New Jersey never appeared on the political map while Stokes was Governor * * * and that New Jersey stands with Wisconsin as a beacon light in progressive legislation.'

"Let us see if the gentleman is well-informed on the subject of New Jersey legislation and its origin. The gentleman is right when he says that New Jersey stands as a beacon light in progressive legislation already enacted by the Legislature at Trenton. In some cases Republicans and Democrats worked together to achieve this result but does not the record of laws show that the initiative was largely Republican with Democratic help when they controlled the Legislature which was but a small portion of the time under consideration.

"Governor Wilson himself, as quoted in the Newark News of April 22, 1911, referring to the Legislature of 1911, the Senate of which was Republican, said: 'I think it will always be remembered as extraordinary in this, that it witnessed the fulfilment by the Legislature of every important campaign pledge.' The record of the Legislature of 1911 is but a fair duplication of the record of its Republican predecessors.

"Under the Stokes administration a law was passed taxing second-class railroad property at the local rates for the benefit of the localities wherein the property lies. Also a bill was introduced on the first day of the session of 1906 by Mr. Perkins, of Union county, which became a law taxing the main stem at the average tax rate of the State, and all of this tax above one-half of one per cent. is given by the State to the support of the free public schools. Through these laws millions of dollars of tax money have been paid by the railroads and the schools, the municipalities and the State have been greatly benefited. Can it be wondered at that the Democratic party is envious of the achievements of the Stokes administration?

"It is said that the State forestry act, enacted at the suggestion of Governor Stokes, has been quoted abroad as a model law and yet the Washington official says that New Jersey while Mr. Stokes was Governor was not on the political map. As a result of the financial and revenue creating legislation of the Republican party, under the leadership of such statesmen as Mr. Stokes, New Jersey has thus far been without a State debt or a State tax."

As to the entire legislative record of the Stokes administration, Mr. Ackerman said: "It has been said of the legislation during that time that it was incomparably greater in its importance and far-reaching beneficial effects than the sum of all the previous legislation in New Jersey since the adoption of the Constitution in 1844.

"In addition to that already mentioned direct primaries and direct primary votes for United States Senator were provided for by laws passed during the Stokes administration. The law of 1911, passed during the administration of Governor Wilson, only extended the act of 1907 to apply to Congressman and Governor.

"This question occurs to me," said

GREED OF POWERS PROLONGED WAR

And Prevented Balkan States From Gobbling up Turkey Says B. A. Marsh.

A VIVID DESCRIPTION

War Correspondent Blames England and Other Great European Nations for Balkans Not Getting "the Square Deal" by Conflict.

Declaring that money greed on the part of the great powers of Europe caused the war between the Balkan States and Turkey to be prolonged, Benjamin C. Marsh, a war correspondent, who was "at the front" during the conflict, described his impressions in a vivid and interesting manner to the members of the Men's Club of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church at a dinner held in the church parlors, last night. He said that the stories of atrocities on the part of the allies had been greatly exaggerated and that they were no worse there than they are in New York city today in times of peace.

Mr. Marsh was born in Turkey and his father has been a missionary there for forty years. Consequently he had opportunities for studying the situation which have not fallen to probably any other foreign correspondent who was on the scene. Had the powers left the four allies, Bulgaria, Servia, Greece and Montenegro to themselves, he declared, they would have driven the Turk out of Europe, and would have peacefully divided upon the Turkish territory among themselves, and the whole matter would have been settled satisfactorily once and for all. Instead, the great powers, in an underground way, at the urgent solicitation of the bankers who held immense Turkish loans, insisted upon peace negotiations, and these negotiations only resulted in renewed hostilities among the four allies, which he did not believe was settled yet, although temporary peace has been proclaimed.

"Continued jealousy over Macedonia prompted the powers to let things get rotten in Macedonia, so that they could take it from Turkey. The allies realized what was coming, and because of conditions in Macedonia decided that they would start a war on Turkey, and thus forestall Austria and the other great powers. It was the greatest challenge to the greed of the powers that had ever been made. England diplomatically fought the Balkan States throughout the entire war, but the only thing she was interested in was the five per cent. dividends which her bankers had been drawing from the Turks. Had England not been interested in the Turkish debt the Balkan allies could have whipped Turkey in two weeks. Still with the almighty dollar in sight England brought about the London peace conference, which really was nothing more or less than a method to deprive the allies of what they had won by diplomatic thievery. The delay permitted Turkey to draw up troops from Asiastic Turkey and thus make it possible to make stronger demands from the conference. While all this was going on Austria stole Albania and Russia, a part of Mongolia, by a sort of 'gentlemen's agreement.'

"During the peace conference Austria, through paid agents which were sent into Servia, poisoned the minds of the Bulgarians against the Servians, who had been their closest allies, and as a result those two nations engaged in a second war which cost Bulgaria 120,000 men and Servia 100,000 men. Peace has been declared but in my judgment it is only temporary between Bulgaria and Turkey. As for the Balkan States they are now wide apart, and how they are going to get together no one knows. The war in which they recently joined hands did away with all the old hatreds, but because of the chachanery of the great powers in order to protect their monied interests a new war has broken out which while at present there is a temporary truce, is still smouldering. The Christian powers cannot prevent war eventually, which will result in the final destruction of Turkey, and the perpetuation of a Balkan alliance which will make those countries ones to be reckoned with."

In answer to a question, Mr. Marsh said that he expects to see the allies together again as they are all spending money to prepare big armies which combined will be as formidable as those of many of the great nations. He also stated that the Balkan States lost one out of every seven or eight able bodied men in battle.

In the course of his remarks, Mr. Marsh commended President Wilson's policy in Mexico as the one which the powers should have adopted—that of refusing to interfere so long as it was merely a matter of monied interests that needed protection and not the lives of any residents of countries not involved in the

JUDGE JOS. CROSS HAS SUCCUMBED

Former State Senator and Jurist Died of Heart Trouble Today.

IN HIS SEVENTIETH YR.

Had Been in Public Life Quarter of Century—President of Senate in 1905—Roosevelt Made Him U. S. District Judge.

Elizabeth, Oct. 29.—Judge Joseph Cross, one of the best known members of the State judiciary, died at his home, 1381 North avenue, this morning, from heart trouble, with which he had been afflicted for two years. He had been critically ill for the past two weeks.

Judge Cross was born near Morristown, December 29, 1843. He was graduated from Princeton University in the class of 1865. Immediately afterward he began the study of law in the office of William J. Magie, ex-Chancellor of New Jersey, with whom he afterward formed a partnership. He was admitted to practice as an attorney in June, 1868, and as counselor in 1871.

Judge Cross resided in Elizabeth since the spring of 1858 and was always a staunch Republican. In 1888 he was appoined Judge of the District Court, Elizabeth, but was afterward legislated out of office in common with other judges. Elected to the Assembly from Union county in the fall of 1893 and again the following year, in 1894 he was Speaker of the House, being re-elected in 1895. In November, 1898, he was elected Senator to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Senator Voorhees, who was nominated as the Republican candidate for Governor.

Re-elected to the Senate for a full term in 1899, he was again re-elected in 1902 by a plurality of 1,186 over James E. Martine, his Democratic opponent. He served as President of the Senate during 1905 and in April of that year was appointed by President Roosevelt a Judge of the United States District Court. His salary was $6,000.

His wife survives him.

NEWARK CONFERENCE FIXED FOR MARCH 18

Bishop Wilson Will Preside—Elizabeth District Meet November 19.

Plans are being made for an important conference of ministers and laymen of the Elizabeth district of the Newark Conference to be held in the First M. E. church, this city, on Wednesday, November 19, morning, afternoon and evening. The conference will comprise the ministers and two laymen from each church and the local preachers. The meetings will be open to the public.

Bishop Wilson, who will preside at the annual session of the Newark Conference to be held in Haisey Street church, Newark, on March 18, has arranged for the local conference and the details of the program are in the hands of Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, of this city, district superintendent of the Elizabeth district.

The morning session will be devoted to a discussion of the administrative work of the church, with addresses by ministers and laymen. In the afternoon the general topic will be "Education and Evangelism," with addresses by Rev. Dr. C. L. Mead, of New York; Bishop Wilson, Rev. Dr. Ream, of Westfield, and others.

The topic for the evening will be "Evangelism," and among the speakers will be Bishop Wilson, Rev. Dr. F. Watson Hannan, professor of Practical Theology of Drew Seminary, and others. It is expected that there will be a large attendance of delegates from all parts of the district, which extends from Staten Island to Lambertville, which is the dividing line.

THINKS CLAYBROOK IDEAL FOR COUNCIL

Democratic Nominee Man of High Character and Marked Ability.

The following communication has been received from A. R. Parkhurst, a well known newspaperman:

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

In every cosmopolitan, commuting community there are scores of voters who, on the eve of election, and desirous of exercising their right of franchise, are at a loss how to cast their ballots for the simple reason that they have little or no idea as to the personal fitness of the candidates who come before the voters. (A small percentage of the voters of Plainfield are native born, and it is only natural that the commuting element should not be as familiar with local conditions and local men as those who were born and raised here.)

Also in this community there are many men who do not believe in adhering to party lines when municipal elections are held, for the reason that they prefer to follow the dictates of their consciences and do all in their power to bring about the election of the most fitting man for the place, regardless of his political creed.

Such is the case at the forthcoming election. There are many newcomers to Plainfield who will be able to cast their first vote within its corporate limits next month. They have been approached, doubtless, by the workers for the rival political candidates, yet they know no more now than they did prior to these visits, for beyond doubt all these candidates were painted in glowing colors by their respective champions.

Among the many candidates to come before the Plainfield voters at the forthcoming election is one who is not a native son and one who has lived here only a comparatively few years. Yet in that time he has taken a commanding place in the city's affairs, inasmuch as he has worked tirelessly for those interests which alone had the welfare and advancement of Plainfield at heart.

Richard A. Claybrook is a candidate for the post of councilman-at-large. He is a Democrat and a resident of the Third ward, in which ward he has lived continuously since his removal here from Elizabeth several years ago. The first years of his stay here were spent in a home in West Seventh street, but within the last year he purchased the estate at the corner of Grant avenue and West Eighth street, which he has improved to a considerable extent. He is a vestryman and the president of the

MOST DANGEROUS IS STOKES—COLBY

Progressive Nominee Holds His Republican Opponent up to Public Scorn.

ANNOUNCES PRINCIPLE

G. O. P. Party Rotten He Says—Candidate Invites Hammond, Republican Candidate, to Speak to His Crowd.

Everett Colby, Progressive candidate for Governor, addressed about 150 attentive men and one intoxicated person at the corner of Second street and Park avenue yesterday afternoon, preaching the doctrines upon which he seeks election as Governor. Then he spied Ogden H. Hammond, Republican candidate for Assembly in Somerset county, in the crowd, and insisted upon Mr. Hammond getting into the automobile and saying a few words for himself, as there were a number of Somerset county people in the throng.

In the course of his remarks, Mr. Colby said that the candidates of the other parties never talked about anything that might offend someone when they sought votes, but tried to make everyone think that they agreed with everything that was advocated. He reiterated his belief in the modified single tax, which would place the burden upon land and take it off of the man who owns property; favored the strict regulation of public utilities, mentioning especially the gas companies, which he says are charging too much for service; scored the trusts and declared for a regulation of them by fixing prices, where it was shown that they were making an unfair profit, and declared that his opponent in the Republican party, Edward C. Stokes, was the most dangerous man that the State has ever seen. He emphasized the fact that he held no malice toward Mr. Stokes, but believed that he worked tooth and nail with the railroads.

To illustrate the latter point Mr. Colby said that when Mr. Stokes offered membership in the Public Utilities Board to Borden D. Whiting,

BORO APPEALS FOR RATABLE REDUCTION

Mayor Lentz, as Special Counsel, Files Petition With the State Board.

Newark, Oct. 29.—An appeal from the action of the Somerset County Board of Taxation in refusing to deduct $912,773 from this year's ratables of the Borough of North Plainfield, has been filed with the State Board for the Equalization of Taxes, by Major Carl Lentz, of this city.

As co-defendants, the appeal names all of the remaining towns and boroughs in the county. Hearing on the application will be conducted by the State Board at the North Plainfield Borough Hall at 10:30 o'clock, the morning of November 13.

According to Major Lentz, who is counsel for the Mayor and Common Council of North Plainfield, the Somerset County tax board last year granted the application of the borough for a reduction of the assessed valuations and authorized the deduction of $912,773. Under the authority of Chapter 57 of the act of 1910 and Chapter 188 of the act of 1912, this amount should have been deducted from the total valuations for this year in computing the amount on which the borough will pay taxes.

At a recent public meeting the county board voted to deduct this amount in conformity to the recommendation of the 1912 board but later, at an executive session, rescinded this action, Major Lentz continued. He said he was at a loss to explain what prompted this course.

The net valuations on which taxes were collected from the borough in 1912 was fixed at $4,994,625, which was considered excessive by the North Plainfield authorities.

RUBBER PLANT CLOSED.

The Century Rubber Company, whose plant is located on North avenue, near the Netherwood station, has closed down. It is expected that the plant will be re-opened in the spring. The shut down is said to be due to internal dissention among stockholders.

CITY'S REVENUE MAYOR'S THEME

Stewart Issues a Formal Statement on Plainfield's Tax Problem.

EXPLAINS THE INCREASE

Improvements Demanded Cost Money, He Says, and Taxpayers Must Bear the Brunt—Some Statistics of General Interest.

Mayor P. H. Stewart gave to the Press today the following statement for publication:

The city has various sources of revenue.

First. Direct taxation on real and personal property; and Second. Receipts from licenses of various kinds, franchise taxes paid by public utility corporations, taxes received from steam railroads; fines collected for violations of ordinances poll tax and the like.

For the purpose of comparison of the amount of money coming into the city treasury and paid out during the fiscal year 1912 and the fiscal year 1913, the following figures will serve.

Year	Amount of Direct Tax Levy	Other Sources	Total
1913	$523,772	$45,550	$569,322
1912	443,897	43,039	486,936

Excess receipts, 1913 over 1912 .....$82,386

Now, what is the reason for this increase, who is responsible for it and what becomes of it?

Certain items which go to make up the total tax budget are, under the laws governing tax matters, fixed by order of State and county authorities beyond any control of the city government. Other items pertain to the public schools, which are governed by State laws and which the city is compelled to support. Still other items, such as the payment of principal and interest on bonds issued in previous years, are entirely beyond any control by the present city government.

The increase in receipts for 1913 over 1912, as shown above, is $82,386.

Of this amount the following items fall within the obligatory class above described:

Increase in 1913 over 1912 in items beyond control of city government:

State school and county tax,	$30,092
Public district school.....	12,503
Principal on school bonds..	2,000
Interest on school bonds....	7,015
Public Library	1,000
Increase cost of sewer maintenance	3,000
Police salaries, automatically increased by law, about	3,500
Brick pavement bonds.....	500
Interest on sewer bonds....	2,155
Total	$61,765

Leaving out of total increase the balance for the expenditure of which the city govednment is responsible $20,621.

Now, what was the reason for this increase and what was the purpose for which it was expended?

The general public demanded that our street pavements should be improved and maintained in better condition and this necessitated an increased expenditure of about seven thousand dollars. A new fire engine was absolutely essential for the protection of our property and lives, and an increase of six thousand dollars for fire department purposes was unavoidable. Additional street lamps are constantly required as the city grows, and these increase the expense for street lights. As new tracts are opened and built up, extensions to macadamized portions of our streets are necessary, and while the property owners bear the larger portion of this expense, still the city's share is in the aggregate a considerable sum, increasing in 1913 several thousand dollars over 1912.

We are all proud of our city and desirous that it shall grow and prosper. We want better schools, better streets, better lights, increased police and fire protection, better protection for the public health, recreation centers, dental clinics, social center facilities and other advantages enjoyed in other cities.

BUT—all these advantages cost money and must be paid for by the taxpayer. The cost of each may be small, but the aggregate is not small and always appears in the tax bill.

It thus appears that out of a total increase in the amount of taxes, of in round figures $82,000, your city government is responsible for less than one third.

In my judgment this one-third has been expended by your city authorities with wisdom and economy, and in no case has any increase been made except where absolutely required, or in response to well defined public demand.

PERCY STEWART,
Mayor.

CLAIM OF HOOD AIRED IN COURT

Suits Against Wife, Who Seeks Divorce, to Recover Goods in Her Name.

VALUE PUT AT $149,000

Final Hearings on Today Before Vice Chancellor Stevens in Newark—Lyman a Good Witness for the Plaintiff.

Newark, Oct. 29 (Special).—Two suits for the recovery of property, real and personal brought by Richard Haden Hood against Mrs. Frances Sparks Hood, came before Vice Chancellor Stevens here today. In one suit, Hook seeks reconveyance of his property known as "The Roses," for which he says he paid $39,000 and expended in addition $60,000 to improve, and in the other seeks to recover the furnishings valued at $50,000.

In his testimony on the stand he said that when he bought the property from Philip V. R. VanWyck he placed it in his wife's name at the suggestion of Charles H. Lyman, who negotiated the deal. In the bill of complaint filed by Collins & Corbin it is stated that it is intended to create a resulting trust in Hood's favor that Mrs. Hood never exercised ownership or dominion over the property and that he paid the taxes and paid for all repairs.

In answer to the bill in the realty case filed by McCarter & English it is denied that any agreement was made as to reconveyance. The conveyance of the property, the owner alleges, was intended as a settlement on Mrs. Hood as a gift and as a result owns it as a separate gift.

Charles H. Lyman, it was shown, suggested that Hood place the property in his wife's name, but he demurred, believing that it was not a proper thing to do, but Mr. Lyman, in his testimony said that he told Hood that it was being done quite generally by Plainfield people.

Hood corroborated the testimony of Mr. Lyman, also that of his partner at the time Elston M. French. He said that he had paid the taxes up to 1912, that he paid Mr. VanWyck $31,000 for the property and Mrs. Anna Chapman $8,000 for the adjoining woodland.

There was introduced a letter which Hood wrote to Mr. Sparks, father of Mrs. Hood, in December, 1911, which states among other things:

"I want to say some unpleasant things as pleasant as possible without the intention of provoking you or any of your family. Frances married me for my money and I clearly understood that she had none.

"Mrs. Sparks has been the mother of six children, very energetic, very capable, very loyal and very lovable and very spirited and you have probably done wisely in letting her have complete sway. Frances has not been the mother of six children, nor is she energetic or lovable. In the ten years that we have been married she has never seriously taken up anything and carried it to a finish. I have not a single piece of her handiwork. She never took up music or anything else to entertain me, nor studied any language seriously to help in our travels, nor in any way tried seriously to be a congenial helpmate.

"On the contrary she has done everything to aggravate me. I have a quick temper, 'not a bad temper,' if you will permit my correcting you and I and her mother both understood this before our engagement. Frances also has a temper not a whit beter than mine. I can close this with an illustration. Frances bought a parrot. For a little while she cared for him. Then she gave it to the chambermaid and the cook took care of him, except once in awhile when she cleaned out the cage. I have been another parrot, that's all.

"In January 1908, we agreed to separate, but Frances wrote at Nice she ought to have a home and things would go differently. I thought I ought to meet her wishes, so I immediately wrote her to look for a home. I bought the one she selected and looked at no other after she expressed the wish for 541 Stelle avenue and I did everything to make it a good home. I have no particular love for flowers, but I had to be the gardnerer. I have done all the work, paid all the bills and am now tied to a place so elaborate I cannot sell it. I have expended $350,000 since my marriage and Frances shared a big half till now. The irony of fate is with me, not you."

Some further interesting testimony is expected before the hearing is concluded. As yet no decision has been given in the suit brought by Mrs. Hood for a divorce from her husband, which was tried recently.

W. W. Smalley and Others, Too, Will Be Heard Tomorrow Night.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Johanna Hermanson, of Christiana, Norway and Andrew Wittrup, of Copenhagen, Denmark, both of whom have been living in this city for some time. The ceremony was performed on Saturday afternoon, September 27, at the home of Miss Christina Hanson, of 434 Watchung avenue, Rev. Gottfried Sjoblom, pastor of the Swedish Pilgrim church, officiating.

Miss Johanna Tangen, and Christian Rasmussen, both of this city were the attendants. The fact that the couple was to be married and a party of their friends called in the evening thinking that there was to be a birthday celebration, which was true for Miss Hanson's brithday anniversary occurred on that date.

Last night a majority of the guests at the party called on the couple to congratulate them and give them a solid silver dinner set. Mr. and Mrs. Wittrup appreciated the thoughtfulness of their friends in thus remembering them. Mr. Wittrup is employed as a conductor on the Netherwood trolley.

MISS ALICE JAYNES ON WORKING WOMEN

Consumers' League Secretary Addresses Local Equal Suffrage League.

Miss Alice Jaynes, secretary of the Consumers' League of New Jersey, in order to acquire an understanding of the situation regarding the condition of working women and girls, obtained employment in a factory for three weeks on a salary of $6 a week, addressed the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield, at its meeting yesterday afternoon in the new lecture room of the Public Library.

She told of the toiling multitudes of women and children of this State, and of the hard fight to obtain the ten-hour law for working women and of the still harder fight to obtain a similar law in Delaware.

"The government of today is too much for business," she said, and she went on to show that the people need the woman's point of view to counteract this tendency. She spoke of the great advantage of having a survey in New Jersey along the lines of the one in Oregon. In closing she made an appeal to prevent Christmas cruelties by early shopping. The ten-hour law, she said, breaks down and does not apply to the six days before Christmas.

Miss Vermilye spoke of the instruction given at the school for suffrage workers in New York last September.

Miss Lucy Burns, of the Congressional Committee in Washington, invited the women of New Jersey to wait on President Wilson on November 17 and to ask him to take action on woman suffrage at the beginning of the next session of Congress. She explained that the Washington suffragists would be happy to entertain the New Jersey delegation and she suggested that the visitors should arrive on November 15 to be ready for a meeting of welcome on the 16th and for the reception by the President on the morning of November 17.

COMMISSIONERS' TALKS ON SCHOOL

Carris and Meredith Tell of "Present Tendencies in Public Education."

LAWS AND SYSTEMS

The First In Series of "Current Event" Addresses at Vincent Chapel Proves to Be Highly Instructive.

"Some Present Tendencies in Public Education in New Jersey," was the general topic of the first of the series of meetings held in Vincent chapel, of the First M. E. church, yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the "Current Events" of the Ladies' Aid Society. The speakers of the afternoon were Lewis H. Carris, assistant commissioner of education in charge of industrial education, including agriculture, and A. B. Meredith, of this city, assistant commissioner of education in charge of secondary education.

Mr. Meredith explained the laws governing the schools, what the education commission has been doing and what it proposes to do in the way of educating the children of the State. He emphasized the importance of having special classes for certain pupils whereby they might be able to make greater progress.

Mr. Carris directed his attention largely to the advantages of vocational training in the different grades and elaborated on some of the features of Mr. Meredith's address. He described a visit to the schools of Gary, Ind., where, perhaps, the vocational work has been developed to a higher degree than anywhere else in this country, and he gave interesting incidents.

An especially important bit of information given by Mr. Carris was that under the provisions of a new law, the State will appropriate money for short period courses in any section of the State, courses running from six nights to twelve and eighteen nights for instruction in certain studies. These courses can be secured through and under the direction of boards of education and upon application.

Mrs. Matthew H. Ewart, as chairman of the committee in charge of "Current Events," presided at the meeting and introduced the speakers.

DONATION PARTY OF KING'S DAUGHTERS

Many Attended Reception Incidental to the Annual Event of the Union.

The annual reception and donation party held at The Day Nursery yesterday afternoon and evening under the auspices of The City Union of The King's Daughters, was a great success. Throughout the afternoon and evening the rooms were thronged with King's Daughters and many friends of this worthy charity and the generous donations were in evidence in the reception room, where there was displayed large quantities of dry groceries, including cereals, sugar, and about everything that one could wish for; also fruits and vegetables of all kinds, while at the door there was received a good sum of money.

The reception committee comprised Mrs. Charles A. Reed, president of the union, and Mrs. Orton G. Dale, Mrs. Stuart H. Patterson, Mrs. A. M. Most and Mrs. Frank W. Jones, who are also officers of the order. Everyone received a cordial welcome. Those who poured tea were Mrs. W. L. Righter, Miss Edna Brown, Miss Molly Perkins and Mrs. Maxwell Perkins. The Cup Bearers and Cheerful Workers' circles had charge of the tea, while the waitresses were from Unity and In His Name circles, among whom were the Misses Arnold, Durar, Marion Ween, Gertrude Butler, Dorothy Watson, Ruth Timpson, Eleanor Iredell, Catherine Ginna, Caroline Slauson, Martine Weeks, Marion Snyder, Anna Yerkes, Barbara Fleming and Gwendolyn Gough. Last night tea was poured by Mrs. Brown Rolston, Miss Titus, Miss Margaret Mead and Miss Eva Brown.

During the day there were forty-six children at The Day Nursery, ranging in age from a few months to seven or eight years. This was one of the largest number of children that has been at the nursery on a single day in some time and the visitors were greatly interested in them, and watching the routine of the institution as carried out by Mrs. Bird, the matron, and her assistant.

"IN A BAD WAY."

Many a Plainfield Reader Will Feel Grateful for This Information.

If your back gives out;

Becomes lame, weak or aching;

If urinary troubles set in,

Perhaps your kidneys are "in a bad way."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

Local evidence proves their merit.

A. K. Mattis, 127 West Fourth street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I gave Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement five years ago after receiving a cure through their use and today I confirm all I then said in their favor. The cure has been permanent. I was troubled for years by a dull backache and pains in my head. I believe that it was due to a great measure to a bad fall I had. Nothing seemed to help me and when I read of the good work Doan's Kidney Pills were doing in similar cases, I got a supply at Randolph's drug store. They drove away the aches and pains and my experience gave proof of their merit."

RULE FINE SAYS ACKERMAN

Mr. Ackerman, "what practical measures have the Democrats introduced looking towards creating additional revenues for the State in order to meet the growing needs of the State? Now, I am open to conviction on that important point. There is a great difference between revenue disbursing and revenue creating legislation. It seems to me that our Democratic friends are strong on disbursements. Honestly, have not Republicans been noteworthy for revenue-creating, constructive and progressive legislation Tell me if I am wrong?

"It seems to me that the Republican record of public affairs in New Jersey will bear the closest scrutiny and particularly will its legislative history challenge an honest and intelligent criticism."

As to the charge that the Republican nominations are the result of "bossism," Mr. Ackerman said:

"I don't see wherein such a claim can be supported by the facts or the logic of the situation. The people wanted direct primaries and they got them, and through direct primaries they are responsible for the nominations and that applies to Mr. Fielder, to Mr. Colby and to Mr. Stokes. The voters placed these gentlemen in the field as candidates for Governor. Who will say that Mr. Stokes' candidacy is not just as free of the charge of bossing as are the nominations of Mr. Fielder and Mr. Colby? Governor Fielder and Senator Colby had opponents in the primary and they won; Mr. Stokes had opponents and he won, having over six times as many votes as his primary opponents. Such a charge in my opinion represents nothing but an empty shell."

Mr. Ackerman continued by saying that Mr. Stokes' candidacy appealed to him particularly because it meant, if he were elected, that a policy would be inaugurated that would be more businesslike and that a plan of wise economy along progressive lines would soon be ushered in.

"Many of the industries of New Jersey have been put on the free list," said Mr. Ackerman, touching on the tariff, "and the whole bill shows a tendency toward free trade and the measure may seriously threaten the prosperity of the State. I hope not, for my sympathies are with those who toil for a living and they can't afford hard times.

"Having had an experience of over one-third of a century in traveling in over one hundred foreign countries I can honestly say that never have I seen the foreign manufacturers so jubilant over the prospect of capturing the American market. Let us hope for the best, however, in spite of the Democratic tariff and let everybody unite for the purpose of holding the prestige of American manufactures and American prosperity."

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

"Seven Keys to Baldpate," the treasure island of thrills and laughter made into a play by George M. Cohan from the story of the same name by Earl Deer Biggers, is winning cheers from crowded audiences at the Astor theatre, where this mystery farce is just beginning its third successful month. "Seven Keys to Baldpate" is a rip roaring farce that is guaranteed to keep you very much awake with its rapid fun and intensely exciting situations. There will be a special Election Day matinee on Tuesday, November 4.

Next week will be the tenth week for that joyful farce, "Nearly Married," at the Gaiety theatre, where thousands have laughed and many thousands will continue to laugh at the ridiculous complications of the eloping married couple in Edgar Selwyn's funny play. Written in three acts, the piece is a scream all the way, and as presented by Bruce McRae, Jane Grey and their associate farceurs, is an absolutely certain cure for the blues. There will be an Election Day matinee performance of "Nearly Married," Tuesday afternoon, November 4.

war.

Following Mr. Marsh's talk, there was a business meeting of the club at which it was decided to hold three more dinners during the winter, and Leslie R. Fort made a report of the investigations which a committee of the club have been making of the swimming pool question, with the idea of erecting such a pool in the West End. It was decided to continue the committee and have them consult with the men's clubs of other churches, holding a meeting later in the winter to see what could be done to bring about this much needed public improvement in the West End.

Plainfield, N. J., October 29, 1913.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT.

Departing from its custom of recent years, the Daily Press will not publish an early morning edition next Wednesday. This newspaper stands for enterprise when it can be rightly directed but experience has demonstrated to all newspapers that the result is very unsatisfactory alike to the newspapers as to their readers.

Returns are slow in coming in and while bare results may be obtained in many instances nothing definite and really accurate can be gotten. This will be particularly true at our Gubernatorial election for it takes an extraordinarily long time for the district officers to figure up the returns because of the big blanket ballot which is designed and is used largely for independent voting. In consequence, there is delay all along the line and by the time the newspapers get the complete results it is too late for an early morning edition.

The Daily Press, therefore, will adhere to its regular schedule and the paper will be issued at the customary hour in the afternoon. It will contain accurate and thorough detailed reports and results of the State election, the returns in the counties and especially in Union, Somerset and Middlesex, the returns in Plainfield, North Plainfield and our environs.

For the benefit of the people who may be anxious to get the earlier returns on Tuesday night, a stereopticon service will be provided. The reports as quickly as received by wire, by phone and from our reportorial staff and staff correspondents will be flashed on a screen in front of the Daily Press office. You are all invited to come around and take advantage of this service and any who are unable to do so and still wish to get the early reports are invited to call up this office by phone.

VOTE FOR SEBRING.

Considered from the old idea of reward for party service or from the new and only just one of fitness, Charles P. Sebring, of North Plainfield, is a very creditable candidate for the shrievalty in Somerset county. For years, he has been doing what lay within his power to promote the interests of the Republican party and its candidates, and has ever been loyal in his support. But it is not so much this that appeals to the voter of today in deciding for himself for whom he should cast his ballot as it is a question of the man himself and his fitness for the office he seeks.

Like a judicial officer, a sheriff should be a man of conscience, of a merciful and painstaking nature, of a cheerful disposition and one who takes an interest in his fellow man particularly when in misfortune. Time was when a good sheriff was supposed to be a hard-hearted man who performed his duties as a despot would. Happily that day has passed.

Mr. Sebring is the ideal type of man for that very important office. And as his record is clean he is deserving of and should receive the support of Somerset's voters irrespective of party. The indications are that he will. The vote he will surely get in his home town will be a big one and he will undoubtedly make a fine run in all other parts of the county.

"TATERS" ARE SCARCE.

That great American vegetable, the humble, but popular potato, is having a hard time of it these days and the millions of inhabiatnts of this land from the most meek to the most exalted are trying to figure out where they are at. The new tariff law allows it to come in free of duty, but dispatches from the west state that the railroads out there announce a big raise in freight rates on all shipments to be made. The New England crop is a failure and as told in the Daily Press on Monday no tubers can be imported from the British Isles because of rust. Now, if only some mathematician will come along and tell the consumer how to strike a happy medium, we will rise as one and sing the first and third stanzas of "Count Your Many Blessings."

FIRST BAPTIST'S BIBLE SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENT

The members of the Bible School of the First Baptist church enjoyed a Hallowe'en social at the church, last night, the affair being arranged by the social committee of the school, comprising Mrs. Lewis H. Matlack, Mrs. John G. MacLaughlin, Mrs. George H. Rbbins, Mrs. Charles Conover, Mrs. Harold Serrell and Mrs. Ida Slater.

The social was of an informal character, the evening being spent playing all sorts of games. There were vocal selections by Howard Parry and Hollis Cubberley, while Mrs. Lucie E. Rising, church missionary, gave an appropriate reading.

The "presence" of ghosts and witches added to the merriment of the occasion and the young people had a general good time. During the evening ice cream and cake was served under the direction of the committee in charge.

She Gives Trinity Mission Band Account of International S. S. Meetings.

Under the auspices of the Young Women's Mission Band of Trinity Reformed church, a missionary tea was given yesterday afternoon at the home of Miss Lillian A. Force on Duer street. Mrs. Lucie E. Rising related briefly some of the interesting incidents of her recent trip abroad, when she attended the International Sunday School Convention at Zurich, Switzerland.

Miss Force, Mrs. Corra Ryno, Miss Winifred Rapalje and Miss Margaret Leggett received the guests and Mrs. Harry C. VanEmburgh and Mrs. Fred S. Cutter poured tea. The social committee comprising Miss Helen Smith, Miss Cora Gano, Miss Edna Cole and Miss Adelaide Cole served. Miss Hope Irene Miller sang two solos.

FOUR SCOUT TROOPS ATTENDED LECTURE

Following the Talk They Give Dr. Holms a Rousing Send-off at the Depot.

Four troops of Boy Scouts, consisting of over one hundred members attended the lecture in the parlors of the First Presbyterian church last night when Dr. Fritz Holms, of New York, gave a graphic description of his personal experiences with the Chinese. The speaker depicted the customs of the natives of China and described their daily routine of life including their habits, industries and religious life and contrasting it to conditions existing n America.

The speaker told of personal experiences he had had with the Chinese of the lower class and the difference between the average inhabitant of that country and the American born individual. Dr. Holms also described the effort being made to suppress the opium traffic in China and the assistance England is giving in the war being waged on the deadly drug.

Folowing his talk Dr. Holms was entertained informally by the scouts and was later escorted to the station by the entire delegation when he left for New York.

AROUSED FROM SLEEP, HE WALKS OFF TRAIN PLATFORM

William Coleman, a musician, was suddenly aroused from a sound sleep in a west-bound train that stopped at the local station this afternoon, when the conductor shouted, "Next stop, Dunellen," as the train pulled out of the station. Coleman wanted to get off the train at the Plainfield depot and when the conductor announced that the train was on its way to Dunellen he was stirred to action.

Running to the rear platform of the last car he found that the train was just passing over the Park avenue bridge and when the platform of the train reached the other side he leaped to the ground, landing heavily on the steel rail. He was stunned for the time being but picked himself up before assistance arrived and gathering up his baggage, which included a mandolin, he went to the rear of the Boice-Runyon Company to bind up his injuries, which included several lacerations about the arms and hands.

STOKES DANGEROUS--COLBY

he called Mr. Whiting into his office and told him that he was going to appoint him, but "wanted him to go to Philadelphia first and call upon the president of the Pennsylvania Railroad." He scored the Employers' Liability law as one of the worst pieces of legislation ever enacted and said that when he tried to have it repealed he found the chairman of the Assembly committee which had the repealer in its possession, hiding in Stokes' office.

The candidate drew forth a real burst of enthusiasm when he declared that the Progressive party had come to stay and that he personally would never return to the "corrupt and rotten Republican party" so long as he lived.

It was just as Mr. Colby was starting away that he saw Mr. Hammond, and the latter took but little urging to get into the automobile, where he said in his brief speech that he admired Mr. Colby and agreed with him in everything but politics. He reiterated his belief in the Republican platform and said that if elected he would stand upon the planks there provided, and closed by saying that he never missed an opportunity to grasp Everett Colby by the hand or to pay tribute to him as a man.

The first annual reception of the colored order of the A. U. O. of S. and D. of Moses will be held tomorrow night, in Company K Hall.

CLAYBROOK IDEAL FOR COUNCIL

Men's Club of Grace Protestant Episcopal church, of Plainfield.

A Virginian by birth and education, Mr. Claybrook is now in business in New York city as the eastern manager of a big flour producing concern. He is a prominent member of the New York Produce Exchange and president of the New York Flour Club. He removed to New York from Cumberland, Md., where he was secretary and sales manager for the largest wholesale grocery concern in the State and is now president of a wholesale grocery company in Fredericksburg, Virginia. These facts are set forth only to emphasize the contention that no man has a right to hold public office who has not made good in his own especial field of endeavor. At the same time it goes to prove that a man who has manifold private interests to look after and is willing to sacrifice his hard-earned leisure in the interests of the community in which he resides possesses more or less patriotism and public spirit which is richly deserving of commendation.

Mr. Claybrook, however, is not an office-seeker. His is a case of the office seeking the man, for the very highest type of citizens residing here, regardless of their politics, strongly urged him to consent to becoming a candidate for Council. The residents of the West End are overjoyed that a representative citizen of that section should be in the running, inasmuch as no section of the city is in direr need of a champion in the legislative halls of the city.

Mr. Claybrook took an active part in the campaign which brought about the election of Woodrow Wilson for the presidency. He was in Baltimore and in the convention hall all during that memorable struggle when Tammany Hall was so openly snubbed and it was proven that Democracy, as a whole, could very well afford to follow its own dictates without the voice or aid of a Murphy. In later campaigns in this State, Mr. Claybrook took an active part and the Democratic organization of Plainfield has no more enthusiastic worker. At the earnest request of Mayor Stewart, whom he supported loyally, Mr. Claybrook became a member of the Playground Commission and has devoted much of his time to conscientiously performing the functions and duties as a member of that important board. The man who is willing to aid in administering the affairs of this city is not one who has not accomplished things, and he is willing to adopt the Daily Press slogan and "Do it for Plainfield." And that is the type of man we need in our Councils.

Before consenting to accept the nomination for councilman-at-large Mr. Claybrook insisted that those who had approached him write to leading men of Cumberland to ascertain for themselves what the record of the man they thus sought to honor was before he came here.

A letter from J. W. Young, clerk of the Allegany County Court, to J. F. Zerega, of this city, speaks for itself:

"I have known R. A. Claybrook for many years. At one time he was a resident of our city. Mr. Claybrook is a most excellent gentleman in every sense of the word. He was one of the most prominent citizens of our community and State, and was not only always interested but took a prominent part in everything that pertained to the interest of our city, and when he decided to leave this city you could hear nothing but expressions of regret from all who knew him, because we felt that our city had sustained a great loss in his removal. I feel that your city is to be congratulated upon having him as a citizen, and I am sure he will be a very potent factor in all that pertains to your best interests."

Another letter to Mr. Zerega comes from Judge Robert R. Henderson, a Republican, of the Fourth Maryland Judicial Circuit. That, too, speaks volumes and should leave no doubt in the minds of the voters as to the character of the man who seeks their support at the polls next month:

"I take great pleasure in saying that I knew R. A. Claybrook during the term of his residence here very well, having served on the same board of directors with him in a business corporation and upon the vestry of the Episcopal church, and being connected with him in various other ways which gave me an opportunity to know him. I can say with the strongest emphasis that he was one of our very best and most useful citizens, and that there was general regret here when he severed his business connections to go elsewhere. He is a most capable and energetic business man of the very highest character, willing to do more than his share in everything he undertakes. Without knowing much about Plainfield, I am sure there is no man in the place who would give better service in your city government than would Mr. Claybrook. For the benefit of Plainfield I sincerely trust that he may be elected."

That he is deserving of the support of Democrats and Republicans alike is proven by the fact that he was chairman of the movement organized by the best men of both parties which brought into existence the Citizens' Independence League of Cumberland, Md., which organization was solely responsible for the election of representative men to the City Council.

It is the earnest hope of the writer that Mr. Claybrook is elected, for he is the type of man Plainfield needs, and as a near neighbor we know him and his record.

A Pianola for Every Home

The six models of the Pianola from the Steinway to the Stroud meet the requirements of every purse and every taste

THERE should be music in your home just as there should be books and pictures. Music is one of the most important elements in the social life of the home—fun and good cheer ride on the wings of music—it is the very essence of the dance and song—it is the typification of happiness. And in addition, music is a refining, culturing influence not even second to good literature.

There can be music in your home, for the Pianola makes music as available, as easily interpreted and enjoyed as books. And there is a Pianola for every home.

The Steinway Pianola
Grand—$2100

The Steinway satisfies the tastes and requirements of the most exacting master musician. The brilliant splendor of its tone has earned it the favor of countless thousands of music lovers. Its remarkable perfection has established its commanding position in the music-centers of the world.

The Steinway Pianola is a Steinway in tone, in constructional excellence, in every attribute that has made the Steinway celebrated—and it is more. It is the Steinway and the art to play.

An unusual exhibition of Steinway Pianolas, both Grand and Upright models, has been arranged in the Steinway Studios at Aeolian Hall. It should be seen by every lover of piano music—especially those whose untrained fingers have shut them out from the great enjoyment of actually making music.

The Stroud Pianola
Upright—$550

The Stroud is the most moderate priced Pianola. But it is not, by any means, moderate in quality. Its beauty of tone, responsiveness of action—its perfection in every essential, pianoforte feature, has won the praise and endorsement of such notable musicians as Maurice Moszkowski, Cecile Chaminade, Arthur Nikisch and Louis Diemer.

The Stroud is not merely a piano—it is an instrument that you can play with all the facility and art of a skilled pianist. And it is better than any so-called player-piano, sold by any music house, at any price.

Very convenient terms of purchase — a small cash down payment and low weekly or monthly payments on the deferred amount—place the Stroud within the financial reach of every household.

Player-pianos, so-called, are not Pianolas. There is but one Pianola. It is made exclusively by The Aeolian Company, and is obtainable in the following models only: The Steinway, The Steck, The Wheelock, The Stuyvesant, the remarkable Stroud and the magnificent Weber Pianolas. Prices from $550 upwards. Convenient Monthly Payments. For sale, in New York, only at

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 25.

IN these days of widely read Classified advertising, there isn't much excuse for an individual with a Want to go long with that Want unfulfilled.

Time was when the mention of "advertising" caused the average man to look scared and take a firmer hold on his pocketbook.

That was because advertising was looked upon as a sort of necessary evil—good enough for those who could afford it, but beyond the experimental reach of the masses.

Today that sort of sentiment does not exist. Advertising is recognized as a potent factor in the world's progress—not alone by the big merchant who spends thousands of dollars annually in telling the public his business story through the newspapers, but by even the woman who wants a good cook or the man-out-of-a-job who is seeking desirable employment.

You can tell an average Want Ad. story pretty thoroughly in three or four lines. Do you know what that means? It means that, at a cost of 30 or 40 cents, your Want will be brought to the attention of hundreds—yes, thousands—of readers.

All of us, at some time or other, have occasion to say something to the great public—to set before it some ware or want. The best place to say it—and results will prove this statement true—is in the Classified columns of this newspaper.

Makes Hard Work Easy!

DUSTING, cleaning and polishing hardwood floors is hard, back-breaking work. An almost never ending task and seldom satisfactory the old way. But it is easy, quick and satisfactory the new way—using the O-Cedar Polish Mop. With it you can spend a few minutes doing what it now takes you almost half a day. You simply pass the O-Cedar Polish Mop over the floor and every particle of dust and dirt is taken up and held. The floor is given a hard, durable, lasting polish and finish.

O-Cedar Polish Mop

is also used for the dusting and cleaning of the tops of high furniture, between the banisters of the stairs and is so made that you can get to the far corner under the bed, beneath the radiator and other hard-to-get-at places.

It cuts house work in half.

Don't put up with the old-fashioned hard way when you can get an O-Cedar Polish Mop for only $1.50.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

FRANCES MARSHALL

Be Extravagant on Your Specialty.

If anyone should ever write your biography, he, or she, would record everything that bore on the specialty of your life. If it is housekeeping, everything you do to improve your methods of working at housekeeping would have a place in the biography. The fact that you can play a fairly good hand of bridge would be unimportant in comparison with the fact that you can set a good table on, say, three dollars a head a week. There would be a paragraph, doubtless, devoted to the interesting detail that you saved your money to buy a silver mounted dog collar for your favorite collie; but there would be a chapter on the fact that your kitchen was well equipped with up-to-date appliances.

Of course, it is not likely that you will ever be the subject of a biography. But the fact remains that if your life work is housekeeping the most sensible thing to do is to confine your extravagances to things which will make your housekeeping pleasant and successful.

Save money for a vacuum cleaner or an electric clothes washer or incinerator. Or save for such smaller conveniences as a gas or electric flatiron or toaster or percolator, or an electric fan to keep the kitchen and dining room comfortable in warm weather.

If your kitchen is inconvenient, save money to pay for alterations or additions that will make it convenient. Invest in a linoleum floor covering to make the room warmer and neater, or a new cupboard or set of shelves, or new lights or an extra window or a new refrigerator or gas stove. Extravagances such as these will be much more to the point than the buying of a new picture for the reception room—delightful as that might be—or the buying of an unnecessary finery for your children, if they are already well dressed.

One young mother had the right idea when she paid a really big sum of money, compared with her weekly allowance, for tuition in a correspondence course on baby training. She could ill afford the expenses of the course; but the results made up for whatever sacrifice she was forced to make. She was enabled to do her work of bringing up her babies intelligently, with understanding and with much greater happiness and enjoyment than if she had struggled on blindly alone.

When to Be Extravagant.

It is hard to know when to be extravagant; but hard as it is, make up your mind to be extravagant in some way that will make your special life work easier and pleasanter. If your life work is to keep house, make your house delightful and comfortable and easy to manage. If it is to bring up children, study, go to lectures if you will, and spend money for various devices to make your work pleasant. If you do office work, spend enough money for your lunches to make them nourishing and a pleasant interruption in the routine of the day and be extravagant enough with clothes so that you will always feel suitably and comfortably dressed.

Whatever your specialty is, spend money on it.

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

National Calls For Convention.

The following call has been issued for the coming National Suffrage Convention, to be held in Washington, D. C., from Nov. 30 to Dec. 5:

It says in part:

"For the forty-fifth time in its history, the National American Woman Suffrage Association summons its members together in council. By thus assembling, one more united step toward the final emancipation of the women of this country is made practicable.

"To the wise and courageous, to those not fearful of the chances demanded by the vital needs of growing humanity, this call is sent, for by such only can it be received. For them it will have two meanings: First, it will speak of loyalty to work and to comrade workers; of large undertakings worthily begun and to be worthily finished; of the stimulus of difficulty; of joy in the exercise of talents and strength; of the self-control and ability required for co-operation.

"Second, and with deeper meaning it will bring the age-old call of woman to woman, not only for counsel and comfort, but for the better preservation of what she holds most high.

"Anna Howard Shaw, president.

"Jane Addams, first vice-president.

"Charlotte Anita Whitney, second vice-president.

"Mary Ware Dennett, corresponding secretary.

"Susan W. FitzGerald, recording secretary.

"Katherine Dexter McCormick, treasurer.

"Harriet Burton Laidlaw and Louise de Koven Bowen, auditors."

The Passage of the Suffrage Amendment in New Jersey.

The passage of the suffrage amendment by the next New Jersey Legislature seems assured. Not only have all the parties endorsed its submission, but pledges to support the measure have been rolling in from primary candidates. Miss Eleanor Garrison, legislative secretary of the joint legislative committee, says that 153 candidates for the Assembly and Senate have already pledged their support; seven were non-committal, and six were in favor, but declared it contrary to their policy to make pledges. Miss Garrison has been all over New Jersey, and everywhere finds suffrage sentiment strong.

Known By Its Fruits.

We are often told that equal suffrage will make no difference. Here are a few of the many laws credited to woman suffrage in the enfranchised States:

In the State of Washington, the eight-hour law for women, the minimum wage law, the mothers' pension bill, the red-light injunction bill, an anti-tuberculosis measure, a teachers' retirement bill, a law making conviction easier in cases of criminal assault upon women and girls, an appropriation of $100,000 for a woman's building at the State University, and a delinquent father's bill, whereby fathers deserting their wives and children can be put to work and their earnings applied to the support of their families.

In Oregon, the minimum wage bill for women, mothers' pensions, workmen's compensation, teachers' civil service bill, trade school for delinquent girls, industrial school for delinquent girls, bill for the relief of deserted wives, red-light injunction bill, pure milk bill, requirement of health certificate for marriage, wives' compensation bill (calling for compensation by saloon-keepers when husbands die of alcoholism), and a bill making it a penal offence for a man to live on the earnings of a fallen woman.

In Utah, minimum wage, nine-hour law, equal guardianship, appointment of a woman labor commissioner, several liquor measures for the better prevention for the sale of intoxicants in "dry" territory, forbidding horse-race gambling, establishing free public libraries in cities and towns, equal pay for women teachers when doing equal work, requiring all schools and educational institutions supported wholly or partly by public funds to give systematic instruction in physiology and hygiene, creating a State Art Institute, providing for a course of free lectures at the capital on sanitary science, hygiene and nursing; requiring kindergartens in all school districts having a population of 2,000 or over, curfew law for children under fourteen making it a misdemeanor for any minor under eighteen to buy or possess cigarettes, tobacco or opium; providing for protection of dependent, neglected or ill treated boys and girls.

In Colorado, eight-hour law for women, mothers' pensions, minimum wage bill, bill requiring wife's signature to sale of homestead, $50 per month fixed as lowest salary permissible for teachers, joint guardianship, establishment of State Home for Dependent Children and State Industrial School for Girls, forbidding insurance of lives of children under ten, indeterminate sentence for prisoners, requiring in public schools lessons on humane treatment of animals, State inspection for all private charitable institutions, making father and mother joint heirs of deceased child, establishing State Traveling Library Commission of five women from State Federation of Women's Clubs, providing that violators of child-labor law shall be punished by imprisonment in addition to fine, making it a criminal offense to contribute to the delinquency of a child, and many other laws for the benefit of children; making it a felony for a man to live on the earnings of a fallen woman.

In Idaho, nine-hour law for women, mothers pension bill, medical inspection bill, bill establishing libraries and reading rooms and authorizing tax for their maintenance, requiring that at least three per cent. of school fund go for school libraries, providing for a department of domestic science at State University, establishing Industrial Reform School, a stringent pure food act, enlargement of married women's property rights.

In Wyoming, equal pay for women teachers when they do equal work, establishing free public kindergartens, forbidding adulteration of candy, providing for care of deserted or orphan children, or children of infirm, indigent, or incompetent parents, forbidding employment of children under fourteen in public exhibitions, punishing child neglect or cruelty, making gambling illegal.

In California, minimum wage, mothers' pensions, workmen's compensation, health certificate for marriage, joint guardianship, red-light abatement law, widening of eight-hour law, teachers' pensions, State Training School for Girls, juvenile court law, prison reform and indeterminate sentence, with payment of wages to convicts and assistance to discharged prisoners, milk inspection, inspection of weights and measures, water conservation, bill bringing practically all State employes under civil service, psycopathic parole law, requiring wife's signature to assignment of man's wages, making tuberculosis reportable, raising limit of child labor from twelve years to fifteen.

In most of the suffrage States, the age protection for girls has been raised to 18.

Some Cookery Suggestions

HOW TO SERVE CHESTNUTS.

CHESTNUTS are now in the market and may be used in making many delicious desserts and dainty confections. Roasting and boiling chestnuts will form a feature of many a home entertainment on Halloween.

To roast make a cross on the shell of the nut, using a sharp penknife; then put in a corn popper or frying pan over a hot fire and shake until the shells burst open. This will take about twenty minutes.

To boil them throw into boiling water to which a teaspoonful of salt has been added for each pint of nuts. Cook about twenty minutes, drain in a colander and serve very hot.

Dainty Desserts.

Chestnut Cups.—Take equal quantities whipped cream and vanilla ice cream. Put slices of marrons or the large Italian chestnuts that have been soaked in a little grape juice for a short time in the bottom of sherbet glasses. Over the chestnuts put a spoonful ice cream and on top of this the whipped cream. Sprinkle with minced pistachio nuts.

Chestnuts Glace.—Roast a quart of chestnuts, but do not allow them to brown. Peel and when cold stick a wooden toothpick in each. Meantime boil one pound loaf sugar in one pint water until it will thread. Dip each nut in the sirup; then stick the ends of the skewers in a plate of brown sugar to drain and harden. If the first dip is not sufficient to glace, repeat.

A Toothsome Relish.

Salted Chestnuts.—Drop into boiling water as many shelled nuts as are needed. Blanch and dry with a soft towel; then add olive oil or melted butter to the nuts, allowing a teaspoonful to each cup of nuts, and let them remain in the oil half an hour. Dredge with salt, a heaping teaspoonful to each cup; then put on a tin and let them brown in the oven from ten to fifteen minutes, shaking and stirring the pan frequently to keep them from scorching and make them an even brown. These should be crisp and delicate.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Poor Puppy Carlo Upsets The Candle.

JACK and Evelyn were seated on the floor at daddy's feet, playing with Sheppie. The dog rolled over and over, trying to catch the string with which the children were teasing him.

"I think I'll tell you tonight about Puppy Carlo's last scrape," said daddy.

"Carlo was a little, fat puppy, with a curly black coat. When he grew up he would be a Newfoundland dog. Now, a big, handsome Newfoundland dog is a very dignified animal. Puppy Carlo's mother, Mrs. Gypsy, was a very dignified dog.

"She told Puppy Carlo that it was very naughty of him to run off with his master's shoes and then forget to bring them back, as he sometimes did.

"Puppy Carlo ran off, for he did not like to be scolded. He was tired, and he wanted to take a nap in some nice, quiet spot. He climbed in the empty clothes basket which stands at the head of the kitchen stairs.

"It was dark in the cellar, and whenever the cook had to go down she lighted a candle which she kept in the kitchen cupboard.

"She happened to have to go downstairs while Carlo was sleeping, and she made so much noise in moving the boxes around in the cellar that she wakened the puppy.

"Puppy Carlo was very fond of the cook, and when he saw the light below stairs and heard his friend tramping about he scrambled out of the basket and rushed downstairs to join her.

"Now, the candle happened to be set on the lower step, and before he had time to stop in his rush down the stairs he had upset the candle.

"'You naughty dog,' she scolded. 'You might have set the house on fire, upsetting candles that way.'

"'Wow, wow, wow!' barked Carlo. 'I'll never do so any more!'

"'What ails the little doggie anyway,' cook wondered.

"Cook carried the puppy up to the kitchen. Then she saw what hurt him. One of his paws was burned, and the hot grease had stuck on his coat.

"Cook was kind. She bathed the poor burned paw in witch hazel; then she put some olive oil on it.

"'It's all because you are such a heedless little puppy and never look where you are going,' moaned Mrs. Gypsy as she licked her puppy.

"'I'm never going to be heedless any more,' wailed Carlo. 'I'm going to be a very, very good little puppy dog.'"

MODISH FOR BRIDGE AND AFTERNOON TEA DANCES

PARIS fashions and the best adaptations of them made in this country for the coming season show an extravagant array of "dressy" gowns for daytime wear. Soft clinging fabrics, filmy laces and satins are combined in kaleidoscopic variety. Dark and light colors are equally popular, the choice resting with the wearer or the occasion. Dark rich wine colors, tete de negre brown and greens vie with black in fashion's favor. For the younger generation the lighter colors are generally preferred for formal frocks, though it is the strong contrasts of light and dark which make not a few of the noticeable models of the year stand apart from the many.

The type of dressy gown mentioned has greater importance in the well thought out wardrobe now than for many seasons, while, in fact, women with extremely limited variety of costumes will manage to have three or four such dresses where one formerly did duty for all times save evening. To go where and when society calls nowadays requires appropriate clothes and many changes.

Women who can afford French models have recently been charged by one who claims to be an authority on fashions for the fair sex with overdressing—that is, too much ornamentation. Simplicity is the plea, based upon a supply of materials rich enough in themselves to be harmed by elaborate designs and trimmings. They make the most effective dresses when cut after plain patterns of the right kind.

Those of us who have to plan or even make our own gowns have determined by experience how preferable and how much more becoming are the gowns we have designed with study of current fashions in relation to our own figure and lines than those that many others choose indiscriminately and pay for accordingly.

Two of the three gowns shown on page (7876 and 7880) have been selected as examples of best type of "simple" gowns in the approved sense of that word from fashion's viewpoint. The former is made with a three-piece skirt as the foundation for the modish lace overdress of wide white lace weighted with fringe. The kimono blouse is covered in part with the lace and has a touch of net edging. Besides the crush girdle, there is a flower at the belt as the final touch that is added to every dress-up costume. Notice also the flat ribbon band in the coiffure.

The figure at the left (7880) illustrates how a wonderfully dainty and girlish frock can be designed from bordered chiffon. This was made from four and one-half yards of flowered chiffon with a white ground, combined with satin messaline and plain footing, hemstitched, for the frill which appears on the surplice blouse. The drapery at the side hints at the classic lines which French designers have borrowed from pictures and statuary. The way that the ribbon is arranged on the skirt is novel and often repeated in gold or silver ribbon, so very up to date. Either of these gowns can be duplicated allowing $12.50 each for materials. The patterns are 15 cents apiece.

ONE goes into any number of New York restaurants for luncheon or at the hour for afternoon tea, to discover that dancing is a regular feature of the program, or, if already initiated, to participate in the diversion which is everywhere popular under new conditions for Americans.

Teas pronounced a bore oftener than not by the younger set, and tabooed by the masculine sex, have been changed to tea-dances that act like magnets in attracting participants imbued with the dancing spirit of the time. Even the informal little afternoon gatherings of the winter will have their dancing opportunities.

From the fashion viewpoint, these and the card parties which go to make up the round of afternoon entertainments, will be staged with an interesting panorama of costumes. The tendency toward increased dressiness for daytime affairs is emphasized in the gowns designed for occasions such as these mentioned.

The girl who must be prepared for probable tea dances and bridge matinees will need at least three or four pretty dresses in keeping with the changed fashions. Some of them may be quite simple and inexpensive, too, so long as they are suited to the hour. Formal frocks for afternoon are only higher in the necks and with longer sleeves than evening gowns, and are usually worn with hats. They may be light and dainty in color or rich and dark as some of the most beautiful French creations are with combinations of lace, chiffon and silk or velvet.

The three gowns pictured on this page are models suitable for girls in their teens. The accessories are important, too, if one tries to be consistent in dress. Patent leather shoes, for instance, are correct with dressy afternoon attire for outdoor wear.

KEWPIES FOR NOVEL UTILITY FAVORS.

TINY kewpies are serving a new purpose for useful as well as entertaining holiday gifts and favors, in the ways shown in the above illustration. They may be dressed in blue or pink satin and mounted on wee sweet grass baskets, which will hold buttons and trinkets on the dressing table. The covers make modish hats for the queer little figures. A larger size basket and a "guardian" in proportion would make a novelty holder for a ball of string with scissors attached. A pincushion could also be made and fastened in the basket.

Useful Hints For Home and Table.

FOOD scientists praise Hawaiian pineapple for its digestive properties as well as for its delicious flavor. The large ripe fruit, which is quite plentiful here nowadays, is served frequently sliced and cold as a dessert or with lettuce and dressing for salad. It is easier for many housewives to get the canned Hawaiian pineapple than the fresh fruit. Following are three ways of using it, not common as yet in most homes:

Pineapple-Fritters.

Cut pineapple into pieces, sprinkle with sugar and let it stand for half an hour. Drain off the juice and roll in sifted breadcrumbs. Dip into a batter made of one egg, one cupful of flour, one cupful of milk and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Fry in deep fat and drain on soft paper. A sauce to serve with the fritters is made of one-half cupful of water, one of sugar, boiled until spinning, and enough white wine, together with the fruit juice to make one pint of sauce.

Pineapple Salad.

Make small balls of cream cheese and roll them in chopped walnuts or pecan nuts. Place one in the hole of the large slices of Hawaiian pineapple, put in turn on crisp leaves of lettuce or romaine. Serve with a mayonnaise dressing. This is one of the most delicious fruit salads and especially appropriate to serve with a game dinner.

Mixed Fruit Salad.

Prepare equal portions of orange and grape fruit, one cupful of each, by removing seeds and fibres. Add to it a cupful of canned pineapple cut in small pieces. Mix them, using the juices for a dressing with enough sugar to sweeten slightly. Serve in sherbet glasses after chilling for half an hour on the ice. Maraschino cherries and two tablespoonfuls of wine improve the flavor for some. This is good for the first course of a luncheon.

Dish Cloths of Twine.

Pieces of string and twine which economical housewives save from grocery and other parcels delivered at the door may be converted into exceptionally useful dishcloths, according to one who has used them. The twine should be knitted with a plain stitch on coarse needles, as washrags are sometimes made.

Embroidery No. 14609 Motifs For Easy Costume Decoration.

SQUARE and rectangular "spots" of embroidery are used very much in connection with simple border outlines in Turkish stitch for any materials on which they are suitable. Canton crape, sponge and canvas weaves lend themselves to this effective and original ornamentation that high-priced dressmakers introduce with Oriental styles of the present season. Combinations of blue, black, brown, red, green or yellow embroidery threads or floss are good. The large motif is good for sash ends for a patch pocket or for sleeve decoration. The pattern for these designs (Emb. 14609) includes two different large motifs, 8¼ by 6 inches; two smaller 7¼ by 5; a yoke design, four strips of border and twelve small motifs 6¼ by 2½ inches.

They are very simple to work and most effective. The border may be done in solid stitch or the Balkan cable, while the figures inside should be embroidered in unpadded solid embroidery. The smaller pieces are suitable for trimming children's dresses.

Many of the most beautiful and expensive crepe de chine blouses for sale in the shops show similar decorations. The price of the pattern described is 15 cents.

FLOWERED CHIFFON GRACEFULLY DRAPED

Patterns for designs shown on this page can be obtained from any agency for Ladies' Home Journal Patterns.

7695 TAFFETA with VELVET and NET

TAFFETA has come again into favor, but with a soft texture that lends itself to the inevitable drapery of this season's styles, as illustrated in the dressy costume above. It is of old blue and buff changeable silk having a dull gold effect charming with the bands of black velvet trimming. It is a wonderfully pleasing combination of rich coloring and splendid style. While the skirt is draped to give the fullness below the hip, the lines of the trimming there and on the blouse produce a slender appearance. Therefore the model is a favorite for those inclined to resent the latest fashions with their broadening effect. The ornamental bands are made of two-inch black ribbon velvet edged with a cording of bias taffeta. The buttons also are covered with the dress fabric.

Pattern No. 7965, from which the dress pictured may be reproduced, is cut for misses in three sizes, the largest (eighteen year) being thirty-six inches in bust measure. The blouse is of ecru net tucked below a small round yoke, and the tucks extend from the shoulder, making a dressy sleeve. The pattern is 15 cents.

ORANGE PIN KNIGHTS EASY FOR LOCAL ELKS

Queen City Pinners Took Three Straight on Rival's Alleys Last Night.

Plainfield Elks pinners made a clean sweep at the Llewellyn alleys in Orange, last night, taking three games from the home pin smashers with little effort. All of the contests early turned in favor of the Queen City representatives and the Orange bowlers offered little opposition, failing to reach the 800 mark in any contest, while the visitors piled up respective counts of 829, 855 and 879.

"Bill" Nash was high man of the evening, chalking up a mark of 209 in the second match, while Oetzel set the runner-up mark when he smashed 201 of the wooden soldiers in the final contest. Two substitutes were rushed to the rescue by the Orange quintet, one in the second game and another in the third but both failed to bolster their team's scoring average to any remarkable degree.

A mark of 191 by Nash in the opening canto put the Plainfielders on easy street in that session while the same performer's double century with a little added, turned the trick in the middle match. In the final roll the four of the Plainfielders took a decided brace and the quartet passed the 175 mark, Kiely being high man in this game with a 190.

FOOTBALL NOTES

Princeton and Rutgers began playing football back in 1869 and have met almost annually ever since.

The line of the University of Pennsylvania team averges 184 pounds, the backs 166 pounds and the eleven 178 pounds.

McCaa, the great Lafayette punter of a decade ago, is assisting "Doc" Newton coach his old college eleven at Easton, Pa.

Eddie Hart and Doc Hillebrand, both former Tiger captains, are expected to join the coaching staff at Princeton soon.

John Foster, secretary of the New York Giants, will handle the big football games on the Polo Grounds, New York, this fall.

Brown and Ingram, who have reported to Coach Howard at Annapolis, complete the list of 1912 veterans on the Middies' eleven.

A colored player on the Michigan Agricultural team cannot be induced to wear a headguard. He claims that his head is harder than any headguard made.

MARATHONS IN ACTION.

On the Saengerbund Hall court this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, the Marathon A. C. basketball team will play the opening game of the season against the North Plainfield High School freshman class quintet.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is there a premium on a penny dated 1851?—J. T.

Answer—Not yet, hold it for another century and it will be valuable.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Had a play-off of a seventh game in the world's series been necessary where would the contest have been played?—P. J. H.

Answer—Representatives of the two interested teams would have met and tossed a coin to see which town should get the deciding struggle. It happened last season between Boston and New York, Boston winning the toss and the seventh game was played in the Hub.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Will you kindly state in your sporting column whether there is anything unsportsman like in a tennis player playing a so-called "cut-game;" that is, hitting the ball so as to make it spin and bounce crookedly whenever possible? Are such strokes prohibited in championship matches?—B. F. D.

Answer—There is nothing at all unsportsman like in this method of attack. That's the game and if you can do it you are sure to win success on the courts. It is the same as a baseball pitcher putting curves and drops on the ball in an endeavor to fool the batter, or a football player getting a twist in a kick in order to make it difficult for the rival player to catch it. This is the essence of skill and Maurice McLaughlin's great success on the tennis court was largely due to his ability to "cut the ball."

Sporting Editor:

Query—I have been told that the dandeline is the official flower of New Jersey. Is that information correct?—N. H. G.

Answer—Never heard of this title being adopted by the innocent little yellow flower. However, it's not the State flower but the State plague.

(Here's one from Newark.)

Sporting Editor:

Query—Kindly give me the names of the Ajax-N. P. H. S.-Hope Chapel players who played in Elizabeth last Saturday night. Was it "Johnnie" or "Tommie" Heron?—T. W. S.

Answer—The notables were Dunning, Tommy Heron, Doig, Leighs and the name you had on the envelope. Who's your friend, Shrimp

Sporting Editor:

Query—Kindly inform me whether or not a couple going from Plainfield to New York to get a marriage license are required to have a witness?—F. H.

Answer—Soitingly. Congratulations.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Does the law require a candidate to a Plainfield office to file a statement of the names as well as the amounts of the contributors to his campign fund?—E. W. A.

Answer—It certainly does.

BASEBALL NOTES

It looks as if a season in the American Association was just what "Cy" Falkenberg and Jim Vaughn needed.

Walter Johnson, the leading pitcher under the big top, has yet to pitch a no-hit game in major league baseball.

First Baseman "Hap" Myers threatens to quit the game on account of being released to Rochester by the Boston Braves.

Rumors are traveling thick and fast to the effect that the Federal League is to become a regular big city affair in the near future.

The Boston Red Sox and the Chicago White Sox were the only clubs able to break even with the Athletics, the season's series standing 11 to 11.

The Chattanooga Southern League Club has signed Harry Brant, of the Peterboro team. He is considered the crack shortstop of the Canadian League.

Manager McGraw has a number of promising youngsters to try out next spring, and should any of the rookies make good it means the gate for some of the veteran Giants.

Fred Bush, a brother of Pitcher Joe Bush, the Athletics' star, has been signed by the New York Americans. He pitched semi-pro ball at Great Falls, Mont., during the past season.

Manistee, the Michigan State League pennant winner, was a bad last in club batting according to the season's records, while Ludington, the cellar champs, led the league in stick work.

"Gavvy" Cravath, of the Phillies, hit more "homers" than any other player in either big league. His record was 19 home runs in the National League, while Frank Baker led the American League with 12.

—There is no place in town where that next lot of envelopes can be so neatly printed as at the Daily Press office.

MATTY TO DEFEND TITLE.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 29.—When Christy Mathewson, star pitcher of the New York Giants, reaches Portland with McGraw's band of world tourists he will be called upon to play a series of games of checkers with Fielder A. Jones, president of the Northwestern Baseball League, for the baseball players' checker championship. Matty long has held claim to the championship and thus far has not met a single man in baseball who can beat him. However, Jones makes the same boast, although his reputation in that game is not so well known as Big Six's, and he disputes Matty's right to the honor.

NEWARK CLUB ON MARKET.

Newark, Oct. 29.—Action on the purchase of the Newark International League Baseball Club by a syndicate of Newark business men from Charles H. Ebbets and his associates in the Brooklyn club will be taken at a meeting called for the Kreuger Auditorium here tonight. The subject has been hanging fire for a week, the postponement of the action being due to the absence from the city on official business of Tax Commissioner Moe Reichman, one of the prime movers in the deal.

WESTFIELD CUBS TO DINE.

The Westfield Cubs are planning to celebrate their successful baseball season with a dinner at Cafe Francais, New York, on the evening of November 8. L. G. Venn will be toastmaster and addresses will be made by George Cruttenden and A. Clark. Manager MacDonald expects that twenty-five of his star athletes will be on hand to help make it a success. The Cubs recently defeated the N. P. H. S. nine in their final game of the post-season.

ELECTION DAY GAME.

The Trojan A. C. football team, of Elizabeth, accompanied by three car loads of rooters, will invade Plainfield Election Day afternoon to lineup on the field and sidelines against the Holy Cross pigskin rushers.

THE DAILY PRESS IN SOMERVILLE will be found on sale or delivered to any address every afternoon after 4:30 by Jacob Gernert, the Main street newsdealer and stationer.

GIRLS ELECT TWO CAPTAINS, TAKING AN UNPRECEDENTED PRECAUTION.

Feminine athletes representing the North Plainfield High School freshman class set a precedent yesterday afternoon, when they elected two captains to lead their class quintet on the basketball court during the coming season, Miss Rose Cooper and Miss Grace VanDenburg being the double choice.

The "Votes for Women" faction thereby took a precaution never before thought of by the male basketeers and they claim by selecting two leaders they will always be sure to have one of their pilots on the court. Miss Emma Mantz was elected manager of the team.

RAHWAY ELKS FIGHT HARD AND WIN THIRD

Close Competition on Jersey City Alleys When Visitors Took Two Games.

There was close competition last night in the Elks' League bowling match at Jersey City, in which the Rahway quintet captured two games out of three from the home five. In the first game the visitors had 899 and won by sixteen pins. Rahway came back with 907 and won by eight pins, but the Jersey City pinknights escaped a clean sweep when they handed in 979 in the last game and showed the way by fifty-two pins. Wright was on the job for Jersey City with 225 and 200 and averaged four pins less than 200. Coffman rolled 215 and Corydon 210. Langton was the star performer for Rahway with marks of 253 and 211 averaging 214, but McCartney was there for 221, with an average of 200. Here are all the scores:

"MAC" SAYS

Likewise a Football Expert.

Some day a baseball expert
Will win eternal fame,
And when he dies the world will rise
And bless his deathless name.

Some day a baseball expert,
(Perchance 'tis but a dream)
Will play a trick and fail to pick
An All-Star baseball team.

Haven't you wondered why some sport writer has not picked an All-Star team in the City and Sunday-school Leagues for the season just closed?

Evidently the baseball experts of today are taking no chances. Last year an All-Star outfit was picked and when the best players were announced they were denounced by those who failed to obtain recognition.

It is said that a team of Plainfield basketball players that went to Elizabeth Saturday were paid several dollars apiece for playing on the Betsytown court, but the consensus of opinion is that they ought to have been fined five dollars apiece for going.

We have been informed that the Federal League is after Harriman, manager of the Saurers, probably on the theory that a man who has managed a City League outfit doesn't care what happens to him.

One thing the Scotch Plains Parish House basketball team has on other quintets: The honor of holding the title of undisputed champion in the village in which it exists.

The fact that the Watchung A. C. was offered a game with the North Plainfield High School five leads us to suspect that the mountaineers have some bitter enemies.

Gloom in the N. P. H. S. camp—DuClos Van Mater tries to produce transparency in the palm of his hand by running a splinter of glass through it. Van Mater is considered one of the best shooters on the N. P. H. S. quintet and if he cannot get back into the game before the schedule opens his loss will be keenly felt by the boroughites.

Newt. Spencer says he didn't want to ouse anybody out of a job on the borough High School five and that is his reason for retiring from athletics. You have to hand it to "Spence."

A charge has been made against the North Plainfield High School and Y. M. C. A. Ajax managers by several "wise coaches" stating that they have booked too hard a contest for an opener. But any man who could survive that trip to Elizabeth last Saturday night is tough enough to go through any contest of the human variety. There were some of each on the Plainfield quintet.

An opener similar to this has never before been paralleled on local courts however, and the struggle has already excited keen interest.

Baseball in the snow is the latest fad introduced by those world tourists while they are completing the stunt of girdling the globe. Why not start a winter league, the snow isn't any colder here than it is in Texas.

In spite of the world tour baseball never will become popular in Russia. It would cost too much to pay for balls that would be lost in the athlete's whiskers.

There is no doubt that Fred Merkle will excite considerable interest in Japan. Fred always was a great hitter with ivory makers.

Paul Collier is willing to stake his worldly belongings on North Plainfield's victory over the Ajax next Saturday night. Collier, as coach, should know better than that, but experience is the school of all knowledge (or something like that).

Haven't heard anything from "Peanut" Stewart, of the Leal quintet during the last few days. It's time to come out of hibernation, little one.

FOOTBALL PRACTICE.

Manager "Doc" Doyle and Coach P. V. Martin have issued a call for the weekly Holy Cross football practice to be held tonight and all candidates are expectel to be on deck.

—A study of the ads is a part of the "business" of every woman who does any buying for the home.

IN ATHLETICS ITS "MAJOR" INSTEAD OF "MAYOR," PERCY H. STEWART.

As an incentive to track and field competition in the athletic meet held October 15 at Parker Field in connection with the Boy Scout's rally, Mayor Percy H. Stewart offered a set of handsome gold medals to be awarded as prizes in the various events. The golden tokens were suitably inscribed and presented by the donor to the winners of the events immediately after the affair was concluded that Saturday afternoon and the local athletes whose prowess on the cinder path or on the athletic field won a medal for them, transformed the medals into watch fobs and are sporting them daily through the streets.

In examining one of the awards, the property of Jack Fritts, last night, the fact that the word Mayor had been spelled with a "j" instead of a "y" was brought to light and the winners are now scouring the city for the jeweller who did the engraving on the prizes. Thus we have suddenly conferred the title of "Major of Athletics" on Mayor Stewart.

NOTHING TOO SLOW OR TOO FAST FOR THE HOLY CROSS ELEVEN.

Next Saturday afternoon the Holy Cross football team expects to break precedent and smash all speed records when it takes the field against the football representatives of the railroad concern that has made sleep-producing stories famous. Manager "Doc" Doyle has booked a contest to be staged on Cricket Field with the Erie Railroad eleven and provided the visitors can make connections and get here on time the game will be started promptly at 3:15 o'clock in order to allow the visitors ample time to return to their native abode before Monday morning. The team is now on its way to Plainfield and unless the inevitable happens it will arrive here on Saturday.

LABOR COMES INTO ITS OWN

—:o:—

Railway Organization Emphatically Deny Responsibility for Stokes Practical Railroad Men Propaganda

—:o:—

DEMOCRATS ENACT LAWS THAT WERE NEEDED

—:o:—

The Democratic platform of 1913 points to its enactments and the extensions of the following:

Employers' Liability Law.
The Full Crew Bill.
Bi-Montaly Pay Bill.
Women's and Children's Employment Act.

Labor asked for these measures for many years, and it was left to a Democratic administration to enact them into law.

The Full Crew Bill was introduced regularly into the Legislature for nearly ten years, but it was impossible to get such a bill through the Legislature until the Democrats came into power. It was finally passed by a Democratic legislature and was signed by Governor Fielder in 1913.

The Democratic platform declares, "We Favor the Enactment of Such Legislation as Will Prevent the Issuance of Injunctions in Labor Disputes When No Property Rights Are Involved, and When There Is Proper Remedy at Law."

The Republican platform, in view of its repeated failure to enact proper labor laws, is compelled to follow the same course in treating this subject [illegible] the case of the "Seven Sisters," the Public Utilities Act, and [illegible]tion Law and Corrupt Practices Act—that is, it declares for Enforcement, Strengthening and Amending, etc. The following is the Republican platform language: "We favor Enforcement and we favor Strengthening of such laws, etc."

It will be noticed that after having complete and full control of every branch of the government for almost a generation, that the best the Republican platform can do after one Democratic administration, is to promise to Enforce, and to Strengthen, etc. The laboring man will note that the Republicans failed to put in effective form any of these statutes, in spite of their many and unobstructed opportunities and that at its first opportunity, the Democratic party passed laws covering all these points in direct and complete compliance with the requests of labor.

Light Man's Burden.

The truth of the matter is, as every laboring man recognizes, that the Republican method of strengthening labor laws will be just what it will in the matter of Public Utilities and election laws, that is, drawing the teeth out of all of them, and leaving them harmless and helpless in the hands of the interests that the Republican party and its representatives have served faithfully and exclusively through all of the years of that party's undisturbed control of the State, including the three years Mr. Stokes was Governor.

A LAMB FOR THE SLAUGHTER.

(From the Newark Evening News.)

Here are the promises by the Republican party candidates as to what they will do to the Geran law if they are placed in power:

> We favor the revision of the present election laws, which will simplify voting and reduce the unnecessarily increased expenses of the present system and at the same time strengthen the safeguards surrounding an honest ballot. Thousands of our citizens have been disfranchised by the present complicated, cumbersome and unsatisfactory election laws, and we pledge the people of New Jersey to correct the defects therein.

There is not a word of praise in the plank for any of the many good things accomplished by the operation of the Geran law. Rather, the act is utterly condemned as unsatisfactory.

The law is unsatisfactory to members of both the "Board of Guardians" and of the "Same Old Gang." So long as they were in power, they prevented every reform that the Geran law later brought about. Then, after it was passed, the old bosses of the Republican party did their best when given a chance to weaken it. They succeeded in some points, and in other points they failed.

Some of the "revision" they brought about over the veto of Governor Wilson included the free transportation of voters to the polls by "volunteers;" relieving candidates who failed to file statements of election expenses of all consequences of their dereliction; extending unreasonably and unnecessarily the time for filing certificates of nomination, and weakening the effect of the act in other ways against public policy.

Had it not been for Wilson vetoes, the Republican bosses would have virtually prevented independent nominations within the ranks of the political parties and would have removed one of the safeguards thrown around the election and polling lists, for both houses of the Legislature, under Republican control, passed such bills in 1912. Both of these measures were unwise and imprudent from the standpoint of those favoring honest elections.

The Republicans, under the direction of the "Board of Guardians," wanted to do more in the way of "revising," but they were scared off by a storm of popular disapproval. One of their proposals was that Presidential electors be not amenable to the provisions of the corrupt practices act, and the Republican majority in the Senate approved it. Another proposition, fathered by Senator Harry D. Leavitt, former Governor Stokes's understudy, was to wipe out personal registration in all but thirty-five municipalities in the State. Still another, from the same source, was a bill providing for "straight" voting in the interest of the party organizations.

Every one of these discredited measures could be revived without violating the language of the Republican plank in case that party should be returned to power.

The Geran law needs substantial amending, but it does not need to be revised in the way in which the Republicans have endeavored to revise it in the past. There ought to have been definite pledges from the enemies of the law as to the course they proposed to pursue if they were honest in their pledge to "correct defects." The principle of the law is right.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Mme. Mathilde Cottrelly, who has made the greatest "hit" of her notable career in Europe and America, in the charming romantic comedy drama of the early fortunes of the Rothschilds, "The Five Frankforters," which comes here October 31 to the Plainfield theatre, confesses to being slightly superstitious. "During the run of a play in which I am engaged," she quaintly remarked, "I permit no changes to be made in my dressing room. For it has happened a few times in my long stage experience that the management, wishing to give me a pleasant surprise, ordered my quarters re-decorated and it brought bad luck! Invariably!"

Wm. A. Brady, Ltd., are bringing one of their new season offerings to the Plainfield theatre, Saturday, matinee and night, November 1. This will be the first presentation of the play in Plainfield and following its engagement here it will be seen in New York. The play is one of genuine human interest and is sure to strike local theatregoers as having a sterling ring. There is a heart-tugging felt throughout the play and Laurence Eyre, the author, has chosen his characters from the every-day world of the present time. The cast is composed of Alice Brady, Florine Arnold, Charles A. Milward, Wallace Erskine, Hilda England, George Henry Trader, Louise Muldener, Nick Long, Idalene Cotton and Grace Dougherty.

MR. PACKARD WED BRIDGETON GIRL

Son of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Packard Takes Miss Bertha Paullin as Bride.

AT HOME CEREMONY

Rev. Oscar G. Morton Officiates—Sister of Bride Maid-of-Honor—Albert M. Zabriskie, of This City, Was the Best Man.

Miss Bertha Paullin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Paullin, of Bridgeton, and Herbert Nelson Packard, Jr., of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Packard, of Shelton, Conn., were married at 6 o'clock last evening at the home of the bride's parents in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. Rev. Oscar G. Morton, pastor of the West Presbyterian church, Bridgeton, performed the ceremony.

The bride was gowned in brocaded crepe meteor, with duchess lace and carried a bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley in shower. The maid of honor was Miss Bessie Paullin, sister of the bride, who wore a grown of blue crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of Killarney roses.

The bridesmaids, cousins of the bride, were Miss Clara Sheppard of Millville, who wore a gown of pink brocaded silk poplin and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums, and Miss Genevieve Stevens, of Flemington, who was also gowned in pink brocaded silk poplin and carried white chrysanthemums.

The best man was Albert M. Zabriskie, of this city, and the ushers were William J. Newcomb, of Greenfield, Mass., and Leonard W. Bacon, of Bridgeton, the former brother-in-law of the bridegroom and the latter brother-in-law of the bride.

The Wedding March from Lohengrin was played by Mrs. Frederick E. de Silva, sister of the bride. The bridal party, led by the ushers, were followed by the bridesmands, maid of honor and the bride, accompanied by her father, who gave her in marriage. Following the ceremony the couple received the congratulations of the guests and supper was served. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Packard left on a wedding trip. They will reside at No. 11 West End avenue, this city, upon their return.

The home was attractively decorated for the affair, autumn leaves, chrysanthemums and palms being used with pleasing effect throughout the parlors, reception hall and dining-room.

The bride was the recipient of a large number of gifts of value and use from a wide circle of acquaintances. The bridegroom, who has been a resident of Plainfield for several years, is employed in the engineering department of the New Jersey Central.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Myrtetus, of Camden; Mrs. Daniel Marts, Mr. and Mrs. Seeley Sheppard and Miss Clara Sheppard, of Millville; Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Packard, Mrs. Herbert T. Deings, of Shelton, Conn.; Mrs. Susan Lee, Mrs. Flora Steelman, Ralph Erickson, of Leesburg; Mrs. John Donnelly, of Heislerville; Mrs. Marshall Stevens and Kenneth Stevens, of Rancocas; Mr. and Mrs. William Newcomb, of Greenfield, Mass.; Miss Emily Ward Reece, of Brooklyn; Mrs. Chandler G. Robbins, of Leeds Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Zabriskie, of Plainfield.

FAREWELL RECEPTION FOR REV. WM. TURNER

Rev. William Turner, of Canada, will make his last series of addresses tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, before the members of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, at the German Reformed church. The minister will sail Saturday for Argentine, by way of England, where he will found an institution for the civic and religious betterment.

In his address tomorrow, Rev. Mr. Turner will tell of his experiences in church and missionary work and will give a brief outline of his new undertaking in South America. At the conclusion of the meeting he will be tendered an informal farewell reception by members of the alliance, who have greatly enjoyed the interesting addresses he has delivered before them.

JAS. SIMPSON VAIL BECOMES A BENEDICT

Miss Elizabeth May White, of Utica, New York, is His Bride.

Miss Elizabeth May White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard White, of Utica, N. Y., and James Simpson Vail, son of Isaac Vail, of Richmond street, this city, were quietly married yesterday afternoon, by Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church. The ceremony was performed at the home of the clergyman in The Bristol on West Front street. The couple was unattended, and immediately after the ceremony left on a wedding trip.

The bride is well-known here, where she has visited many times. Mr. Vail is known in musical circles, being a teacher of pianoforte. He has resided here nearly all his life. The couple upon their return from a trip will reside at the home of the bridegroom's father on Richmond street.

CLERGYMEN ADDRESS DISTRICT S. S. ASS'N

Members Pay a Tribute to the Memory of John P. Nolting.

The Plainfield District Sunday-school Association held its regular meeting last night, in the parish house of Grace church, with an attendance of nearly 100 from the various schools, extending from Elizabeth to Somerville and Bernardsville. Rev. A. S. Phelps, of Somerville, president, directed the business session and introduced the speakers of the evening. Supper was served at 6 o'clock.

After the supper, Rev. William S. McCoy, of Holy Cross church, called attention to the death of John P. Nolting, a prominent worker in the association, and requested that all stand and join in repeating the Lord's Prayer. At his request the president read the collect for All Saints' Day. The business was of a routine nature.

The speakers of the evening were Rev. Harry P. Nichols, of Holy Trinity church, Harlem, who addressed the assemblage on "The Church in the Acts and the Epistle," and Rev. Frank F. German, of St. Thomas' church, Mamaroneck, whose subject was "Sunday-school Teachers at Work." Both addresses were interesting and offered many helpful suggestions to the Sunday-school workers present.

THIS RUNAWAY HORSE CAUSE OF EXCITEMENT

A horse belonging to the Keystone Tea Company, of Bayonne, left on Watchung avenue near North, this morning, and ran away, and in turning into East Second street, the wagon collided with a light buggy, in which were Dr. Sarah D. Keeney and a woman friend, taking a front wheel off the buggy and upsetting both rigs.

Dr. Keeney's friend jumped from the carriage and the physician got out a few minutes later, both being uninjured. William Winn, driver of the tea company's wagon, admitted he was to blame and promised to pay for all damages.

IN POLICE COURT.

Three school boys will be arraigned before City Judge DeMeza tomorrow morning, charged with stealing twenty pigeons from the coops of J. Tella Bueglin, who lives at 148 East Front street. They are Arthur Brown, 15 years old, of 182 Somerset street; Jeremiah Heffren, 16 years old, of 30 Howard street, and George Berry, 15 years old, of 18 Howard street. The youths were arrested yesterday afternoon by Detective-Sergeant John J. Flynn, after Mr. Bueglin has sworn out a complaint.

Although information regarding the apprehension of the boys was not given out at the local headquarters, it was learned that the youths were arrested by Chief Marshal Weiss, of North Plainfield. The borough police head suspected young Hefferon, he said, and had Roundsman Keller arrest him. The lad was given the "third degree" and according to Weiss, confessed. While making the alleged admissions, the other two boys came walking in the station house looking for their companion. They too were questioned and, it is said, admitted being accomplices in the thefts of birds.

MATERNITY BLDG. NOW COMPLETED

Closson-Edgerton Memorial Pavilion Ready for Public Inspection.

A BRIEF DESCRIPTION

Citizens Invited to Visit Structure Saturday and Sunday—One of Most Modern Obstetrical Pavilions in the Country.

The Closson-Edgerton Maternity Pavilion at Muhlenberg Hospital will be open for public inspection on Saturday and Sunday. This new building, made possible by the generous gift of $50,000 by the late Mrs. Minnie E. Edgerton, is one of the most complete and modern obstetrical pavilions in connection with any hospital in the United States. The building is forty by sixty-seven feet, one story and is fire-proof throughout.

The entrance to the pavilion is through the main corridor of the hospital and opens onto a spacious sun parlor tiled in red. The work rooms are in white tile and the building is finished throughout in natural quartered oak.

Adjoining the sun parlor is the main nursery, beyond which is the distributing kitchen, equipped with every modern appliance for the proper preparation of food. Beyond the kitchen is the operating room, adjoining which is the preparatory room, fully equipped in accordance with the latest requirements of medical and surgical science.

On the opposite side of the hall is a public ward, with four beds and lavatory adjoining, where also is the nurse's duty room, in which all the work of the building is so centralized that service can be rendered either in the private rooms or in the public ward without the slightest conflict one with the other. Double doors at the end of the main corridor cut off the private rooms from the rest of the pavilion and render them as isolated as though they were in an entirely separate building.

The walls of this portion of the pavilion are in buff, the furniture, which has been made to special order, and has not yet arrived, is in plain natural finished oak and the entire equipment of both the private rooms and of the ward is of the best.

The surgical appliances are from the establishment of the Kny-Scherer Company, of New York. So far as has been possible, the entire pavilion is planned and equipped just as Mrs. Edgerton would have wished it to be had she lived to see the completion of her splendid memorial.

Of the $50,000 gift, $25,000 was to be put in the building and the balance to be used as an endowment fund. The cost of the building is well within the estimate originally made for it.

The work on the main new private room building of the hospital is progressing so satisfactorily that it is expected by the Board of Governors to throw it open to the public in late November, but the best opportunity to see the Edgerton Memorial Pavilion will be on Saturday and Sunday afternoons, as it will be occupied soon thereafter.

MRS. KETTENRING SUES FOR ABSOLUTE DIVORCE

Papers were served today on Walter H. Kettenring, of Race street, in an action brought for his wife, Mrs. Clara A. Kettenring, for an absolute divorce. She is represented by Matthew T. Abruzzo, a New York attorney.

Mrs. Kettenring decided to sue for divorce immediately following Kettenring's arrest in company with Mrs. James H. Knight, of Park avenue. Mrs. Knight and Kettenring are now under bonds of $500 each to await Grand Jury action on serious charges.

WOMEN TO BE ON HOSPITAL BOARD

Innovation Next June When the Governors Are Chosen for the Year.

PROVISION FOR TWO

Institution's Women's Auxiliary to Nominate From Among its Membership—New By-laws Are Finally Adopted.

The Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital at its adjourned meeting a few days ago finally adopted the new bylaws, one section of which provides that two members of the Woman's Auxiliary Board shall be members of the board.

This section allows two memeers of the women's organization to become members of the Board of Governors for a term of one year beginning with the regular annual meeting of the board in June, provided they shall be designated by the Woman's Auxiliary at its meeting in April. This is considered a timely and merited recognition of the assistance given by the Woman's Auxiliary Board.

Credit is given to Mayor Percy H. Stewart, J. E. Erickson, Samuel Townsend and Leighton Calkins for their work in compiling the new bylaws for the government of the hospital.

MISSIONARY CAMPAIGN WILL BEGIN TONIGHT

The United Missionary Campaign, which is being held throughout the country by more than forty denominations, will hold meetings here tonight and tomorrow. This evening there will be a mass meeting at the First Baptist church to be addressed by Rev. Dr. Henry J. Scudder, missionary in India, and Rev. Dr. F. A. Agar, of the Baptist Home Mission Society.

Tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock the campaign will be continued in the First Baptist church with a conference of missionary workers to be addressed by R. E. Diffendorfer, secretary of the Missionary Education Movement, and David McConaughy, secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions. Tomorrow night a men's missionary banquet will be given at the Park Club. The speakers will be Mornay Williams and Rev. Dr. S. O. Benton, of the Methodist Board of Foreign Missions.

WIFE FOLLOWS HUSBAND PASSING GREAT BOURNE

Less than five months separates the death of Runyon Clawson, of Dunellen, and his wife, the latter having succumbed early this afternoon to a sudden attack of acute indigestion. Taken ill yesterday, Mrs. Clawson, who was sixty years old, sank rapidly despite the efforts of several physicians. Mr. Clawson also died several hours after being stricken.

Mrs. Clawson was a native of Dunellen and when able took an active interest in social and charitable work. She was a member of the Dunellen Baptist church and was connected with its several societies. Two sons, Walter and Fred Clawson, survive. The latter lives in Westfield. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

COLORED BAPTISTS.

The State convention for colored Baptists opened this morning in Calvary Baptist church, Rev. P. W. Lawrence, of Orange, presiding. Devotional exercises were conducted this morning by Rev. E. W. Roberts, of this city, and Rev. L. L. Croom, also of this city. Rev. L. L. Croom was appointed chairman of a committee on enrollment and after several addresses the convention went into its usual conference and adjourned to meet again this afternoon.

HALLOWE'EN SOCIAL.

Under the auspices of Lydia Chapter, Order Eastern Star, a Hallowe'en social will be given tomorrow evening at the home of Mrs. Lewis Weaver, on East Second street. There will be all sorts of Hallowe'en games and refreshments will be served.

FUNERAL OF A CHILD.

The funeral of Elinor Stewart Hann, aged five years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Hann, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of the parents on East Third street. The burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

TO SEE BIKE SHOW.

Jack Horner, a Somerset street bicycle dealer, will leave Sunday, Nov. 2, for Chicago, where he will attend the Motorcycle and Bicycle Show, which will be held in the spacious Colosseum.

PLAN CEREMONY OF CORNER STONE

Gethesemane Lutheran Congregation Special Exercises on Sunday, Nov. 9.

PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

Rev. Dr. L. H. Beck, President of N. Y. Conference, Rev. Augustus Gottfried Olson is Pastor of the Local Congregation.

The laying of the corner stone of the new Gethsemane Lutheran church, which is being erected at 522 East Seventh street, will take place on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 9, at 3:30 o'clock. Rev. Dr. L. H. Beck, of Kane, Pa., president of the New York Conference, will wield the silver trowel and make the chief address. The ceremony will be elaborate as well as inspiring and impressive. The services were originally scheduled to be held last Sunday, but a postponement was made necessary because the construction of the house of worship had not progressed to the necessary point. Alfred Johnson, of this city, is the general contractor.

The congregation of the Gethsemane Lutheran church was organized twelve years ago by the late Rev. A. Aaron, of this city, with the assistance of a small collection of Swedish people that had settled in this vicinity. Evening services have been held since in the German Reformed church, in North Plainfield, and the congregation has now grown to almost one hundred communicants. Many social affairs have been given from time to time to add to the fund that has been raised to pay the expense of erecting the church. The work was started about two weeks ago. It will be of frame construction, with shingles covering the exterior. The basement, to be constructed of concrete, will be used as Bible class and Sunday-school rooms. The auditorium will be on the ground floor. The seats and interior woodwork will be finished in walnut. No balcony will be erected at present, but provisions will be made, making possible the construction of such an addition at any future time.

The pastor of the church is Rev. Augustus Gottfried Olsson, of Elizabeth, who is also by virtue of this position, president of the board of trustees. E. C. Ostlin, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., is treasurer, and Henry Hansen, is secretary. Alfred Johnson and Oscar Peterson are the other trustees.

CO. IN ACTIVE BUSINESS.

Harold van der Linde, president of the Century Rubber Company, which it was stated in yesterday's Daily Press had closed down its plant for the winter, said this morning that the company "is doing active business and is meeting all of its obligations," and that there is no dissention among the stockholders.

New Auto Bargain.

"Have You Met COLBY?"

Everett Colby, frankly acknowledged by Wilson, Roosevelt and other great leaders, to be the pioneer of the New Idea in American politics, wants you to give him a hearing.

As the Progressive party's nominee for Governor he wants to meet the people face to face, to tell them his political creed and what he promises to do if elected. And he wants the voters when he finishes his talk to ask him any pertinent questions.

For this purpose a meeting will be held at Reform Hall tonight and every man and woman in the community is invited to be present.

In addition to former State Senator Colby's address, the audience will hear Congressman Henry Allen, of Kansas. Wit, satire, instruction and eloquence characterize his speeches. You will enjoy listening to him.

The old order changeth and the voters today are thinking for themselves and acting according to the dictates of their own conscience and judgment. The time has past when the political bosses and heelers can control elections by dishonest and disreputable means.

The voters have become a mighty independent lot and it is no longer the party label or the boss, but the man and his principles that guide the men with the political franchise when they exercise their sovereign right of choosing their political servants.

"Have you met Colby?"

If not, he would like to meet you. Won't you spare a little time to see him tonight at Reform Hall, which is at Second street and Central avenue. Yes, 8 o'clock is the appointed hour.

DEMOCRATS ADDRESS THE JEFFERSON CLUB

John P. Stevens Refers to Fort as Only Genuine Progressive Gov. of G. O. P.

John J. O'Neill, of Jersey City, attacked Edward C. Stokes, the Republican nominee for Governor, and Assembly candidate Dobbins, Griffin and Leonard also fired verbal shots at the former chief executive at a meeting of the Jefferson Democratic Club last night.

John P. Stevens, president of the Plainfield Democratic Club, in the course of a short address, said former Governor John Franklin Fort was the only New Jersey G. O. P. executive in recent years who had really been progressive in his principles and acts. He said Mr. Fort's administration was aimed to help the people, which, he said, was a decided contrast to the record made at Trenton by Stokes. Calvin E. Brodhead, chairman of the meeting, made the opening remarks.

Among the other speakers were John P. Owens, who said that if elected city judge he would impartially and without fear or favor discharge the duties as directed by the city charter. Howard Lapsley, for councilman-at-large, also spoke.

REFUSED TO GRANT MINORITY MOTION

Application to Sustain Preliminary Injunction Denied Motor Co. Stockholders.

After hearing arguments yesterday in the special term for motions in the Supreme Court in Brooklyn relative to the preliminary injunction obtained by minority interests of the International Motor Company, of which the Saurer plant in this city is a part, to prevent the consummation of the proposed $1,200,000 dollars loan, Judge Garretson directed that further affidavits and memoranda be submitted by both sides by five o'clock this afternoon. Judge Garretson indicated that he was averse to granting a permanent injunction in a case in which such wide interests were involved.

The motion was made by the minority stockholders last Friday following a refusal on the part of the voting trustees to allow the smaller shareholders to attend a meeting of the company in New York the Monday before when it was decided to raise an additional $1,200,000 to increase the working capital. The minor stockholders were eliminated from the meeting and when it was adjourned to meet again last Friday they held a private session and discussed drastic means of bringing about an understanding. When the voting trustees met Friday to increase the capital by taking out a loan they found that the minority stockholders had obtained an injunction to prevent the loan from being consummated. At the same time the minority suggested that a receiver be appointed for the company at once as they believed the liabilities exceeded the assets by a wide margin, despite the statement to the contrary made by the larger shareholders following their closed meeting.

FREE MOTION PICTURES FOR MEN AT THE PLANTS

The second free motion picture entertainment for the men of Plainfield's manufacturing plants will be given tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. Hall. A film entitled, "The Crime of Carelessness" showing the cause of many industrial disasters, will be exhibited. The latest "Pathe Weekly of Current Events" will also be shown. Both employes and employers of local business enterprises are cordially invited to attend. Similar entertainments will be given on Friday evenings throughout the month of November.

Y. M. C. A. MOTION PICTURES.

An attractive program of films has been selected for the Y. M. C. A. motion picture entertainments on Saturday afternoon and evening. Among the pictures to be shown are, "Oliver Twist," "Buster Brown and Tige," "Pathe Weekly, and "The Indestructable Mr. Jenks."

CANCEL ENGAGEMENT.

The Princeton Club of Plainfield has received word that it will be impossible for the Princeton Musical Clubs to give their concert at the Hartridge Auditorium on November 26, as announced. It is hoped to have theme here at a future date.

MRS. R. H. HOOD'S STORY TO JURY

Wife, Plaintiff in Divorce, Best Witness in His Suit to Get Property Back.

TELLS OF THE QUARREL

Mrs. Thomas W. Sparks, Mother of Aggrieved Wife, Follows Daughter on the Witness Stand—Mrs. Hood is a Clever Witness.

Newark, Oct. 30 (Special).—Mrs. Frances Sparks Hood took the stand this morning in the two suits brought against her by her husband, Richard Haden Hood, being tried before Vice Chancellor Stevens. By her testimony it was disclosed that after the quarrel and separation in the fall of 11911 she made a will in which she deeded to her husband outright the property in her name.

There was a conference between Walter M. Shipley, of Philadelphia, counsel for Mrs. Hood's father, looking to a permanent settlement on Mrs. Hood, but the negotiations fell through, There were letters read showing that Hood would not fix on his wife an annuity, but merely a monthly remittance during good behaviorfl he claiming that 75 per cent. of the young women of about 30 years marry within two years after separation. He referred to her as living at that time in the most fashionable section of the English-speaking world, meaning New York, which was not a quiet life.

When the negotiations fell through Hood, it was testified, sent his wife $1,545 to reimburse her for certain things, and this amount was sent back to Hood at which time the will was cancelled. Another letter written by Hood to his wife expressed "appreciation of her sweet, constant devotion to this old bear of a husband."

Mrs. Hood said that it was like a "bolt from the blue" when Hood wrote to her asking her to reconvey the property. It was in 1911, at the time of the quarrel that Hood is said to have ordered his wife out of the house. Mrs. Hood said that both she and her husband were very happy at the time he deeded to her the property, although he wanted to travel and she wanted to settle down.

Mrs. Hood said in contradicting her husband's testimony that she had access to the safe deposit box, that she saw the deeds and she took them out of the box to her home.

Mrs. Thomas W. Sparks, mother of Mrs. Hood, told of the time that her daughter and Hood celebrated their wedding anniversary, July 31, 1911, saying that she took a long auto ride with Hood. At that time the latter told her, she said, that he had kept his promise and bought a home for Mrs. Hood.

On cross-examination by Gilbert Collins regarding certain letters, Mrs. Hood said, "Do you want to know about those letters? I am just dying to tell you about them," whereupon Mr. Collins replied, "I don't want you to die here," which caused a ripple of laughter about the court room.

The letter which Hood wrote to his wife's father, printed in the Press yesterday, provoked the following reply from Mrs. Hood, which was read into the record yesterday afternoon: "R. H. H.

"Your letter to my father was forwarded to me. Just because you say I have done nothing for you all these years does not make it so. You can and do say anything that suits you. When I recall all I have done—the hundreds of unpleasant orders I have fulfilled for you—it makes me marvel how I ever did them.

"Being in New York reminds me vividly of the day I had to lug heavy automobile tubes in my arms down Broadway for two miles, with your sister, Mabel, beside me and telling me I was a goose to obey your instructions to the letter when it was endangering my organs. And again, your insisting on my carrying to the freight station—almost two miles from Schoonmaker's—a full set of harness, just to humiliate me. These are but two instances of duties you put upon me and there are literally hundreds of others that I did cheerfully and not daring to question them. I have spent my entire life under your outrageous tyranny. I have never had a maid who did not think I did more than my share of the work. I have labored under difficulties in my housework because of your interference and I consider I have done wonderfully well under such conditions to steer things so smoothly.

"You rebell on being tied to such an elaborate place. The $31 000 place we agreed on could have been altered and furnished by Tiffany to suit us for $20,000 more, making a total of $51,000, which would have been a salable proposition, and which you, as a good business man should have kept in mind if I were the unsatisfactory wife you say I have always been. You desired the extra woods, the greenhouses, garage,

The regular weekly prayer meeting to be held tonight in the M. E. church will be conducted by Dr. H. K. Carroll.

The Women's Guild, of the Parish House, met yesterday afternoon and decided to engage a teacher to conduct the girls' gymnasium classes and to instruct the members in the art of folk dancing. Miss Grace George, of Plainfield, acted in this capacity last year, but has not been engaged as yet for the present season.

Dunellen & Vicinity

The New Market Fire Department held its regular meeting last night.

Mrs. J. E. Smalley, of Brooklyn, is the guest of Miss Sophie Jenner, of New Market.

The "Boost Committee," of Friendship Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., held a meeting last night, at which plans were made for increasing the membership of the council.

Judge Rene F. von Minden has returned from Trenton, where he has been spending the past few days.

Repairs are being made to the plumbing system of the Newtown School.

Mrs. John Peters, who has been ill for some time, continues to remain in apparently the same condition.

Mrs. Clark T. Rogers, a former resident of New Market, has left for her new home in Fort Pierce, Fla., after an extended stay in the borough and township with friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Pierce, of Jersey City, have returned home after spending several days in town as the guests of Robert Pierce.

Bound Brook.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Hall, of West Union avenue, were visitors Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Saums, at Newark.

The Rev. Charles E. Corwin, of North Branch, will preach in the Reformed church here on Sunday morning, in exchange with the pastor.

A kitchen shower was given Miss Blanche Peebles the other night at the home of Miss Pearl Coleman.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

At a meeting of the Sigma Gamma Kappa recently five yearly committees were appointed by the executive board. The members of these committees who will serve for one year are as follows: Membership, Edith Dalley, chairman; Margaret Currin, Marion Chandler, Grace Robinson; entertainment, Margaret Ewart, chairman; Marion Doughty, Margaret Vosseler, Mary Martin, Marguerite Barkelew; decoration, Lois Peck, chairman; Helen Schmidt, Naomi Wisch, Carol Hughes, Grace Robinson; refreshments, Bertha Keller chairman; Lucy Hughes, Laura Smith, Daisy Schmidt, Hester Stebbins, Mary O'Connor; social service, Flora Krausse, chairman; Marielle Dunham, Margaret Smith and May Hoagland.

The girls of the seventh and eighth grades have decided to have a basketball team if they can secure Saengerbund Hall for a period a week. Nothing definite has yet been settled.

Every afternoon after the session is over a group of juniors hold a private conference with Miss Ray. They cannot give a play this year and this secrecy may be an original substitute for it. They are very anxious to keep it as quiet as possible. (Dunning is helping them in this way.)

Miss Terry, guardian of the High School Camp Fire Girls, has posted a list of events for that organization for the rest of the year. On Election Day the girls will take a cross-country hike, make an all day trip; November 14 there will be a ceremonial meeting; December 2, the monthly business meeting and social time will take place, and on December 12, the last ceremonial meeting will take place.

The Sigma Gamma Kappa met at the home of Lucy Douglas, president of the club, Tuesday and made final arrangements for the barn-dance that they are going to give Hallowe'en night. The girls have located a secret barn where they expect to have a grand time.

Duclos Van Mater, '15, sustained a bad injury to his left hand Tuesday afternoon while in the library. He was in the act of catching a vase that was falling from the window sill when it struck a radiator, sending a piece of glass through the palm of his hand. His wound was washed and bandaged by one of the teachers. He will be out of basketball for a short time.

Yesterday morning a fire drill was conducted during fourth period. Excellent time was made in emptying the building.

Invitations for the Sigma Gamma Kappa masquerade barn dance that will be held Hallowe'en night have been given out. Every teacher of the high school will be a guest of the club at that time.

The members of the freshman class held a meeting yesterday afternoon and decided on their class colors, which are purple and gold.

Daniel Denny enrolled in the High School last Monday as a freshman.

At a meeting of the girls of the Sophomore class yesterday, Marjorie Burtis was elected captain and Bertha Keller was elected manager of the girls' class team. Both of these misses play on the first team.

Tomorrow morning at the chapel exercises, S. S. Swackhamer, of the firm of Swackhamer & Bird, will speak to the High School pupils on "Law."

The Altruistic Bible Class of the Netherwood Reformed church held a meeting Tuesday night at the home of Miss Haines.

The Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church held an all-day sewing meeting Tuesday.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Plays which glorify the domestic virtues ennoble the theatre and its patrons as well and much true art and exquisite charm also enters in "The Five Frankforters," which comes to the Plainfield theatre, October 31. "The Five Frankforters" is linked with the early rise of the House of Rothschild. The period is 1822, when Anslem was at the head of the banking house in Frankfort, Solomon ruled matters financial in Vienna, Carl held sway in Naples, Nathan was the London adviser of royalty in finances and often their valued aid while Jacob of the second generation reigned in Paris. Eminent critics, both in Europe and America, have pronounced the artistic conception and visualization of the role of Frau Gudula, the wise and lovely old mother of the Rothschilds, as one of the finest characterizations ever given by Mme. Mathilde Cottrelly, "The grande dame of the American and German stage." The splendid costuming and scenic effects are all in keeping with the period of 1822 and were further evidence needed of the charm and beauty of this comedy, the fact that it ran over 800 nights in Berlin and over one year each in London, Vienna and was "The genuine comedy hit" of last season in New York, would be proof sufficient.

Why not see "An Angel Without Wings?" This is the newest production to be made by William A. Brady, the famous manager who has sent here such successes as "Bought and Paid For" and "The Family Cupboard." The date for "An Angel Without Wings" at the Plainfield theatre is Saturday afternoon and evening, and every local theatregoer who will want to see a real treat should be there then. It is a play that will go direct to New York from here and its success is sure to follow from the generous and hearty reception that it has received wherever it has been seen. It deals with men and women of the present day. It is not of another time but it is of the year 1913. They are concerned with the same troubles that we face and their joys are the same as ours so that we are able to feel at one with them in everything they do, and in their joys and sorrows there is bound to be the spirit of kinship. Heading the company of metropolitan players, Mr. Brady has secured his daughter, Alice Brady, who is dearly loved because of her playing in "Little Women" and "The Family Cupboard;" Charles A. Milward, Wallace Erskine, Louise Muldener, Florine Arnold, Nick Long, Idalene Cotton, Helena Frederici and many others. The English rights to the play have been purchased from the author, Laurence Eyre, by Arthur Collins, who is the foremost English producer and he is planning to stage the play in London before the New Year.

THE DAILY PRESS IN LINCOLN will be found on sale or delivered to any address every afternoon by E. Purvis, newsdealer.

CLAY WILL WIN.

It's all over so far as the councilmanic fight in the Second ward is concerned. The Progressives have had the good sense to withdraw their excellent nominee, H. W. Hermann, and to recommend to the honest voters that they give their support to the candidacy of George S. Clay, the Republican nominee. While we have no grievance against DeWitt C. Ivins we can see no reason for his contest inasmuch as Mr. Clay has served his ward and his city faithfully and ably. Mr. Clay will win because he should win. The voters in the Second ward are a mighty independent lot and they care naught for party labels. What they want is the best man and they have him in Mr. Clay, who is experienced conscientious and able.

JOSEPH CROSS.

Union county has lost a distinguished son. New Jersey has lost a representative and valued citizen. Joseph Cross is dead. During a public career spanning more than a quarter of a century, Joseph Cross made a good name for himself, his county and his State. As an assemblyman, as a State senator and as an United States District Court judge he bore a clean record. He was a good man, a good citizen and a good public servant.

GETTING DESPERATE.

It is about the limit when the Stokes publicity bureau has to resort to reprinting editorials from the Railroad Employee to aid the Republican campaign. But then it is only natural for the Railroad Employee ('employer' would be more proper) is the chanter for the railroad magnates and you know E. C. Stokes is "some" friend of the same bunch.

Woodrow Wilson may be the "Schoolmaster," but Grover Cleveland could have taught him a few things as to how to handle an unruly nation. Do you recall how Cleveland stepped in when the Bluefields trouble was on and told England that justice must be done Venezuela? Cleveland "took the bull by the horns" and his daring amazed all civilized nations. And he made good, too.

This paper heartily endorses all that Andrew Richard Parkhurst said of Mr. Claybrook in our news columns yesterday. Mr. Claybrook is the type of citizen that we should have in our Common Council. We have had many of his kind in the past and hope we will in the future.

There is a growing anxiety to know where Mrs. Pankhurst is scheduled to be on Hallowe'en.—Newark Star.

Well, we know where she should be, but it would be a shame to make the taxpayers put up for her lodging and board bill.

The most unreliable newspaper in New Jersey is the Newark Evening News.—Trenton State Gazette.

Right you are the interests the State Gazette represents could never rely on the News.

Our good friend, Senator Ackerman, yesterday put Edward Casper Stokes in the statesman class. Why cheapen our "Honorables" that way?

The Daily Press will be issued at the regular hour the day after election with complete and accurate reports of the election.

Colby told us the other day that Stokes is the most dangerous Jerseyman in public life. Trenton State Gazette please copy.

New State department to preserve public records—Newspaper headline. Don't need it; the people have Ed. Stokes' record.

Uncle Dave Carney says he can only see Fielder. Any oculist will examine your eyes, David, for a five-dollar fee.

INTERDENOMINATIONAL FEDERATION PLANS

Arrangements for Meetings Made at Session When Mrs. Paddock Speaks.

A conference on interdenominational federation work was held by the Plainfield Federation of Women's Missionary Societies in the parish house of Grace church, yesterday afternoon. Representatives of the fifteen local churches, comprising the Federation listened with marked attention to an interesting account by Mrs. J. R. Paddock, corresponding secretary of the Interdenomination Federation of the Oranges, of the work done by the federated church of the Oranges in the line of mission study.

The intelligent systematic study of mission work is leading to large gifts for missions and co-operation is arousing enthusiasm among religious workers. The Federation of the Oranges is made up of thirty-two churches and ten denominations are represented.

The Plainfield Federation, though smaller and organized only a year ago, is planning for a number of interesting meetings during the winter. The home missions' committee has arranged for three meetings during "Home Mission Week," November 16-22, as follows:

A meeting in the First M. E. church, Tuesday, November 18, at 3:30 p. m., subject, "Missionary Work in the Logging Camps," with address by Rev. Frank Higgins, "Sky Pilot," of the lumber camps; a meeting for prayer on Wednesday morning, November 19 at 10 o'clock, in the Y. W. C. A.; leader, Mrs. Martin I. Cooley; a missionary rally for young people between the ages of 8 and 20 years in the auditorium of the Young Men's Christian Association, Friday afternoon, November 21, at 4 o'clock, the speaker to be Rev. Dr. Peter Roberts, secretary of the Industrial Department of the Y. M. C. A., in New York. Motion pictures and slides illustrating immigrant child-life will be shown.

The Plainfield Federation will hold meetings after the holidays, arranged for by the foreign missions committee, and hopes to secure Rev. Dr. Samuel Zwemer to speak at one of these meetings. Dr. Zwemer, a missionary of the Reformed church in America to Arabia, who is now in Cairo, Egypt, as a worker on the Continuation Committee of the Edinburgh Missionary Conference, is a recognized authority on Moslem matters, and if the people of Plainfield are permitted to hear him speak, the federation feels certain that a rich treat is in store for them. Fuller announcements of these meetings will be made later.

Rev. J. J. Allen, of South Plainfield, will give a chalk talk before the Plainfield Graded Union at the Y. W. C. A. Monday afternoon, November 3, at 3:45 o'clock.

W. B. Vail and family have removed from 58 to 22 Mountain avenue.

POLLUTED WATER.

Cheap and Simple Method by Which It May Be Purified.

The best thing to do with polluted water is to keep it out of your mouth and wait until you can get some pure water. Of course a man might starve to death in some places following that advice, so here is the next best thing to do. Disinfect the dangerous water. Here is the way to do it.

Dissolve a teaspoonful of chloride of lime in a cupful of water, making sure that all lumps are thoroughly broken up, then add three more cupfuls of water. Stir the mixture well and allow to stand for a few seconds in order that any solid particles may settle.

This mixture, if kept in a tightly stoppered bottle, may be used for four or five days, when a new solution should be prepared. Add one teaspoonful of this milky looking solution to each two gallons of water to be purified and stir thoroughly in order that the weak chlorine solution will come in contact with all the bacteria which may be present. Allow this to stand for ten minutes. This will give approximately one-half part of free chlorine to 1,000,000 parts of water and will effectually destroy all typhoid and colon bacilli or other disease germs in the water. The water will be without taste or odor, and the trace of free chlorine will rapidly disappear. This method is one which is now recommended in the health literature of the country.

Water so disinfected is not dangerous so far as the chloride of lime is concerned if allowed to stand for ten or fifteen minutes after applying. The chief danger is that not enough disinfectant will be applied to render the water safe in all instances.

HUMAN HEREDITY.

It Is Confined, So It Is Asserted, to a Likeness to Parents.

There are few subjects on which so much "scientific" nonsense is talked and written as on heredity. Not very much is known of it as regards plants, less of animals and almost nothing as regards humanity. To read books on heredity, especially those of the Eugenic society, is to read a mass of suppositions and hazardous inductions where most of the facts are negative and only the exceptions are positive.

The very meaning of "hereditary" is not understood. If any quality is truly hereditary then it is always hereditary. It never occurs except as the result of heredity, and it is constant—that is to say, it invariably follows. But there is no quality of which this can be said. That genius is not hereditary is known. Even talent is not. Nor is any aptitude. A lawyer's son more often wants to be a soldier or an artist than a lawyer, notwithstanding the environment, and it is so with most professions. The exceptions seem to be due to training and influence, not to hereditary transmission.

A superficial likeness to parents seems hereditary, but that is all that we can assert, and that outward likeness by no means infers an inward likeness. There is nothing so easy and nothing so fatal as this tendency to attribute to heredity what is due to training or want of training. It excuses supineness in governments and professions.—H. Fielding Hall in Atlantic Monthly.

Thin Cutting.

When Irvin Cobb, the writer, was on the World he attended a ball game at the Polo grounds. The yard was packed. Just before the game Harry Stevens, who had the refreshment privilege, strolled by the press box and called out to a group of which Cobb was a member:

"Great crowd, eh, boys? I'll bet there's 6,000 more people here than they expected. I guess that means I'll have to go in and prepare about 4,000 more ham sandwiches."

"Well," remarked Cobb, "that will pretty nearly necessitate the cutting of another ham, won't it, Harry?"—Everybody's.

Green Liquid Soap.

Green liquid soap, which is recommended by skin specialists for fine skins or for those which have the pores extended, can be made at home. Take equal parts of glycerin, water, alcohol and green castile soap. Shave the soap into the water and stir over the fire until the mixture is smooth. Add the glycerin and lastly, after the kettle is removed from the fire, the alcohol. Add a tablespoonful of eau de cologne, if perfume is desired.

Antiquity of Leather.

Leather was early known in Egypt and Greece and thongs of manufactured hides were used for ropes, harness and the like by ancient nations. The Gordian knot was made of leather thongs. A leather cannon was made at Edinburgh, fired three times and found useful in 1778.—Kansas City Times.

THE FORUM.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

At the foot of the sample ballot sent out to the voters, appears the following, "For the adoption of an act approved May 29, nineteen hundred and thirteen and entitled 'A supplement to an act entitled, 'An act concerning Juries.'

There are two squares, in one of which the voter is requested to place a cross accordingly as he favors or opposes the adoption of said act. There has been little discussion of the advisability of adopting or rejecting this act, and what little there has been, is unintelligent and demagogic. The act proposes to place the selection of juries in the hands of a commission in each county, of which the sheriff shall be an ex officio member; with him will be one other member appointed by the chancellor of the State. The act, however, is not to go into effect unless approved by a majority of the voters in the State next Tuesday.

By the New Jersey Constitution the power of legislation is vested solely in the State Legislature; the people in adopting the constitution reserved no legislative powers to themselves; they diverted themselves of them completely, and hence the Legislature has no lawful right to make the adoption of any law dependent upon its acceptance by the voters. This view has been held by the courts of several States, and laws approved by the voters on a referendum have been held void.

Should a majority of the voters in New Jersey manifest their approval of this law, it would certainly throw the administration of justice in this State into great confusion until such time as the question of its constitutionality should be passed upon by our final Court of Appeal; and what the decision would be is left in no doubt by the uterance of our courts in a case which did not involve the precise point, but in which it is discussed, and condemned.

The merits or demerits of the act do not come into consideration. Nor does the advisability of the adoption of the referendum as a method of legislation. The way to bring that about is by an amendment of the constitution. The validity of this attempt at a referendum is to be judged by the constitutional provisions of today. In order to avoid the disastrous consequences which would ensue from the approval of this act I urge every voter without regard to party to oppose its adoption and mark his ballot accordingly.

It may be asked if what I have written is a correct exposition of the law why did men who are now candidates favor its enactment? I can only say that it is one of the puzzles of practical politics, as the illegality of the procedure was urged upon them before the act was passed, and one at least of these candidates has admitted to me personally that he believed the act was void. But, he added, he did not believe a majority of the voters would favor it. Comment on the political morality of such action is needless, and indeed is useless at the present time.

Vote against the adoption of this act. I have omitted references to court decisions, but will gladly give them to any one who wishes.

EDWARD C. PEARSON.

Makes Hard Work Easy!

DUSTING, cleaning and polishing hardwood floors is hard, back-breaking work. An almost never ending task and seldom satisfactory the old way. But it is easy, quick and satisfactory the new way—using the O-Cedar Polish Mop. With it you can spend a few minutes doing what it now takes you almost half a day. You simply pass the O-Cedar Polish Mop over the floor and every particle of dust and dirt is taken up and held. The floor is given a hard, durable, lasting polish and finish.

O-Cedar Polish Mop

is also used for the dusting and cleaning of the tops of high furniture, between the banisters of the stairs and is so made that you can get to the far corner under the bed, beneath the radiator and other hard-to-get-at places.

It cuts house work in half.

Don't put up with the old-fashioned hard way when you can get an O-Cedar Polish Mop for only $1.50.

FATE OF PAPALILLO IS IN HANDS OF JURY

Elizabeth, Oct. 30.—For the second time within several months the life of Matteo Papalillo, the alleged murdered of Thomas Deers, colored, of West Third street, Plainfield, is in the hands of the jury. Prosecutor Stein summoned up this morning and at noon the jury was charged by Justice Bergen.

Victor D'Aloia, counsel for the defendant, was threatened with a fine for contempt of court for repeatedly interrupting Prosecutor Stein while the latter was summing up.

IN HONOR OF BRIDE-ELECT.

Miss Louise Coleman, of Rahway road, gave a bridge whist party at her home, yesterday afternoon, in honor of Miss Martha Robert, of Park avenue, who will be married on Saturday to Kneeland Fosdick, of Orange. There were about twenty guests and the afternoon was spent playing "bridge" prizes being awarded the winner at each table. Refreshments were served after the play.

MRS. J. L. KELSO.

Mrs. Josephine Lamar Kelso, aged 61 years, widow of Charles Kelso, died yesterday at her home, 619 East Third street. She is survived by two sons, Franklin and Josephus Kelso, both of this city. The funeral will be held at the late residence tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. The burial will be at Otisville, Orange county, New York.

BICYCLIST HURT.

John Angerbauer, 16 years old, son of Joseph H. Angerbauer, of 416 East Second street, received slight injuries about the body yesterday afternoon when knocked from a bicycle by a horse and wagon belonging to Frank Neidig, a meat dealer, of North Plainfield. The accident occurred at East Front street and Tier's lane. Bertram Mulford was driving the butcher's horse at the time of the accident, according to Chief Doane, an eye witness.

PERSONAL.

Dr. E. H. Good, osteopath, has removed from 523 West Front street to the Manning building, Park avenue and Depot Park.

Rev. Dr. William Hoppaugh, of Springfield, former pastor of the Presbyterian church at that place, was the guest of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Herring, of The Bristol, West Front street.

H. G. Runkle, West Eighth street, has returned home after spending the summer at his big estate at Upper Saranac, in the Adirondacks.

Miss Henrietta Krewson, of Philadelphia, is visiting her niece, Mrs. Isaac Shepherd, of Somerset street. Miss Krewson is eighty-eight years old and she made the trip from the Quaker City to Plainfield alone.

Mrs. John P. Emmons, of Prospect place, the borough, left Tuesday for Chicago, where she will visit relatives for a time.

Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., will entertain its friends, including the women, tomorrow night, with a progressive euchre. The affair will be held in the lodge rooms in the Babcock building.

MRS. HOOD'S STORY

the extravagant planting, concrete pools, marbles, costly rugs and etchings (the latter of which I only wanted 4 or 5). When I protested about any of these items your overruled all my objections—with these results. At any time in the past decade I have been in danger of being cast out and placed in the position I now am—all through your uncontrolled bad temper. You seem to take exception to the word bad; what word could express a temper which could force me to gather my belongings in a few hours' notice for a final ejection from your home for no given—real or imaginable—reason, or cause and to the humiliation of my mother, who was your guest (and in the presence of the servants) who (mother) suffered from your cruelty to me. Bad faintly expresses a temper such as this. Neither does quick characterize it, for you had all day to recover from it. To such a pass have you came—because you consider your temper not in the light of a curse, as you should, but only a fault to be accepted—not to be conquered. For nine and one-half years (until April 1st) I never revealed to anyone the indignities you had put upon me. I have done my part in trying to keep up appearances before the people we were received by in the place we chose to live in.

"You have not only a terrorizing temper, as for example, the 4 ct. gravel episode when you cursed me in a loud voice, to your disgrace, but you have a sullen temper, which you indulge in and coddle, nurse for two and three days to the discomfort of all around you. Your tyranny, violence and cursing are your great faults, which are all the result of giving your temper full sway.

"In all sincerity, I hope in the years to come, when you are alone with yourself, you will realize the enormity of your treatment of the woman you promised to protect.

"I do not forget that we had many happy hours together, but you simply ignore that there have been any in your arraignment of me. I am sending to you H. Drummond's book, which I have marked, because it expresses better than can I, the effect your disposition has had upon my life. As regards my returning to 4100, I have always told you it was impossible, so you had no reason to think otherwise when you sent me away. I myself am the best judge of this. As you informed me you expected to leave the country shortly. I would like you to state to me how and where I am to receive the amount of support you stipulated last Monday.

"F. S. HOOD."

It transpired at the hearing yesterday afternoon that Mrs. Hood once deeded the property in dispute to her husband, and that he cancelled the deed of conveyance and sent it back to her.

Hood's explanation was that this occurred in the course of negotiations undertaken by Walter Penn Shipley of the Philadelphia bar, who is associated in the present suit, as he was also in the divorce suit, with McCarter & English, looking to the making of permanent provision for Mrs. Hood, and a final separation.

"I told Mr. Shipley," Hood explained, "to prepare in duplicate a separation agreement, and that I would sign the copies and return one to him. It was then that I asked Mrs. Hood to sign a deed giving me title to the property, and I told her I would send her a check for $1,545 for her silver which she had paid for out of some money she inherited and other funds. Mrs. Hood signed the deed and I sent her the $1,545 check. But the agreement fell through and Mrs. Hood then wrote me, about October 15, to this effect: That she had signed that deed against the advice of her lawyer, because she wanted to be as good as her word, and she thought in view of that I ought to do what was right with her. So I wrote that if she would send the check for $1,545 back I would send her back the paper or deed, whatever it was she executed. She sent the check back and I sent her the paper that has been put in evidence here, having first cancelled it."

Mr. Hood declared that it had never been his intention to give the home property to Mrs. Hood as a gift.

Mr. Hood told further that before buying "The Roses" he had often discussed with his wife the question of buying a home.

"We had talked about buying a place in England and picked out a place in London in 1905," he added.

As showing how great was Mrs. Hood's desire to possess a home of her own, Hood told that a hitch in the negotiations for the acquirement of the Plainfield property occurred Mrs. Hood confided to him that her heart "almost stopped beating."

PLAINFIELDER KILLED?

William Galloway, formerly of this city, who has been employed at various intervals by the Plainfield Ice and Supply Co., for the past 12 years, was killed yesterday, while working in an ice plant in Philadelphia, according to a report. No details of the alleged fatality have as yet been received.

Special services will be held Sunday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, at the Church of God and Saints of Christ, in West Third street. Chief Bishop J. W. Crowdy will preach the opening sermon at 8 o'clock in the evening. Elder Alexander Trent will be in charge.

PNEUMONIA FATAL TO JACOB BECKMAN

Member of New York Fruit Exchange Passes Away in the Borough.

Jacob Beckman, a well-known resident of the borough, died yesterday afternoon at his home, 82 Fairview avenue, of pneumonia with which he was taken ill on Sunday. He was born at Tremont, N. Y., and had lived here about thirty years. He was engaged in the wholesale fruit and produce business in New York with his brother, Charles Beckman. He was a member of the New York Fruit Exchange.

Mr. Beckman was a graduate of New York University, a member of Trinity Reformed church and the Dutch Arms, men's association of the church, in which he took a deep interest.

There survive a wife, one son, Charles David Beckman; a mother, a sister, Miss Kate Beckman, and a brother, Charles Beckman, of Tremont, and a brother, Adam Beckman of Jersey City. The funeral will be held at the late home, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. Rev. J. Y. Broek, of Trinity Reformed church will officiate and the burial will be private.

HARVEST HOME FEAST IS AT BETHEL CHAPEL

The Harvest Home festival, opening last night at Bethel Chapel and to be concluded tonight, proved attractive for the members and friends of the Circle of Earnest Workers under whose auspices the event is given. Among the entertainers were John A. Williams, choir master; Emanuel Smith, Mrs. Ambrey Lambert, Miss Euphemia Dorsey and Mrs. George Dillard, vocal soloists, and Miss Bertha Neal, recitationist. Charles Van Horn presided and James E. Kimball, superintendent of the Sunday-school, introduced those who took part in the entertainment. Rev. F. D. Tildon offered prayer following an organ prelude.

Among the visitors were Rev. Dr. M. W. Vaughan, pastor of the Mt. Olive Baptist church; Rev. William H. Hicks, pastor of the Mt. Zion M. E. church, and members of their respective congregations. Supper was served by a committee composed of Mrs. Sarah E. Pryear, chairman; Mrs. Marie Lane, Mrs. Annie Robinsonand Miss Hattie Post.

AT Y. W. C. A.

Tonight at the Y. W. C. A. the members of the association will tempt the spirits and learn as far as possible what their fortunes will be. Festivities will begin at 8 o'clock, and a cordial invitation is extended to all members.

Preceding the party the October birthday supper will be held, to which all members whose birthdays fall in the month of October are invited. The supper will be served at 6:30 o'clock.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 26.

MY brilliant young friend, Thomas Dreier, editor of "Associated Advertising," the official organ of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America, wrote this once upon a time under the caption, "THE WINE OF WORK."

"Get drunk, man, get drunk. Fire your veins with the wine of work. Become drunken with the desire to accomplish, to do, to achieve. All divine messages have come from men drunk with divinity. All great work is accomplished by men drunk with the wine of the desire to labor. Desire is the grape from which the wine of work is pressed. You get what you desire—and in just the measure of your desire. Produce great desires—the rest follows."

Some of us have desires all out of proportion to our willingness to work for their fulfillment. But no man with a sound mind in a sound body and a real desire to work need go without food and shelter and raiment in these days of big opportunities for the willing worker.

Judge Walter Malone, in his able reply to Ingalls' famous poem on "Opportunity," wrote:

"They do me wrong who say I come no more
When once I knock and fail to find you in;
For every day I stand outside your door
And bid you wake and rise to fight and win."

Every day, in the Classified columns, opportunities are presented for the consideration of those who are willing to heed the call. All sorts of employers are constantly advertising for all sorts of employes. Capital is seeking labor just as assiduously as labor is seeking fruitful fields of production.

I see hundreds of able-bodied men idly sunning themselves every day, while at home, perhaps, wives and children crave the bare necessities of life. These men say they can't get work. The truth is that they haven't taken enough of the proper sort of wine to become even slightly intoxicated. The man whose veins are fired with the wine of work doesn't make excuses. He gets work.

There are opportunities for every man, every day, in the Classified columns of this newspaper.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

FRANCES MARSHALL

Hallowe'en Dainties.

In the North of England Hallowe'en is known as Nutcrack night and so, in planning our Hallowe'en refreshments you must remember that nuts in some form or other must play an important part. You must also remember that Hallowe'en is the one day of the year when ghosts and other sorts of spooks are abroad and your refreshments as well as your games must each one have some special application to these mystic visitants. Hence cakes cut crescent-shape and decorated with cats and owls and bats outlined in frosting would be appropriate.

Avoid all elaborate forms of refreshments, but let there be an abundance of everything—dishes piled high with apples, red and rosy, and nuts and raisins more than you can possibly eat. In selecting the apples see that they are well washed, for their skin may be bitten into in some of the old-fashioned tricks. See, too, that their little stems are in good condition, so that they may be hung up. Sometimes it is possible to get a branch of an apple tree bearing several apples without injury to the tree; if this is possible it should be done and the branch can be hung as if growing on the walls. Anyway, try to get some green apple leaves to decorate the apple dishes.

Another thing to remember in planning the Hallowe'en refreshments, especially if young people are to be considered—is that Hallowe'en sports are usually active and that a few bonbons, an ice and a cup of coffee, though quite acceptable after a game of bridge, would hardly be substantial enough after apple ducking and blindman's buff and other Hallowe'en diversions.

Some Hallowe'en Sandwiches.

Spread the following mixture between slices of brown bread; equal qualities of chopped figs and chopped almonds mixed to a paste with a little sweet cream. If you have difficulty in chopping the figs try, chopping them with floured scissors. The following paste spread between either white or brown bread makes a delicious and appropriate sandwich; chopped pecan meats and chopped dates, mixed with a little wine to a paste. If you want the sandwiches especially dainty they may be cut in crescent shape and tied in groups of two or three with yellow ribbon.

Instead of plain cider, which to many tastes seems a trifle insipid, serve a punch made as folows: Put a quart of clear cider in a pitcher and add a small bottle of soda water. Have ready thinly sliced apple, hard grapes and bruised mint sprigs. Serve in tall glasses, placing a few grapes, a slice of apple and a sprig of mint in each glass.

The best Hallowe'en sweets are by all means those that are made from nuts, dates and other fruit confections. Try several of the following:

Stuffed Prunes or Dates.

Use the best possible French prunes and remove the pits with a sharp knife. Have ready some uncooked fondant and some coarsely chopped nuts, almonds, walnuts and hickory nuts alone or mixed. Roll them together in a little of the fondant. Now take a piece of this nut fondant large enough to fill the hole in the prune, allowing a little to show. Dates may be stuffed in the same way or with blanched almonds or peanuts. To make the uncooked fondant you will need the white of one egg, a tablespoonful of water and a few drops of vanilla. Beat up till frothy and add sifted confectioner's sugar till it is stiff enough to mould with the finger tips.

For good old-fashioned Hallowe'en refreshments you should have fresh doughnuts and individual pumpkin pies. For these roll the pie crust very thin and line muffin tins with it. Then pour the pumpkin pie mixture in these small shells and bake as usual.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

When Mr. Frog Took Mr. Fish's Fly Away.

The Fisherman Pulled in the Line.

"NOW," said daddy, "cuddle down and I will tell you a story about Mr. Fish and Mr. Frog."

Jack and Evelyn perched themselves beside daddy, and he told them the following yarn, which you may believe or not as you like.

"Mr. Fish and Mr. Frog lived in the lake. They were not very good friends, however," said he.

"Mr. Frog thought Mr. Fish snapped up too many bugs and flies. Mr. Frog thought that all the insects that buzzed around the stone in the middle of the lake belonged to him.

"'Why don't you stay away from my stone?' Mr. Frog would say when he saw the fish swimming up. But the fish would only open its mouth wide, and when a fly came along swallow it.

"'Stop your grumbling,' the fish replied one day. 'Why don't you travel about a little, then you would find plenty of flies to eat. You can hop about on land, but we fishes cannot get out of the lake to search for food.'

"But the frog replied that he had found the rock first, and so it was his place, and everything to be found there by right belonged to him.

"One morning a man came down to the lake. He sat down where he was hidden by some bushes. Then he put a rod together and fitted a great, big, lovely bug to the end of it. When he had fastened the bug in place he threw the line out so the bug spun over the water.

"'That's a mighty fine looking bug,' Mr. Frog said as he peeped at it from behind the cluster of reeds, where he was hiding.

"So he crept a little closer, and he swam a little and dived a little and came up just beside the lily pad, where the fly was floating. Mr. Fish wasn't to be seen anywhere, and so Mr. Frog reached out and grabbed the fly. He began to swallow it, but it didn't go down far. Right where it wouldn't show there was a hook fastened to the fly.

"'Huh! Nothing but an old green frog!' the fisherman snorted, and he took the hook out of Mr. Frog's throat and threw him back into the lake.

"Mr. Frog was so anxious to get away that he dived straight down to the bottom of the lake, where he met Mr. Fish calmly swimming around.

"'How did you like my fly?' Mr. Fish asked slyly. You see, he was too old and smart to be fooled by one of the fisherman's made up flies.

"Mr. Frog didn't say a word in reply, he was too scared and mortified.

"For several days he was laid up with a sore throat, and he never again complained because Mr. Fish caught flies near his rock."

MOTHERS' WORK

Conducted by the Plainfield Mothers' Association. Every Thursday

Contributing Staff.

Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, Mrs. Jos. Smith, Mrs. Herbert Parker.

The Daily Press for Thursdays containing the column on Mother's Work will be sent by mail for one dollar a year, in advance.

The New Jersey Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations will be held in Brunswick Hall, Church street, New Brunswick, on Friday and Saturday; November 14 and 15. The opening session will be at 2:30 in the afternoon. The general topic for all sessions will be "The Training of the Future Citizen in the Home and School."

On Friday afternoon and evening addresses will be made by Mrs. Frederic Schoff, president of the National Congress of Mothers, on "The Mission of Parents." Miss Myra Winchester, of the National Kindergarten Association, on "The Foundation of Principles for Good Citizenship As Laid In the Kindergarten;" James S. Heberling, superintendent of Carter Junior Republic, on "Training the Future Citizen in the Home." Saturday morning, reports of standing committees and all clubs. Saturday afternoon addresses by Mrs. Edward C. Grice, honorary president New Jersey Congress of Mothers; Lewis T. Carris, assistant commissioner of education of New Jersey, on "Vocational Education," followed by formal discussion, participated in by county superintendents, principals and teachers of the schools of the State.

The presidents of local Parent-Teacher Associations are urged to send the list of delegates to the State Congress promptly to chairman of the credential committee Mrs. Arthur J. Collins, Moorestown, New Jersey. Officers, delegates and individual members of the State Congress will be entertained. Those who have joined in a ten cent capita basis are entitled to send the president or her representative, and one delegates for every ten members. Clubs which affiliate on a $3 basis are entitled to two delegates. Visitors desiring accommodation should make personal application to Hotel Klein, New Brunswick, New Jersey. The meetings are open to all who are interested in Child Welfare.

Penny lunches in Plainfield's schools seem destined to have conspicuous success, the only possibility of failure lying in waning enthusiasm on the part of the promoters. There is no question of patronage and according to the first week's figures a slight profit was obtained in the actual cost of food. Back of the whole effort, however, is the Mothers' Association planning the lunches and arranging details. It is going to mean work to keep that up, but it is so highly worth while that there is no question of its continuing to hold interest. The Plainfield experiment shows what can be done if there are those who will do it, that is the whole question. The results speak for themselves.—Elizabeth Daily Journal.

Several inquiries have come to the luncheon committee of the Mothers' Association, about the plans, in detail, of the penny lunches being served so successfully in the Bryant School among them one from The Proctor & Gamble Manufacturing Co., of Port Ivory, Staten Island. The reputation of Plainfield as well as the Mothers' Association is at stake in this venture.

Mrs. William M. Sandford has been appointed by the Mothers' Association to call a meeting of the presidents and officers of local and nearby associations at stated intervals. The first meeting will be held this afternoon for the purpose of consultation and mutual helpfulness. Over thirty have accepted the invitation and great benefit undoubtedly will be derived from this council. The speaker will be Miss VanBoskirk on the subject of "Moving Pictures." Plans for the delegates wishing to attend the State Congress will also be completed. Plainfield expects to send its full representation.

The sixth annual conference of the Home and School League of Philadelphia will take place Friday and Saturday of this week. The subjects to be discussed are "Teaching Sex Hygiene in the Home," "After Home and School—What?" "Home-Making and Humanics." There will also be a meeting for women at 10 a. m. Friday and a meeting for men at 5 p. m. Cards of admission may be obtained from G. Algert Wolf at the office of the league, N. E. corner Twelfth and Locust streets, Philadelphia.

DEMURE AND QUAINT ARE MANY OF THE STRAIGHT LINED FROCKS

At one of the recent openings several of the smartest street frocks were fashioned of striped velours. This material would be especially appropriate to 7660, rendering its simplicity still more effective. The required touch of brightness could be introduced in the broad girdle and the trimming bands on the skirt and blouse. There is just a bit of fullness on the shoulders and at the waist-line. In size 36 this design may be copied with 5 yards of 42 inch velours.

Frills and furbelows that crush and and soil easily have no place under the heavy winter coats that must soon make their appearance. A simple frock of serge will be found most agreeable. An excellent model for that dull blue serge which is still so popular is 7648. The drop-shoulders and the small revers are sufficient trimming. A sash or girdle of bright satin or silk would be effective and give the desired touch of contrast. Size 36 requires 5 yards of 36 inch material.

No. 7660—sizes 34 to 42.
No. 7648—sizes 34 to 42.

Fine Dainty and Attractive Handkerchiefs You Can Embroider for Your Friends Christmas.

Handkerchiefs are ever acceptable gifts for one can never have too many of these useful articles. A bit of hand embroidery on a gift not only adds greatly to its individuality but also makes the gift all the more appreciated if it is the handwork of the giver. If shown that time and thought has been given to the recipient and it is not the meaningless gift which is bought at the last minute.

Patterns No. 14380 contains five simple and attractive designs for embroidering handkerchiefs each twelve inches square. These may be developed in solid work and eyelets on handkerchief linen or fine linen lawn.

Handkerchiefs embroidered in a bit of color, to match the dress, have beecome quite popular this season, and these five designs would be very attractive developed in one shade of a delicate color. Initials or monograms in one-half or three-eights-inch size, about one-inch from each edge. These also may be developed in the same color in which the handkerchief is embroidered. If preferred, these designs may be developed entirely in white.

This pattern will be supplied to readers of the Daily Press for 10 cents.

SPEEDY MARATHONS TROUNCED SCHOLARS

N. P. H. S. Freshman no Match for the Visiting Quintet Pile up Count.

Another basketball team sprang into prominence yesterday afternoon on the Saengerbund Hall court, when the combination sporting the name and colors of the Marathon Athletic Club trimmed the North Plainfield High School freshmen class representatives by a count of 33 to 14. During the first period of play the schoolboys put up their best article of basketball and managed to hold the speedy Marathons to a 10 to 9 score.

In the final session, however, the Athletics swept their rivals completely off their feet and soon rang up a big lead through some spectacular basket caging and won handily from the High School basketeers.

Daniel Denny, playing center for the losers, was the laurel reaper on his side in all around work while George Hummel led the winning attack most conspicuously. The latter's stellar guarding was topped off by a pair of spectacular field goals from the center of the floor.

The score:

MARATHON	G.	F.	P.
Krausse, f.	3	0	6
Adams, f. (capt.)	4	1	9
Dilts, c.	6	2	14
Hummel, g.	2	0	4

TOWNLEY DECIDED NOT TO BECOME A Y. M. C. A. MAN

George Townley, winner of the Yale cup in the graduating class of last year in the North Plainfield High School, returned from Springfield, Mass., Tuesday night, where he has been attending the International Y. M. C. A. Training School, deciding that he would turn his attention to some other occupation. Townley is full of praise for the Y. M. C. A. institution and took an active interest in athletics while at the college.

Herbert Stine, the other Plainfielder who is registered at that institution, will continue his studies and according to Townley, his college is "making good" both as a student and an athlete. Townley has not decided what he will do but it is probable that the North Plainfield High School graduate will enter some other institution next fall.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is next Tuesday a legal holiday?—M. H. F.

Answer—Yes. It is Election Day.

Sporting Editor:

Query—When Plainfield and North Plainfield High Schools met the last time on the football field, who was the winner? What year did the borough school discontinue the sport?—S. U. O.

Answer—Plainfield won the last game in the final minutes of play when Gardner Bristol, at that time a member of the squad, jumped on a fumble behind the N. P. H. S. goal line and scored five points, the goal afterwards being kicked making the score 6 to 0. The last battle was in 1910.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is it necessary to take an examination before you can take out a license for running an automobile —B. R. T.

Answer—It certainly is.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Where can I secure a copy of the fish and game laws?—P. L. N.

Answer—Once more we will answer this oft repeated query. Write to the Fish and Game Commission, State House, Trenton, N. J.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Does Plainfield have a building code? If so, where can I secure information regarding it?—C. C. B.

Answer—Plainfield has a building code and any information you desire will be furnished by T. O. Doane, building inspector.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Will you kindly tell me the opening date of the St. Nicholas Rink?—F. T. O.

Answer—The red ball is now up.

Sporting Editor:

Query—In your paper last week, I saw an item about the White Construction Company receiving a contract in Pittsburg. Now could you inform me as to the whereabouts of their offices in New York —X. Y. Z.

Answer—The article referred to the White Contracting Co., with offices at 181 Chrystie street, New York city.

"MAC" SAYS

When we consider the fact that one division of the suffragette party has introduced the idea of electing two captains to one basketball team we are forced to admit that feminine court stars are the most remarkable athletes extant.

Wonder if those N. P. H. S. maidens will always have a leader, even with a double set doing duty.

Yesterday's game with Westfield High School brought out the fact that Plainfield High School needs a consistent kicker. Too bad Johnny Evers is a citizen of the Queen City. The Cubs' second baseman is the most consistent kicker in the big leagues.

One of the Hope chapel players threatens to retire from public life if he does not get a game Saturday night after absenting himself from every practice with the exception of one. We are led to suspect that Coach Jack Martin has forgotten more about this Johnny Kling variety than the player in question will ever learn.

Martin is not worrying a whole lot about material, however, as he has a wealth of talent ready to step into the anarchist's shoes should he attempt to frame a resignation.

Just happened to glance at a Japanese newspaper. The lot of a baseball scribe is not a particularly happy one but what if he had to make out a box score in Japanese?

Basketball promoters in nearby villages claim that they are losing so much money that they will soon have to quit the game and earn an honest living.

One puzzle that has confronted us during the past week is why Manager Johnny McGraw, while drawing up a schedule of contests in foreign lands, did not include a game with the athletes in a certain portion of the Queen City. In one block there are fourteen different languages spoken.

NUMBER LEAGUE FOR Y. M. C. A. SENIORS

Activities Start in the Association Men's Department Tonight.

An active program of senior gymnasium work will be opened in the local Y. M. C. A. gymnasium tonight under the supervision of E. C. Ostlin, the physical director, and competition will be conducted along several different lines hereafter during the fall and winter on Tuesday and Thursday nights. Following the successful Color League of last year, Mr. Ostlin has organized a Number League which will be operated on the same basis, numbers being substituted for colors, because of the numerous teams and the limited supply of distinctly different colors.

Each member of the senior department will wear a blue uniform and will have a number corresponding to the team on which he has been placed. The membership has been divided up so that the various teams present about the same strength and the competition should be of the keenest variety this season. The program of events includes basketball, apparatus work, calisthenics, swimming, athletics and an attendance contest.

TWO COURT STARS RETIRE FROM GAME

Lidgate and Thompson Out of the Parish House Lineup This Season.

Although those interested in Scotch Plains Parish House athletics forsee the organization of a basketball quintet to represent that place that will be even stronger than the fast five of last year, it has become known that two players who were the bulwark of support on the team last fall will not be back in the lineup when the season opens. Eugene Lidgate, a member of the Raleigh baseball team, has decided to rest up this fall and will drop out of the limelight for the time being, his place at forward probably being taken by Dallas, of Westfield. Thompson, one of the guards, will also be absent and Billy Lee will probably occupy his place in the herd.

Despite the fact that these two stars will be missing many new candidates have made their appearance and an unusually strong contingent will without doubt be drawn together for the opening game. The opening practice was held last Saturday night and brough out such players as Ricketts, Marsten, Lee, Dallas and several others of last year's second string squad.

A second team, entirely separate from the first team, will be organazed and a schedule of contests will be arranged for that quintet which will appear in the preliminary tilts every Saturday night. The two Scotch Plains teams will play on their home court every Saturday night and travel during the week.

HERE'S AN OPPORTUNITY TO GAIN FAME ON THE CINDER PATH.

Jack Fritts, of this city, will lead a pack of runners against the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. representatives in a cross-country dual run at the Union county seat next Saturday afternoon and is scouting about this section for eight good men to pit against the crack Elizabethians. Thus far the material he has unearthed is far from satisfactory and Fritts is still looking for men who can run five miles.

Any local runner can get on the Plainfield team by applying to Fritts, who will conduct several try-outs prior to the big run and in the event of a successful invitation match at Elizabeth Saturday a return race will be staged here sometime next month.

NEWARK TOOK A PAIR FROM BRUNSWICK ELKS

Members of the Newark Elks' quintet, who are making such a good race of it in the Elks' League race, continued their good work last night when they captured two games out of three on Greenwald's alleys, in New Brunswick from the New Brunswick Elks' team. In the second game of the match the Newarkers were there for 1,012. The initial setto was a particularly lively battle, Newark, with 875, winning by only two pins. Newark then came back with 1,012 and finished ninety pins ahead. In the last game the visitors touched 984 and finished forty-six pins ahead. Hinton rolled 215 and 209 for the Newark five, Weingarth had 213 and Dick Erler 201. Greenwald did some pinning for the New Brunswick five, having marks of 224 and 213. Coyne was there for 213 and 207, and Burton rolled 202 and 201. The scores:

GOLF AT ATLANTIC CITY.

Atlantic City, Oct. 30.—The annual autumn golf tournament of the Atlantic City Country Club opened on the greens at Northfield yesterday under conditions that promise one of the most successful events in the history of the club. Play will continue through the remainder of the week. A number of golfers of wide reputation are included among the entrants.

PARISH HOUSE WILL HAVE BOWLING TEAM

Pin-Knights of Scotch Plains Will Open a Toruney Saturday, November 15.

If plans already formed can be carried out satisfactory during the next month, the Scotch Plains Parish House will be represented by one of the strongest bowling quintets in this section and tryouts are already under way, many of the villagers taking an active interest in the contest for positions on the team. Many pin smashers live in the 'Plains village and many of the bowlers have won fame on other alleys during former years so that the prospects of turning out a banner team are particularly bright this year.

Last fall a tournament was conducted in which the members were participants but no extensive outside competition was promoted. This year, however, those at the helm plan to start a tournament similar to the former one, on November 15, and the five highest men at the conclusion of the competition will be recognized as a representative team to bowl under the Parish House colors against other strong fives in this section of the State.

ELIZABETH ELKS LOST ALL THREE TO PATERSON

Three games in a row went to the credit of the Paterson quintet in an Elks' League bowling match last night on the Elizabeth alleys. The Silk City pin-knights did some remarkably consistent and classy pinning, having totals of 941, 981 and 983. The Elizabeths also rolled well, having 924 in the first game, when they were only seventeen pins behind, and 944 in the final encounter, being thirty-nine pins behind their rivals. Roth rolled 232 and 202 for Paterson, Romary had 213 and 201, Ernest 216 and 204 and Taylor 202. Henry Clauss was there for 212 and 200 for Elizabeth and Bock rolled 211. The scores:

PATERSON.
Ernest	216	204	192
O'Gorman	192	160	164
Romary	179	213	201
Roth	166	202	232
Taylor	188	202	194
	941	981	983
ELIZABETH.
Nolte	194	158	191
Gathman	163	149	189

Clauss	193	212	200
	924	872	944

SEVERAL CHANGES MADE IN ELKS' LEAGUE SCHEDULE

The date for the postponed Elks' League bowling match between the Elizabeth and Rahway teams, which was to have taken place at the Elizabeth alleys on October 14, has not been set. The Elizabeth team, however, has requested either Wednesday or Friday of next week, and it is practically certain that one or the other dates will be accepted by the Rahwayans.

The Elizabeth-Plainfield match, which is scheduled to be rolled on November 6, will be staged at Elizabeth instead of at Plainfield, on account of the latter club's alleys not being completed. Through this change the match scheduled between these teams for January 20, to be rolled at Elizabeth, will take place at Plainfield, as by that time it is expected that the Plainfield alleys will be ready.

P. H. S. SWAMPED BY RIVAL ELEVEN

Westfield Schoolboys Administered a Severe Drubbing to the Queen Cityites.

LOCALS SCORED FIRST

Opening Spurt of the Red and Blue Soon Died Out and the Mt. Ararat Delegation Had Little Trouble Advancing the Ball.

Plainfield High School was once more humbled on Parker Field, yesterday afternoon by the strong team turned out by the school from Westfield. Although P. H. S. started off with a rush and seemed to have their opponents at their mercy, Westfield gained strength in the second part of the first half and carried the ball over for a touch down.

In the first quarter Plainfield kicked off but Westfield lost the ball after a few plays and Plainfield marched down the field bringing the ball to Westfield's seven-yard line, when the whistle blew calling time.

On the first play in the second quarter Peacock carried the ball over for a touchdown through right tackle, but failed to kick the goal.

Butler again kicked off for P. H. S. and Westfield was downed on their forty-yard line. Westfield now opened up a shift formation which puzzled the locals during the entire game. The whole line dropped back and then shifted to either side. On this play Westfield brought the ball to within striking distance of Plainfield's goal and it was carried over by Marsh on a straight plunge through center. The goal was kicked.

The locals received the kick-off and on several long runs through tackle and around end brought the ball to the invaders' twenty-yard line when time was called for the first half.

The second half opened when Westfield kicked off but the ball was kicked short and Gavett ran it to the center of the field, he being tackled so hard that the oval slipped out of his hands and one of the opponents fell on it. Both sides played well in this quarter the ball hovering around mid-field, but Westfield's attack was the stronger and they once more brought the ball to within striking distance on a fake kick which resulted in a pretty forward pass over the line. Randall then carried the ball over and Cheney kicked the goal.

Plainfield received but soon lost the ball on a fumble and Westfield carried the ball the necessary forty yards on long end runs, Randall scoring their last touchdown but failed to kick the goal.

In the last quarter Plainfield had several chances to score but each time failed. On an end run Peacock carried the ball to Westfield's ten-yard line, but fumbled it when he was tackled giving the ball to the opponents. They tried a forward pass but it was intercepted and after futile attempts to gain ground Peacock tried a drop kick but failed, Westfield carrying the ball to centre field when time was called.

HOLY CROSS MEN MUST ATTEND SPECIAL PRACTICE TONIGHT.

Announcement was made this morning of a special practise for the Holly Cross football players to be held on the field at Central and Seventh streets tonight, promptly at 8 o'clock.

It is absolutely necessary that every man be on hand for this drill, which will be the final one before the two big contests, one Saturday afternoon and the second on Election Day.

LOCAL LODGE TEAM FOR STATE LEAGUE

Knights of Columbus Propose to Enter a Quintet in the Organization.

Since the installation of the three new bowling alleys in the Knights of Columbus clubhouse on West Front street, the popular indoor game has been treated to a great boost locally and many old time pin knights have returned to the game and are nightly hanging up remarkable scores on the new shutes. Last night in individual competition James Strappe one of the best pin smashers in the club, toppled the pins for a mark of 265 and this is an every night occurrence with one bowler or another.

Since the opening of the Elks' Bowling League the local team has been holding its practises on the Knights of Columbus alleys and according to the antlered tribe the new shutes are the best in the State. For this reason they have been selected as permanent practise alleys for the Elks' team until their new building is ready for occupancy.

J. Fred Hillman and Thomas F. Carty, representing the local lodge, will go to Newark tonight to attend a meeting of the Knights of Columbus Bowling League, which will be held at that place and will make application for admittance into the organization. It is proposed to organize a representative quintet in Plainfield and the local lodge will be represented in the league during the winter months.

ROYLE T. PHILLIPS WINS OAKWOOD GOLF CUP

Because of a dispute which had arisen regarding the winner of the Oakmont cup at the Park Golf Club, the golf committee held a meeting last night, and after inquiring into all the details decided that Royle T. Phillips is entitled to the trophy. According to the number of points, Clarence J. Hand claimed the cup, but the committee decided that there was an error in counting these points and therefore decided in favor of Mr. Phillips.

The play for the President's cup will be concluded on Saturday. Five players are in close competition for this cup and Saturday's play is likely to give it any one of four. The standing to date is as follows: Clarence J. Hand, 17½ points; W. H. Nischwitz, 17 points; Charles B. Morse, 16½ points; Royle T. Phillips, 16 points; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 10 points.

HARD HITTING HENNESSY TWISTING THE TAMMANY TIGER'S TAIL.

John A. Hennessy, who is carrying his war of twenty years against the bosses of New York into the Tiger's lair, is a natural fighter, born in Ireland fifty-four years ago, and a resident of Brooklyn since he was a boy.

Starting life as an office boy for a newspaper on which his father was an editor, he quickly developed into a reporter, making a specialty of r[illegible] and politics. Next he was an editor.

Mr. Hennessy's antipathy t[illegible]es dates back two score years, when he was one of Edward M. Shepard's chief lieutenants in fighting Hugh McLaughlin and other machine leaders. William J. Gaynor then met Mr. Hennessy. The little Irishman aided in McKane's overthrow, and their friendship continued until the Mayor died.

The Shepardites elected Charles A. Schieren Mayor of Brooklyn, then a city, and Mr. Hennessy went to the State Assembly, where he served one term, which was stormy throughout, being marked by defiance of boss branded legislation. William Sulzer then was democratic floor leader and their friendship never has faltered.

In the Assembly Mr. Hennessy opposed bills advocated by Mr. Pierce, Superintendent of Insurance, and the latter threatened the pugnacious Assemblyman for his course. Blows were passed and the fight was carried to the Assembly floor, where the Pierce bills were defeated. On one occasion he defied the Speaker to arrest him.

The bosses curbed further political ambition for Mr. Hennessy, and he returned to newspaper life. In his long career afterward as a reporter and managing editor he made unceasing warfare on machine bosses in the State, as well as in Manhattan and Brooklyn.

Mayor Gaynor offered him a position in the former's cabinet, but could only persuade him to take charge of some temporary reforms, which were successfully accomplished. Just now Mr. Hennessy is merely doing what he has been doing all of his life in a less spectacular manner.

Directions for operating this Money-Saving, Time-Saving, Health-Saving and Labor-Saving Machine:

THE OLD WAY

Have your water hot, the hotter the better. Add sufficient soap and see that it is thoroughly dissolved before putting in the clothes, as hot water without soap will set the dirt. Use enough hot water to float the clothes, then operate the plunger up and down, each time a gallon or more of hot suds is forced through the fabrics, and the same amount is drawn back on the upward stroke. This suction force is produced by an automatic suction valve, which is a distinct and original feature of our invention. During five or ten minutes, which is required to do a washing, many hundred gallons of hot, soapy water are forced through the clothes, which cleans them in a more perfect manner than any other process and with absolutely no wear or tear. This is the secret of the success of this Rapid Vacuum Clothes Washer.

THE NEW WAY

DON'T LET ANOTHER DAY PASS WITHOUT SECURING A RAPID VACUUM CLOTHES WASHER.

SUES BALTUSROL CLUB FOR A REINSTATEMENT

Local golf circles have been considerably stirred by the action of the Baltusrol Golf Club in dropping from its roll the name of W. A. Engeman, who is also an active member of the Plainfield Country Club, and resenting this action, Mr. Engeman has applied to the Supreme Court for a writ of mandamus to compel his reinstatement. A rule to show cause why an alternative or preemptory writ should not issue is returnable at the opening of the November term next Wednesday.

Mr. Engeman's home has been at Flemington. He joined the Plainfield Country Club, this year, and has played there nearly every Saturday and Sunday during the season. Just why he was dropped from the Baltusrol Golf Club cannot be ascertained here. Efforts have been made to learn the reason without avail.

HUNT CLUB'S RIDERS ENJOYED THE CHASE

Many riders met the hounds of the Watchung Hunt at the kennels, yesterday afternoon, but only a few finished. The meeting place was at Samptown, where the hounds were cast in, crossing the Valley, Manning, Tappen and Hamilton farms. From the last named farm the chase led to New Market, crossing numerous farms and finished at South Plainfield. The going was very heavy and the jumping unusually stiff.

Those who finished were R. C. Finch, M. F. H., J. J. O'Donohue, Stuart Hollis, F. D. French, R. H. Towner, Mrs. J. J. O'Donohue, Stanley Bellows and Huntsman Harrison.

CRESCENTS CANCEL GAME.

Manager George Leighs, of the Hope Chapel basketball team, received a communication from the manager of the Crescent A. Football injuries were given as the reason for the action. Leighs is endeavoring to book a substitute for that date.

English Weights and Measures.

Other things besides fish have their own peculiar measures. Gunpowder, raisins and butter are sold by the barrel, but the weight varies. A barrel of powder weighs 100 pounds, of raisins 112 pounds, of butter 224 pounds. You can also buy butter by the firkin of fifty-six pounds, while a firkin of soft soap is sixty-three pounds. "Stones" are not always the same. A stone of glass is five pounds; a "customary stone" is eight pounds, the "legal stone" fourteen pounds. A "fodder of lead" depends upon where you buy it. In London or Hull you will get only nineteen and a half hundredweight, in Newcastle they will give you twenty-one and a half hundredweight and in Derby twenty-two and a half.—London Globe.

Look For the Pearls.

Do you know that perhaps within a stone's throw of your suburban home pearls may be found. Sara Savage Miller has an article in Suburban Life on "Fresh Water Pearl Fishing." She says that almost every stream and pond throughout the United States contains one or more varieties of mussels in which pearls are found and tells of a carpenter of Paterson, N. J., who found a magnificent pink pearl weighing ninety-three grains in the waters of Notch Brook. It was bought by Tiffany & Co. for $1,500 and later was sold to the Empress Eugenie. Since then it has been known as the famous Queen pearl.

He That Keeps His Lawn Well.

Show me the man whose lawn is in good condition year by year and I will show you one whose wife did well to get him.

For let me tell you, friends and fellow travelers to the tomb, there are more sticks and bones, clothespins and crooked wires upon a lawn, Horatio, than are dreamt of in our philosophy. And he that cheerfully endures the slams upon the bread basket that the lawn mower hands him when its cutters clog possesses more than Christian fortitude—it mounts up to fortitude.—Eugene Wood in Everybody's Magazine.

Locating the Bar.

A grimy looking stranger entered a hotel. "Where's the bar?" he asked of Pat, who was standing at the door.

"What kind of bar?" asked the latter.

"Why, refreshment bar, of course! What do you suppose I mean?"

"Well," drawled Pat, with a twinkle, "I didn't know but you might mean a bar of soap."—London Answers.

Keep Tennis Balls Dry.

Tennis balls can be preserved in usable shape for an indefinite length of time if they are kept absolutely dry. They lose their resiliency and become "dead" before they are worn out for the reason that dampness decomposes the rubber.—Popular Mechanics.

COLBY PROMISES JOLT FOR THE OLD PARTIES

By EVERETT COLBY,
Progressive Party Nominee for Governor.

With the election only a few days off, no man can say with certainty who will be chosen by the people of the State as the next Governor of New Jersey. I am making the best campaign that I know how as the nominee of the Progressive party for Gubernatorial honors, and I hope to record a winning vote. That I will have the help of men who are being counted upon by both the Democratic and the Republican parties I am certain. The ballot boxes will send forth some surprising things when the vote is finally tallied, things that will serve to jolt both old parties, and will demonstrate the Progressive strength in New Jersey and show beyond a doubt that the new party and the Progressive sentiment which it represents is not nearly so dead in the State as some of the campaign orators of the opposition and the dispensers of reactionary literature would have the people believe.

Whether I am elected Governor or not, a campaign will have been made which will constitute a valuable asset for the Progressive party in its future work in New Jersey, and which will have to be regarded as a long step forward in the building up process through which the third party is now going. We are not fighting for today alone, but are looking far ahead. Our time will come, slow as the progress which is made may seem to some persons. We are gathering strength all the time in every section of the country as well as in New Jersey. It cannot be expected that we can construct a new party in a single election, or perhaps in a series of elections. If we go steadily ahead we will be content and patient and look forward to tomorrow with great hope.

We are waging a battle for industrial and social betterment, and the people are steadily awakening to that fact. The more they come to realize what the Progressive movement and the Progressive party mean to them and to the respective communities in which they live and work and bring up their families, the more will they affiliate with our party. We are striving to get politics into such a condition that the workingman will control by wiping out the old system, under which he was, and is still to a great extent, controlled by politics.

More and more every year there are evidences of the fact that the voter is no longer going blindly to the polls and casting his ballot without knowing what it or the names upon it stand for, or as he is told or "requested" by some party worker. He is doing some thinking on his own account. Out of that thinking comes independent voting, and from independent voting must come, in time allegiance with the Progressive party. We of that party who are now in front standing the brunt of battle and seeking to destroy the power of the reactionary forces of city, county, State and country, feel that we are doing a service to the people as a whole, and are not merely self-seeking politicians, or politicians for any one or more "interests." We are fighting for the improvement of the home life of the country through the various things that are set forth in our platforms.

It is not a New Jersey movement, nor the movement of any other State or civic or political division, but is countrywide. It is even worldwide, and in the United States and in New Jersey just at this time we are endeavoring to apply to the party and its doings the very best thought of the entire world which bears upon the problems confronting the people as a whole, and without regard to their previous political party affiliations. For the purposes of the present New Jersey contest for the place of Governor and for the other State, county and city offices, we have taken into our platform the things culled from many sources of study and scientific application to the daily problems of life which seem particularly applicable to the life of the citizens of New Jersey at this time. On those we are ready to stand or fall in the election of November 4.

We may fail, so far as gaining control of the State government and the opportunity which this would give for further work along the lines of our platform, but if we do we well not have such a hard drop, nor will we be severely hurt as our opponents would like to make every one believe. In other words, we will poll a vote at the November election which will astonish those who have been fighting us, which will prove that our campaign has not been in vain, and which may defeat the candidates of both Republican and the Democratic parties.

I say this because of the evidences of Progressive growth and strength which I have found in my tour of the State, which was begun the day after the primary election of September 23, at which I was made the nominee of the Progressive party by the votes of the people. I have been in as many sections of the State as either of my opponents, have met as many of the people of the State as they have, and have not confined myself to the large cities and other centres of congested population. I have done most of my traveling by automobile, and in that way have been able to get into the farming communities and the smaller places in nearly every county. Those places which I have not yet visited I hope to get to during the last week of the campaign. I made an early start last Monday morning and will keep going day and night until the night before election. As in my other trips among the voters, I will seek to meet and talk with as many men, personally, as it is possible for me to reach, in addition to my speaking at large meetings. I want to meet the people at short range, and have them meet me and listen to me, as I will listen to them. In that way we can get to an understanding which men can reach in no other way.

On every side I have found a great deal more Progressive sentiment than I had previously believed existed, though I thought I knew the State and its people before the touring of this particular campaign. I have found the people ready for information, and not only in a receptive frame of mind but anxious to get all they can along Progressive lines, and willing and able to do some tall thinking for themselves and to give the old time political leaders and parties notice that they will neither be coaxed nor forced into voting for anything that they do not understand.

Then, too, I discovered that this progressive sentiment is not a loose, scattered thing, but that it is possessed of compactness, and if better organized for effective work during the remaining days of the campaign and on election day than I had believed possible, or than its other friends, or even its enemies, knew anything about. There is just where I am counting upon one of the surprises of the November voting to come from.

Naturally these conditions, which I found to exist rather more strongly in the southern part of the State than in other sections, have given myself and other workers in the Progressive party great heart, but they will not make us over-confident, nor will they serve to swerve us from hard work to the very end of the contest. We feel that our campaign has been as strong as that of either of the other parties, and can see no reason why it should not have just as good, or even better, results, but we are willing to await the verdict of the people and to continue our work after the election, no matter what that verdict may be.

Our movement was not born in a night, neither can it be thoroughly organized in a night. It can not be killed in a single night nor in many nights. It is here to stay, no matter what may be said of it by the reactionary forces of the country or of New Jersey. It will grow in spite of all the efforts to hinder its advancement or to make the people believe the pretence that it is already dead. It is a pretty lively corpse now, and it will be just as lively after the New Jersey election, no matter which of the nominees in the three cornered Gubernatorial contest is elected. While we have expended much energy in this campaign, we have not even slightly sapped the real energy of which we and the movement are possessed. That will be proven later in many ways.

One of the things which have impressed me rather more than some others during my travels around the State recently is the great interest which is taken in our land tax platform plank. Everywhere that I have talked on that subject there has been a demand for further information, and we have endeavored to provide it and will continue to do so. That plank says: "The value of the land is due to the presence, the growth, the enterprise of all the people. The existing taxing system puts a premium upon speculation in land, which is the holding of land out of use, with the expectation of receiving at some future time an increase in value. This operates to keep land, which is the opportunity of labor, out of use, to make congestion in cities, to crowd the labor market, to reduce wages, to raise rents and generally to restrict industry. The remedy is that all the products of labor, such as buildings and improvements, machinery, household furniture, merchandise and other personal property, the fencing, ditching and clearing of farm lands should ultimately be exempt from taxation, and the taxes heretofore raised from this source for municipal, county and State purposes should be raised by increasing the taxes upon the value of the land."

This will encourage industry, make it easier to get a home or to establish and carry on a business, and force idle land into use, thus increasing the demand for labor. We favor applying this remedy gradually by a law allowing each municipality, upon the vote of its own people, to exempt buildings, improvements and personal property from taxation in whole or in part. We recommend that the tax on buildings, improvements, household furniture, machinery and merchandise, and the fencing, ditching and clearing of farm lands be reduced ten per cent a year, and a corresponding increase in the tax rate on land values be imposed until the rate on such improvements is one-half the rate on land. These things have made the people in every part of the State, and in whatever walk of life they may be, sit up and take notice. They no longer permit anyone to tell them that we are mere dreamers, but are taking a wholesome interest, and, in my opinion, many of them are ready to back their belief in the proposed changes set forth in our platform by their ballots.

This feature of our work is one of the ways in which we feel it is time to put humanity as of first importance in government. We also feel that injustice should cease, and that exact justice is possible and should be given to every citizen, to all classes and without regard to sex, color or previous nationality. We believe that it is time to attack the problems of the high cost of living directly, and to do all that we can to at least lessen the hardship and the poverty among the workers of the State and the nation. These problems must in time—and that time is coming rapidly—be solved by laws by the State and the national governments. The rights of labor, industrial hygiene, the minimum wage for women, votes for women, prison reforms, agricultural training, child labor, protection of investors, pure food, economical State and other governmental management—all these things figure as important factors in the fight, of which New Jersey Gubernatorial campaign and election are, after all, scarcely more than incidents.

To Frederick Dornberger and Pauline Dornberger, his wife, and Augusta Mauersberger.

BY VIRTUE of an order of the Court of Chancery, made on the seventh day of October, 1913, wherein Margaret T. Richards is complainant, and you (and another) are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of said complainant on or before the eighth day of December next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by Dennett J. Galbraith and wife to said Margaret T. Richards, bearing date December 19th, 1911, on lands situate in the City of Plainfield, County of Union, and State of New Jersey; and you, said Frederick Dornberger are made a defendant because you claim to be the owner of said lands; and you, said Pauline Dornberger, are made defendant because you claim to have an inchoate right of dower, or some other right, title or interest in said lands; and you, said Augusta Mauersberger, are made defendant because you claim to hold a second mortgage covering said lands.

Dated, October 9th, 1913.

SMITH CONFIDENT OF UNION COUNTY

As a Result of His Canvass G. O. P. Chairman Claims Party Will Get Plurality.

HARMONY PREVAILS

Many "Third Party" Men, He Declares, Have Returned—"Never Better Set of Candidates" Presented In His Recollection.

When asked today for his prediction on the general election, Union County Republican Chairman Frank H. Smith said: "I am not given to making political forecasts or issuing political statements, but at this time, because of the intense interest that is being displayed in the present campaign, I feel that the Republicans of the county are entitled to know the result of my canvass, and to have an expression of opinion from those in charge of the campaign.

"In my ten years of experience as Chairman of the Union County Republican Committee, I have never known the time when all members of the party were so united as they are now upon the candidates presented on the Republican ticket. All of the local committeemen are enthusiastically working for the election of Stokes and the Assembly ticket, and all are confident of their success. I have had many letters and personal messages from Republicans who last year voted the Third Party ticket, who now assure me of their desire to see the Republican candidates successful this year.

"Reports have been submitted to me from every election district in the county, and if they are to be relied upon the candidates on the Republican ticket will be successful in Union county on November 4. Personally, I am glad to see the Republicans who last year, for various reasons, voted other tickets, again supporting the party, realizing as they must, that a vote for the Third Party candidates can only assist in the election of Democrats.

"A careful analysis of the registration shows that the loss is largely Democratic and Third Party men. From the Republican standpoint it is fairly satisfactory.

"Never, during my recollection, has a better set of candidates been presented for the consideration of the voter than is this year nominated on the Republican ticket. They are in fact. Particularly strong nomination have been made for local officers in all sections of the county, so that it appears to me that there is no reason why any voter, believing in the *fundamental principles of the Re*publican party should this year refrain from voting for its nominees. Assuming that the full party vote is polled, I have no hesitancy in saying that I firmly believe Union county will give a substantial plurality for the Republican ticket on November 4, and I hope all Republicans will assist in accomplishing this result by going to the polls and voting."

Smalley's Famous Sausage.

Smalley Brothers at the present season are offering an unusually fine lot of their unexcelled sausage, made from fresh Jersey pork in the immediate vicinity of Plainfield. The fame of this firm as sausage makers has gone far beyond Plainfield and the demand for the goods has been so great that at times it has been difficult to keep patrons supplied. Jersey pork is always the best and Smalley Brothers, as usual, are offering the finest loins, fresh hams, chops and other choice cuts. It has been the aim of the Smalley market to supply the best the market affords at all times, and in addition to the specials on pork at the present time they are also offering splendid roasting chickens, beef, lamb and other cuts of the best meat obtainable in the market.—Adv. ***

IOWA'S SENATOR ASSAILS PRES'T

"I Regard President Wilson as an Enemy to the Constitution," Says Cummins.

ON TARIFF PASSAGE

His Methods Compared to Huerta's By Speaker at the Borough Republican Mass Meeting Held Last Night.

"I regard President Wilson as an enemy to the Constitution of the United States," declared Senator Albert Cummins, of Iowa, addressing a Republican mass meeting in Saengerbund Hall, North Plainfield, last night. "This is because of the big stick methods which the President employed in compelling the passage of the Underwood-Simmons tariff law. The tariff bill was written in the White House, was agreed upon in a party caucus and the 200,000 jobs which the President has to give out were used as the compelling force to keep the members of his party in line to vote for the passage of the tariff bill.

"We sometimes refer to the Czar of Russia in illustrating a powerful individual, but the power of the Czar of Russia as compared with the power of the President of the United States is like comparing a gentle zephyr to a cyclone.

"The present campaign in New Jersey is of nation-wide significance from the fact that the outcome of the election on Tuesday will indicate to the country whether the people of this, President Wilson's State, accept or reject a program which he has put into effect.

"I am a low tariff man and for several years have believed that the tariff on certain articles have been too high, but I do not favor a tariff bill such as the Underwood-Simmons bill which puts 80 per cent. of the manufacturers of New Jersey on the protected list and only 20 per cent. on the free trade list, with New Jer-

HE KILLED KEEPER; SENTENCED TO DEATH

Negro, Who Slew Deputy in Prison, to Pay Penalty in Electric Chair.

Guilty of murder in the first degree was the verdict rendered against William Diamond, of North Plainfield for shooting and killing Eli B. Stetser, a deputy keeper at the New Jersey State Prison, in Mercer Criminal Court yesterday. Diamond, who is jet black and goes under the nick-name of "Black Diamond," was immediately sentenced by Supreme Court Justice Trenchard to pay the penalty for his crime by dying in the electric chair during the week of December 1.

Diamond, who was originally condemned to the State Prison for a term of ten years for holding up and shooting Charles M. Dumas, a Somerville confectioner on a lonely road near Dunellen, shot Stetser in a duel at the State Prison when he and a fellow accomplice named William Johnson, were attempting to escape. Johnson will be placed on trial November 10.

The jury in the case deliberated for one hour and a half. Diamond was at dinner in the county jail when the jury arrived at the verdict. He was brought into court shackled to two deputies and when the verdict that will send him to the electric chair was being pronounced he rose and calmly faced the justice. The negro was unmoved during the whole case and apparently took no interest in the proceedings. Following the pronouncement of the sentence Diamond was returned to the State Prison, from which he will never come out alive.

Diamond earned the title of being the most ferocious prisoner ever confined in the New Jersey prison by his several attempts to break away from his keepers and the death of Stetser was the climax to the negro's life of crime. He has given the police of North Plainfield and Somerville considerable trouble in years gone by and while awaiting trial on the highway robbery charge which ultimately sent him to prison, in the Somerville jail, he went on a hunger strike and food had to be administered to him by force.

HALLOWE'EN LUNCH HELD AT HOLY CROSS

Women's Guild Net $100 at Affair Held in the Parish House.

In the parish house of Holy Cross church, which was decorated with wild flowers and autumnal foliage and other decorations appropriate to Hallowe'en, the Women's Guild served luncheon yesterday between the hours of noon and 2:30 o'clock to over 125 persons. The proceeds will be devoted to the church.

The table decorations consisted of vase bouquets of chrysanthemums and wild flowers. Each diner was given a souvenir, which included miniature black cats, witches, small artificial pumpkins, ghost figures and goblins. The napkins bore designs appropriate to Hallowe'en. A long table was set aside for vegetables donated by the women of the church. These were re-sold to the guests and diners and netted a good amount. At another table fancy articles and souvenirs were on sale. Over $100 was realized.

The event was under the general direction of Mrs. John O. Stevens, chairman of the entertainment committee, and Miss J. H. Acly, president of the guild. Others who assisted were: Mrs. Fred Ball, Mrs. Frank Ball, Mrs. J. A. Van Mater, Mrs. Francis Sill, Mrs. James W. Davis, Mrs. A. Abbott, Mrs. Charles Eddy, Mrs. Frank Allen, Mrs. Paul W. Brakeley, Mrs. Brant, and the Misses Louise and Ida Davis; Margaret and Laura Long, Laura DeClos, Laura and Katherine Overton, Agnes Van Norden, Anna B. Harford, Cynthia Davis and Miss Resia de Pla.

LUNCHEON IN HONOR OF THE BRIDE-ELECT

Mrs. John V. Beekman, of West Eighth street, gave a charming luncheon at her home yesterday afternoon in honor of Miss Jean Millar, daughter of Alexander Millar, who will be married tomorrow to Franklin Thompson Towle, of Boston. Covers were laid for twelve, the guests being those personal friends of Miss Millar.

The decorations comprised pink and white flowers, the colors being chosen by Miss Millar for her wedding. There was a bride's cake and attractive favors were presented to the guests.

Miss Millar and Mr. Towle will be married at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow evening at the home of the bride-elect's father on Madison avenue, Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue church, will perform the ceremony in the absence of Rev. C. L. Goodrich, who is ill.

PLACED ON PROBATION.

Arthur Brown, 15 years old, of 182 Somerset street; Jeremiah Heffron, 16 years old, of 20 Howard street, and George Barry, 15 years old, of 18 Howard street, were placed on probation by City Judge DeMeza this morning, when arraigned charged with stealing pigeons. The magistrate ordered that the youths pay the complainant, J. Tells Begulein, of East Front street, $10 for the loss of the birds they stole. The three boys were arrested by Chief Marshal Weiss and Roundsman Keller, of North Plainfield, and turned over to Chief Kiely.

VERDICT A SURPRISE IN PAPALILLO'S CASE

Jury Says Italian is Not Guilty of Murder at End of Second Trial.

Elizabeth, Oct. 31.—Deliberating less than four hours, yesterday afternoon, the jury that tried Matteo Papalillo, of West Third street, Plainfield, for the alleged murder last April of his neighbor, Thomas Deers, colored, returned a verdict of "not guilty." As the foreman of the jury announced the verdict Justice Bergen gave a surprised jerk of his head. Prosecutor Alfred Stein looked in wonderment about the court room. Although the testimony had been damaging against the defense since the opening of the second trial, and many witnesses had sworn on the stand that they saw the prisoner with knife in hand, lung the weapon in Deers' stomach, the jurors had believed the testimony given by the defense, that another man had really done the stabbing and had fled to Europe. Papalillo was tried for the first time last summer and the jury disagreed. Victor D'Aloia, of Newark, was his lawyer.

Chief Kiely said the prisoner's guilt had been proven conclusively by the testimony given by witnesses he and his men had secured to take the stand. Detective Sergeant John J. Flynn arrested Papalillo several minutes after the crime had been committed. He was taken to headquarters and made a confession, according to the testimony taken at the trial. Deers on his death bed said Papalillo was his murderer and pointed him out from a group of doctors, detectives, orderlies and nurses that were in the room at the time.

EPWORTHEANS ENJOY A REAL HALLOWE'EN

Decorations and Program Peculiarly Appropriate to Event at Church.

Those who attended the Hallowe'en social last night in the Epworth League House of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, under the auspices of the Epworth League, found the place decorated with wild flowers, cornstalks, jack-o'-lanterns, black cats, witches astride their brooms and other things appropriate, in black and white, formed the decorations. Attired in a ghostly costume, Miss Mabel Lant, welcomed the guests in an original way.

Miss Bessie Gunzleman and Miss Alberta Oakley were in charge of a hand-shaking contest and other games, such as a fortune hunt, weal-or-woe contest, bobbing for apples, bon-bon scramble and fate and fortune telling. Ghost stories were read by Miss Alice Lude and Miss Anna L. Lee delighted as a recitationist, and piano solos were rendered by Miss Miriam Hofer. After refreshments were served the guests gathered around the open fireplace and popped corn and toasted marshmellows.

Those who arranged the pleasant event were Mrs. William Stryker, Mrs. Frank Stone, the Misses Lillian Harris, Olla Cline, Mildred Barnes, Bessie Gunzleman, Mary J. Mathews, May G. Stafford, Anna S. Mathews and Lillian Harris and Clarence Weber.

—Neuman Brothers, Watchung avenue and Fifth street, will offer tomorrow a very fancy line of fresh fruits and vegetables for the Sunday table.—Adv. ***

'PHONE AND WIRE TO HAVE JOINT OFFICE

They Will Be Located in Manning Building, Adjoining Depot Park.

The Western Union Telegraph Company and the New York Telephone Company, wich is practically one and the same thing, will soon establish an up-to-date commercial office in the corner store of the new Manning building on Park avenue, adjoining Depot Park, which at present is occupied by the Auto Distributing Company, of which Allen B. Laing is the head. *The auto com*pany will be removed to Mr. Laing's garage on Sycamore avenue.

This will be the first change in the location of the Western Union office since it was established at the North Avenue station many years ago. For a time the office was in the west end of the station, where the express company office is now located, and was afterward removed to the east end. The company now has nothing to do with train work and it was known that it desired to remove the office to a more desirable location. At the new office there will be a combination of the best telegraph and telephone service. It is not known to what use the railroad company will put the office to be vacated by the telegraph company.

BEIDELMANS GET $1,500 DAMAGES FROM P. S. C.

Elizabeth, Oct. 31.—Mrs. Harry C. Beidelman, of Plainfield, was awarded $1,000 and her husband was given $500 by the jury in their joint suits in the Union County Court, yesterday, against the Public Service Railway Company. Mrs. Beidelman joined her husband in the suit he brought for $10,000 to recover for the loss of his wife's services as the result of a trolley accident on Putnam avenue, Plainfield, last May.

Mrs. Beidelman at the time was a passenger in a Netherwood car which was run into by another car on the line. She claimed that she received permanent injuries. The Beidelmans live at 982 Hillside avenue, Plainfield.

SOME HALLOWE'EN EVENTS SCHEDULED FOR TONIGHT

COLBY EXPLAINS TAXATION IDEALS

FOR MINIIMUM WAGE

Hailed As Next Governor at Big Mass Meeting—Allen, of Kansas, Praises the Bull Moose Principles.

Everett Colby, the Progressive candidate for Governor, and Henry Allen, a Kansas orator, were the principal speakers at a Progressive mass meeting in Reform Hall, last night, and they both held the close attention of a large audience, including a number of women, as they set forth the doctrines of the new party in a clean, dignified and persuasive way. The Gubernatorial candidate was due to arrive about 9 o'clock, and after Judge Charles Hughes, of North Plainfield, candidate for the Assembly, had spoken briefly commending Colby and the whole Progressive ticket, Mr. Allen was introduced and he talked until the arrival of Colby. After the latter concluded, Mr. Allen finished his speech.

The presence of the Gubernatorial candidate aroused much enthusiasm as Chairman H. W. Herrman introduced him as "Our Next Governor." Although Colby looked somewhat tired from his strenuous campaigning, he showed that he was ready to present the strongest arguments in behalf of the Progressive ticket, and to speak of the real issues as he understood them.

Mr. Colby said at the outset that it was agreed that the compaign "should not be one of personalities, but soon afterward Mr. Stokes called me a liar. Perhaps, he thinks that is a public issue. When in the Legislature we went to Mr. Stokes and begged him to turn down Dickinson, of Hudson county, but he reappointed him; then he was asked to turn down

HOPE CHAPELLITES AT ENTERTAINMENT

Reception and Banquet Given by Sunday School Loyal Daughters.

The second annual reception tendered by the Loyal Daughters of Hope chapel Sunday-school to parents of the members was held last night and was largely attended. Preceding the banquet, old-fashioned games were played and songs of the olden-time were sung. Following an address of welcome by the class president, Miss Jessie A. Smith and prayer by G. Herbert Condict, William D. Murray gave an address on "The Home." He dwelt on the sacredness of home life, bringing out in a manner peculiar to himself the value of parental influence, which should always make for happiness and character upbuilding.

George T. Leighs spoke along the line of united class work, suggesting that the Loyal Daughters set a high standard for a work they seemed so peculiarly adapted for. G. Herbert Condict spoke of the slogan recently adopted by the class, "Our Aim, Fifty Members." He referred to the good work of the class, their faithful attendance at Sunday-school and urged all to show increasing interest in chapel work, calling attention to the key word of all organized class work—"Others," after which he presented to each member a lily bulb, which when in flower, he suggested be given to "shut-in" friends.

A poem written by Dr. Frederick Wooster Owen, of Morristown, "For Mothers and Fathers Meeting of the Loyal Daughters of Hope Chapel," was greatly appreciated. Speeches were also made by Mrs. Donald McInnes and others. Souvenir books of "old favorite songs" were distributed to all present. The decorations were appropriate to Hallowe'en and included festooning with ears of corn in their shocks, together with yellow and black streamers. The musical part of the program was in charge of Miss Elizabeth Marsh, chairman of the music committee.

MRS. HOOD MADE A GOOD WITNESS

Testimony Concluded in Husband's Suits to Recover His Alleged Personality.

ARGUMENT ON NOV. 10

Evidence Reveals That Goods in the House Alone Are Valued at $50,000—Hood Also On the Stand.

Newark, Oct. 31.—(Special)—Taking of testimony in the two suits brought by Richard Haden Hood to establish his ownership of the Hood home, known as "The Roses," in Plainfield, and of about $50,000 worth of etchings, rugs, bric-a-brac, etc., was concluded late yesterday afternoon, and Vice Chancellor Stevens named November 10 as the date for hearing argument. Taking of testimony in the suit over the personalty was proceeded with immediately upon the conclusion of testimony in the realty case.

At the outset of the second suit the vice-chancellor remarked that in the suit over the Hood home the presumption of ownership was with the defendant (Mrs. Hood), while as to the personalty in dispute, prima facia, it was the other way around.

Mr. Hood, who was his own first witness in the second suit, testined that his collection of Haig etchings was probably the finest in the world. In reply to a question by Arthur F. Egner, of the law firm of McCarter & English, Hood acknowledged that his wife had first interested him in Haig's masterpieces.

When it came Mrs. Hood's turn to tell her story, she explained that she had only desired some three or four of the pictures by Haig, and that the purchase of these had led to the acquirement of the collection. Mrs. Hood made it clear that she claimed only the etchings that hung on the walls, and that she had expressed her willingness to surrender what she termed the "collection."

Mr. Hood told also about his purchase of valuable rugs, some of which he had bought in India, and others in Cairo. The most valuable of his rugs, he said, had cost him $2,000, but was worth a good deal more. He had a number that he appraised at $1,000 and more apiece, while the prices of some of the smaller ones ran as low as $50 apiece.

In the case of the rugs, too, Mrs. Hood laid claim only to such as were in use on the floors of her home. The others, not in actual use she looked upon as "an investment" of her husband's.

Mr. Hood admitted that some of the things he asked for had been surrendered to him, but when Robert H. McCarter asked him whether others had not been offered to him, Mr. Hood balked, saying: "It was not a bona fide offer. Senator Reed," he went on to tell, "had written to him about the articles, but he was not Mrs. Hood's attorney of record."

It turned out that Mr. Hood actually got six rugs, eighteen handkerchiefs and an overcoat on one occasion. On another occasion when he went to the house with the doors locked against him, Mr. Hood further told, the cook prevented him from taking away the things he desired, Mrs. Hood being away. On still another occasion, when his errand was to retrieve two suits of clothes, he was arrested for his temerity.

Mr. Hood testified that he had paid for all the things in dispute, but as this was not disputed the vice-chancellor suggested that there was no use of wasting any time on that point.

It sounded like a grim joke when it was brought out that Mr. Hood was told to come and take his Mercedes car away, or he would be charged storage for it.

Mrs. Hood testified that her husband on many occasions spoke of the furnishings, bric-a-brac, decorations, etc. as her own property. On one occasion, she told, her husband bought for her two sets of China that she had selected, and then picked out a third set, saying: "I'll buy this one for myself.

A marble statue and a marble plaque, both of which Mr. Hood bought in Florence, Italy, Mrs. Hood claimed as her own, saying that they were engagement presents from her husband. She and her mother, Mrs. Hood explained, were present when Mr. Hood bought them.

DESCRIBES EGYPT.

Delivering the second of a series of lectures in connection with the public lecture course in the Washington School auditorium last night, Arthur Stanley Riggs gave a graphic account of "Egypt and the Nile," taking his listeners through the interesting places frequented by the American tourists in that country. The lecture was a decidedly interesting one and numerous stereopticon views added greatly to the lecturer's vivid account of his travels.

TEPPER'S SAY. If It's Values You Seek, Read On

In these turbulent days of commercial upheaval it behooves every one, more especially a prospective purchaser, to exercise extraordinary vigilance before making such purchase, weigh carefully every claim, every statement made whether it is consistent with facts, or is its intent merely to attract for the time being.

Take into consideration the purchasing power of our four wide awake stores, then draw your own comparison. Judge everyone's values by the merits of each individual item offered and not by extravagant valuations.

CUMMINS' INSULT.

Possibly United States Senator Cummins did not realize the "break" he was making when he declared at the Republican mass meeting last night that he regarded President Wilson as "an enemy of the Constitution." Cummins should have been told that this community is above the average in intellect and patriotism and that as the nominee for Governor, Plainfield and North Plainfield, two Republican strongholds, recorded a verdict in his favor. This same verdict was repeated when he was a candidate for the Presidency. The people of this community, irrespective of their political affiliations, have a very high regard for Woodrow Wilson, and if there is anything dear to him it is that immortal document, the Constitution of these United States.

Equally censurable was Senator Cummins' declaration that there is "no moral difference between the acts of Huerta, president of Mexico, who caured members of congress of that nation to be imprisoned because they failed to repeal a resolution, and the acts of Woodrow Wilson respecting the passage of the present tariff law." For a man of the Iowan's mental attainments to make any sort of a comparison between our President (and the Iowa Senator's President) and that murderous despot, Huerta, is outrageous and unpatriotic.

Such talk as Cummins' might be tolerated in an anarchists' meeting on New York's East Side or a Socialists' meeting in Milwaukee, but it won't be countenanced here. The people who left the hall when the Senator gave vent to such unworthy utterances are to be commended for the patriotism. It is to be regretted that the whole audience did not leave.

Cummins offered Plainfield a gratituous insult.

THE RIGHT MAN.

If the overwhelming vote cast at the Republican and Progressive primaries afford any indication of the ultimate result William G. DeMeza will be carried into the city judgeship again by a practically unanimous verdict. It needs to be recalled that as there was a party man as a candidate at the Democratic primary, the present efficient incumbent of the city judgeship has some opposition trifling though it be.

We hold no brief against John P. Owens, but we do not hesitate to say that there is absolutely no justification for his candidacy. DeMeza has made good; Owens is an untried quantity and no argument is advanced that he could pretend to do as well as the respected and honored lawyer who now discharges the duties of that very important office.

Representative citizens, men who have no political axes to grind, men who are vitally interested in the welfare of our community, have publicly testified to the fact of DeMeza's capability and efficiency. They are satisfied that he is the right man in the right place. He has made good and will continue to make good.

If you are not satisfied as to whom you should cast you vote for, we suggest that before election day you visit police headquarters while the trials are on. If you take that advice and act accordingly, we know that you will vote for William G. DeMeza.

HEAR FIELDER.

James F. Fielder, the Democratic nominee for the Gubernatorial chair, will make his final appearance before the voters of this community on Saturday night. He will speak at a mass meeting to be held at the Columbus Club Hall at 9:30 o'clock. Mr. Fielder is a high type of man and public servant. He has done well as Acting Governor and he had a creditable record as a State Senator. Why don't you make it a point to hear him? The best way to find out for yourself where the three respective nominees stand, what they represent, what they have done in the past and what they propose to do if elected is to hear them speak. Don't take anybody's word for it—put not your trust in politicians. Go and hear Fielder and if you want to ask him any pertinent question we feel sure he will be glad to answer it when he has finished his speech.

If you pay taxes you are a stockholder, as it were, in the corporation of the city of Plainfield. So, always remember to say a good word for the municipality when the opportunity offers.

The industrial edition of this paper, soon to be isued, will be the finest thing of the sort ever put out in Plainfield.

NO AMMUNITION CRIPPLES ARMY

Garrison Asks For $8,000,000 to Meet This Need.

FOUR TIMES USUAL SUM.

Threatened Crisis With Mexico Sharply Directs Attention to Army's Dire Lack—Artillery So Ill Supplied That It Could Not Go Through One Engagement—Naval Budget Increase.

Recent developments in Mexico have sharply directed the attention of war department officials in Washington to the army's unpreparedness for trouble.

The question has received serious consideration, and congress will be asked to increase appropriations with a view to establishing the army on a footing where it will be responsive in any emergency.

For example, Secretary Garrison asks for an appropriation of nearly $8,000,000 for the purchase of ammunition. In recent years not more than $2,000,000 annually has been allowed by congress for this purpose. The estimates by the secretary of war invariably have exceeded the amounts voted, but Secretary Garrison's estimate is far in excess of any made in recent years.

The secretary of war last year asked for $1,250,000 for ammuniiton for the artillery corps as compared with the $6,000,000 to be requested by Secretary Garrison for this branch of the service.

Not Enough For One Engagement.

It is well known among army officers that the field artillery has been neglected by congress. This is made up of ninety batteries, each of four guns. Experts declare that at present the corps has not sufficient ammunition in stock to go through a single engagement. At present the artillery has no reserve stock of ammunition.

War department officials believe the artillery should have available at all times about $24,000,000 worth of ammunition, ample for beginning and continuing operations in case of trouble until the supply could be replenished.

Here is what General Wood, the chief of staff, said in his report of 1912 concerning the unpreparedness of the artillery corps:

"I cannot too strongly urge the necessity for more liberal appropriations for the manufacture of reserve material of the following type: First, field artillery guns and ammunition; second, coast artillery ammunition. The condition as to shortage, especially of field artillery guns and ammunition is one which constitutes a grave danger to this country and one which would seriously prejudice our chances for success in case of war with a first class power. We shall be found unprepared in this most important arm, both in guns and ammunition, unless the present deficiency is provided."

A little in excess of $94,000,000 was made available for the needs of the army this year. For the next fiscal year the estimates call for an appropriation of $101,000,000. Most of the increase is made up by the larger allowance asked for the purchase of ammunition.

Navy Estimates Probably Increased.

Leaders in congress fear that the navy estimates also will be increased. The appropriation for this year was more than $140,000,000. It is generally believed the administration will urge the authorization of two battleships in the new budget.

The small navy men are preparing to fight this building program. They hope that the German emperor will acquiesce in the proposal of Winston Churchill of the British admiralty that the powers shall suspend naval building operations for a year as a matter of economy.

The small navy men are hoping against hope that Germany will fall in line with the policy of retrenchment suggested by Churchill, although they feel that she will not. If the kaiser should consent to lay off battleship building for a year the small navy men in congress believe they could prevent the incorporation of a two battleship program in the coming naval budget.

Otherwise they fear that the recommendation of the administration in this regard will be followed by congress and that it will take hard work in the December session to prevent the allowance of very liberal appropriations for both the army and the navy

MADE HEIR FOR NURSING.

Gratitude For Care From Man He Knew Only Slightly.

John Cassel, a resident of the village of Anthony, near Muncie, Ind., once befriended Daniel Palmer, then a wealthy ranchman, who died recently in an Iowa village.

Palmer left most of his great estate to Cassel, and the latter has sent a lawyer to the Iowa town to make the settlement. According to Cassel, he met Palmer in Kansas and soon afterward Palmer became seriously ill.

Although his acquaintance with the rancher had been slight, he cared for him during his illness and until Palmer became well. The latter had no close relatives at the time of death and because of this service made Cassel his chief beneficiary.

LAWYERS WILL FIGURE IN THIS MOCK TRIAL

Those attending Plainfield Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., "Ladies' Night" event on Wednesday night, Nov. 12, will be witness to an entertainment original in its setting and having as the chief playerfolk many prominent lawyers of this city, including City Judge DeMeza, who will act as the magistrate at a mock trial. Harry Runyon will be counsel for the defense and Winfield S. Angleman will be prosecuter. Nicholas Myers will be "an officer of the law," and Horace Adams, clerk of the District Court, will be clerk of the staged court.

The mock trial depict the case of a pretty young girl sueing a man for breach of promise. The play will contain plenty of humor.

HAS A SEVEN FOOT BEARD.

Texas Farmer Began Growing It Eleven Years Ago.

R. D. Carr of Cleburne, Tex., boasts of having the longest beard in the world. It is seven feet in length, and when he stands on a footstool it touches the floor.

Mr. Carr is very proud of his beard and has refused offers to travel with shows that would have netted him a fortune. He prefers to remain with his children on his farm.

Mr. Carr is sixty-nine years old. He hates all sham and does not like to be joked regarding his beard, which started growing eleven years ago, when Mr. Carr was ill. He carries it tucked into his vest and wrapped around his body and exhibits it only on state occasions.

THANK MARTINE.

The Afro-American Baptist State Sunday-school Convention of New Jersey has sent a letter of thanks to United States Senator James E. Martine, for presenting in Congress a bill making it compulsory for the directors of the defunct Freedman's Savings and Trust Company, of Norfolk, Va., to pay $1,291,744.50, due to the 61,131 depositors. The letter was signed by E. W. Roberts, William P. Lawrence and C. Harry Hunter. The committee which drafted the letter, consisted of Rev. M. W. Vaughan, H. W. Booker, J. F. Hearms, N. D. Tate, Thomas Wilson, J. W. Hayes, Mrs. A. B. Thymer, Mrs. L. Bryant and Miss M. Greene.

TRACKMAN INJURED.

Peter Monogona, aged 27 years, an Italian, employed by the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company at South Plainfield, as a trackman, fell off a hand-car this morning and severely injured his back, the car partilly running over his body. He was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital. His condition is not considered serious.

All Saints' Day services will be held at the Holy Cross church at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning in charge of the rector, Rev. William S. McCoy.

HALLOWE'EN IN A SCHOOL.

Many mothers enjoyed a Hallowe'en party in the kindergarten of the Somerset School today and witnessed about 40 children play games and marching about the rooms, dressed in brownie costumes. The pupils also served refreshments to the guests. The program was under the direction of the teachers, the Misses French and Stauffer.

A WARNING TO BOYS FOR THE HALLOWE'EN

Police Chief Patrick Kiely, of this city, and Chief Marshal George Weiss, of the borough, have issued strict orders to their men to arrest every youth who in celebrating Hallowe'en causes damage to property or insults or injures pedestrians. In past years considerable property has been destroyed. Mischievous boys have carted away house blinds, and fence gates. Door-bells have been yanked out of commission and dogs have had cans tied to their tails. Mrs. Stephen G. Van Hoesen, the local agent of the S. P. C. A., says she will be on the look-out for the "rascals" who are so inhuman as to try this old trick on any canine. "No cans on canines' tails," she says.

SENATOR ASSAILS PRESIDENT

sey, represented by two free trade Senators, while the products of my State of Iowa have 66 per cent. on the free list and 34 per cent. on the protected list.

"He said that I know that we can compete with the nations of the world, but if we are to do this it means a shrinking of our capital invested and a reduction in the cost of production and this will affect the American workingman.

"For fifteen years I have advocated and fought what are now known as progressive policies and which have been appropriated by a new party. No party has the right to claim for itself or for the principles it advocates all the honesty, virtue and morality that there is in the world.

"Although Woodrow Wilson came into the Presidency in an absolute legitimate manner he only received a little over six million votes, while Taft and Roosevelt received 4,350,000. There were approximately 25,000,000 citizens entitled to vote at this election, but unfortunately about 15,000,000 failed to take part in the election at all. There should be some penalty imposed upon those who fail to assume their part of the responsibility for the government we have.

"There is no moral difference between the act of Huerta, president of the Mexican Republic, who caused the imprisonment of members of Congress, who failed to repeal a resolution which he wanted repealed, and the acts of President Wilson respecting the passage of the present tariff law.

"The trouble in the Republican party last year was due to an inequality of representation between the States in the National Convention." He quoted statistics showing that States of the South where the Republican party is not strong and where it has not assumed the responsibility for government, had a representation in the convention which neutralized and weakened the representation from States where the Republican party was the dominant party.

"When the next convention is held in 1916 the Republican party will be united, the rules of the convention will have been changed; there will be no occasion for discord and the nominee of that convention will have the support of all men who believe in American institutions and a continuation of the policies upon which the greatness of this country has been established, attracting the admiration and respect of the world. The desire uppermost in the hearts of the American people is that the glories of the past shall be exceeded by those of the future."

Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., called the meeting to order, made a brief speech, referring to the accomplishments of the Republican party in the past and urging loyal support for the ticket in the present campaign. He then introduced former Mayor Charles Place, who was chairman of the evening. Senator W. W. Smalley made a brief speech in which he asked the voters of North Plainfield to support with the same degree of loyalty the candidacy of Edward Casper Stokes for Governor, Ogden Hammond for Assembly, A. G. Anderson for county clerk and Charles P. Sebring for sheriff, that had always been given to him. He thanked the voters of the borough for what they had done for him in every campaign in which he was a candidate and impressed upon his audience the fact that as North Plainfield goes, so goes the county, therefore, he said, let not discouraging news come from this community regarding the Republican ticket on Tuesday night.

MISS ANNA SENACKER NOW MRS. MONTAGUE

Miss Anna Senacker and John Montague were married yesterday at St. Mary's church by Rev. Father B. M. Bogan before a large number of friends and relatives. Miss Mary Cooney, a niece of the bride, was maid of honor. John Cooney, a nephew of the bride, was best man.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served in the home of Mrs. Thomas Dorgan at 316 Spooner avenue, a cousin of the bride, which was attended by about thirty relatives and friends of the couple from this city, New York, Philadelphia and Wilkes-Barre.

The bride wore a gown of embroidered charmeuse and carried a white bouquet. The bridesmaid was attired in shadow lace and carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums. Following a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Montague will make their home in New York city, where the bridegroom has furnished an apartment.

SWACKHAMER SPEAKS.

COLBY EXPLAINS TAXATION

Strong, explaining that not only he but Dickinson were enemies to the State, but he said that he would reappoint him and have him write a letter saying he would be good.

"I do not say these things to injure Stokes," said Mr. Colby, "but when we know that Stokes is against us and always has been, we feel constrained to take a look at his record. There is lots of suffering and many problems to be solved and we are going after him. Fielder is a close political friend of mine, but he has a peculiar mind that doesn't work, especially in discussing economic questions. He has a Taft mind, which I say with no disrespect to him. He does not speak the Progressive language.

"Our Governor gets along well with James Smith, there is no quarrel there. We stand for an eight-hour day in the industries, for a minimum wage law, the elimination of child labor and think it is unfair to use injunctions to prevent fair strikes, but Fielder and Smith are not for these things.

"If you are a Progressive, Republican or Democrat you cannot vote for either Stokes or Fielder, and you must vote for me. Whoever wins there are certain issues to be understood. First of all I believe that all campaign contributions should be published before election. When I was down in Burlington the other day, I was told that Stokes was ill, threatened with pneumonia, and I promised to refrain from saying anything about him until he was well again.

"Afterwards I learned that at the time he was attending a luncheon with prominent men at the Railroad Club, New York. Fielder says that the Republican party is corrupt and Stokes says that the Democrats stuff ballot boxes. Both are right.

"I favor fair rates in all public utilities, but the Public Utilities Commission is helpless unless it can fix a physical valuation and be given power to investigate; then rates will come down. Some one says that if you restrict gas companies to a 5 per cent return investment you will drive them to invest in State or Government bonds. But I do object to a 50, 60 or 70 per cent. return. I favor reducing the tax rate 50 per cent. on buildings and increasing it 50 per cent. on land, which by the way is not the single tax idea. Land values are created by people not land owners. I buy some vacant land, take my deed and go to Europe. Someone else comes along buys a tract next to mine, erects a factory and employs a large force of help. They have to find houses in which to live and they support your tradesmen, but that man is taxed twice as much for his energy as I am and I do nothing at all. The more houses that are erected the more congestion is relieved. This is already an issue and will be successfully carried out.

"As to the question of the minimum wage law, which we favor. Labor conditions here and abroad are serious. Thousands of women are working at salaries not commensurate with good living. It is a fixed law that no one can operate a machine at less than its cost, why should the human machinery be employed for less.

"I ask you to read the Republican platform, if you can stand it. You will find that there is not a single issue with which you are familiar, except lunacy and I think that was put in for the benefit of the party. The same can be said of the Democratic platform." In closing Mr. Colby urged the voters to support the local ticket.

Mr. Allen, who began by saying that he was the "curtain raiser" for Mr. Colby, said that he was glad that he traveled so many miles to speak for such a candidate. He was proud of him, especially because he knew that he was right, and he felt sure after what he had heard in the State that Mr. Colby would be elected.

"It is a greater honor to be right than Governor," said the speaker. "The Progressive party is a new party, a challenge of a new day, which proposes to restore the government to the people, and we are happy with our service if we never hold office, as a friend of mine remarked: 'Isn't it fine not to give a ——— for anything save the truth.'

"When a party ceases to hold the confidence of the people they seek other parties. There is no difference between a stand-pat Republican and stand-pat Democrat, and this remark led a man in the audience to call out, "You know better than that!"

The Congressman reviewed the history of parties from the beginning, explaining that the Progressive party began long before the Chicago convention, and while other parties have factions, the new party has but one kind of people-Progressives. We have a 1913 model machine, one that meets the logical needs of the people. The speaker touched on the initiative, referendum and recall.

Referring to the fact that there is no difference between standing-pat Republicans and Democrats, Mr. Allen said that if Secretary Bryan was a stand-pat Democrat he would be over in New York helping Murphy.

It was expected that all of the Assembly candidates would be present and speak, but Mayor Fish, of Roselle Park, was the only one to put in an appearance. He spoke briefly after which the meeting adjourned. During the early part of the evening the Dutch Arms Concert Band enlivened the occasion by playing a number of popular selections.

BEGIN MISSIONARY CAMPAIGN IN TOWN

Two Clergymen Deliver the Addresses at Opening Sessions Here.

A large attendance of those interested in missionary work marked the opening mass meeting held in the First Baptist church, last night, under the auspices of the United Missionary Campaign in its two days' session in this city. Rev. Dr. Henry J. Scudder, missionary to India, and the Rev. Dr. F. A. Apgar, secretary of the Baptist Home Mission Society, told of the wide-spreading work being accomplished among the inhabitants of countries where civilization has not developed and outlined the needs for a still more vigorous campaign of the remote districts.

Dr. Scudder, who is the son of a medical missionary, described his work among the natives of the Indies and the success he has met with during his personal dealings with the inhabitants of the uncivilized districts. He said while remarkable work is being accomplished there is a vast need for more extensive campaigning and additional volunteers are needed to produce results on a larger and more wide-spreading scale.

Dr. Apgar described the work with which he has come in the closest contact while acting in the capacity of secretary of the Baptist Missions and dealt at length with numerous statistics comparing and contrasting the conditions prevalent before the missionary work was started with those of the present century.

The conference holds a special meeting in the First Baptist church this afternoon at 4 o'clock. This session is addressed by R. E. Dieffendorfer, secretary of the Missionary Educational Movement; and David McConaughty, secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions.

At 6:30 o'clock tonight in the Park Club a men's missionary dinner will be held at which missionary addresses will be made by the Rev. S. O. Benton, D. D., corresponding secretary of Foreign Missions, Methodist Episcopal church, and by Mornay Williams, of New York. Tickets for this dinner may be obtained by addressing the pastors of the various local churches or from the members of the committee.

The committee in charge of the special two days' campaign consists of Rev. John Sheridan Zelie, Rev. Charles M. Anderson, Rev. Philip B. Strong, Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, Arthur M. Harris and William D. Murray.

PARK COMEDY CLUB'S FIRST PERFORMANCE SOON

Members of the Park Comedy Club will meet next Monday night at the Park Club to vote on the proposition of changing the name of the organization to that of the Comedy Club of Plainfield. Afterward the executive commitee will meet to complete plans for the first presentation of the season, which will take place at the Park Club on Tuesday, December 9, when two short plays will be given for the benefit of the Park Club. The plays will be "The Teeth of the Gift Horse" and "The Bishop's Candlesticks." Many of the parts will be taken by hitherto untried local amateurs who have recently joined the club. Both of the plays chosen are said to be very effective, and will be given in the usual careful style characteristic of the Comedy Club.

CO. K SECOND REUNION TO BE HELD ON NOV. 20

Company K will hold its second reunion and smoker Monday night, Nov. 20, in the room at 320 West Front street. An elaborate program of entertainment has been arranged by the committees. Captain Charles A. Peterson, First Lieut. Arthur R. Phillips and Second Lieut. James B. Conkling, will receive the guests.

The committee is composed of First Sergeant George L. Apgar, chairman; Q. M. Sergeant James A. Thompson, Sergeants LeRoy DeCamp Oliver R. Pearson, George B. Howell and Augustus H. Van Arsdale; Corporals Myrton E. Glover, August Kmosko, Hulett S. Perrine, Otto Hansen and Elmer E. Johnson.

MRS. MARIE CLAYPOOL CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Maria B. Claypool, of 68 Grandview avenue, today is celebrating the ninety-third anniversary of her birthday. She was born in New Egypt, Ocean county and after her marriage lived on what was known as the Locust Grove Farm, near Bordentown. After her husband's death she with her daughters resided in Trenton for a number of years, but later removed to North Plainfield, where she has lived for the past twenty-five years.

Mrs. Claypool possesses all her faculties, her memory being especially good. She delights to read the newspapers and books and keep abreast of the times. Her birthday anniversary is being observed in a quiet manner, and Mrs. Claypool is thoroughly enjoying the day.

NEW QUEEN ELIZABETH A BATTLESHIP NOVELTY.

British Warship Just Launched Burns Oil Instead of Coal.

A novelty in the way of battleships, the Queen Elizabeth, carrying an immense armament and using oil instead of coal for her motive power, has just been launched at the royal navy dockyards in Portsmouth, England.

Details of the construction of the new vessel, whose keel was laid on Oct. 21, 1912, have been kept secret. It is generally believed, however, that her armanent is to consist of ten fifteen-inch guns mounted in pair in barbettes, while her secondary armament of four inch or six inch guns is also to be placed behind protective armor. This is a big advance over the armament of her predecessors.

Under ordinary circumstances the carrying of such a big battery would imply a considerable increase in displacement, but this has been obviated by the utilization of oil fuel for the engines in place of coal. The substitution of oil tanks for coal bunkers means great economy in weight and space, and in this way it has been possible to increase the offensive and defensive armament and at the same time keep the size and displacement of the warship within limits. Should the oil fuel in the case of the Queen Elizabeth prove successful all large warships of the British navy will use it in future. The Queen Elizabeth, therefore, is somewhat of an experiment.

The new vessel was not quite a year on the building ways and will be ready for service in less than two years from the time her first keel plate was laid. Far more work was done on her before launching than is usually the case in battleships. Her launching weight was about 10,000 tons, and she was the heaviest vessel ever sent afloat from a building slip in any of the British naval dockyards.

WAR ON PLAGUE RATS.

Seattle Is Making Hard Fight to Prevent Bubonic Spread.

Dr. James E. Crichton, chief health officer of Seattle, Wash., has declared that there are many bubonic plague rats in Seattle and that the situation is serious, but that the health department hopes to prevent an outbreak of the disease.

"Not for six years," he said, "has there been a case of bubonic plague in a human being in Seattle. In those six years we have found twenty-four plague rats. A considerable number were taken during the plague outbreak six years ago, and recently seven were killed in a section of the water front which has been thoroughly isolated. Thousands of dollars are being expended under the orders of the health department in tearing down condemned wooden buildings, constructing cement basements and otherwise making the water front ratproof. The infected district is two blocks long and one block wide and fronts on the bay. We are trying to make it impossible for rats to lodge or breed on the water front."

—In "learning to buy" the ad-reading housewife does not seek mere price-concessions. These are sought, of course; but they must apply to goods that would be value at "regular" prices.

LITTLE TALKS BY THE WANT AD MAN

Copyright, 1913, The Int. Syndicate, Baltimore.

No. 26.

MY brilliant young friend, Thomas Dreier, editor of "Associated Advertising," the official organ of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America, wrote this once upon a time under the caption, "THE WINE OF WORK."

"Get drunk, man, get drunk. Fire your veins with the wine of work. Become drunken with the desire to accomplish, to do, to achieve. All divine messages have come from men drunk with divinity. All great work is accomplished by men drunk with the wine of the desire to labor. Desire is the grape from which the wine of work is pressed. You get what you desire—and in just the measure of your desire. Produce great desires—the rest follows."

Some of us have desires all out of proportion to our willingness to work for their fulfillment. But no man with a sound mind in a sound body and a real desire to work need go without food and shelter and raiment in these days of big opportunities for the willing worker.

Judge Walter Malone, in his able reply to Ingalls' famous poem on "Opportunity," wrote:

"They do me wrong who say I come no more
When once I knock and fail to find you in;
For every day I stand outside your door
And bid you wake and rise to fight and win."

Every day, in the Classified columns, opportunities are presented for the consideration of those who are willing to heed the call. All sorts of employers are constantly advertising for all sorts of employes. Capital is seeking labor just as assiduously as labor is seeking fruitful fields of production.

I see hundreds of able-bodied men idly sunning themselves every day, while at home, perhaps, wives and children crave the bare necessities of life. These men say they can't get work. The truth is that they haven't taken enough of the proper sort of wine to become even slightly intoxicated. The man whose veins are fired with the wine of work doesn't make excuses. He gets work.

There are opportunities for every man, every day, in the Classified columns of this newspaper.

Old Nautical School For Boy Sailors Broadens Its Field

AFTER nearly forty years of continuous existence the famous old New York nautical school, an institution unique of its kind, has passed out of the control of the New York city board of education and become a state institution.

For a time last spring after the board at the end of a long debate had refused to appropriate funds for the maintenance of the institution it seemed likely that the training ship Newport had made her last cruise with boy sailors and that the old school, whose graduates are found on all the seas of the world, was to pass quietly out of existence. At this point, however, the state department of education stepped in, and arrangements were made whereby the school simply passes directly from the city to the state.

The new regime is not likely to bring with it any material change in administration or policy, but it will considerably broaden the field.

Heretofore the pupils have been drawn exclusively from the public schools of New York city. Hereafter they will come from all over the state. As the present enrollment is far short of the school's capacity, the change will be for the better.

The Newport, which is a cruising training ship in summer and a floating home and school room combined in winter, is a trim barkentine rigged steel gunboat, with auxiliary steam power, loaned for a training ship by the navy department. For over thirty years the school was housed on board the historic old St. Mary's, but the St. Mary's at last passed beyond seaworthiness, and her place has been worthily filled.

During the winter months, from October to May, the Newport lies quietly alongside the pier at the foot of East Twenty-fourth street, while her young charges spend quiet days under the instruction of their masters, all of them officers of the navy, in the ordinary high school branches, supplemented by a certain amount of steam engineering and navigation and varied by "marlinspike seamanship," as the knowledge of knots and splices, bends and hitches and the mysteries of standing and running rigging is called.

The young cadet must be between the ages of sixteen and twenty, though he is usually but little above sixteen. He is obliged to pass a physical examination and present a certificate of character.

"The training ship is in no sense a reformatory or a sanitarium," the instructions say.

Having passed his physical and mental examination and a deposit of $25 to cover the cost of his outfit having been paid for him, the youngster receives his uniforms and his hammock and takes his berth between decks.

During the winter term the boys live on board, but those on good conduct record are permitted to go home on Saturday and Sunday. Many are the struggles and the bumps before they master the art of swinging a hammock and the acrobatic feat of inserting oneself into the same when swung. There are also rumors of sundry good humored pranks played by second year boys on the hapless "landlubbers" just come on board.

About May 1 examinations are over, and all hands are then sent home for a two weeks' vacation, while the old Newport goes over to the Brooklyn navy yard to be docked, cleaned, overhauled and generally put in order for the summer cruise.

Of recent years the practice has been to make one year a foreign cruise, with visits to most of the great seaports of Europe, from Stockholm to Gibraltar, and the next year to go no farther abroad than Bermuda.

On the cruise which ended Sept. 30 the Newport simply worked her way up and down the coast by easy stages, her farthest port of call being Halifax, N. S. Her fifty-four boy sailors did all the work of handling her, the only experienced seafaring men, outside of the officers, being the boatswain and his mates and the four quartermasters.

At sea the youngsters stood watch and watch like veterans, making and taking in sail, heaving the lead and taking their trick at the wheel, as well as shooting the sun for position at noon, and when they came in Commander E. H. Tillman, U. S. N., the veteran superintendent of the school, had only words of praise for them.

THE DAILY PRESS IN SOMERVILLE will be found on sale or delivered to any address every afternoon after 4:30 by Jacob Gernert, the Main street newsdealer and stationer.

WASHINGTON "PUSHING AHEAD," BRONZE GROUP, GOES TO CANADA

"PUSHING AHEAD—WASHINGTON, 1753," BY MR. SOLON H. BORGLUM

Mr. Solon H. Borglum's bronze group entitled "Pushing Ahead—Washington, 1753" has been purchased by the Canadian government from the sculptor, who has a studio near Norwalk, Conn. The work is to be presented by the Dominion government to the Ottawa Fine Arts Museum.

"Pushing Ahead" commemorates the trip which George Washington took in 1753, on the orders of Governor Dinwiddie, to forbid the French from occupying land south of the great lakes. It was this journey and route which determined the boundary between the colonies and the French possessions in Canada and afterward between the United States and Canada.

IN THE SPORTING SPOTLIGHT

IS BASKETBALL FOR AMATEURS?

A. A. U. May Drop Popular Court Game as Amateur Sport.

MANY OTHER REVISIONS

Inroads of Professionals Cause of Plan to Change Jurisdiction of Athletic Games—Expenses of Athletes to Be Placed on Economical Basis.

James E. Sullivan, secretary-treasurer of the A. A. U., made public yesterday the report of the legislation committee on the proposed amendments to the constitution. These amendments are to be acted upon at the annual convention to be held in New York on December 17.

The amendments are six in number, that is, there are five proposed changes to the athletic rules and one to the constitution, and as they are for the betterment of amateur sport they are very likely to be seen among the rules of the national body.

Up to the present year the sports over which the A. A. U. claimed jurisdiction number twelve, but it is proposed to drop basketball. How it will fare with the delegates nobody knows, for while it is popular in some parts of the country, and seemingly clean, it is a sport that has suffered from the inroads of the professional in other quarters.

An additional rule has been suggested for the "athletic rules" section, and it deals with the scoring for a point trophy and how it shall be decided in case of a tie. The scoring shall be on the basis of 5, 3 and 1 for firsts, seconds and thirds respectively. Should two or more clubs tie for a trophy the club with the most firsts shall be declared the winner, and should it happen that there might be a tie in firsts the club with the most seconds shall win. If there should still be a tie the club with the most thirds can claim the trophy. Events not on the program cannot count, neither can novice contests or closed competitions.

In future when an athlete registers he must state the name of the club he wishes to represent. Athletes, too, will have to be more careful about their details of traveling expenses. No "phoney" expense bills will do, and only first-class railroad fare and board to the amount of $6 per day will be allowed. The meals are not to exceed $1.50 each. If the meet should happen to be within a short distance of the athlete's home he will not be allowed to charge any railroad fare or other expenses.

For road races and swimming meets the sanction fee shall be $5 in future, and it must be paid in advance. Clubs holding membership in the A. A. U. will not be asked for any fee. It is proposed to give basketball sanctions free, but for a period not exceeding one year.

LOCAL Y. M. H. A. QUINTET TO PLAY IN ELIZABETH

A basketball quintet representing the local Young Men's Hebrew Association is scheduled to open the season in Elizabeth tonight, according to Manager "Bill" Reibel, of the Y. M. H. A. five of that place, it being the first game of the season for both aggregations. Although it is generally known that the Queen City basket cagers have been holding regular practises during the last two weeks, no definite lineup has been made known and the identity of those who will make the trip tonight is still a mystery.

For years the local five has been a visitor on the Betsytown court and some good struggles have been staged at various times. In the lineup of the home quintet the following faces will appear: Uterman, of the Newark Y. M. H. A.; Chayse, of the Bayonne Y. M. H. A.; Dave Philbin, Harry Bloch, Morozow, Simon and Finkel.

COMPLETE SCHEDULE OF ATHLETIC EVENTS FOR THE NUMBER LEAGUE

Activities in the Y. M. C. A. senior department's Number League were ushered in last night with the standing broad jump event, which will be followed during the winter months by a regular schedule of events to be contested twice a week, Tuesday and Thursday nights. Physical Director E. C. Ostlin has arranged a definite program of competition and all of the Number League members will be eligible to compete in the various events.

The efforts of the individual competitiors will bring a certain number of points to the team on which they have been enrolled and the aggregation compiling the greatest number of points during the season of work in all around endeavor will be presented with some suitable trophy for their work.

A number of events entirely new to Y. M. C. A. athletes have been introduced by Mr. Ostlin and several of the more difficult will require a large amount of practise and coaching. Among the innovations to be run off are the high kick, the snap under for distance, ring vault, press up on parallel bars, running spring board broad and high jumps, pull-up on horizontal bars and running hitch kick.

The schedule of events:

Thursday, October 30	Standing broad jump.
Tuesday, November 4	Two standing broad jumps.
Thursday, November 6	Standing, hop, step and jump.
Tuesday, November 11	Snap under bar for distance.
Thursday, November 13	Ring vault.
Tuesday, November 18	Three standing broad jumps.
Thursday, November 20	Running broad jump.
Tuesday, November 25	Rope vault.
Tuesday, December 2	Twenty-three yard swim.
Thursday, December 4	Press up on parallel bars.
Tuesday, December 9	Running hop, step and jump.
Thursday, December 11	Forty-six yard swim.
Tuesday, December 16	Nine potato race.
Thursday, December 18	High dive on the mats.
Tuesday, December 23	Under water swim for distance.
Tuesday, December 30	Shot put (8 lbs.).
Tuesday, January 6	Running spring board broad jump.
Thursday, January 8	Eighteen potato race.
Tuesday, January 13	Dive for form.
Thursday, January 15	Pull-up on horizontal bar.
Tuesday, January 20	Running spring board high jump.
Thursday, January 22	Fifty yard swim.
Tuesday, January 27	Running high kick.
Thursday, January 29	Fifteen yard dash.
Tuesday, February 3	One-hundred yard swim.
Thursday, February 5	Running high jump.
Tuesday, February 10	Running hitch kick.
Thursday, February 12	Standing high jump.

Sporting Editor:

Query—I was fourteen years of age when I came to this country. I am now twenty. Am I not a citizen?—F. K. M.

Answer—You are not a citizen unless you have your full naturalization papers.

Sporting Editor:

Query—A says that the management of the two motion picture houses recently opened in Plainfield contemplate putting on a vaudeville entertainment in connection with their daily program. Is this correct?—N. C. S.

Answer—Haven't heard of any such move and I think you will find the rumor is groundless.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What is meant by "Courts of Record?"—J. F. D.

Answer—"Courts of Record" are those that are compelled to keep a record of their proceedings. Courts, not of record, such as police courts, etc., are not required to keep records of their proceedings.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Who won the pennant in the National League in 1890? Who was the manager of the winning team and how many clubs were there in the organization at that time?—J. S. A.

Answer—Brooklyn won the flag in 1890. McGunnigle was manager and there were eight clubs on the circuit.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What is the meaning of "Quo Vadis," the motion picture show recently shown at the Plainfield theatre?—C. K. N.

Answer—"Quo Vadis" means "Whither goest thou?"

BIG GRIDIRON GAMES.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 31.—By far the most pretentious schedule this far in the football season in the middle West is due to be carried out tomorrow. There are more important and more difficult games for the big teams and teams not so big. Chicago followers of the game will be given an opportunity to see the Illinois and Chicago university teams in conflict. The strong Wisconsin eleven will meet Minnesota at Madison, and Ames will take on Nebraska at Ames. Ohio State and Indiana will meet at Columbus. Michigan will meet Syracuse at Ann Arbor in one of the few games between the East and West this season. This game will be in the nature of a rubber, Syracuse and Michigan having won two games each in their series since they first met in 1908. In 1911 the game resulted in a tie score.

WILL COMPEL BORO ATHLETES TO SECURE DOCTOR'S CONSENT

Supervising Principal Arthur B. Vosseler, of the North Plainfield High School, will introduce a motion at the special teachers' meeting scheduled to be held Monday, November 10, requesting that every student in the Borough High School be required to submit a doctor's certificate to the supervisor of athletics in the High School before he or she is allowed to take part in any form of active competition.

This rule is in practise in a majority of the larger high schools of this State and has become recognized as an absolute necessity where athletic competition is promoted as it is in the borough. Mr. Vosseler hopes by so doing to eliminate the school from all responsibility in case of injuries sustained because of the physical condition of the athlete.

HOLY CROSS WILL PLAY ERIE TEAM

Good Contest Expected When New Yorkers Line up Against Locals.

Holy Cross will oppose the football eleven of the Erie Field Club on Cricket Field tomorrow afternoon in the weekly contest for the local warriors and according to Manager Doyle, another good battle is on tap for local enthusiasts. Both teams will present their best material for the combat and the visitors are coming here with a record established against some of the best aggregations in Greater New York.

Although many shifts have been announced in the boroughites' battle array it is probable that the old lineup will be sent to the fore. The management now has twenty-one players to select a team from and all have shown marked ability on the gridiron during the contests in which they have taken part.

The lineup:

HOLY CROSS.	ERIE F. C.
Webster, Cummings	Riley, Riker
Left End.
Ruttledge, Mair	Bush
Left Tackle.
Glover, Moor	Decker, Kelm
Left Guard.
Carty	Lindquint
Center.
Harrigan	Gemeinhardt
Right Guard.
Bremble, Cullen, Bellows	Collins, Rigby
Right Tackle.
Mulford, Hamilton	Hotch, Riley
Right End.
Caufield, J. Ricketts, Lee	Lord
Left Half.
Coyle, T. Ricketts	Hurley, Favareau
Quarterback.
Manning, Payne, T. Ricketts	Krayer
Right Half.
Wilson	Trazusk
Full Back.

LOCAL GOLFER IN TIE.

In what will probably prove their last one-day tournament of the season those affiliated with the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association competed over the links of the Montclair Golf Club yesterday. There was an eighteen-hole medal play handicap during the early hours, Mrs. Lawrence L. Swift winning the net prize with a card of 91—3—88. Mrs. A. S. Rossin, of the Century Country Club won the gross award, turning the course in 89. A tie for second net prize resulted from the efforts of Mrs. W. J. Faith, of Wykagyl and Mrs. M. D. Dumont, of Plainfield, with cards of 94—3—91 and 107—16—91. They agreed upon a nine-hole play-off which resulted favorably to Mrs. Faith, who had a score of 49. The putting competition was won by Mrs. Gardner, of Hackensack, who completed the small circuit in 34, a stroke better than Mrs. C. A. Woodruff, of Forest Hill, who got the second award. The driving competition was won by Mrs. Percy Ingalls of Essex county.

RITZ ATHLETIC TROPHY.

Following its annual custom, the Ritz Company has donated a large silver loving cup to be competed for by the eight teams in the Y. M. C. A. Number League. The team obtaining the highest number of points in athletics, aquatics, attendance and gymnastics will be awarded the trophy.

LOCAL BASKETBALL SEASON OPENS TOMORROW NIGHT IN THE Y. M. C. A.

Two local basketball teams, a pair of the closest rivals in the section, are scheduled to open the 1913-14 basketball season on the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. court tomorrow night, and from preliminary indications the opening promises to be one of the most auspicious in years. Seldom does it happen that two teams who annually fight it out for the local and borough championship open the season on the same court as this event is usually held over by the managers until the winter enthusiasm sets in.

This year, however, Manager Duclos Van Mater, of the borough five, and the Ajax manager came to an pre-season agreement which has resulted in the inaugural event being staged on the association court. During the past month, Paul Collier, an old Plainfield High School star, has been putting the Canadians through a series of practise stunts and last Monday night pitted his aggregation against the Watchung A. C., the result being highly encouraging to the borough High School forces as it demonstrated their clever passing ability and accurate shooting such as only consistent practise under a competent coach can produce.

The Ajax, while they have not had as many practises as their rivals, are in the best of condition for the initial combat and are all optimistic of the result. Several new faces will appear in the association lineup, notable among the latter being Joe Gayett and Harry Moulton. Gayett is an experienced player and has played on numerous quintets in this section during the past five years and is recognized as a player of unusual merit. Moulton, although inexperienced, has the makings of a star and has shown up well both in passing and shooting during the practises held under the direction of C. William Bingeman. Captain Brynairski has not as yet decided upon a definite lineup and there may be additional new faces in the team's ranks when it takes the floor tomorrow night.

The lineups:

Y. M. C. A.	AJAX.
Moulton	N. P. H. S. Love
left forward
McNamee	Van Mater, Conroy right forward
Gavett	Dunning centre
Brynairski	Abrams
left guard
Glover	Burner

NEW FEMININE STARS FOR 'PLAINS' TEAM

Plan for a Banner Season on the Basketball Court Starting Next Thursday.

Scotch Plains feminine athletes, under the direction of Supervisor William Batterson, held their initial practice of the basketball season on the Parish House court last night and prospects are bright for the best team that ever represented that village in feminine athletic competition. Added to the array of talent that played under the Parish House colors last season are several of the best basket cagers in this vicinity and an entire new lineup will represent the 'Plains' faction on the court this year from present indications.

Of the veterans to return to the game the Misses Edith and Margaret Jahn appear to be the most formidable candidates for a regular berth and the Misses Johnson and Weller, who played in a number of games last season, are also making a strong try for places on the aggregation. Three new candidates showed up particularly well in basket shooting and as a result the contest for the forward berths will probably resolve itself into a tri-cornered battle between the Misses Ida and Helen Hummel and Miss Roberts. All three displayed phenomenal skill in tossing baskets and were central features in the team work developed during a short practice contest.

A contest is being arranged for next Thursday night when the competitive season for girls will be opened on the 'Plains' court and a strong team will oppose the village representatives in the opening dual. This year the 'Plains' girls will play their games on Thursday nights and the boys will have the Saturday nights exclusively.

PARISH HOUSE PRACTICE.

All members of the Scotch Plains' Parish House boys' basketball team are requested to be on hand tomorrow night in the Parish House gymnasium where a practice will be held under the direction of Supervisor William Batterson.

MANY EVENTS FOR LOCAL HUNTSMEN

Watchung Club Plans Elaborate Program of Field and Indoor Activities.

W. P. SMITH, JR., PRES'T

Elect Successors to Four Retiring Stewards—New Officers Chosen for Coming Year—Feature Runs During Season to Points of Interest.

Plans for what promises to be one of the greatest seasons in the history of the Watchung Hunt Club were mapped out at the annual meeting of the organization held last night and innovations in following the hounds will be introduced during the next few months. Among the features will be a run to the Baltusrol Golf Club and a big club dinner at the clubhouse on Plainfield avenue.

The hunting season will lead to a climax with the holding of a Hunt Club ball to which members of all the big clubs in the country will be invited guests. Speakers and topics of interest to the huntsmen will feature the affair which will probably surpass anything of its nature ever held in this vicinity.

The terms of J. J. O'Donohue, C. W. Holland and Henry Butler expired as stewards this year. H. C. Coombs handed in his resignation as a steward, his retirement taking effect at last night's meeting. To succeed the three whose terms expired Thomas F. White, of Long Island and William Palmer Smith, Jr., and H. L. Finch were elected and William S. Brown, of Westfield, will succeed Mr. Coombs.

William Palmer Smith, Jr., was elected to the office of president to succeed C. W. Holland, whose term expired; J. J. O'Donohue was chosen as vice president to succeed Rufus L. Finch, and Frank W. Thompson was chosen secretary and treasurer. Rufus L. Finch was re-elected master of hounds.

Reports read by the treasurer for the year showed that the organization has been unusually successful, and the membership roster was swelled by new names from New York and this city.

The present board is composed of William Palmer Smith, Jr., R. H. Towner, H. Stuart Hollis, H. L. Finch, Lawrence Smith, J. J. O'Donohue, Rufus B. Finch, J. Schuyler Casel, of New York; Thomas F. White, Jr., of Long Island; William S. Brown, of Westfield, and C. W. Holland.

MANN WON FIRST PLACE IN JUMP

Opening Event in Y. M. C. A. Number League Closely Contested.

THIRTY-THREE ENTRIES

Winner Had to Cover Nine Feet in Order to Beat Out the Stellar Field of Leapers—Many Do Better Than Eight Feet.

Morris Mann won the opening event in the Y. M. C. A. senior department Number League last night, taking the first honors in the standing broad jump with the excellent mark of nine feet, one inch. Thirty-three contestants took part in the initial event of the long schedule arranged by Physical Director E. C. Ostlin and was a success that far exceeded the highest anticipations of those at the helm.

Sixteen jumpers covered eight feet or better, and this is considered a pretty good jump for the average athlete. Keen rivalry asserted itself among the members of the various aggregations in the league and the competition promises to be of the keenest among the eight teams. The results:

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

The Election week bill at Proctor's Fifth Avenue is one well calculated to please the warring factions of all parties, each act being a perfect harmonizer for all the discordant elements. Sweet little Minnie Dupree is going to head the program with "Carrots," the charming little piece which once served Ethel Barrymore as a curtain raiser. Rollicking Jack Wilson, the boisterous travesty comedian will also be near the top, while the Creighton Brothers and Belmont will land in third place with their most amusing oddity, "The Mudtown Minstrels." In a niche by itself will stand that sterling sketch, "Just Half Way," with those clever players, Allan Dinehart and Ann Heritage, in the leading roles. Nothing but joy will be afforded by the appearances of Dolly Connolly and Percy Wenrich, the soubrette and the composer; Leo Carrillo, monologist and raconteur; Bison City Four, a singing quartette; Four Merkle Sisters, Europe's premier contortionists; Ernie and Ernie, migon Teutonic comiques in "The Monopede and the German Girl" and Archie Onri and Dolly, favorite jugglers and equilibrists.

A new comedy, "After Five," by William and Cecil de Mille, is at the Fulton Theatre. A comedy that keeps a large audience genuinely amused for an entire evening and that calls forth a general measure of two dollars a seat laughter and applause ought to be considered as having withstood the acid test and be accounted a success. The brothers De Mille, who have had experience of a kind, hasten by means of the program to protect themselves from any enterprising short story writer by giving credit for the basic idea of the play to an early story of Jules Verne. The idea presumably is that of a man who makes an agreement to have himself killed and then is unable to escape his self-imposed doom. Forrest Winant has the leading part, which he played with spirit and humor. David Burton as the Japanese, James Bradbury as the good natured German blackmailer and Jay Wilson as a plain-clothes man, all make real acting roles out of inconsiderable parts.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Jolly Little Make Believe School.

They Had a Spelling Class.

PLAYING school is lots of fun. Sometimes, when other little boys and girls came in to see them, Jack and Evelyn would play at it. Evelyn always liked to be teacher, and Jack always pretended to be a naughty little boy.

"Once," said daddy, "it rained very hard one day, and Dolly and Daisy and Jimmy and Billy and Tottie, who were five little children who were brothers and sisters, had to stay indoors.

"It was Saturday morning, and so of course there was no school. The children moped around for awhile. They had made plans to spend the day outdoors. They had expected to take a nice long walk. They sat around for awhile, and then Dolly said, 'Let's play school for awhile.'

"So they placed the chairs in a row and got some books. Dolly said she would be teacher, and she sat behind the table with grandma's spectacles on her nose and a book in her hand, trying to look very stern indeed.

"She rapped on the desk, and then she called a class in spelling. 'Whoever spells a word wrong has to go to the end of the class,' she ordered.

"The first word she gave out was 'cat.' First, Daisy spelled it 'kat.' Daisy went to the foot of the class.

"Next Jimmy spelled 'cat.' Jimmy is ten and ought to know better, but he spelled it, with a giggle, 'kit,' and Dolly rapped on the desk and said he, too, could go to the foot of the class, just below Daisy.

"'Now, Billy, it is your turn,' Teacher Dolly said. And seven-year-old Billy, whose spelling is the pride of his real teacher's heart, spelled it 'kot.' Billy went down below Jimmy.

"Then dear little Tottie, who is just four, stepped to the head of the class. Her eyes were shining, and her mouth was wreathed with smiles. Yes, indeed, she could spell 'cat.'

"'I'm glad you know how to spell so well, little girl. You are a 'xample to these other little boys and girls who don't know their spelling lesson.'

"Then Dolly gave out the word 'rat.' She knew Tottie could spell that.

"Then teacher closed her book and said, 'Now we will all join in singing "Good Morning, Merry Sunshine."'

"Every one knew the song, and they sang it two or three times. Billy happened to look out of the window and, forgetting he was in school, cried:

"'Hurrah, it's stopped raining,' and sure enough, as if to listen to their gay little song about it, the jolly old sun had come from behind the cloud and was smiling cheerfully down on them."

NATIONAL W. C. T. U.

Asbury Park, Oct. 31.—More than five hundred delegates and as many more visitors filled the Casino here today when the fortieth annual convention of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union was formally opened. The delegates came from every State of the Union. In addition many of the foreign delegates who took part in the world's convention in Brooklyn last week are here. The chief feature of today's program was the annual address of Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens, of Maine, the president of the national organization. New Orleans, Indianapolis and Atlanta are engaged in a spirited contest for the next convention.

FOR WILSON'S TURKEY.

Westerly, R. I., Oct. 31.—Horace Vose, of this place, known all over the United States as the Thanksgiving provider for the President, is on the alert for the best bird reared in this section of New England to grace the holiday table of President Wilson at the end of this month. Mr. Vose has furnished the Thanksgiving turkey to every President from Grant to Taft, and now he expects to add President Wilson to the list.

—Nine-tenths of the merchants would advertise honestly and frankly, whether or not that were the best policy. But the tenth one will always be wise enough to do so whether it is a principle with him or not.

FRUIT CREAMS.

LUNCHEON MENU.
Fried Tomatoes.
Hashed Brown Potatoes.
Toasted Muffins.
Apple Cream.

DESSERTS made with fruits are always preferable for the children's meals. The fruit creams compounded with the autumn fruit suggested are popular.

The fruit creams make a simple, easy dessert. Beat the cream stiff, then stir in crushed preserved berries or fruit, sweeten if necessary. Heap in a glass dish, put on ice a few minutes and serve with sponge cake or vanilla creams or lady fingers. Allow half a cupful of crushed fruit or berries to a half pint of cream.

Apple Cream.—Take stewing apples, peel, cut in quarters and core. Stew in sugar sirup, keeping them whole. Skim out into a glass dish and let the sirup cook down until there is very little. This will jelly if apples are the right kind for stewing. Pour this over the apples, let them chill and then heap with sweetened whipped cream.

An Iced Cream.

Plum Cream.—Soak half a box of gelatin in a pint of cold water. Press through a sieve one pint of preserved plums. Stir the gelatin over boiling water until dissolved. Stir the plums into this and mix well. Pour into a bowl set in ice and stir constantly until it begins to thicken. Then add one pint whipped cream. Stir lightly until well mixed. Turn into a mold and chill. Serve with whipped cream.

Handsomely Served.

Apricot Cream.—Take a can of apricots, three ounces of sugar, one ounce of gelatin, half a lemon, half a gill of clear wine or lemon jelly, a few pistachio nuts, half a pint of cream and a few drops of cochineal.

Decorate a mold with clear jelly set with a few nice pieces of apricot and a little chopped pistachio. Rub enough of the apricots through a sieve to make half a pint of pulp. Whip the cream until it will just hang on the whisk, add it to the pulp with sugar to taste. Put the gelatin in a pan with a gill of apricot sirup. When it has dissolved strain in the lemon juice. Then when the mixture has cooled a little strain it into the cream, add the cochineal, pour it into the prepared mold and leave until set. Dip the mold into tepid water and turn the cream carefully out. Garnish it with jelly.

A QUAINT APRON EFFECT BROUGHT OUT IN A YOKE

Attention to the small things makes dress interesting this season. The cut of a skirt or blouse, the proper placing of a tuck or a fold, slight things in themselves, but important to the general effect.

An oddly shaped yoke serving to hold the drapery in place distinguishes 7766. Several imported gowns this season showing this apron effect were highly attractive. In this design it may be used or not as suits the individual. Black velveteen with touches of brightness in the wide silk girdle is the material used. The frock closes in the back, has a drop-shoulder and a two-piece draped skirt.

To make this model in size 36 it requires 4¾ yards of 42 inch velveteen and three-eighths of a yard of colored silk.

Figured charmeuse is effectively used with 7652, which is a smart one-piece dress in peasant design, closing on the side front. The skirt shows just a suggestion of drapery on the sides, held in place by smart little tabs. An inset vest of net instead of the material would add to the dressiness of the model.

An afternoon dress after this design in size 36 requires 5½ yards of 36 inch material.

Be Careful of Fish.

When it is considered that over two billion pounds of fish are every year taken from the waters, salt and fresh, of the United States, it must be admitted that very few ill results are suffered from eating fish.

When it is further considered that fish is a valuable source of protein, and that it is equal to beef as a source of energy in diet, according to careful scientific investigations which have been carried on, and that good, fresh fish can be obtained at a low figure, it must again be admitted that the advantages of fish as a part of the diet outweigh the possible dangers which occasionally accompany its eating.

The Danger.

The only real danger from fish is the danger of ptomaine poisoning. Fortunately, it is fairly easy to guard against this.

To be perfectly safe, fish should never be eaten unless it is known to be fresh. In most seaports and in many inland places bordering on lakes or rivers it is easy to obtain fresh fish by never eating any fish that is not native to the neighborhood.

Fish that has been sent from a distance can be eaten with safety as a rule however, but it should always be carefully inspected. More than that it should always be bought of a reliable dealer. It is much easier for a man who handles fish every day to tell whether or not it is fit for consumption than for the housewife who handles it but once a week.

One way to get fresh fish is to buy it on market days. On Friday, because of the big demand from Catholics for it, it is almost always fresh. It is generally caught and brought to the markets on Thursday night, and if you are fond of fish you can indulge in it on Thursday evening as well as on Friday with the likelihood that it will be fresh.

Even an inexperienced person can learn to tell fresh fish from that which is stale. If there is any odor other than a fresh, "fishy" odor, reject the fish. Look at the eyes and see that they are bright and plump. Lift the scales and see that they are moist and firm and not easily loosened. Press the flesh with the finger and see that it springs back into its original shape. If a dent is left, don't buy the fish. Put the fish in a basin of water. If it sinks, it is probably fresh and good. If it floats it is decomposed. Fish should always be firm and solid, never flabby and soft.

After buying fish, clean it, and keep it on ice until it is time to cook it. Never allow it to stand uncovered in a warm room for even a few moments. Cook it throoughly.

If it is carefully chosen, kept in clean and cool surroundings, and promptly and thoroughly cooked it is one of the most valuable parts of the diet.

BROTHERS NAMES LEFT OFF OFFICIAL BALLOT

Somerville, Oct. 30.—Because Frank A. Ballentine, candidate for assessor, and Fred E. Ballentine, candidate for Township Committeeman, in Bernards township, failed to designate a committee to receive, expend, audit and disburse moneys for the purpose of aiding or promoting their nomination or election, County Clerk A. G. Anderson has been restrained from placing their names on the official ballots for Bernards township. The candidates are brothers, and it is said lay the blame for not complying to the election law to the clerk of Bernards township, who was unable to furnish the necessary blanks upon request, and failed to furnish them in time for the candidates to comply with the law.

FURS for STREET and INDOOR DRESS

THE winter girl cares not how low her collar may be cut, how thin is her silken hosiery, or if she wears no petticoat at all, so long as she has furs. These will keep her warm and, most of all, fashionable in the ways shown on the models illustrated. Muff and scarf sets are more exquisite than ever, with each article soft and pliable in any position the wearer may choose for it. Fitch, a silky, long hair fur in deep cream and brown coloring, is one of the newest pelts and very beautiful with this season's costumes, either for a set, as in the illustration, or as trimming for hats, coats and dresses.

Moleskin leads among close furs as its coloring is especially favored. It, too, is used extensively for attached collars and cuffs of coats. Brown, blue and silver fox are included among the choice dress trimmings, with mink, sable, ermine and seal as the gems of the fur kingdom. The dresses on this page show the modish uses of fur on net and to edge tunic overdresses.

New York women are making quite a fad of the mannish walking stick, carrying canes of the kind which the girl on the right is holding. They are also buying corsage bouquets made of val laces dyed in various colors and fashioned into dainty blossoms.

Straight Lines Lend Dignity to This Embossed Velvet Gown

WE have accepted as usual the Paris styles for the coming winter, heralded though they were by extreme novelties which have been modified to suit the taste and the figures of the majority. Variations of the "lampshade" tunic are now among the most attractive models for young and older women, as instanced in the charming dancing frock (7841) on the left of this page. It is the type of simple evening dress which no girl should fail to include in her wardrobe. There is a three-piece skirt gathered at the belt beneath a peplum overdress of Jouy flowered chiffon edged with white marabout. The peasant blouse and the skirt are trimmed with bands of lace, while old blue crushed velvet supplies the color contrast in the belt and on the side of the skirt. The inevitable bunch of flowers at the waist also bespeaks fashion's last word.

An afternoon dress combining just the features which distinguish this season's gown from one of a year ago is the upper right model (7974) developed in wide ribbed beige corduroy. It has the essential loose fitting aspect so easily obtained with a long shoulder blouse, and a skirt in three pieces gracefully draped near the foot. The girdle and sash are of Futurist colorings, by way of setting off the dull tones of the fabric, the brown fur banding and the dark fringe ends. The neck and sleeves are softened by point d'esprit net. Notice the very Frenchy cording at the armholes and as an ornament on the skirt.

Rich Gowns Are Simple

Among the richest model gowns brought from Paris this autumn were a number designed by the inimitable Worth, whose inconspicuous elegance appeals always to the women of conservative taste. Two of these were similar in outlines to the dignified costume with a train (7986), depending upon their color and richness of material for their appeal, rather than upon eccentric cut.

The illustrated evening gown is of amethyst embossed velvet with silver lace, a square yoke of chiffon over silver and decorative bunches of metallic cloth flowers. This introduces effective drapery in the sides of the skirt and has a slightly raised wasit line suggestive of the Empire modes, which are in favor again. There could scarcely be so elegant and up-to-date a design as this one for those who will want to make a stunning costume. Patterns for all the gowns described are 15 cents each.

Practical Aids For the Housewife

SCOTCH shortbread, so delicious for afternoon tea, but so seldom found in the American home, may be made with no more trouble than other pastries. Here is a recipe for the genuine sort: Melt five ounces of butter with two of granulated sugar. Warm slightly half a pound of finely sifted flour; make a hollow in the middle of it and pour in the butter and sugar, working all together until they form a smooth paste, which should be rolled into a ball. Divide into two parts, putting one into the basin in which the butter was heated. Cover and keep it warm. Flatten the other piece into a round cake on a moulding board dusted with flour. Pinch the edges of the cake for decoration, or ornament with a marker. If desired, other decorations of comfits and candied peel may be added, but many prefer it plain. Prick the paste before putting it into a rather slow oven in a buttered baking pan or sheet. Mould the second piece in the same way when the first has been gotten out of the way.

Prune Souffle

Soak, stew and drain half a pound of prunes and cut them into pieces. To the beaten yolks of four eggs add three tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, flavor with vanilla and add the prunes. Fold in the whites of the four eggs beaten lightly and a pinch of salt. Put the mixture into a buttered dish and bake twenty minutes in a moderate oven. Chopped walnuts may be added if liked. This may be served with cream if one cares for a rich dessert.

Kitchen Devices

IT must have been a woman with a backache from leaning over a dishpan too low in the sink for her height who invented a practical device to remedy the difficulty. Two flat crossed pieces of metal at right angles, with feet about three inches high, will elevate a round or a square pan. It costs only 25 cents and may be folded when not in use.

Instead of using a big chopping bowl and knife when a little parsley, onion or carrot may be needed for flavoring or garnishing, one may buy a hachinette. This is a French miniature of the big bowl and chopper as fascinating as a toy.

A kitchen clothes line encased in a metal holder which hangs on a door frame or window casement is ready at a minute's notice when needed and afterward winds upon itself, where it is out of sight and free from dirt. It may be extended forty feet. This is equally as useful for a nursery or bathroom as for the kitchen and laundry.

Petticoat Economy

A practical way to make a silk crepe Chine underskirt is with a detachable lace or embroidery flounce, which may be laundered. A beading of lace or nainsook is sewn around the skirt at the place where the ruffle heading will come. Place another piece of the beading on the top of the flounce and attach it to the skirt by running a ribbon through the openings in the beading of both. This is a French idea for lingerie.

14250. Embroidered Scarf

DECORATIVE scarfs are almost as significant in the modish wardrobe to-day as the ubiquitous fan of the Japanese maiden. They may be as interesting and effective as a bit of jewelry and often as costly as some pieces. The shops are showing many beautifully embroidered chiffon scarfs with gold and silver threads and beads in the embroidery. Here is an illustration of one of pale blue chiffon cloth ground embroidered with old gold and light blue silks and dotted with blue and gold in iridescent beads. It may be duplicated with the same design stamped from pattern No. 14250. 15 cents.

Patterns for designs shown on this page can be obtained from any agency for LADIES' HOME JOURNAL PATTERNS.

HISTORIC SCENES RECALLED AS OLD HALL IS REDEDICATED

Venerable Congress Hall In Philadelphia Teems With Patriotic Memories.

President Wilson on Spot Where Washington and Adams Once Stood.

STANDING on the same spot in old Congress hall in Philadelphia, where stood George Washington when he took the oath of office at his second inauguration and John Adams when he succeeded the "Father of his country" as president of the United States, President Wilson on Oct. 25 played a conspicuous part in the impressive ceremonies that marked the restoration and perpetuation as a public monument of one of the most important historic structures left standing in this country. Around him at the time were a host of foreign, state and national dignitaries, with members of both houses of congress chosen to represent those who originally assembled in congress in those fateful days in the infancy of the republic.

The rededication of old Congress hall, now restored to something like its original appearance, and its formal opening to the public is an event of more than local interest. Few structures now standing can vie with this venerable building in respect to the historic importance of the events that took place there, and fewer still can produce the thrill of patriotic sentiment which must fill the heart of every American as the early associations of the hall are recalled.

Hall's Notable History.

Congress hall has a notable history, second only to that of the celebrated Independence hall, where the Declaration of Independence was signed, which is located close to it. Yet it must be admitted that even well informed Americans are not as well acquainted as they should be with the significant, world influencing events that make up the history of the building in the early days of American independence.

When it is considered that such important events in the country's history as the second inauguration of Washington, the first inauguration of John Adams, the ratification of the Jay treaty and the enactment of the alien and sedition laws, some slight idea of the importance of old Congress hall as an historic landmark may be gained. Here, too, Washington delivered his farewell address upon his final retirement into private life, and here also Chief Justice John Marshall announced to the shocked and saddened members of the congress that he who was "first in war, first in peace and first in the heart of his country" had passed away.

Erected In 1789.

Congress hall was commenced in 1787 and finished in 1789. It originally was designed to house the courts of the county of Philadelphia. Through the efforts of Robert Morris congress was persuaded to use the buildings until the capitol at Washington was ready for occupancy. The third session of the First congress was held in the hall in 1790, and on March 14, 1800, the last congress voted $100,000 to the city for the use of the building, but as the money was never paid Philadelphia enjoys the distinction of having furnished free for two years a home for a homeless government.

Perhaps the most interesting event in the history of the building was the inauguration of Washington as president of the United States on the 4th of March, 1793. The oath of office was administered to him by Judge Cushing of the senate chamber. A vivid and human description of the scene is given in a contemporary diary, a portion of which may be quoted:

"As the president entered the hall all arose and remained standing until he had ascended the steps at the upper end of the chamber and taken his seat in the speaker's chair. It was an impressive moment. Notwithstanding that the spacious apartment, floor, lobby, galleries and all approaches were crowded to their utmost capacities, not a sound was heard. The silence of expectation was unbroken and profound, every breath was suspended.

How Washington Looked.

"Washington was dressed in a full suit of the richest black velvet, his lower limbs in short clothes—diamond knee buckles and black silk stockings. His shoes, which were brightly japanned, were surmounted by large square silver buckles. His hair, carefully displayed in the manner of the day, was richly powdered and gathered behind into a black silk bag, on which was a bow of black ribbon. In his hand he carried a plain cocked hat decorated with the American cockade. He wore by his side a light, slender dress sword, in a shagreen scabbard, with a richly ornamented hilt. His gait was deliberate, his manner solemn and self possessed, and he presented altogether the most august human figure I had then or have since beheld.

"At the head of the senate stood Thomas Jefferson in a blue coat, single breasted, with large basket buttons—his vest and small clothes of crimson. I remember being struck by his animated countenance of a brick red hue, his bright eye and foxy hair, as well as his tall, gaunt, ungainly form and square shoulders.

"A perfect contrast was presented by the pale, reflective face and delicate figure of James Madison and, above all, by the short, burly, bustling form of General Knox, with ruddy cheek, prominent eye and still more prominent proportions of another kind.

"In the semicircle which was formed behind the chair and on either hand of the president my boyish gaze was attracted by the splendid attire of the Chevalier d'Yrujo, the Spanish ambassador, then the only foreign minister near our infant government. His glittering star, his silk chapeau bras, edged with ostrich feathers, his foreign air and courtly bearing contrasted strangely with those noblemen of nature's forming who stood about him. It was a very fair representation of the old world and the new.

The Inaugural Addresss.

"Having retained his chair for a few moments while the members resumed their seats, the president arose and, taking from his breast a roll of manuscript, proceeded to read his address. His voice was full and sonorous, deep and rich in its tones, free from the trumpet ring which it could assume amid the tumult of battle (and which is said to have been distinctly heard above its roar), but sufficiently loud and clear to fill the chamber and be heard with perfect ease in its most remote recesses.

"He read, as he did everything else, in dignity, but without the smallest attempt at display. Having concluded he placed the manuscript upon the table before him and resumed his seat, when, after a slight pause, he arose and withdrew, the members rising and remaining on their feet until he left the chamber."

Next in importance to the inauguration of Washington was that of John Adams, which ended Washington's second administration, establishing a precedent that no succeeding chief executive has ever broken.

While congress held its sessions in this building the United States mint and the United States bank were established; Vermont, Kentucky and Tennessee were admitted to the Union; the army and navy were organized upon a permanent basis; Jay's treaty determining our relations with England, resulting in much difference of opinion, was considered and ratified; the whisky insurrection was suppressed; the wars with the Indians were fought and the power of the redman finally broken in the new world, thus winning the west for civilization.

Last Session In Hall.

Congress met in the hall for the last time on the 14th day of May, 1800. The final act of the senate in the building was to request the president to instruct the attorney general to prosecute William Duane, editor of the Aurore, for a defamatory libel. Thereafter that body adjourned to meet in the city of Washington.

The subsequent history of the building is less eventful and, though covering a long period, few authentic details are accessible. From the time congress left it has been used as a courthouse, the district court, the court of common pleas, the supreme court of Pennsylvania and the United States circuit court occupying the building at different periods.

LAST ZULU KING DEAD.

Warrior Prince Had Led Several Rebellions Against British Power.

Dispatches from Cape Town, South Africa, announce that Dinizulu, the last of the warrior kings of the former Zulu nation of South Africa, is dead. He was a son of Cetewayo, the king who led the Zulu nation against the British troops in the war of 1879. Cetewayo was eventually defeated after he had inflicted a crushing blow on the British army at the battle of Isandhlwana, when practically the entire Twenty-fourth infantry regiment was massacred. It was during this war that the French prince imperial, Louis Napoleon, was killed while out reconnoitering with the British troops.

Dinizulu did not become king when his father died, but was proclaimed later by the Boers and led two or three rebellions against the British power. On one occasion when captured he was exiled to the island of St. Helena. When permitted to return to his native land he took part in another rebellion, after which he was tried and sentenced to four years' imprisonment. He was given his liberty and a pension when the union of South Africa was established in 1910.

Chicago to Investigate the Tango.

Every movement of the dancers in cafes and theaters in Chicago where the tango is danced will be closely watched by a committee of the city council, appointed recently by Mayor Harrison to obtain suggestions for the framing of a "tango ordinance." "What is the 'tango,' and when is it immoral?" are two questions to be decided. Mayor Harrison made the appointments upon the order of the council.

GIMBELS Announce Another Great Business Surprise

In the SUBWAY STORE

The Stock of Women's and Misses' COATS, SUITS and DRESSES

Bought from Harry Wadler, 19 to 27 West 21st Street, New York

The Prices in This GIMBEL SALE Average LESS THAN 50c ON EVERY DOLLAR

It was a forced sacrifice on Mr. Wadler's part owing to the fact that he is compelled to sail for Europe on the "Imperator" tomorrow morning—and by the fact that he had to arrange his workrooms and offices before he leaves—so this comes to GIMBELS—quite the finest value we can remember ever having purchased. A vast sum of ready money was involved, but this meant nothing to us when it enabled us to offer so early in the season such really wonderful values.

It is a well-known fact that Harry Wadler made no garments to retail less than $15, and these were very plain and simple—while the majority of his output retailed at from $35 to $75.

Of course, this announcement will bring thousands of women to GIMBELS tomorrow—we have made ample preparation to accommodate all comers—choosing will be simplified, everything will be sorted for convenient selection—the display will be a large one, occupying the best part of the Subway Store, Balcony.

Directions for operating this Money-Saving, Time-Saving, Health-Saving and Labor-Saving Machine:

THE OLD WAY

Have your water hot, the hotter the better. Add sufficient soap and see that it is thoroughly dissolved before putting in the clothes, as hot water without soap will set the dirt. Use enough hot water to float the clothes, then operate the plunger up and down, each time a gallon or more of hot suds is forced through the fabrics, and the same amount is drawn back on the upward stroke. This suction force is produced by an automatic suction valve, which is a distinct and original feature of our invention. During five or ten minutes, which is required to do a washing, many hundred gallons of hot, soapy water are forced through the clothes, which cleans them in a more perfect manner than any other process and with absolutely no wear or tear. This is the secret of the success of this Rapid Vacuum Clothes Washer.

THE NEW WAY

DON'T LET ANOTHER DAY PASS WITHOUT SECURING A RAPID VACUUM CLOTHES WASHER.

Makes Hard Work Easy!

DUSTING, cleaning and polishing hardwood floors is hard, back-breaking work. An almost never ending task and seldom satisfactory the old way. But it is easy, quick and satisfactory the new way—using the O-Cedar Polish Mop. With it you can spend a few minutes doing what it now takes you almost half a day. You simply pass the O-Cedar Polish Mop over the floor and every particle of dust and dirt is taken up and held. The floor is given a hard, durable, lasting polish and finish.

O-Cedar Polish Mop

is also used for the dusting and cleaning of the tops of high furniture, between the banisters of the stairs and is so made that you can get to the far corner under the bed, beneath the radiator and other hard-to-get-at places.

It cuts house work in half.

Don't put up with the old-fashioned hard way when you can get an O-Cedar Polish Mop for only $1.50.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

One of the real events of the theatrical season is the presentation at the Plainfield Theatre this evening of "The Five Frankforters" (a delightful comedy drama of the famous House of Rothschild), and those who follow the events of the playhouse know that it has had runs of over 800 nights in Berlin and of one year each in London, Vienna and New York. No other play has presented so charmingly and truly the quaint and richly humorous portraitures of Jewish character, or has shown their universal characteristics so well—the love of home, obedience to parental authority and instinctive benevolence combined with great business sagacity. What "Bunty Pulls the Strings" accomplished in reflecting Scottish traits; what "The Playboy of the Western World" did to reveal the humorous inconsistencies of the Irish character, "The Five Frankforters" accomplishes for the Jewish race. As Frau Gudula, the lovely and wise old mother of the House of Rothschild, Mme Mathilde Cottrelly reveals herself as one of the most consummate artists of the contemporary stage. So great and conspicuous has been her success in the role that the admirable qualities of nearly all of the other splendid interpretations have been in a measure slighted by the critics.

The Plainfield Theatre is to be the home, temporary that it is, of "An Angel Without Wings." That comedy by Laurence Eyre is to play there tomorrow, matinee and night, November 1. Wm. A. Brady, Ltd., have assembled a metropolitan organization for the play, and the cast is readed by Alice Brady, Charles A. Milward, Louise Muldener, Florine Arnold, Wallace Erskine, George Henry Trader, Josephine Williams, Nick Long, Idalene Cotton and Grace Dougherty.

TRAIN GIRLS TO BE GOOD WIVES

Government Indorses Housekeeping Courses.

FOUND HIGHLY PRACTICAL.

Especially Good For Pupils Who Expect to Stay In School Two Years or Less—Latin and Advanced Mathematics Conspicuous by Their Absence, Says Report.

Indorsement of the efforts to educate high school girls along lines that would tend to make them efficient wives and housekeepers is contained in a statement just issued by the United States bureau of education. The federal educators point to the course laid down by the Wadleigh high school in New York city as being a model of its kind. The course has been watched carefully by the bureau of education and its practical side has been advanced by it.

"The work is taken up chiefly by students who do not intend to go to college," the federal educators set forth, "but who wish to make the best use of their time while in high school, and it is particularly recommended for those who expect to stay in school only two years or less."

"Practical" and "Cultural."

The course is declared to be both "practical" and "cultural," giving opportunity for the acquirement of much of the information that ordinarily would not enter into the task of managing a home. Domestic science and art, household arithmetic, the care and remodeling of clothing, household chemistry, millinery and dressmaking are among the principal subjects.

In addition to these, however, the young women who contemplate becoming housewives will be instructed also in modern languages, music, history, drawing and other subjects of like character. The federal officials add, though, that "Latin and advanced mathematics are conspicuous by their absence."

PRIVATE CAR LIKE HOME.

Fireside and Shower Bath on P. R. R. President's Coach.

Containing such luxuries as a fireplace and a shower bath, the specially constructed private car for Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, has just been turned out of the shops at Altoona, Pa. It is the last word in comfort and convenience.

The longest steel passenger yet built, being eighty-two feet thirty-three and three-quarter inches in extent, the car rides on two trucks of six wheels each. Everything is metal, the lining sheets being covered with cellinite for insulation. At one end is an ordinary vestibule, one part of which is curtained off for a trunk room. A corridor leads around the kitchen and pantry into a dining room nine feet square, with accommodations for eight. Another corridor leads along two staterooms, with two berths each, and two drawing rooms, each containing a bed and equipped with shower baths, dressers, basins and closets.

The parlor at the end of the car is 9 by 14 feet, with fireplace, desk, tables and chairs. Large windows in the end give all advantages of observation from inside. A special heater is installed in addition to the regular system. Electricity furnishes light.

LAID $13,000 ON SUNDAYS.

Hebron (Neb.) School Paid For by by Sabbath Working Hens.

"A $13,000 school building at Hebron, Neb., was erected with the revenue obtained from Sunday eggs," according to Representative Charles Sloan of that place.

"Last Easter Sunday members of the Lutheran church of Hebron decided to add another building to their private school. The women of the diocese agreed to donate the money obtained from eggs laid on the following six Sundays.

"The building was completed a few days ago, and I was invited to make the dedication address. After I had finished the women came forward with more than enough money to pay for the structure."

SLIT SKIRTS ARE HEALTHY.

Diaphanous Variety Also Wards Off Colds, U. S. Expert Says.

Without attempting to pass upon questions of taste or modesty, the United States public health service has put its stamp of approval upon slit skirts and diaphanous gowns from the health standpoint.

Assistant Surgeon General Rucker has just announced that "women wear too many clothes anyway" and that the woman who dresses in up to date style is less liable to catch cold these chilly days than one who loads down her body with heavy clothing.

Was He Snake Bite Proof? No.

Rev. James Haslop, a Holy Roller preacher of Gadsden, Ala., allowed a rattlesnake to bite him five times to prove that he was immune from harm. He was buried two days later.

Golf ball, measured leaving the tee, was found to be traveling 300 miles an hour.

A violinist's little finger, which had become useless, was amputated, and the little toe of his left foot was grafted on its place by a Kiel surgeon. Now he can fiddle as well as ever.

Wedding ring lost thirty-seven years ago has just been found in New Jersey, six inches under ground.

A bout between a bantam hen and a jack rabbit is the latest "sport" in Colorado. Incidentally the bantam won.

A baby was born in an automobile speeding sixty miles an hour to an Indiana hospital. She is doing well.

By means of a long process of selection, covering more than a century, the dwellers on the island of Shikoku, Japan, have perfected a breed of roosters with tail feathers more than eighteen feet in length.

FARMER'S PERCHERONS ARE GOOD INVESTMENT.

In Twenty-four Years Two Mares Produced $7,000 Worth of Colts.

The Missouri mule's reputation for taking premiums at world's fairs and paying off farm mortgages is rivaled in the story of two Percheron mares which played an important part in the accumulation of more than 500 acres of land for a thrifty German farmer, near Olathe, Kan.

Twenty odd years ago George Pretz was a young man without any means. He bought a three-year-old Percheron mare for $75, giving a one year note in payment. A short time later he purchased another, a two-year-old, for $55. Both mares died recently, one at the age of twenty-six, the other twenty-seven.

Seven thousand dollars' worth of colts were sold from the two mares, one of them being the mother of nineteen, which sold at from $150 to $283 each. The other raised eighteen colts, which were sold at from $100 to $250 each. Pretz was in debt for forty acres soon after he had purchased his team and wagon and by hard work and the sale of colts soon paid for the land. The next investment was eighty acres adjoining, which were paid for in the same manner.

Then came an adjoining 100 acres and later 100 acres until Fretz owns more than 500 acres, worth more than $100 per acre. The farm is well stocked with Percherons and mules, cattle and hogs and yields good crops of corn and wheat.

Mr. Pretz uses horses for farm work only, using his automobile when he comes to town.

COAL AS A CAUSE OF CANCER.

Sir William Bennett Accepts Conclusion of C. E. Green.

The conclusion reached by Charles E. Green of Edinburgh that there is a distinct relationship between the occurrence of cancer and the kind of fuel used for domestic purposes was accepted as decisive by Sir William H. Bennett, the eminent English surgeon, in his presidential address at the meeting of the Coal Smoke Abatement society in London.

Sir William said that investigation had shown that the incidence of cancer was limited to those areas where coal was the staple fuel, while it was almost nonexistent where ordinary peat alone was used. The only exception yet discovered to this rule, he declared, was in districts where the peat was a hard black substance which crackled like coal and was quite unlike the smoldering, ordinary peat.

Sir William in conclusion spoke strongly in favor of gas as a substitute for coal.

THIS NEW FISH HAS FUR.

Polar Trout Is Discovered In Far North by Explorer.

The polar trout, the only fur bearing fish known to natural history, is the latest contribution of the arctic regions, according to John Bunker of Northwood Center, N. H., who returned to Boston recently after a two months' exploring trip in Greenland. He brought photographs and specimens of a strange fish, which he has called a polar trout.

This peculiar denizen of the polar seas resembles a square tail trout in shape and gameness and attains ten to fifteen pounds in weight. The skin is covered with a fine brownish fur, resembling the texture of moleskin. This fur is lightly spotted with white.

Bunker caught three specimens, two in a river and one in a small headwater pond about 200 miles north of Baffin's bay.

Treasury Short $10,000,000.

The deficit of the federal treasury for the three months of the current fiscal year has reached $10,343,000 as compared with $4,850,000 a year ago. September, however, made a better showing than the previous months of the current year, receipts exceeding disbursements by $2,059,000.

Fur-Trimmed Suits
—the best we have ever offered
Young Women at $25
(Sizes 14, 16 and 18 years)

In every respect worth $35 and more

Suits which are French in style and distinction, but American in the excellent quality of materials and careful tailoring.

Never before, we believe, were suits sold at the height of the season for so little a price—they have the air of made-to-order suits at double and triple the prices.

Never before has there been such a wide choice of materials and colorings.

One which may be had in diagonal serge, velour de laine, needle cord and wool poplin, has smart little jacket with sleeves all in one piece with the coat—which is belted with a bit of fullness in the Russian way. A tiny collar of fitch, comes up rather high about the throat. The skirt is made with over skirt effect. Russian and French green, mahogany, navy blue and midnight blue. The other which may be had in beautiful lustrous broadcloth has loose coat with sleeves set-in the front and in one-piece in the back. A high velvet collar tipped with fitch comes close up about the throat like a ruff. Skirt with tunic over skirt longer in the back. Sage green, Hague and two shades of dark blue, and black.

All suits are lined with fine peau de cygne, interlined with flannel to give warmth without weight, and perfectly tailored in every way with such niceties of finish as hand-embroidered arrow heads, silk-cornered shields, etc.

JUDGE JOSEPH CROSS WILL BE BURIED TOMORROW

Elizabeth, Oct. 31.—The funeral of Judge Joseph Cross, who died at his home in North avenue, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, from Westminster Presbyterian church, of which he was an elder. The services will be in charge of the pastor, Rev. Dr. Louis B. Crane. The Union County Bar Association will meet this afternoon to take action on the death of Judge Cross, and all the local lawyers will attend the funeral. The courthouse flag has been placed at half-mast. Justice James J. Bergen, Judge Benjamin A. Vail and Judge James C. Connolly, all of whom were holding sessions of their respective courts here, eulogized the federal jurist, saying that he was a man of great ability and integrity. Former Judge Clark McK. Whittemore moved that the District Court adjourn yesterday on account of the death of Judge Cross. Former Prosecutor Swift and Samuel Schleimer seconded the motion and Judge Robert H. McAdams complied.

JEALOUS MAN SHOOTS RIVAL AS YOUNG WOMAN LOOKS ON

New Brunswick, Oct. 31.—A victim of his rival's jealousy, Frank Balliast, a tailor, is in St. Peter's Hospital with four bullet wounds, while Fred Venable, of Highland Park, a machinist, is locked up in the county jail charged with the shooting.

Both men, who are unmarried, are said to be infatuated with Miss Elizabeth Oram. Wednesday afternoon Venable walked into Balliast's shop at George and Liberty streets, three doors from police headquarters, and found the girl there. Becoming enraged, it is said, he drew a revolver and fired six shots at Balliast.

Four of the six shots took effect. One bullet entered the side of Balliast's face and came out near the ear; another went through one of his hands, a third lodged in his jaw and the fourth went into his stomach. It was said this morning that he had a chance for recovery, none of the bullets having struck a vital part.

Policemen ran to the tailor shop when the shots were heard, but Venable had fled. Patrolmen in automobiles started in pursuit, one car going to Venable's home, where an unsuccessful search was made for him. Later he was captured at the Hotel Milton, 26 Albany street, and taken to the hospital, where Balliast identified him as his assailant.

THE FORUM.

THE PUBLIC ROADS.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

The New York Times this morning comments on the wretched condition of many of our New Jersey roads, and it refers, among others, to the road from Metuchen to New Brunswick. The criticism is just. Early in the season that road was in very bad shape. Then it was closed for weeks while it was rebuilt at great cost to the taxpayers, and has recently been opened. Even now, while it is still new, it is pitted with holes which will get worse. We seem unable to build a good road, or to keep a road in repair.

The plan of the county authorities is to let a road go without any repairs until it is almost impassable and then tear the whole thing up and rebuild it. This has been the case with the county road from Fanwood to Westfield, the Springfield road from Scotch Plains to Springfield, and the road from Dunellen to Bound Brook. If they had been repaired from time to time, the soft places cut out, and the holes filled up, it would not have been necessary to rebuild them, and vehicles would have had much more use from them. We might as well admit that our boasted "good roads" exist only to a very limited extent. Most of them are poor, some very poor, and the trouble is two-fold, we do not build our roads well to start with, and we almost never repair them. The result is a great waste of public money and great injustice to those who use the roads nor is this city guiltless.

Most of our streets are in bad condition, holes, large or small, in the pavement, manholes raised above the road, high crosswalks, etc. Look at Park avenue, one of the main roads out of the city. It is in bad order throughout and in front of the hospital, until very recently, it was a succession of great holes. The same is true of West Front street.

MISS FLORENCE NICHOLS NOW MRS. JOHN SNYDER

Bound Brook, Oct. 31.—Miss Florence Nichols, of South Bound Brook, and John Snyder, of Dunellen, were married at noon Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Annie Ayers, of Main street, South Bound Brook. Rev. Harold E. Green, of the Reformed church, officiated.

The bride was gowned in white silk, with pearl trimmings and carried a bouquet of bride roses and ferns. Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Sandahl, of South Bound Brook, were the attendants. There were about fifty guests from Dunellen, Monmouth Junction and this place. After a trip the couple will reside at South Bound Brook.

DEFAULTER'S PROPERTY TO MAKE GOOD HIS SHORTAGE

Netcong, Oct. 31.—A statement that the sale of the properties of J. Frank Best, the defaulting secretary of the Musconetcong Building and Loan Association, which have been attached, will cover the shortage, was made Wednesday night at the annual meeting of the association by Elmer King, the solicitor. The shortage at first was $11,106.33, but this has been lowered to $10,311.67.

Reports showed the assets of the association to be $147,864.10, and the profits of the year $7,366.37. A new series of stock was opened for sixty days and 103 shares bought at the meeting. The association has adopted a new method of transacting business.

The following officers were re-elected: President, H. A. Timbrell; vice-president, A. S. Van Arsdale; treasurer, James Powers; secretary, T. H. Mahany; solicitor, Mr. King; directors, D. S. Drake, G. H. Lunger, John Benson, Frank I. Davis and Thomas E. Haggerty.

EFFFICIENCY BOARD TAKES TESTIMONY IN JERSEY CITY

Jersey City, Oct. 31.—The State Economy and Efficiency Commission met in the Union Trust Company building yesterday to hear further testimony and suggestions for the consolidation of various State commissions.

J. Spencer Smith, of Tenafly; Richard C. Jenkinson, of Newark; W. D. Saunders, of Plainfield, and D. F. Cresson, Jr., of this city, appeared to outline the work and plans of the New Jersey Harbor Commission, appointed to investigate port conditions. Professor Lewis M. Haupt, of Pennsylvania, was present to give an opinion on the efficiency of engineering for the State government.

Joseph P. Byers, commissioner of charities, was due to explain the connection of the bureau of State architects with the Department of Charities.

The Palisade Interstate Park Commission was represented by Leonard H. Smith, of New York; Franklin W. Hopkins, of Alpine; Charles W. Baker, of Montclair, and Frederick Struo, of Basking Ridge.

Testimony for the Washington Crossing Park Commission was to be received from Rev. Jesse Joralemon, of Jersey City, and William P. Doyle, of Trenton. The connection of the State Board of Health with the Port of Perth Amboy was to be explained by Dr. G. W. Fithian.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The finance committee met this morning at 10 o'clock and the physical committee this afternoon at 5 o'clock. The board of directors meets Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

Monday evening at 8 o'clock the Glee Club will be organized for the year, and as this club has always proved most popular and enjoyable a large attendance is expected.

The association will have as its guests this week eight of the members of the Y. W. C. A. in the Eastern District of Brooklyn. They will come Saturday afternoon, and join with the members of this association in a tramp on the mountain, leaving the association building at 3:30 o'clock. As many of the members of this association as have the afternoon at liberty at urged to help in the entertainment of the Eastern District girls. In the evening the Kitchi Kimiwa Camp Fire will hold a ceremonial meeting, to which these guests are invited, and following the meeting there will be a frolic in the gymnasium.

This Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock will begin the informal song services. The regular vesper service for November has been postponed until November 9 in order to have it open the Week of Prayer, but after this month it will be held as usual on the first Sunday of the month, the informal social hour and song service being held on the other afternoons. Good music, pleasant reading, and a cup of tea will make the afternoon enjoyable, particularly for those who are away from home or whose duties prevent attendance at church and Sunday-school.

THE DAILY PRESS IN SOMERVILLE will be found on sale or delivered to any address every afternoon after 4:30 by Jacob Gernert, the Main street newsdealer and stationer.

THE PLAINFIELD TRUST COMPANY

Executor, Administrator,

Guardian, Trustee

The appointing of an Executor is a matter of vital importance, yet there is much hesitation and procrastination where there should be

PROMPT ACTION.

Loved ones should be protected; property that represents the thought and labor of a life time should be intelligently distributed, but if this is to be done

A WILL MUST BE MADE AND AN EXECUTOR APPOINTED.

This Company is qualified to act as your Executor and to help you in the preparation of your will and, in addition, our Officers can give you much valuable information as to why we are better equipped for the handling of Estates than an individual. Appointments may be made by mail or telephone.
